July 4th, 1874.—"Your Sermons are all that can be desired. They are earnest, Gospel discourses, conveying the teaching of the Church in clear and simple language."

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.

67, Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Tuesday, July 7, 1874.

Rev. Dr. CURREY in the Chair.

After Prayers the Minutes of the last Meeting were read.

Secretary's Detailed Explanation of Yearly Account.

The Secretary stated that Rule L. directed that he should at this Meeting give a detailed explanation of the yearly Accounts, and invite observations thereon.

He then submitted the following Statement, based upon the Audit Account for the year ending the 31st of March, 1874, as submitted to the last Monthly General Meeting, and printed in the Monthly Report for June.

First respecting Trust Accounts:—

The total receipts for Trusts during the year were	1402	0	8
The total payments were	953	12	7
Leaving a balance of receipts over payments of	£448	8	1

This balance has to be added to the balance on Trust Accounts, which remained in the General Fund last year and amounted to 1682l. 6s. 5d., thus giving a total balance due from the General Fund to Special Trusts on 31st of March, 1873, of 2130l. 14s. 6d.

This accumulation of Trust Funds is to be regretted; it arises from the great difficulty which is experienced in distributing some of the funds in accordance with the terms of the several Trusts.

On Canning's Trust, which the Society has recently endeavoured to dispose of in payment of the passage-money of Ordained Missionaries going abroad, there is an accumulation of upwards of 900l., or nearly three years' income.

The balance, 476l. 10s. 10d., on the Fund of Clerious, is larger than it was last year. It is much to be desired that Chaplains of her Majesty's land forces, or any Officers interested in the moral and religious well-being of these forces, would apply for Grants of Books from this Fund. Prayer Books and the miscellaneous Publications of the Society of religious tendency, but not Bibles, may be supplied.

Crawford's Irish Trust, almost the whole of the income, 68l. 5s., arising from this Trust, is for the present devoted to the maintenance of an Irish-speaking Clergyman in the Irish-speaking District of Ireland.

Secondly, the Bookselling Account:—

For Books sold in the ordinary way of Business	75,373	2	8
For Books granted by General Meetings and paid for out of the General Funds, for Books supplied to Trusts, and for allowance to Members for Books supplied below cost, &c.	17,844	15	11
Interest on Deposit Account	302	12	11
	93,520	11	6

DISBURSEMENTS.

For purchase of Bibles and Prayer Books, and Binding same	20,644	2	3
For producing miscellaneous Publications	39,440	9	0
For Payment of Tradesmen's Bills outstanding on 31st of March, 1873	5645	6	3
For Salaries and Wages at the three London Depots (including Pensions)	5817	13	8
For Rents, Rates, Taxes, Insurances, &c., of the three London Depots	1563	4	8
For Advertising, Packing, Shipping, &c.	4836	0	1
For Interest paid to General Fund on 70,000l. invested in miscellaneous Book Stock	2450	0	0
	£89,206	14	11

These figures give an excess of receipts over disbursements amounting to 4223l. 16s. 7d.; and reference to the supplemental account, showing the net result of the Bookselling business for the year, will prove that the net favourable balance on the Bookselling business for the year, after having paid over the 3000l. mentioned above as part of the previous year's favourable balance, was 3135l. 6s. 3d., so that the actual favourable balance on the year's business was 6135l. 6s. 3d. Of this sum, since the Audit 4000l. have been paid over to the General Funds to aid the general charitable operations of the Society.

The slight decrease of 894l. 2s. in the total amount received on the Bookselling business, as compared with last year, is almost all accounted for by the diminution in grants, which amounts to 712l. 7s. 5d.

The actual falling-off in receipts for Books sold in the ordinary way of business is only 100l. 12s. 5d. This sum is far more than accounted for by the fact that the People's Magazine has been discontinued during three of the twelve months under consideration.

Thirdly, respecting the General Account:—

RECEIPTS.

Subscriptions	14,602	2	11
Benefactions	4345	12	5
Legacies (Cash)	2444	15	6
Dividends	5089	18	1
Interest on Deposit Account	500	6	4
Interest on Capital invested in Book Stock and Rent of Premises paid by Bookselling Business	3010	0	0
Further sum received from Bookselling Business on account of profits in year ending 31st March, 1873	3000	0	0
Miscellaneous	345	4	0
Excess of Receipts over Payments on Trust Accounts	448	8	1
	£33,844	7	4

DISBURSEMENTS.

For payments to Bookselling Account for Books granted or supplied to Members below Cost, irrespective of Trusts	17,195	19	9
Chaplains to visit Emigrants	68	15	0
For Grants of Money for Building Churches and Schools in the Colonies, for Educational purposes in India and in England, &c.	15,047	4	2
For Indian and other Special Funds	75	0	0
	£36,330	4	9

Comparing the total of Cash Payments with the total of Cash Receipts, it appears that there has been an excess of payments over receipts amounting to 2485l. 17s. 5d.

The abstract of Profit and Loss printed at the end of the Audit Account, which has regard not only to Cash Payments and Receipts, but also to outstanding liabilities for Money Grants, &c., shows that (after taking into consideration the favourable balance of 6135l. 6s. 3d. on the Bookselling business) the property of the Society, taken as a whole, has decreased by 1324l. 13s. 7d.

The Money Grants voted during the year (less 207l. 7s. 2d. of Grants which have lapsed) amount to 1,775l. 7s. 11d., while the sum paid out of the General Fund for Book Grants, and allowances to Members for Books sold below Cost, amount to 15,054 10s. 2d.

Both these sums are rather less than under the corresponding heads during previous twelve months, during which grants were exceptionally large. Grants have not been materially less; 1200l. In the Book Grants, and all Members, there has been a diminution of 3519l. 0s. 7d. This is to be accounted for by the fact that in 1872-3 a large number of other libraries of an expensive kind were sent to the colonies, while in 1873-4 has not been incurred; and also from the fact that in the former of the two years the cheap Prayer Books, upon which the Society incurs a loss, was unusually large, owing to the general adoption of the new Lectionary.

The Subscriptions received during the year amount to almost exactly the same sum as received in 1872-3; there has, however, been considerable falling off, amounting to 1800l. in benefactions. This is greatly to be regretted. Under this head are included Parochial Collections and Donations from District Committees, considering the increased activity of the Society in Educational work at home and abroad, have been hoped that these home sources would have yielded at least as much as before. The number of Parochial Collections which reach the Society is very small.

Under the head of legacies there has been a very great falling off; only 2444l. 15s. 6d. have been received this year, as against 8174l. in the year 1872-3. This, however, is a fluctuating source of income, and it is not that the average, taken over a number of years, remains pretty constant.

The outstanding liabilities for Money Grants on 31st of March, 1874, were 39,044l. There is money in hand to meet these, and will be paid so soon as the conditions upon which they have been made shall have been fulfilled; but when these and the grants voted since 31st of March, which amount to about 1600l. have been paid, there will remain nothing in the hands of the Treasurers beyond the current income, and a small sum of capital of 1500l. which it has been deemed prudent to reserve in case of emergencies.

It is absolutely necessary, if the income of the Society is to be maintained, that it should receive increased support, and speedily by way of increased Parochial Collections.

Notices of motion for the next Meeting.
Prices of Books.—The Secretary stated that he had been requested by the Rev. W. Laurence, Rector of South Ockendon, to give notice that at the next Meeting, to be held on Tuesday, October 6th, he would propose that "That works, originally issued by other publishers, but sold at the Society's Depository, be charged generally to Members and District Committees at a reduction of 25 per cent. on the published prices."

Grants of Books, &c., recommended by the Standing Committee.

Grants were then made to the amount of 125l. 8s. 1d.:—

For Schools, Lending Libraries, and District Committees, to the amount of 207l. 10s.

For Churches, Chapels, and Licensed Preachers, to the amount of 73l. 14s. 10d.

Trust Funds.

Grants of books have been made from various Trust Funds of the Society since the last Meeting.

Announcement of Donations, Legacies, &c.

Donations were announced to the amount of 272l. 14s.
The following Legacies were announced:—
Samyntas, Stannah, Esq., of 13, Gower-street, £250 0 0
Bradley, Mrs. (Elizabeth), of Grantham, duty free 50 0 0
Davis, Mrs. (Mary Ann), of Bideford 10 10 0
Noyes, James, Esq., of Chippenham 10 10 0

Twenty-eight Members were elected.
Eight Ladies have been admitted as Annual Subscribers.
[The remainder of this interesting Report will be given in our next Number.]

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

Committee of Correspondence, May 19th.—
Location of Students.—The Committee, after reviewing the various Mission fields, considered that the most urgent calls for labourers existed in West and East Africa, in Western and Southern India, in Ceylon and China, and, after full consideration, designated Mr. J. Williams to East Africa, Mr. F. Macartney to Western India, Mr. E. Blackmore to South India, Mr. A. B. Cavalier to Kandy, Ceylon; Messrs. J. H. Sedgwick and D. S. Remington to Fuh Chau, China; and Mr. J. C. Hoare to Ningpo, China. The Committee also directed that inquiry be made of the Principal of the Basle Institution, whether suitable men could be obtained from that Institution for the West and East African Missions. The Committee also directed that it be ascertained whether the Rev. W. S. Price would be willing to go out to East Africa to assist in arranging for the employment of the immigrants from Nasik, and in carrying out the new and special measures in contemplation in the East African Mission.

The Rev. A. H. Lash, who went out to India in 1866, was introduced to the Committee, and gave an interesting account of the work carried on in the Sarah Tucker Institution at Palamcottah, which contained eighty Christian girls, of whom about thirty were in training for teachers, while others were in preparation for the Training Class. Mr. Lash spoke of the help rendered by Miss Osborne's gift of 1000l., the interest of which provided presents in money to the girls who, on leaving, were able to pass an examination. Employment had been found for those trained as teachers, by opening a number of affiliated schools to the number of thirty, for which Miss Osborne had given a second donation of 1000l. These contained between 600 and 700 girls, some of them Brahmins, and others of high castes. The Bible was carefully taught in all the schools.

The Rev. D. Brodie, who went out to India in 1866, was also introduced to the Committee. After referring to the earnest labours of the Rev. R. Bruce, whom he had succeeded in charge of the Derajat Mission, he gave a detailed account of the Medical Mission at Tonk, carried on by a Native Christian brother, the Rev. John Williams, who had succeeded in acquiring a marked influence over the wild and bigoted Mohammedans, in the midst of whom he was placed.

Committee of Correspondence, May 26th.—The question of undertaking a Mission to Ashantee having been referred by the General Committee to the Committee of Correspondence, the Secretaries read a letter from the Rev. Dr. Josenhans, Principal of the Basle Missionary Society, stating the views and wishes of that Society with regard to undertaking Mission work in Ashantee, and proposing that the Committee of the Church Missionary Society should unite with the Committee of the Basle Missionary Society for the purpose of carrying on the Mission among the Ashantees, the Church Missionary Society assisting the Basle Missionary Society with funds to found a hill station on the Eastern frontier of Ashantee, whence they might carry the Gospel across the Ashantee boundaries, and also for a few years assisting the Basle Mission in educating Native Teachers and Catechists for the Ashantee Mission. Sir John Glover and Mr. Ramseyer, one of the captives from Coomassie, were introduced to the Committee, and Sir John Glover bore favourable testimony to the work carried on by the Basle Society's Missionaries in the Eastern Protectorate, and to their peculiar adaptation for pioneer work in Africa, and also concurred in the opinion that Ashantee should be approached from the East. Conversation was then held with Mr. Ramseyer as to the prospects of undertaking a Mission in Ashantee. Mr. Ramseyer expressed himself in favour of the proposal of the Basle Society, namely, to advance upon Ashantee by the Eastern frontier, and considered that, if, as he hoped, there was an intention on the part of the Ashantees to observe the treaty, the King would permit a Mission to be established in the capital, while the blow given by the recent campaign to fetishism would make a way for the introduction of the Gospel message.

The Committee, while recognizing the responsibility which rests upon this country of endeavouring to introduce the Gospel into the kingdom of Ashantee, and the present as a favourable opportunity for so doing, yet nevertheless having regard to the fact that the Wesleyan Missionary Society, and the Basle Missionary Society have so long occupied the ground, and especially that the Basle Missionary Society began its Mission on the Gold Coast with the avowed purpose of penetrating into the Ashantee Kingdom, and has kept in view and laboured in this direction until the present day, felt that they could not, without intruding on or complicating themselves with the labours of those Societies, commence either an independent or joint Mission to Ashantee. At the same time, remembering the very intimate relations which have always existed between the Society and the Basle Mission, and how some of the Society's best Missionaries have been supplied by the Basle Mission, and believing that their Missionaries possess peculiar qualifications for pioneer work in Africa, and special acquaintance with the political circumstances of the country, the Committee expressed their willingness to place before the friends and supporters of the Society an appeal for funds to enable the Basle Society to commence a Mission to Ashantee in the way they propose, and also to receive subscriptions for such a fund at the Society's house.

Sir William Muir, K.C.S.I., who had returned to England on his resignation of the office of Lieutenant-Governor of the North-West Provinces of India, was present at the Committee, and gave valuable information as to the work carried on by the agents of the Church Missionary Society in the North-West Provinces, and urged the importance of making arrangements to receive orphans in connexion with the famine now prevailing in Bengal. He also spoke favourably of one or two able Native Christian laymen, who were holding positions of influence in the North-West and Central Provinces, and mentioned that there were more Christian laymen of social standing and independent power in the Punjab. He was personally acquainted with most of the Native Clergy in the North-West Provinces, and with some of them he had had a good deal of intercourse; and of these he could say that, although not possessing marked ability, they were respected and esteemed, and showed that Christianity had exerted a refining and elevating influence upon them.

The Rev. T. V. French, on his return to England, was introduced to the Committee. He said that the prominent feelings in his mind were thankfulness to God, thankfulness to the Committee for their material, moral, and spiritual support, and, at the same time, deep sorrow that Mr. Knott, who had gone out with him, had not been spared to share his labours: still he had the comfort of believing that Mr. Knott's connexion with the work would prove a lasting source of blessing, and he was sure that his memory would ever be lovingly cherished. Referring to the working of the Divinity School at Lahore, Mr. French stated that in the matter of pupils he had been especially encouraged, as the numbers had gradually increased, being more numerous now than at any previous time; and the result of the course of training received in the Divinity School was an evident growth of grace, of love to the Saviour, and of a desire to make known the unsearchable riches of Christ. As illustrations, he referred to two students who died after the completion of their course—one at Delhi, the other at Kangra. The Institution, moreover had been used of God not only in training agents, but in bringing converts, among whom were one or two remarkable men, regarding whom he gave information, and expressed a hope that they would render valuable service to the Native Church. Although a subordinate matter, it was of some importance that the Divinity School had helped to disabuse the notion still prevalent that Christianity was pure ignorance as compared with the elaborate systems of Hinduism and Mohammedanism; and although his object had been to keep learning in the background as compared with spiritual attainments, the people had begun to see that there was in Christianity great knowledge as well as great power. That the Divinity School was suited to the present condition of the Native Church had been strongly felt by the Native Christians, who, to the number of 120, had, on Mr. French's departure from Lahore, signified to him their deep appreciation of its scope and objects, a feeling shared in by other Christian bodies in India, who had consequently established similar institutions. Even the Mohammedans had determined to form a rival Institution at Umritsur, the Principal of which, a learned man, was now on his way to Mecca, with the view of adding to his influence before taking up his duties. Mr. French then gave some interesting details of the state of the Mohammedans in the Panjab, and stated that at no period of his Missionary career had he seen so much encouragement in Evangelistic work of all kinds as at the present moment in the Panjab. Both Government and Mission Schools were contributing inquirers and converts, and adult inquirers among men and women were coming forward at several places.

The Rev. M. Sunter, Principal of the Fourah Bay Institution, being in attendance, was introduced to the Committee, and conversation held with him respecting the work in which he had been engaged. Mr. Sunter bore favourable testimony to the students who had passed through Fourah Bay under him, and considered that they had fair capabilities for their work, and were likely to prove efficient labourers in the Mission field; and stated that seven of them had accompanied Bishop Crowther to the Niger Mission; and the remainder, who had not finished their course, were continuing to receive instruction from Mr. Nicholson, assisted by Mr. Bowen. With regard to the plan of opening Fourah Bay to students who would pay for their education, Mr. Sunter thought that the numbers would at first be limited, but that efficient instruction would ensure larger attendance; and with regard to the cry for exclusively secular teaching, he did not think that any appreciable number would care for such an education.

The Rev. J. Allcock, from Ceylon, being present, was also introduced to the Committee, and conversation held with him respecting the state of the Singhalese Mission. Mr. Allcock referred to the hypocritical profession of Christianity formerly prevalent in Ceylon, and to the satisfactory change now evidenced among the Singhalese Christians by their energy in supporting the Native Church by their pecuniary liberality and by their Evangelistic zeal. He spoke also of the activity and usefulness of the Native Pastors, and of the many interesting conversions of which they had been the instruments; but that it was, at the same time, the unanimous opinion of the Missionaries that some at least of the pastors should be men of education and learning. Mr. Allcock added that many conversions had been the fruits of Mission schools, that moonlight preaching had been very useful in the villages, and that the blasphemous opposition to the Gospel formerly so often met with was now generally abating.

Committee of Correspondence, June 2nd.—The Rev. J. A. Maser and Rev. O. Knödler having returned, the former from Yoruba and the latter from the Quiah Mission, were introduced to the Committee, and conversation held with them respecting their work in these Missions. Mr. Maser referred to his recent visit to Abeokuta, and stated that he had been kindly received by the Chiefs, and was favourably impressed by the advance made by the Native Church, and that he had reason to believe that no opposition would be offered to the visit of European Missionaries, or even to their residence in Abeokuta for a limited period. Mr. Maser also gave particulars of his recent journey to the country east of Lagos, and dwelt upon the importance of undertaking a Mission at Oke Ondo and Oke Benin, which would be accessible by water from Lagos. Mr. Knödler referred to his work in the Quiah country, and also to his visits to Port Loko in the Timneh country, and expressed a hope that a Mission might be established at that place, and that he might be permitted to go thither on his return to the Mission. Mr. Knödler also referred to his labours in the Timneh language, and produced a vocabulary which he had prepared.

THE INCORPORATED SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE ENLARGEMENT, BUILDING, AND REPAIRING OF CHURCHES AND CHAPELS.

The Society held its usual monthly meeting (the last but one for the present session) on Monday, June 15, at the Society's House, 7, Whitehall, S.W., H. Gerard Hoare, Esq., treasurer, in the chair. There were also present Archdeacon Harrison, the Revs. John Evans, and C. F. Norman, Messrs. John Boodle, J. F. France, A. J. C. Lawrie, W. E. M. Tomlinson, and Rev. George Ainslie, M.A., Secretary.

Grants of money were made in aid of the following objects, viz.:—Building new churches at Biggleswade, Beds.; Camberwell, St. Philip, Surrey; Great Malvern, Christ Church; Middlesborough, All Saints; Stoke Newington (All Saints), Middlesex; and Thornes Lane, near Wakefield, York. Rebuilding the church at East Teignmouth, Devon; enlarging or otherwise increasing the accommodation in the churches at Bromley-by-Bow, Middlesex; St. Burian, near Ponzance; St. Goran, near St. Austell, Cornwall; Kimbolton, near Leominster; March St. Winreda, Cambridge; Meavy, Devon; Merton, Devon; Outwood, near Redhill, Surrey; Owlpen, near Dursley, Gloucester; Great Plumstead, near Norwich; Earl Stonham, Suffolk; Stetham, near Ely; and Whitechapel, St. Mark's, Middlesex. The Society likewise accepted the trust of a sum of money as a repair fund for Marston church, Great Badworth, Cheshire.

CORPORATION OF THE SONS OF THE CLERGY.

The 220th Anniversary Festival of the Corporation of the Sons of the Clergy was kept on Wednesday, the 20th of May, by Divine Service, with a sermon under the dome of St. Paul's, and a dinner in Merchant Taylors' Hall. No more fitting place could be chosen for the imposing service than St. Paul's; and it may be interesting to some to know that Sir Christopher Wren was for many years the first Vice-President of the Corporation. A congregation of about 5000 was present. The choir was strengthened for the occasion to the number of 250 voices, and a very fine band, numbering sixty, was engaged. Before the service, which was at half-past three, the procession of archbishops, bishops, the Lord Mayor, M.P., and aldermen, the stewards, &c., was formed in the morning chapel and passed through the dome area to the reserved seats in front of the choir. The band then played Mendelssohn's overture to "Athalia," the service immediately following. Prayers were intoned by the Rev. W. C. F. Webber, Succentor and Sub-Dean of the Cathedral, the Suffrages being Tallis's. The music of the Canticles was by Dr. Stainer, who conducted. Mendelssohn's anthem, "As the hart pants," was sung after the third collect, and the Old Hundredth Psalm before the sermon, which was preached extempore by the Bishop of Peterborough from Ps. lxxiii. 16, 17; and the service concluded with the "Hallelujah Chorus" and the Benediction.

At the dinner 150 guests sat down, the Lord

Mayor being in the chair. Among the toasts was the health of the "Archbishop of Canterbury, President of the Corporation of the Sons of the Clergy," in response to which his Grace urged that more liberal gifts should be made to the Society, and during their lives, instead of after the deaths of the donors. Quoting Mr. Baird's princely gift of 500,000*l.* to the Church of Scotland, he desired a Mr. Baird for the Church of England. He said,—

"It would be a strange thing indeed if those who had been raised to rule over the Established Church forgot how many of their brethren, quite as worthy, suffered difficulty and distress in themselves or their families. Most of his episcopal brethren had begun life as curates, and none knew better than they how much their less fortunate brethren stood in need of help. He had heard a colonial bishop say that for every clergyman who had died in his see, five clergymen's wives had succumbed to the drudgery of family work and the anxieties of life in the colonies. This, too, was the history of many a solitary parsonage in England, where the mother of the family not unfrequently met an early grave in consequence of the difficulties of her position. The Church was a very wide and large body, and when it was asked, 'Why not divide the revenues of the Church, and see that every one has a share?' those who had been present in the great Cathedral that day would think that there was another aspect of the Church of England which they would be unwilling to lose, and that a due provision of men of learning in the Church, and cathedrals where the service of the Church might be performed with solemnity, ought not to be neglected, while the wants of the poorer clergy were also supplied. There was abundant means in the wealth about us for securing all these objects."

A collection was made during dinner, and in the course of the evening Mr. Baker, the Registrar of the Corporation (to whom all letters with reference to the Charity should be addressed, 2, Bloomsbury-place, W.C.), announced that the estimated receipts from voluntary sources, as distinguished from rents of estates and dividends on funded property, for the current year, was 5623*l.*, made up as follows:—Collection in St. Paul's, 269*l.*; at the dinner, 1630*l.*; donations from twenty-seven stewards, 829*l.*; annual subscriptions, 650*l.*; legacies, 2245*l.* The Corporation disbursed last year the sum of 23,393*l.* in gifts to 1455 persons of the clergy and their children and of the widows and single daughters of deceased clergymen; 712 widows and daughters are annual pensioners, eighty-two receiving 30*l.* per annum, and nearly all the others 20*l.*

Among the company present at the service or the dinner, besides his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, were the Archbishop of Armagh; the Bishops of London, Llandaff, Ripon, Peterborough, Carlisle, Bath and Wells, St. Asaph; Bishop Piers Claughton; the Dean of St. Paul's; Archdeacons Bickersteth, Harrison, Jennings, &c., and other well-known clergymen; the Duke of Westminster, K.G., Lord Denman, &c.; the Duchess of Richmond, Lady Egerton of Tatton; Mr. Walter, M.P., Sir George Baker, Mr. Colin Campbell, M.P., &c., &c.

The Governors of the Corporation met at their house, 2, Bloomsbury-place, on the 30th of May, when twenty-nine widows and fourteen single daughters were elected to fill vacancies in the pension list made by death and other causes during the year, and 118 other widows and daughters received donations of from 5*l.* to 20*l.* each. Twenty-seven grants were also made for the education, outfit, or apprenticing of children.

Applications for aid from the Corporation continue to increase in number and urgency, the natural result of increased numbers in the ranks of the poorer clergymen and of the higher prices of most of the necessities of life. To meet these growing demands the Governors earnestly appeal for help to all who can afford to give it.

LAW.

JUDICIAL COMMITTEE OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

SATURDAY, JUNE 27.

BROWN v. THE CURÉ AND CHURCHWARDENS OF MONTREAL.

In this case the question involved was the rights of burial of a Roman Catholic named Joseph Guilford, who died in November, 1869, and whose body had been placed "temporarily" in a Protestant cemetery, waiting the issue of the present appeal.

The case was opened by Mr. Bompas (with whom was Mr. Dentie, Q.C.); and Mr. H. Mathews, Q.C., and Mr. Westlake, Q.C., were for the respondents.

The question was most important, as admitted on both sides. It was whether a Roman Catholic, who belonged to a literary society, was to be refused "ecclesiastical burial," because the society was under the censure of the Roman Catholic Bishop of Montreal, or whether the French law, which existed in the Dominion of Canada, was to prevail.

Mr. Doutré had come over expressly to argue the case, and said it was impossible to overstate its importance.

After a lengthened argument, and after several adjournments, the hearing of the case was concluded on the 8th of July, when their Lordships intimated that they would consider their judgment.

VICE-CHANCELLOR'S COURT.

(Before Sir R. MALINS.)

MONDAY, JULY 6.

TRANSFER OF VOLUNTARY AND CHURCH SCHOOLS TO SCHOOL BOARDS.

THE NATIONAL SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE EDUCATION OF THE POOR v. THE SCHOOL BOARD OF LONDON AND OTHERS.

The plaintiffs became a corporation in May, 1817, for the purpose of promoting the education of the poor in the principles of the Church of England. Wherever the Society had assisted in establishing a school, it had required the insertion in the trust deed of the following clause: "And it is hereby declared that this school shall always be in union with, and conducted according to the principles, and in furtherance of the ends and designs" of the Society. In 1867 the Society, in conjunction with the Surrey Church Association and several persons interested in the cause of religious education, and in the parish of Emmanuel, Camberwell, established a Church school for such parish. A piece of land was purchased and conveyed by a deed, dated February, 1867, and duly enrolled in Chancery, whereby the trusts of the school were declared. The vendors, under the authority of certain acts, and with the consent and by the direction of the Rev. W. Harker (then the minister of the church), in consideration of 1000*l.* paid to them, conveyed unto the minister and churchwardens of Emmanuel Church, and their successors, the said piece of ground to hold upon certain trusts, viz. for a school as above mentioned. There were provisions in the deed in reference to the qualifications and appointment of the managers of the school. The purchase-money was contributed by the Society, the Association, and several persons mentioned in the deed. All the members of the original committee of management had died, or ceased to be members thereof. The Rev. W. English was now the minister, and the two defendants named were churchwardens. In 1871 a committee of about ten persons, interested in the school, met and considered the advisability of transferring the school to the London School Board under the Education Act of 1870, and ultimately, in pursuance of resolutions passed at one meeting, the committee transferred the school to the London School Board. The plaintiffs contended that no alienation of any school in union with their Society was permitted before the Act of 1870 without the consent of the Society, and that this restriction was preserved by that Act. They (plaintiffs) had never consented to the transfer, and they filed this Bill to set it aside on the ground of its illegality.

The Vice-Chancellor, after referring to the facts, and to the Deed, and to certain sections of the Act of 1870, said he found no restriction against alienation, and no provision that the consent of anybody should be necessary to a transfer. He said all the managers for the time being did consent, and he did not find that any other person's consent was required. The Education Department had decided that the transfer was, under the Act of 1870, a good one, and he felt that it was impossible to come to any other conclusion than that the transaction was valid. The National Society had no right of veto against the transfer. He was not prepared to say that such a right of veto would be expedient, as it would affect some 6000 or 7000 schools; and that being so, it would be a most formidable power. He found, however, that in these schools some part of two days in each week would be set aside for instruction in the principles of the religion of the Church of England. The Bill could not be sustained, but as the question was a very important one, and had been properly raised, he should dismiss the Bill without costs.

COURT OF ARCHES.

(Before Sir ROBERT J. PHILLIMORE, Dean of Arches.)

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10.

THE EXETER REREDOS CASE.

BOYD AND OTHERS v. THE VEN. ARCHDEACON PHILLPOTTS.

An application was made in this case on the part of the dean and chapter against the decision of the Bishop of Exeter (Mr. Justice Keating acting as the assessor) ordering the removal of the reredos in the cathedral church. (See Ecclesiastical Gazette, May 12, p. 143.) Messrs. Moore and Currey were proctors for the respondent, the Chancellor of Exeter, Archdeacon Phillpotts; and Mr. Skipworth, proctor for the dean and chapter, who had lodged a petition of appeal to the Dean of Arches. Mr. W. Phillpotts, barrister, appeared for the respondent, who had appeared, under protest, to the jurisdiction of the Court of Arches. The case of one Havers, in 1678, was cited, on which there was an appeal from a visitation of the Bishop of London at that time to the Arches Court, and afterwards to the Court of Arches. Mr. Phillpotts mentioned the case, and said he did not wish to contest the question if the Court thought it met the present appeal. Respondent appeared under protest.

The Dean of Arches recollected the case cited. The question was in what time respondent could appear, so that the appeal of the dean and chapter could be heard.

Mr. Phillpotts said he would appear absolutely to prevent delay in the matter as to the erection of the reredos. He did not wish to consent, so that in any ulterior proceedings he would not be precluded from questioning the jurisdiction of the Court.

His Lordship directed a special order to be drawn up, and said the case could proceed to hearing.

Order accordingly.

MARTIN v. MACKONCHIE.

This case was brought again before the Court. (See Ecclesiastical Gazette, June 9, p. 156.)

Mr. Moore (Moore and Currey), as proctor for the prosecutor, said Mr. Mackonchie was served with the citation issued on the letters of request from the Bishop of London on Friday week, in which he was charged with certain offences against the law ecclesiastical. The defendant had to appear in six days, and had not entered an appearance. He therefore prayed to file articles so that the case might be heard.

His Lordship granted the application.

Mr. Moore asked whether Mr. Mackonchie should be served with a copy of the articles; there was nothing in the rules on the subject.

The Dean of Arches declined to give an opinion. Mr. Moore could ask his counsel.

SATURDAY, JUNE 18.

THE REV. W. RICHARDS v. THE REV. J. FINCHER.

This was a suit by letters of request from the Bishop of Winchester (which now came on for hearing) brought by the Rev. W. Richards, vicar of St. Helen's, Ryde, Isle of Wight, against the Rev. Joseph Fincher, the minister of Sea View Chapel, to prohibit him from officiating in his vicarage. The defendant pleaded that he had been licensed to officiate in the parish with the consent of the late vicar.

The question was, whether the permission granted extended beyond the lifetime of the late minister. Mr. Richards wished to have his parish under his control, and Mr. Fincher considered that, under the licence he had obtained with the consent of the late incumbent, he was legally authorized to carry on his ministrations. It was alleged that to deprive him of the permission would prevent numerous clergymen (especially in London) from officiating who had obtained the consent of former ministers.

The Dean of Arches, on the conclusion of the argument, which was purely of a legal character, said the question was an important one, and he would consider his judgment.

BOYD AND OTHERS v. THE VEN. ARCHDEACON PHILLPOTTS.

This case came again before the Court on a motion on the part of the dean and chapter. The defendant, the Archdeacon, had appealed absolutely to the proceedings, and the Court, on the application of his counsel, Mr. W. Phillpotts, had reserved the question of jurisdiction to hear the case.

Mr. Walter Phillimore, on behalf of the appellants, prayed the Court, before the expense of the appeal was incurred, to decide the question as to the jurisdiction.

His Lordship believed he had acted in accordance with other cases. He directed the Registrar (Mr. Waddilove) to look into the matter, and the case could be again mentioned.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17.

RICHARDS v. FINCHER.

The Dean of Arches gave judgment in this case.

His Lordship said the law was clear against Mr. Fincher, and made the order as prayed.

BOYD AND OTHERS v. PHILLPOTTS.

This case came again before the Dean on the question raised as to the jurisdiction of the Court to hear an appeal.

Mr. Phillpotts appeared as counsel for the respondent, Archdeacon Phillpotts. He said he had wished to appeal absolutely, and yet to reserve his right to contest the jurisdiction of the Court to hear the case.

His Lordship thought the case could go to the Judicial Committee on the question.

Mr. Walter Phillimore apprehended that there would be nothing but the notes of the proceedings for the Privy Council to act upon. He asked that the matter should be heard and regularly recorded in the event of an appeal.

Mr. Phillpotts said, in the case of Hales he had wished to appeal absolutely, and not to delay the matter. He had looked into that case, and thought it was not right to contest the jurisdiction, but wished the right of appeal to be retained.

After a discussion, it was decided that the right to appear under protest should be extended, and leave given to the appellants and respondent to argue the question as to the jurisdiction, on which the question could go before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

MARTIN v. MACKONCHIE.

The Rev. A. H. Mackonchie appeared and applied for leave to appeal to the citation issued against him by the Court on a letter of request accepted from the Bishop of London, in which he was charged with nine offences against the ecclesiastical law. He had allowed the time to enter an appearance to expire. On the case being called by Mr. Waddilove, the registrar,

Mr. Mackonochie said he had to ask the permission of the Court to put in an appearance in person.

The Dean of Arches told Mr. Mackonochie he granted his application.

Mr. Mackonochie said he wished to file his reasons; he had handed them in.

His Lordship said he did not know how he could allow his reasons to be filed. He had the document before him, and had read the reasons.

Mr. Mackonochie wished his reasons to be filed.

The Dean of Arches said it would be contrary to the practice of the Court to allow them to appear on the files of the Court. He could urge them on the proper occasion.

Mr. Mackonochie said he begged leave most respectfully to state his reasons. He had three courses open to him—either not to appear, or to appear and object to the jurisdiction, or to appear and ask leave to file his reasons.

The Dean of Arches thought it would be contrary to all practice to allow the reasons to be filed. He would allow Mr. Mackonochie to appear in person.

Mr. Moore, proctor for Mr. Martin, said he had been served with the proceedings.

The Court granted eight days to Mr. Mackonochie to appear.

The following is a copy of the document put in by Mr. Mackonochie, which the learned Judge said he had received, but could not allow to be filed:—

"I, Alexander Heriot Mackonochie, think it only due respect to the Court of Arches to explain my motives in appearing before it, and would therefore request to be allowed to state as follows. Whereas by the law of Christ it is forbidden to give to an earthly sovereign the things of God, and whereas, in accordance with that supreme law, the Crown of England has in Magna Charta and in divers subsequent Acts guaranteed to the Church of Christ in England freedom in all matters spiritual, and undertakes, in pursuance of that guarantee, to govern in all spiritual things by the advice and authority of the spirituality, as in temporal things it does by the advice and authority of the temporality; whereas the Court of Arches was practically from time immemorial the supreme court of final appeal in spiritual things for the Province of Canterbury; and whereas the Crown in Parliament has, without the consent of the spirituality, at sundry times and by sundry Acts of Parliament, but specially by the Act 2 and 3 William IV., c. 92, subjected the Court of Arches to secular courts and secular jurisdiction without any authority whatever from the spirituality, and specially to the Crown in Council; and whereas the Court of Arches has in several cases recognized the ruling of these courts, and specially certain recent decisions of the Crown in Council, many of which are contradictory in themselves and at variance with the plain written law of the Church as overruling its own decisions in spiritual matters; and whereas such acceptance of such decisions of a temporal court in spiritual things as decisions of a court having supreme jurisdiction in and over such things, is in fact a giving up of its own spiritual jurisdiction, in contravention of the law and the constitution of this Church and Realm, and the making of itself a mere function of the civil power; and whereas therefore I am unable to admit that the rulings of the Court of Arches in so far as they have been or shall be mere enforcements of such rulings of the civil power in any way bind the consciences of Christian men in this country; and whereas I have great cause for apprehending that the rulings of the Court of the Crown in Council will be cited as authorities for the decision of this Court in the present case, therefore I respectfully declare that in appearing before this Court, I do so without admitting the spiritual validity of any decisions or judgments of this Court which are founded upon the authority of any rulings of the Crown in Council or of any purely secular authority."

FRIDAY, JULY 3.

BOYD AND OTHERS v. PHILLPOTTS.

The Dean of Arches decided the question as to the jurisdiction of the Court to hear an appeal from an order of the Bishop of Exeter as to the removal of the reredos from the Cathedral Church.

Mr. W. Phillpotts appeared on the part of the Bishop, and Dr. Deane, Q.C. (with whom was Mr. Walter Phillimore), for the dean and chapter.

The object of the case was to obtain a final decision as to the legality of a reredos, and Mr. Phillpotts said he was anxious that a speedy judgment should be given as to the images. A question, it seems, would arise whether the Bishop, on his visitation, could order a removal of the reredos, and another question was whether the appeal was from the decision of the Bishop to the Court of Arches.

Mr. Phillpotts, on the appearance under protest, contended that the appeal should have been made to the Archbishop of Canterbury in person, and not to his official principal, who was not his vicar-general. A discussion took place whether the matter could not be argued by assuming the jurisdiction of the Court; but it was preferred to take a final decision on the point.

Dr. Deane, Q.C., and Mr. W. Phillimore, urged that the appeal was to the Arches Court, and the words of the patent of the dean established this fact.

The Dean of Arches, in giving judgment, referred to the several matters in dispute. He decided that he had jurisdiction to hear the appeal; and unless the question was taken before the Judicial Committee, on appeal from his decision, he would shortly hear the case.

MARTIN v. MACKONOCHE.

This case came before the Dean of Arches in reference to the admissibility of the nine articles which had been filed alleging offences against the ecclesiastical law.

Mr. Arthur Charles and Mr. Walter Phillimore appeared for Mr. Mackonochie.

Mr. Charles stated that on May 22nd the Court had accepted letters of request from the Bishop of London, and on the 10th ult. an appearance was entered for Mr. Mackonochie, who in person obtained permission to appear. On the 19th ult. the articles were filed, and on Monday last the proctor for Mr. Mackonochie (Mr. Brooks) gave notice of certain objections to some of the articles, and only on Thursday night the proctor for the prosecution (Mr. Moore) had sent a notice agreeing to certain amendments, and he (Mr. Charles) assented to the amendments, and asked for costs.

Mr. Moore objected to costs.

The Dean of Arches referred to Mr. Waddilove, the registrar, on the subject of costs. He ordered the amendments to be made, and costs to be paid.

SATURDAY, JULY 4.

IN RE THE REV. J. W. BETTISON.

In this case, which involved an important point under the Education Act, an application was made on the previous day for a faculty or licence to erect an infant school on the closed churchyard of St. Nicholas, Harwich. The vicar (the Rev. Mr. Bettison) and the churchwardens and members of the school committee had applied to Dr. Robertson, the chancellor of Rochester, and he had rejected the application as one that could not be granted, as the Burial Acts determined the manner in which closed churchyards were to be kept.

Mr. Walter Phillimore now on appeal said the chancellor was mistaken in his view of the law. The school was required by the Education Department.

The Dean of Arches held the application to be a proper one, and decreed a faculty to be issued forthwith.

PARLIAMENTARY INTELLIGENCE.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

MONDAY, JUNE 15.

THE PUBLIC WORSHIP REGULATION BILL.

On going into Committee on this Bill, the Bishop of Peterborough intimated that in consequence of the advanced period of the Session and the changed character of the Bill, it was not his intention to press the amendments of which he had given notice.

Earl STANHOPE said that as to the amendment of which he had given notice with respect to the Athanasian Creed, it of course fell to the ground with those of the right rev. prelate; but in case his proposals should be renewed in any form, he (Lord Stanhope) should be prepared to contend that the use of that creed should be permissive, and not compulsory.

The Earl of SHAFTESBURY expressed his satisfaction that the Bishop of Peterborough had withdrawn his amendments, and hoped now that their Lordships would pass the Bill, and that it would be favourably received in the other House, and speedily become the law of the Church.

The amendments were then formally withdrawn.

A proposal of the Marquis of BRISTOL to give women qualified under the Act by twelve months residence in the parish the right to institute suits against the incumbent was rejected; and another amendment, proposed by Earl NELSON, requiring residence in all cases as a qualification for a parishioner to take proceedings was also negatived. Finally, the schedules having been agreed to, the Bill as amended was ordered to be reported.

FRIDAY, JUNE 19.

The amendments which had been agreed to in Committee were reported.

It was further agreed to reduce the salary of the judge of the proposed provincial court from 4000*l.* to 3000*l.* a year; and a new clause was inserted exempting from the operation of the Act the chapels of the colleges and halls in the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, and Durham the University churches, and the chapels in connexion with various educational institutions. To these were also added, on the motion of the LORD CHANCELLOR, the chapels of Lincoln's as Gray's Inns and the Temple Church.

A Bill, brought in by the Bishop of London was read a first time, the object of which was to give the Queen in Council power to give effect to schemes which had been recommended to Convocation, these schemes having been laid before Parliament and not objected to.

LETTERS OF BUSINESS.—REVISION OF THE RUBRICS.

During the discussion on the Public Worship Regulation Bill, the LORD CHANCELLOR stated that after the "Ritual Commission," as it was called, had made its fourth Report, the most recent prelate who presided over the province of Canterbury, applied to the Crown in 1871 or 18 for "Letters of Business," to authorize them to consider the subject-matters of that Report. The letters were issued, and Convocation was actively engaged under them when dissolution of Parliament occurred. Application had recently been made for a continuance of the Letters of Business, and her Majesty's Government had as a matter of course agreed to renew or continue them.

MONDAY, JUNE 22.

CHURCHES IN ENGLAND.

LORD HAMPTON moved for a return showing the number of churches (including cathedral) in every diocese in England which have been built or restored at a cost exceeding 500*l.* since the year 1840; and showing also, as far as possible, the expenditure in each case, and the sources from which, in each case, the required funds were derived.

The Bishop of LONDON said there was no objection to the return, but he feared there would be some difficulty in ascertaining the whole amount of the various sums expended on churches in the diocese of London.

The motion was agreed to.

THURSDAY, JUNE 25.

PUBLIC WORSHIP REGULATION BILL.

On the motion for the third reading of this Bill.

LORD LYTTELTON said he regretted the loss of the ancient judicial power of the Bishops. He thought the remedy for the practices complained of was to be obtained by a complete revision of the law on the subject, and the proper principle in which to proceed in reforming the Rubrics would be to allow a very large liberty on both sides. If the Bill, when passed into law, should be administered in a one-sided way, it would not be received with general acquiescence or confidence in the country.

The LORD CHANCELLOR said he had never known any measure the effect of which had been so utterly misunderstood out of doors as the present Bill, owing, perhaps, to the changes necessarily made in it from time to time. The Bill did not contain any attacks on doctrine, neither was it correct to say that the measure would alter the status of the Clergy of the Church, or introduce new offences. The Bill was merely a measure dealing with the mode of procedure, rendering it less cumbersome and expensive; and therefore he had come to a conclusion in favour of the Bill. The advantages to be expected from the Bill were—uniformity of decision, arising from the appointment of one first-class Judge for the whole kingdom; the removal of the Bishop from contentious litigation with his clergy; the limiting of the litigation to one original hearing before a competent judge, with an appeal to the highest tribunal; and the simplification of procedure, attended with diminution of expense.

EARL NELSON was of opinion that if the Bishop of Peterborough's proposed clause had been adopted, the union between Church and State would have been endangered. The scope of the Bill had been very much misunderstood, but he believed the time for conciliation had not gone by.

The EARL of CAMBRIDGE said the Bill, in consequence of the great changes it had undergone since its introduction, had become a Bill of procedure, and differed little from the Clergy Discipline Act, except that its provisions wereilder.

LORD SELBORNE was glad that, if the Bill failed to pass into law, the fault would not lie with the use of Lords. It appeared to him that when the disorders had grown up in the Church, the Archbishop of Canterbury had no choice but to upple with the evil. The object of the Bill was to defend the Church against the attacks of evolutionary party in the Church, who wished force on it the changes they desired; and he curried in the statement that the provisions the measure neither directly nor indirectly ebed the question of doctrine.

The MARQUIS of SALISBURY said that, as the measure now appeared, after the adoption of any amendments, it was hardly possible to say either it would do harm or good. It appeared him to be a Bill to grant 300*l.* a year to the an of Arches, and to re-enact certain minor visions of the Clergy Discipline Act.

The Archbishop of CANTERBURY assured the use that the Bill had not been introduced bly, but after consultation with the whole ch of Bishops. It was not an easy task to oduce a measure on so complicated a subject, l, therefore, the changes made in the Bill re not greater than might have been expected.

He earnestly trusted that this matter would now receive a final settlement, and that the Bill would become law during the present Session.

The Bill was then read a third time, and passed.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION ACT (1870) AMENDMENT BILL.

MR. RICHARD moved the second reading of this Bill, the object of which was to repeal the 25th section of the Education Act.

MR. ISAAC moved the rejection of the Bill. It was not merely a question, he said, whether the 25th clause outraged the scruples of a faction, but whether religious education should remain a part of our national system. These might seem strange statements from a Jew; but although he was a Jew, he was not less an Englishman, and he felt that the removal of the 25th clause would be a national calamity. He therefore moved that the Bill be read a second time that day six months.

LORD F. CAVENDISH was of opinion that whatever might be the importance of this clause in other respects, as regarded the maintenance of voluntary schools it was absolutely unimportant. On conscientious grounds there were many objections to the clause, and it was desirable to remove a cause of bitterness from school-board elections, while it would not be possible to obtain universal compulsory attendance until this vexed question was settled.

MR. MAKINS seconded the amendment, and Mr. D. DAVIES supported the Bill.

MR. SALT opposed the absolute and unconditional repeal of the clause, though he admitted there were difficulties in working it.

SIR H. HAVELOCK and MR. DIXON supported, and MR. S. C. ALLSOPP and MR. GRANTHAM opposed the Bill.

MR. FORSTER said the design which he had in bringing forward the clause was not that which had been imputed, but he had thought it would serve two purposes—in the first place, to get children to school; and in the second place, to take away reasonable excuse from parents for keeping their children from school. The Bill would take away part of the power now enjoyed by the parent, and he might have to send his child to a school which he might not approve. To pass such a Bill would be neither just nor right. He did not think that the question of religious education was involved in this clause, but the question of compulsion was. Where a teacher assented to the condition that he should say nothing about religion, there were many parents who would say that they would rather that their children should not be under the influence of such teachers. Compulsion would then be simply impossible. If there was only one school, then the child must go to that school, but the Act provided for the protection of conscience. He would confine the possibility of relief to the case of those who were too poor to pay for themselves, so far as the case of compulsion was concerned. He could not consent to vote for the repeal of a clause without seeing what it was proposed to put in its place.

MR. LOWE said there were very good arguments on each side, but really the clause itself was ludicrously small as compared with the effect that its continuance had upon education and in the keeping apart friends of education who might but for it act cordially together. The sum which was really paid under this clause was contemptibly small, and the clause did not apply to those who could pay for their children's schooling, nor to paupers, but only to a small class who were just on the edge of pauperism, and who could not afford to pay a penny or twopence a week for their children. The money for the education of these children could also very easily be found from voluntary sources, as soon as it was known that it could not be obtained from public funds. There were many kind, good, rich people who would be glad of a proper outlet for their money, and this paltry sum would be without doubt found one hundred times over. They might even if necessary put such a small charge as this upon the Consolidated Fund.

LORD SANDON could not assent to the proposition that the great cause of education was suffering from the existence of this 25th clause. Not the most sanguine friend of education could have expected such great educational results within the short period of three years, and this showed how well the system worked. It must be clearly understood that the Government would not do anything to interfere with the right of parents to choose the school to which their children should go. Compulsion also was working most beneficially, and this compulsion could not be continued unless parents had the right to choose schools for their children. It was no new principle whatever that ratepayers should contribute to schools which were not in accordance with their own particular belief, because the same principle was carried out in the industrial and reformatory schools, in the contributions made to workhouse and prison chapels, and also in other instances. There were plenty of calamities connected with poverty which Government could not deal with, and they should be careful not to rob poor parents of their inalienable right to choose schools for their children. It was upon this principle, apart from all sectarian considerations, that the Government were prepared to stand in resisting this measure.

After a few words from MR. RICHARD in reply, the House divided, and the numbers were—

The Bill was consequently rejected.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11.

CONSULAR CHAPLAINS.

On the motion of SIR H. WOLFF, it was agreed that a select committee be appointed to inquire into the circumstances attending the withdrawal of the allowances granted to consular chaplains under the provisions of the Act, 6 Geo. IV., c. 87.

TUESDAY, JUNE 16.

On the motion of SIR H. WOLFF, the select committee on consular chaplains was nominated as follows:—MR. BOURKE, MR. ONSLOW, MR. WILBRAHAM EGERTON, COLONEL ALEXANDER, MR. WILLIAM CARTWRIGHT, MR. RAMSAY, MR. ASHLEY, MR. KINNAIRD, and SIR HENRY WOLFF.

MONDAY, JUNE 15.

MINISTERIAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE EDUCATION VOTES.

DR. L. PLAYFAIR called attention to the deficient ministerial responsibility under which the votes for education, art, and science were administered. He recommended that a Minister of Education should be appointed, with control over all public institutions of an educational character, and with a seat in that House, and he moved for a select committee to consider how ministerial responsibility might be best secured.

MR. FORSTER, whilst admitting the anomalous position of the Education Department, was of opinion that it had better continue as it was.

MR. DISRAELI said it was, no doubt, desirable that the Minister representing the spending department of the Council of Education should have a seat in the House of Commons; but that was the case at the present moment. It was not practically the fact that the Lord President never had a seat in the Commons. It was only within twenty-five years that that Minister had been called on to perform duties connected with the subject of education, and once during that period the then leader of the House (LORD J. RUSSELL) filled the office of Lord President, whilst on two occasions subsequently it had been contemplated that the Lord President should take his seat in the House. He granted that in every branch of administration there should be some one in each House to represent the department; but the Government were as much represented on any public matter by an Under Secretary of State as by a Chief Secretary. Profiting by the experience acquired since 1868, he thought it would be unwise to be precipitate in disturbing the existing arrangements; for the Council had admirably adapted itself to the management of public education, and he maintained that they ought to fulfil public purposes as much as they could by the offices which were now established, and not rashly rush into the creation of new ones, which when established very often did not act, and became obsolete in a few years. The Government were quite convinced of the advisability of effecting administrative reforms; but that could only be done gradually, and any attempt to do it by resolution, or by the disturbing process of a select committee, which would obtain information that was in everybody's possession, would only irritate the public mind, and create obstacles which would not otherwise exist to the improvements that might ultimately be found necessary. In conclusion, Mr. DISRAELI said that, having regard to the influence of such an office in moulding the character of the French people, he should be sorry to see a ministry of education established in this country.

Mr. LOWE concurred in this opinion, and remarked that the recasting of the department could not be effected without great inconvenience, the dislocation of business, and considerable expense. The presumption was, therefore, in favour of leaving things alone, unless a very clear case could be made out for an alteration, and he did not think such a case could be made out.

Dr. PLAYFAIR intimated his readiness to withdraw the motion, but the House insisted upon its being put, and it was thereupon negatived.

THE EDUCATION CODE.

Lord F. HERVEY next criticized the Education Code, which he described as ill-conceived, ill-worded, and ill-arranged, and requiring revision.

Mr. SAMUELSON urged that it should be one of the conditions of the payment of a parliamentary grant to public elementary schools, whether voluntary or supported by rates, that they should, if required to do so by a competent authority, receive free of charge a fair proportion of children, whose parents, not being paupers, were too poor to pay the school fees.

Lord E. FITZMAURICE contended that no grant should be made in respect of any voluntary school, unless the Education Department was satisfied that one-sixth of the whole school expenses each year had been defrayed by voluntary subscriptions.

Lord SANDON declined to join in condemning the code or the 25th clause of the Act. In the latter case he should be indirectly committing himself to the disapproval of the denominational grant. The adoption of Mr. Samuelson's suggestion would be a breach of contract with the voluntary schools; and as to Lord Fitzmaurice's proposal, at present very much more than one-sixth was contributed by the voluntary schools in the gross. Eventually the House went into committee of supply, and after discussion agreed to the votes for education.

MONDAY, JUNE 22.

The INTOXICATING LIQUORS BILL was read a third time and passed.

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES BILL.

This Bill was read a second time, on the understanding that it would be committed pro forma, and not proceeded with further this session.

FRIDAY, JUNE 26.

CONVOCAION.

In reply to Mr. HORSMAN, Mr. DISRAELI said her Majesty had been advised to re-issue or renew the Letter of Business which was issued to Convocation in the year 1872, and which fell to the ground in consequence of the dissolution of Parliament.

TUESDAY, JUNE 30.

THE CHURCH IN GIBRALTAR AND MALTA.

In reply to Mr. WHALLEY, Mr. J. LOWTHER, Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies, stated that the Letters Patent of the 15th of November, 1873, were repealed under the advice of the then officers of the Crown, and the new Bishop was consecrated by virtue of a mandate dated the 5th of December, 1873. As to the case of the Rev. Mr. Wayre, of Malta, who, with others, had complained of the degradation and injury sustained by the Protestants of Malta, no official representations had reached the Colonial Office, but a private communication had been received, which, together with others, was now under consideration.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 1.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION (COMPULSORY ATTENDANCE) BILL.

Mr. DIXON moved the second reading of this Bill, the object of which was to make the formation of school boards compulsory, instead of, as hitherto, permissive, and enforce the attendance of children at school, irrespective of any decision to that effect on the part of the rate-payers.

Mr. BIRLEY formally moved its rejection, and pointed out that its author had shifted from the ground he occupied last session, as his object now was to establish compulsory education by means of school boards. In his (Mr. Birley's) view of the matter, and in this he was supported by statistics, the country was not prepared to accept so great a change.

Mr. J. G. TALBOT seconded the amendment, and objected to school boards, which, in his judgment, were contrary to the genius and spirit of our institutions. They also invoked the employment of cumbrous and unnecessary machinery, and entailed considerable expense.

Sir J. LUBBOCK argued that the voluntary system had failed to meet the educational wants of the country.

Mr. SCOURFIELD disputed this conclusion, and said that the Bill was designed to prop up the credit of those false prophets who had predicted that the Elementary Education Act, without compulsion, would prove a failure.

Mr. COWPER-TEMPLE admitted that the question of compulsion was surrounded by difficulties, especially in the rural districts. At the same time he thought the feeling of the country was favourable to compulsory attendance, though he doubted the wisdom of making the school boards the machinery for carrying it out.

The debate was continued by Mr. HAEDCASTLE, Mr. FAWCETT, and Mr. GRANTHAM.

Mr. FORSTER declared himself an advocate of compulsory attendance, but he objected to school boards as the machinery for enforcing it, on the ground of their cumbrousness, the trouble their election would occasion to various districts, and that they were not the best kind of agency for the work. As the principle of the Bill was that of compulsory attendance, and the machinery a matter of secondary importance, he should cordially vote for the second reading.

Lord SANDON objected to the Bill, because it would cover the country with a vast number of new electoral institutions—a proposal with which he was directly at issue, and to which he believed more than half the population were opposed. The cost was already considerable, the country did not bear it with much satisfaction, and he found that there was an increased disinclination to the triennial division into two opposing parties on the education question of neighbours who wished to live at peace with one another. As to direct compulsion, he was not prepared to commit himself or the Government to it until he saw some machinery for working it of which he could approve. But the subject was receiving the earnest attention of Ministers, who would approach it with a desire to ensure to the people in time to come an education that would fit them for the great part which the English race was destined to play in the future of the world.

Dr. PLAYFAIR acknowledged that a scheme of compulsion could not be carried out unless had the support of public opinion; but he regarded the promise of the noble lord to consider the matter as meaning indefinite postponement.

After a few words from Mr. BASS, and a short reply by Mr. DIXON, the House divided.

The numbers were—

The Bill was accordingly lost.

PUBLIC WORSHIP REGULATION BILL.

TUESDAY, JULY 7.

The second reading of this Bill was moved by Mr. RUSSELL GURNEY, who commended it to the approval of the House on the ground that it would facilitate the administration of the existing law in respect of ecclesiastical offences, and secure to the clergy their fair rights. The present procedure, it was well known, was cumbrous, dilatory, and expensive. Both Houses of Convocation had condemned the manner in which the Clergy Discipline Act was administered, and there was no doubt that that Act did not afford satisfactory means of deciding such matters. There was nothing which related to the doctrines of the Church in the Bill. It made nothing unlawful which was not unlawful now; it created no new offence; it was, in short, a measure of prevention which inflicted a penalty for certain illegal acts. It would greatly improve the course of procedure, and put an end to a conflict of jurisdiction, whilst the bishop would no longer be the prosecutor of his own clergy. Mr. HALL proposed, as an amendment that it was inexpedient to proceed further with a measure for amending the administration of the law in regard to offences against the rubrics of the Book of Common Prayer while that law was in an uncertain condition. The best remedy, in his opinion, was non-intervention for the present; then, by and by, with the help of the Rubrical Revision Commissioners, he believed the waters would clear of themselves. The amendment having been seconded by Mr. K. HUGESSEN, Mr. GLADSTONE at considerable length criticized the provisions of the measure in an adverse spirit. It was a mistake to suppose that the question at issue merely related to procedure, and he held that the liberty which had been allowed in various churches and congregations of the Church of England, and the customs and usages which had harmlessly grown up, ought not to be rudely and rashly rooted up, whether they were accordant or not accordant to the letter of the law. He objected to contracting the liberty of congregations in this respect. At the same time he should be glad if possible, though late in the Session, to make out of the Bill a safe, an effectual, and a wholesome measure, but that could only be done by changes so important as to be fundamental. Discussing the question whether something ought not to be done, he observed that he should like to see a provision against the introduction of precipitate and sudden changes at the sole will of the clergyman and against the general feeling of the people. In conclusion, Mr. GLADSTONE laid upon the table the following resolutions, which he signified his intention to propose in case the Bill reached the stage of committee:—

1. That, in proceeding to consider the provisions of the Bill for the Regulation of Public Worship, this House cannot do otherwise than take into view the lapse of more than two centuries since the enactment of the present rubrics of the Common Prayer Book of the Church of England; the multitude of particular embraced in the conduct of Divine Service under their provisions; the doubts occasionally attaching to their interpretation, and the number of points they are thought to leave undecided; the diversities of local custom which, under those stances have long prevailed; and the unavailability of proscribing all varieties of opinion and usage among the many thousands of parishes of the Church distributed throughout the land."

2. That this House is therefore reluctant to be in the hands of every single bishop, on the motion of one or of three persons, howsoever defined, to increase facilities towards procuring an ultimate ruling of many points hitherto left open, reasonably allowing of diversity; and thereby to establish the establishment of an inflexible rule of uniformity throughout the land, to the prejudice, in matters indifferent, of the liberty now constitutionally existing."

3. That the House willingly acknowledges the great and exemplary devotion of the clergy generally to their sacred calling, but is not on that account the less disposed to guard against an indiscretion, or thirst for power, or other evil of individuals.

4. That the House is therefore willing to lend the best assistance to any measure recommended by adequate authority, with a view to provide more effectual securities against any neglect or departure from strict law which may give evidence of a design to alter, without the consent of the nation, the spirit or substance of the established religion.

5. That in the opinion of this House it is also to be desired that the members of the Church, having a legitimate interest in her services, should receive ample protection against precipitate and arbitrary changes of established custom by the sole will of the clergyman, and against the wishes locally prevalent among them; and that such protection does not appear to be afforded by the provisions of the Bill now before the House.

6. That the House attaches a high value to the concurrence of her Majesty's government with the ecclesiastical authorities in the initiation of legislation affecting the Established Church.

In the course of the debate, Mr. FORSYTH, Mr. GORDON, Mr. HOLT, and Mr. HEYGATE spoke in support of the Bill, and Mr. DILLWYN against it. Mr. MOWBRAY, in opposing it, contended that any legislation on the subject ought to originate with the Government, after Convocation had been consulted, and that the Bill in its present shape would bring about disunion and disruption in the Church. Mr. S. CAVE was prepared to give a hearty vote for the Bill, though he was identified with no particular party in the Church. Sir W. V. HARCOURT, after admitting that a measure like this ought to have been promoted by the responsible Ministers of the Crown, went on to criticize the speech of Mr. Gladstone, whose principles, he said, could not be reconciled with the principles on which the National Church was founded, whilst the right hon. gentleman's resolutions were an enunciation of an optional uniformity. What Parliament ought to do was to assert the attachment of the people of England for the Protestant Reformation, and he called upon Ministers to propound a definite principle, and say either that the law was what it ought to be, or, if it were not, to say what it ought to be, and propose means for enforcing it.

Mr. HARDY was opposed to the Bill. He was willing to protect the laity against clerical excesses, but he declined to be a party to any measure that might have the effect of driving into the ranks of the extreme Ritualists many excellent, moderate, and judicious members of the Church of England. He thought, therefore, the best course would be to postpone legislation both on doctrine and discipline, until men's minds were more cool, and the subject would be dealt with in a comprehensive measure.

Mr. LEATHAM addressed the House against the Bill, and the debate was closed with a short speech from Mr. HUBBARD, who recommended withdrawal. Then Mr. CHILDERS moved the adjournment of the debate; but Mr. DISRAELI intimated that he could not, without further consideration, hold out any prospect of its being resumed. Mr. R. GURNEY hoped the adjournment would not be agreed to, and that the debate would continue. Eventually a division was taken on the motion to adjourn, which was negatived by 275 to 114.

Mr. PEMBERTON proposed the adjournment of the House, and Mr. DISRAELI renewed his promise to consider the state of business and announce the result on Monday.<sup>1</sup> His opinion, however, was in favour of concluding the debate that night. Another division was called, and that too was defeated by the large majority of 243. Eventually the debate was resumed by Mr. BRERESKORD HOPE, who addressed the House in opposition to the Bill. At the conclusion of his speech the debate was adjourned.

CONVOCATION OF THE PROVINCE OF CANTERBURY.

LEGISLATION ON SPIRITUAL THINGS.

The Gravamen presented by Dr. FRASER, mentioned in our last number (p. 162), was as follows:—

"That in all cases where matters of religion, or matters affecting the consciences, or the spiritual rights or interests of the clergy, are to be made subjects of legislative action in the Imperial Parliament, the said matters, and the scope and details of the legislative action intended in regard to them, should first, and as of course, be submitted to the two Convocations of the Clergy attendant upon Parliament, with whom, of constitutional and moral right, legislative action in regard to matters religious and spiritual ought regularly to begin, as money bills begin in the House of Commons."

ADDRESS TO HER MAJESTY.

(From the "Court Circular.")

Windsor Castle, June 29.

The Lord Chamberlain introduced the members of Convocation to her Majesty's presence.

Mr. Secretary Cross, Secretary of State for the Home Department, presented his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Prolocutor to the Queen.

The Archbishop presented the address to her Majesty, who returned a gracious reply, after which his Grace and the Prolocutor kissed hands.

In her gracious reply to the address, her Majesty said:—

"It is a source of the greatest happiness to me to witness the efforts now being made by the clergy of the Church of England, both at home and abroad, to spread the truth of Christ, to mitigate the sufferings of humanity, to reclaim the vicious, and to instruct the ignorant. In these efforts they will, I feel, ever be upheld and supported by the support and co-operation of a faithful laity.

"They may rely upon my continued desire to suppress the slave-trade, and to promote true Christianity and morality among all my people.

"With you, I am thankful to hear that the recent alterations in the Act of Uniformity will prove the means of better adapting some of the public services of the Church to the wants of the age, and of increasing its influence over the people."

[Owing to press of matter, the report of the session of the Convocation of the Province of Canterbury is postponed.]

CONVOCATION OF THE PROVINCE OF YORK.

REVISION OF RUBRICS, CANONS, &c.

At the meeting of the Lower House (Ecclesiastical Gazette, 9th June, p. 163), the following resolution, proposed by the Archdeacon of LINCOLN and seconded by the Dean of MANCHESTER, was carried unanimously:—

"That while some legislation is expedient for the better administration of the laws respecting the regulation of public worship, it is most desirable that as an accompaniment and without delay, the rubrics, canons, and general laws of the Church be revised, with a view to their being more clearly defined, and that the existing Ecclesiastical Courts be reformed."

TITHE REDEMPTION TRUST.

At the Annual Meeting of this Society, held on 17th June, Lord John Manners, M.P., in the chair, the Rev. Dr. Alfred T. Lee, the Secretary, read the Report, which showed that grants had been made during the past year to Sandal Magna, diocese of Ripon, 20*l.*; Llanhilleth, diocese of Llandaff, 20*l.*; and to Brynmlyws, diocese of St. Asaph, a second grant of 7*l.* 10*s.* Former grants of 50*l.* had also been made during the year to St. James's, Macclesfield, diocese of Chester, and to Tynemouth, diocese of Durham, while a grant of 20*l.* had been promised to Laughton, diocese of Lincoln, and a small grant to North Otterington, diocese of York.

Lord John Manners, in speaking on the first resolution, which proposed the adoption of the Report, referred to the unobtrusive way in which the Society had conducted its operations during the past twenty-six years, and gave as a strong reason for continuing the work it had in hand, the cases referred to in the Report, in which the lay improprisors held tithes to the amount of 1000*l.* a year, whilst the incumbent's stipend was 100*l.* He rejoiced to find that improprisors were becoming alive to the duty of restoring tithes to the Church, and expressed his gratification that during the past four years the Society had doubled its income.

Resolutions were moved and seconded by the Hon. Henry Walpole, Rev. Harcourt Skrine, Rev. M. Osborn, C. Dingwall, Esq., and H. Grove, Esq.

QUEEN ANNE'S BOUNTY.

THE Governors of this Corporation held their Annual Meeting on March 24, to vote away their surplus income towards the augmentation of Benefices in England and Wales.

There were ninety cases approved. No grants were made on this occasion except to meet benefactions. The value of the benefactions offered to the Board was more than 22,000*l*., the grants made 18,000*l*., and the Church of England thus secures a capital sum of 40,000*l*. Four of the cases were donatives, without any fixed income whatever; they will now become Benefices liable to Episcopal jurisdiction. The income of the poorest Benefice augmented was 58*l*., and of the highest 200*l*.

The names of the donors include the Bishop of St. David's, and other clerical contributors; amongst the laity Lords Cawdor, Penrhyn, and Powis; Hon. J. Dawney, Colonel Harcourt, and J. C. Browne, F. I. S. Foljambe, M.P., A. D. Keightley, George Moore, H. R. Sandbach, Esqs.; amongst ladies, Lady Willoughby D'Eresby, Hon. Mrs. J. C. Talbot, and Miss C. Sayer; the Mercers' Company and Colleges of both Universities, and various Diocesan and other Societies.

COLONIAL BISHOPRICS' FUND.

A LARGE and influential public meeting, for the purpose of promoting the objects of this Fund, was held in Willis's Rooms on the 8th of July, the ARCHBISHOP of CANTERBURY presiding. There were present also EARL NELSON, LORD HATHERLEY, HON. H. WALPOLE, MR. HUBBARD, M.P., SIR BARTLE FRERE, the BISHOPS of LICHFIELD, MELBOURNE, GRAHAMSTOWN, BOMBAY, SASKATCHEWAN, &c. The EARL of CARNARVON was unable to attend in consequence of a meeting of the Cabinet Council.

The following resolutions were passed:—
"That a necessity exists for the revival and extension of the operation of the Colonial Bishoprics' Fund, and that in consequence of the growth of our Colonial Church, the development of the Mission to the heathen, and the increasing interest therein, the assistance of this Fund to the endowment of Bishoprics may best be given in the form of grants in aid."

"That, in accordance with the recommendation of the Council, an effort be made to secure new subscriptions to the amount of 3000*l*. at least, and to encourage the endowment for Bishoprics, and to aid in the subdivision of Colonial dioceses, and to assist in the endowment of dioceses which are left unendowed, or are supported by annual payments from Missionary Societies."

LAND-TAX OR TITHE RENT-CHARGE.

To the Editor of the "Ecclesiastical Gazette."

Sir,—If the land-tax on a benefice has once been redeemed, the benefice is absolutely exonerated and discharged from all land-tax (even on those tithes and lands which were not rated to the land-tax at the time of the exoneration). This is provided for in 53 George III., cap. 123, § 38.

I do not think this is generally known. I suspect that Mr. Acton's predecessor (Ecclesiastical Gazette, June 9, 1874), escaped from land-tax on the churchyard, by the intricacy of the above Act.

I remain, sir,
Your obedient servant,
A NORFOLK RECTOR.

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

Bishops Suffragan.—The Bishops of Nottingham and Dover (for the dioceses of Lincoln and Canterbury respectively) were consecrated in the early part of 1870, now more than four years ago. Before the consecration of a third Bishop Suffragan (the Bishop of Guildford) for the diocese of Winchester in March last, a memorial was presented by these three Bishops to the Archbishop of Canterbury, praying his Grace to inquire into the question of the signature of "Suffragan Bishops," a matter which had not hitherto been satisfactorily settled by authority. His Grace thought it advisable to refer the memorial to the Home Secretary, together with a question from himself as to the status generally of bishops consecrated under the Suffragan Act. The reply of the Home Secretary, after having consulted the law officers of the Crown, is to this effect:—The proper signature to be adopted by the existing Suffragan Bishops, and by any future Suffragans who may be consecrated under the provisions of the statute of the 26th Henry VIII., is that of the Christian name, or one of the Christian names, of the bishop, followed by the name of his see—for example, "Henry Nottingham." With regard to the status of Suffragan Bishops, "the law officers are of opinion that having regard to the words of the 4th section of the statute above referred to, the clerical status of a Suffragan Bishop depends upon whether he is or is not acting under a commission. Whilst so acting, and within the limits of his jurisdiction, as fixed by his commission, his status is probably next to that of the bishop for whom he is acting. But elsewhere, or when not acting under any commission, he can only rank, according to the date of his consecration, with other persons, whether colonial or others, who have been consecrated to episcopal functions." The Bishops of Nottingham, Dover, and Guildford will henceforth sign themselves in accordance with the opinion of the law officers of the Crown. The Act 26 Henry VIII., c. 14, enacts that "by authority Parliament the towns of Thetford, Ipswich, Colchester, Dover, Guildford, Southampton, Taunton, Shaftesbury, Molton, Marlborough, Bedford, Leicester, Gloucester, Shrewsbury, Bristol, Penrith, Bridgwater, Nottingham, Graham, Hull, Huntingdon, Cambridge, and the towns of Perth and Berwick, St. Germain's Cornwall, and the Isle of Wight, shall be taken and accepted for sees of Bishops Suffragan to be made in this realm and in Wales."

Rev. Dr. CURREY in the Chair.

Money Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Brisbane.—The Rev. Thomas D. Warner, writing from Roma, Queensland, made application for a grant for building a church there.

Mr. Warner is in Deacons' orders, and has recently been appointed by the Bishop to the charge of a district 350 miles away from Brisbane, of which Roma is the principal place, and has an increasing population of about 1000. Here everything connected with the church has to be commenced ab initio. Mr. Warner thus describes his work:—

"I hold service twice in Roma every Sunday, except two in three months; then I am one Sunday in Surat and one in Mitchell Down's (two outlying stations). In addition to my two services, I have a Sunday School and service at a near station. My plan of operations is this: I leave Roma each Monday, and take one direction for the week visiting the stations and taking service each evening, home on Saturday, visit in the town, then away again. Since coming here I have commenced a Sunday School, which is largely attended, and have established, as far as practicable, services at my out-stations between the times that I am with the people, and am in hopes of being able also to establish Sunday Schools."

The proposed church at Roma is to seat 300, and the people are inclined to give liberally, but still there is a large sum to make up. The estimated cost is 450*l*.

The Bishop, who is in England, writes:—

"I admitted Mr. Warner to the Diaconate shortly before I left Brisbane, and placed him in charge of the new district of Roma, where he has already justified the good opinion I had been led to form of him, and I shall be very thankful for any assistance and encouragement the Society are able to give him. As our Diocesan Synod is incorporated under an Act of the Colonial Legislature, and thus enabled to receive and hold property in trust, it would, I think, be wise in future to attach to any grant for a church, parsonage, or school, the condition that the site should be conveyed to the Corporation of the Synod."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 25*l*. for this church, on the condition suggested by the Bishop; the Society's grant to be paid when that sum would lead to the building being at once opened for Divine Service, and to its being free from all liability for debt.

Vienna.—The Standing Committee reported that early in May last, R. Cunliffe Owen, Esq., Secretary of the Royal English Commission, in connexion with the Vienna Universal Exhibition of 1873, had made an application for aid from the Society for the erection of an English church in Vienna. That at that time, Archdeacon Sinclair recommended Mr. Owen's application, and wrote:—

"I am desirous to bring under the favourable notice of the Standing Committee an application for aid in building an English Church at Vienna. It is of great importance that our Church Service should be shown to advantage in that central Roman Catholic metropolis. Besides gentry and visitors, there are at Vienna a number of governesses, domestics, &c., and the late exhibition has permanently increased the number of the English working classes."

That at the same time Sir Andrew Buchanan, H.M.'s Ambassador at Vienna, under whose auspices the work has been set on foot, wrote as follows:—

"My predecessors and myself have been able hitherto to appropriate for service on Sundays a room in the Embassy sufficiently large to accommodate a moderately numerous congregation; but in the house now building for the Embassy there will be no room suitable for the purpose. I have therefore thought that it might perhaps be possible to raise a sufficient sum by subscriptions to purchase a piece of ground contiguous to the Embassy, and to build a chapel upon it. There are few English residents, however, in a position to contribute largely to such an object, the English colony consisting principally of governesses, servants, and artisans."

Sir Andrew Buchanan went on to say that he felt strongly the duty of endeavouring to provide church accommodation for his countrymen and countrywomen resident in Vienna, and stated that he was assured that many persons employed in manufactories, or in menial occupations, would come to a church, who do not attend the services at the Embassy from a fear of intruding or of not finding room. The congregations, however, are numerous, and on last Easter Day there were upwards of sixty communicants, though not more than a quarter of the congregation communicated.

Sir Andrew further wrote,—"

"I believe Vienna is the only capital in Europe where there is not an English church or chapel of some kind; and, to say nothing of the boon which establishing one would be to the respectable but humble English community, it would raise the country in the estimation of the Viennese population."

In April Sir Andrew Buchanan said,—

"A site near the Embassy will cost at least 2000*l*. or 3000*l*., and the building of the chapel about 2000*l*."

A printed subscription-list, amounting to 930*l*., from nineteen subscribers, was forwarded.

The Committee added that, at Mr. Cunliffe Owen's request, the foregoing application had been postponed till now, and that in the interval the following further information had been supplied. The Bishop of London has expressed his hearty approval of the scheme, has promised a subscription of 10*l*., and has written as follows:—

"I can have no objection on the part of myself and successors to the vesting of the church in the Bishop of London for the time being, as Trustee for the Church of England, if such a trust is admissible and safe by the laws of Austria."

Sir Andrew Buchanan has written further about the site and other points. He hopes to be able to secure a sufficient site near the Embassy, though not so large a one as he had hoped to obtain, for about 1500*l*. He says,—

"It is almost impossible to ascertain the number of British subjects residing in Vienna, but they are almost all governesses, nursery-maids, grooms, or artisans."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 250*l*. for the erection of the proposed Church at Vienna, on condition of the property being secured for the purposes of the Church of England, in a manner satisfactory to the Standing Committee; the Society's grant to be paid when the receipt of it will lead to the immediate opening of the Church for Divine Service, and to its being free from all liability for debt.

Diocese of Montreal.—The Bishop forwarded one of the Society's forms of application for a grant towards a new Church in the Mission District of Kilkenny, in his diocese. The form was duly signed by the Rev. Thomas Everett, Clergyman in charge of the Mission, and countersigned by the Bishop.

It is proposed to build a wooden church, on stone foundations, to accommodate 120 persons. There are thirty-seven Church families in the district. The total estimated cost is 3600=120*l*., of which 3002=60*l*. have been raised. The property is vested in the Synod of the diocese. This church is really to represent one that has been pulled down at a distance of two miles from the population, and much of the old material of which will be made use of in the new building, for which a liberal grant is asked. The Bishop stated,—

"This is an interesting Mission, much deserving help. The people are very poor, but strongly attached to their Church."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make a grant of 20*l*. for this Church; the Society's grant to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from all liability for debt, and secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Diocese of Ontario.—The Bishop forwarded one of the Society's forms of application for towards a new Church at Beachburg, in the diocese. The form was duly signed by the John H. Simpson, the Incumbent, and countersigned by the Bishop.

It is proposed to build a church forty feet by fifty, partly of stone, partly of timber, for a population of about 150 poor English and Irish settlers. The total estimated cost is $18,320*l*.; $1100=220*l*. appear to have been raised. The site has been invested by deed in the Bishop of the Synod of the diocese.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 25*l*., to be paid when this sum would lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from all liability for debt, and secured as property of the Church for ever.

The Right Rev. Bishop Macrorie of Maritima.—Bishop Macrorie, in a letter dated Dec. Natal, 24th April, 1874, addressed a letter to the Secretary, from which the following passages are extracts:—

"I venture, at the request of an influential meeting of Charchmen held here on the 11th inst., to ask the attention of the Board to claim for help which the European population have upon the Society in the endeavour to build a church worthy of the seaport of the colony."

"In the year 1870 land was purchased at a cost of 300*l*. and a building erected upon a portion of it at a cost of between 500*l*. and 600*l*. which has from that time served the double purpose of Church and School, a portion of the main building being raised and curtained off during the week, as being the chancel. The congregation and schools have so increased during these four years, that it has become an imperative necessity to seek an increase of accommodation, the whole of the present building, with its vestry as class-room, being required for school purposes, and a larger and more suitable one for the worship of Almighty God. Many persons were obliged to go away on Easter Day for want of room."

"It is felt by the congregation generally that it would be the most appropriate memorial to their late pastor, Archdeacon Robinson, whose loss we are all deeply deploring, and the best means of perpetuating the work to which he devoted his life, to erect a church in which there would be room for an increasing congregation in this the most important centre in the diocese."

"A Committee has been formed, who undertake to raise a sum of 500*l*. in this immediate neighbourhood. (There is, besides, a sum of about 120*l*. in hand for this purpose.) It is believed that this will be considerably increased by contributions from all parts of the diocese, and also from England, and that designs for a building to cost from 1500*l*. to 2000*l*. ought to be prepared, which might be partially carried out in the first instance. The congregation being composed chiefly of persons of small incomes dependent upon their own exertions, many have expressed their intention of contributing monthly, and quarterly to the building fund."

"The offertories of last year, from Easter to Easter, amounted to 260*l*., about 150*l*. of which was appropriated for the stipend of the clergyman. Two years ago a parsonage-house was built out of great exertions acquired, though it is not free from debt."

"The land in possession of the Diocesan Trustees immediately adjoining the present school-church is sufficient for the erection of a church; but if it is decided that some other site would be more desirable, there is little doubt that it may be sold at a considerable advance of what was originally paid for it; but this will be matter for consideration some months hence, as the value of land will depend much upon the construction of the proposed railway."

"May I ask you to lay the case of this struggling little body of Churchmen before your Committee? They are deserving of all the sympathy and help that can be given, and it is somewhat unfortunate for them that at the very time they need it so much there are so many demands upon Churchmen throughout the diocese, as cannot fail to diminish the flow of funds towards them. The Dean and his congregation in Maritzburg have formed an Association for the enlargement of the cathedral, and besides are projected native school in this town, there are no less than three neighbouring communities endeavouring to raise funds for building churches. Greatly as I rejoice in these facts as most hopeful for the future of the Church, they render it more difficult to carry out the large scheme which the necessities of this town demand."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 100*l.* for the erection of the proposed new Church, on the condition that if it were not built on the site already in the hands of Bishop Macrorie, it should not be built on a site nearer than the present site to the existing Church; the Society's grant to be paid so soon as the receipt of it will lead to the immediate opening of the building for Divine worship, and to its being free from all liability for debt, and secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Diocese of Calcutta.—The Bishop, writing from his diocese on 16th of May, 1874, made the following application for a grant towards the production of a Church Hymnal in the Oordoo language, intended specially for use in the North-west and the Punjab,—"I have received an urgent application from the Secretary of a joint Committee of S.P.G. and C.M.S. Missionaries in behalf of a Church Hymnal in Oordoo (or Hindustani) which they are desirous of printing. It will contain about three hundred hymns. It is taken from various sources. Some hymns are translations, some original."

"There is no Oordoo Church Hymnal, and the one which has been occasionally used is not what we could in all things desire. One of our own is wanted. A number of hymns especially suited to us are not contained in the other collections."

"I saw some of the specimens of the newly translated hymns, and thought them well done, when I was last in the Punjab."

"The calculation made at the Secundra Orphanage Press is, for 2000 copies 19*l.* 10*s.*, and for 3000 copies 28*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*

"Perhaps your Society might print it more cheaply at home, but I certainly feel deeply the need of such a hymnal, and strongly recommend it to the assistance of the Society in the way which it thinks best."

"It is intended especially for the North-west and the Punjab, but would, I think, be available for the Hindoo-speaking world as well, as most natives know Oordoo as well as Hindi, especially where the Christian expressions are used, which must be in many cases common to both languages."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 100*l.* for the production of 2000 copies, on condition that one-third of the proceeds of the sale of the books be paid back to S.P.C.K. as a donation; the Society's grant to be paid as the Bishop may desire upon his certifying that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate production of the 2000 copies.

Bishop Gobat asked help for the furtherance of Educational work under his direction; he is now maintaining nine Schools, three in Judæa, and six in Samaria, including an orphanage in Jerusalem, containing fifty boys, boarders, and fifteen day scholars. This last is at the same time a normal school, the most promising boys being kept on with a view to their being trained as schoolmasters and catechists. There are already sixteen or seventeen employed as Teachers in Palestine, Syria, and Egypt, and three Catechists. All these Schools together contain between 350 and 400 children of both sexes (about 100 girls), Christians of five denominations, Jews, Moslems (about 60), Samaritans and Druses, all faithfully taught the Word of God. The cost last year was 1124*l.* (the Orphanage 750*l.*).

Besides these the Bishop supports four ordained Missionaries, one of whom labours chiefly amongst the Moslems.

The Standing Committee, regarding this as an exceptional case, recommended a grant of 100*l.* as a donation in aid of the Educational operations in which the Bishop is engaged.

This grant was made.

Diocese of Newfoundland.—The Rev. H. M. Skinner, Missionary of S.P.G. in charge of the Mission "Salvage" in this Diocese, applied for two grants to enable him to complete two new churches now in course of erection.

These churches are at Flat Island and Gooseberry Island respectively; each place has a population of about 350 members of the Church of England, but up to this time services have been held in school-houses. The want of larger and more decent buildings for public worship is much felt. Since Mr. Skinner has been in charge of the Mission, a period of three years, the people at both these settlements have exerted themselves to the utmost. They have contributed about 300*l.* sterling in lumber, materials, and labour, and by the time the buildings are completed will contribute a good deal more.

There has been contributed also 358*l.* in money for the two churches.

Each building is well advanced towards completion, but each will cost about 500*l.* sterling, and without some extraneous aid they cannot be finished. Mr. Skinner has already collected about 40*l.* at St. John's, Newfoundland, but there still remains a deficiency of about 400*l.* before the two churches can be completed. The population, all fishermen, and almost all quite poor, amounts to 1450.

The Bishop of Newfoundland, new in this country, commended the case very heartily: he wrote:—

"I visited last summer both the places for the churches in which Mr. Skinner has asked for assistance, and confirmed in both. In Gooseberry Island the church was far advanced, and I hope and believe will be finished and ready for consecration this year. In the Flat Islands it will, I think, be necessary to remove what was put up for a beginning many years ago, as being both decayed and too slight; but the people seemed very desirous to begin again, and I trust will carry the work to a satisfactory completion."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50*l.* for each of these churches, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of St. Asaph.—The Bishop made an application for a renewal to his Diocese of a grant in aid of Diocesan Inspection. The Bishop was aware that the National Society was now in a position to help in this work, and had been led to expect assistance to the extent of 50*l.*, but he urged that as they paid 350*l.* a year, there still would be a serious deficiency.

The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that the Diocese of St. Asaph had received 100*l.* for one year, and 70*l.* for a second year, which is about to expire.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 20*l.* for a third year.

Additional Students in Church Training Colleges.—The Standing Committee informed the Meeting, that, since the grants made in June last to the Training Colleges at Brighton, Salisbury and Truro, with a view of enabling them to keep up their number of Students for a second period of two years to the maximum reached during the years 1873 and 1874, by means of the Society's grant of 5000*l.* made in July, 1872, they had received numerous applications from other Training Colleges for similar help.

The Committee added that, considering the great importance of providing a sufficient number of religiously-trained men and women to meet the very great demand for school-teachers throughout the country, they had determined to recommend a great number of grants for this purpose for a second period of two years, though at a reduced scale as compared with that of 1872, and with the distinct intimation that the managers of Training Colleges must not calculate upon any further renewal of these grants. The 5000*l.* voted in July, 1872, secured the training for two years of 178 additional Female Students and of 118 additional male Students.

The following are the particulars of the cases now recommended.

Worcester, Lichfield and Hereford Training College for Schoolmasters, Saitley.—The Rev. F. W. Burbidge, Principal of this College, stated that their present number of Students is 100, but that, without aid from S.P.C.K., it must be reduced after next Christmas to 86. Mr. Burbidge inquired what amount of help might be looked for from the Society.

It appeared that in 1872, 240*l.* had been granted towards the maintenance of twelve additional Students.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant at the rate of 7*l.* 10*s.* per annum for two years for each of twelve Students, provided 100 Students were in residence throughout that time—180*l.* in all; the Society's grant to be payable in two equal instalments in January, 1875, and January, 1876, upon the Committee being assured that the full number of 100 Students are in residence at each of those periods.

Durham Training College for Schoolmasters.—The Rev. Canon Wade, Secretary of this College, wrote as follows, on June 18, 1874:—

"We have nearly completed the enlargement of this College for twenty additional Students at a cost of 2600*l.*, greatly raised by voluntary contributions, and we stand in great need of help to the sustentation fund for the next two years. I therefore write to ask you if you will have the kindness to inform me whether the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge will be willing and able to assist the Sub-Committee of Management of the Durham Training College in this matter; it will be a great benefit to Church Education in this Diocese if the Society can help, for we have great difficulty in raising sufficient funds, so much being wanted in these high times of labour and material. From old experience I feel confident that the S.P.C.K. will do what they can to aid us in this work."

For these twenty additional male Students S.P.C.K. had granted 400*l.*, viz., 240*l.* for twelve additional Students admitted in January, 1873, and 160*l.* to be paid when the Committee shall have been assured that eight further additional Students have been admitted.

The Standing Committee recommended a further grant at the rate of 7*l.* 10*s.* per annum for two years for each additional Student over and above the number in residence in the year 1872—in all 300*l.*—if 20 additional Students were in residence.

This was agreed to.

St. Mark's College for Schoolmasters, Chelsea.—Canon Cromwell, the Principal of this College, represented that the number of Students to be maintained during the years 1875 and 1876 must to a great extent depend upon the amount of help granted by S.P.C.K. for those years.

In 1873 and 1874 twenty additional Students were trained in consequence of the Society's grant of 400*l.*

The Standing Committee now recommended that 300*l.*, being at the rate of 7*l.* 10*s.* per head per annum for two years, should be offered, on condition of a second set of twenty additional Students being trained for a second period of two years, viz. during 1875 and 1876.

This was agreed to.

Winchester Training School for Masters.—The Rev. George Henry Sumner, Honorary Secretary, stated that in consequence of a grant of 320*l.* from S.P.C.K. in 1872, they had increased their number of Students during 1873 and 1874 from forty to fifty-six. He added that the maintenance of this increase for another period of two years would depend upon the continuance of help from this Society.

The Standing Committee recommended a grant at the rate of 7*l.* 10*s.* per head per annum for each of sixteen Students for the two years 1875 and 1876, provided the full number of fifty-six Students was maintained during that period—240*l.* in all.

This was agreed to.

South Wales Training College for Masters, Carmarthen.—The Rev. Rupert H. Morris, Principal, applied, on behalf of this College, for a renewal of the grant made in 1872 in aid of training additional Students. It appeared that for the years 1873 and 1874, 300*l.* were granted for training fifteen additional Students during that period, the numbers being then increased from fifty to sixty-five.

It is not now proposed to take more than sixty—the maximum allowed by Government, except to meet the pressing emergencies of the last two years. Mr. Morris urges that “it is with the greatest difficulty, and only by the exercise of great economy, that it is possible to carry on the work of the College.”

The Standing Committee recommended a grant at the rate of 7*l.* 10*s.* per head per annum for two years for fifteen Students, if the full number of sixty-five Students were maintained; or for ten Students if only sixty Students were in residence during the years 1875 and 1876—in all either 225*l.* or 150*l.*

This was agreed to.

St. Peter's College, Peterborough.—The Rev. Charles Daymond, Principal, applied, by direction of his Committee, for a renewal of the grant made in 1872 to this College, in which they had made provision for a permanent addition to their numbers. The grant then made was one of 200*l.* for ten additional male Students.

The Standing Committee recommended a grant of 150*l.*, on condition of the full number of Students stipulated for during the years 1873 and 1874 being maintained during 1875 and 1876.

This grant was made.

Whitelands Training Institution for Schoolmistresses.—Application was made on behalf of this Institution for further help; in 1872 a grant of 240*l.* had been made for training sixteen additional Students during the years 1873 and 1874.

The Standing Committee recommended a grant at the rate of 5*l.* per head per annum for two years for each of sixteen Students, in all 160*l.*, provided the full number of Students trained during the years 1873 and 1874 should be maintained during the years 1875 and 1876.

This was agreed to.

Lechrin House, Edinburgh, Training School for Schoolmistresses.—Last year a grant of 300*l.* was made to this Institution for fifteen additional Students, by means of which an additional house was rented, and the numbers in training during the years 1873 and 1874 increased from thirty to forty-five.

It appears that the additional house will provide accommodation for twenty Students, could the Committee of the Institution afford to admit so large a number. Mr. David Home, the Secretary and Treasurer, says that as the demand for Teachers continues to be very great, he believes that the offer of 5*l.* per head per annum for two years for twenty Students, would induce his Committee to admit fifty Students in all for the years 1875 and 1876.

The Standing Committee recommended a grant at the rate of 5*l.* per head per annum for two years for each Student over and above the number of thirty, who shall be admitted for two years in January, 1875, being a maximum of 200*l.* for twenty Students over and above thirty.

This was agreed to.

Durham Training College for Schoolmistresses.

—The Rev. W. Hampson Walter, Principal of this College, stated that the great effort made, to a great extent in consequence of the Society's grant of 360*l.* in 1873 and 1874, to provide additional permanent accommodation for twenty-four Students, had rendered it difficult for the Committee, up to this time, to increase materially the subscriptions to the yearly maintenance fund. Mr. Walter said, that they quite intended to regard sixty as their permanent establishment, instead of forty-six as previously, but added that any help from the Society towards the maintenance of the additional twenty-four Students for a second period of two years, would be gratefully received.

The Standing Committee recommended a grant of 240*l.* in this case, on condition of the full number of sixty Students being maintained during the years 1875 and 1876; the grant being at the rate of 5*l.* per head per annum for two years, for each of twenty-four Students over and above forty-six.

This was agreed to.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, June 8th.—The Committee proceeded to consider the circumstances of the East African Mission, in connexion with the measures necessary for the reception and instruction of liberated Africans at Mombas, and also for an advance towards the interior. The Secretaries reported that, the request of the Committee having been conveyed to him, Mr. Price had placed his services at the disposal of the Committee for the carrying out of any plans they might have in contemplation in connexion with the East African Mission. Mr. Price, being in attendance, was introduced to the Committee, and conversation was held with him respecting his views as to the work that would have to be undertaken at Mombas. The Secretaries having alluded to the great importance of being prepared to receive at Mombas such liberated slaves as the Government might be willing to release there, and reference having also been made to the memorial presented to the Government last July, the Committee were of opinion that adequate arrangements should be made at once for the reception and education of liberated Africans at Mombas; and that a deputation should be arranged to wait upon the Earl of Derby at an early date, with a view of furthering, if possible, the objects aimed at in the memorial presented last year. The Committee were further of opinion that the time had come for attempting the establishment of a mission in the interior, and they approved generally of the plan of operations sketched in the statement of Mr. Price.

A letter was read from the Rev. H. Houghton, expressing a wish to augment the Hall and Houghton Fund by 1000*l.* Consols, the interest of which he desired might be applied in the promotion of the study of the Septuagint Version of the Hebrew Scriptures in connexion with the Hebrew Bible and the Greek Testament in the Native Church in New Zealand. The Secretaries were requested to forward a letter of thank Mr. Houghton, and to make inquiries as to best method of carrying out his wishes.

Committee of Correspondence, June 23rd. Letters were read from the Rev. F. A. Kl. recommending for ordination the Catech Khaleel Djamal, and a letter from the Bishop Jerusalem, expressing a favourable opinion regarding the qualifications of Khaleel Djamal the ministry, and his readiness to ordain him. Reference having been made to the minutes of the Palestine Conference, dated April 27, 1874, approving of the ordination of Khaleel Djamal and to the autobiographical statement drawn out by him, giving a full account of himself from the time of his joining the Protestant community, the committee sanctioned the presentation and ordination of Khaleel Djamal.

Letters were read from the Rev. J. Zeller, dated May 21 and June 4, recommending that Acca be occupied as an out-station of Nazareth and reporting that the services of a suitable agent were available for the post. Reference having been made to the minutes of the Palestine Conference concurring in Mr. Zeller's proposal, the Committee sanctioned the employment of a native agent at Acca, and that the salary should be paid from the Walter Jones' Fund.

General Committee (Special), June 30th.—A letter was read from the Rev. H. T. Armfield dated Theological College, Salisbury, June 1, 1874, asking, on behalf of the Bishop of Salisbury, for the names and addresses of some Missionaries now in England fresh from their work with a view to their taking a part in the proposed Festival in behalf of the Foreign Missions of the Church of England, to be held on the 3rd of July. Reference having been made to the Minutes of the Committee of October 13, 1873, declining to depart from their invariable practice of sending deputations to such meetings only as are exclusively on behalf of the Church Missionary Society, the Committee expressed their regret that they could not comply with the wishes of the Bishop of Salisbury, considering it important that they should strictly adhere to their resolution of October 13, 1873.

Reference was made to the Minutes of the Committee of November 10, 1873, suggesting measures for an annual reduction in the Society's subsidy to the Sierra Leone Native Pastorate. The minutes of the Sierra Leone Conference of May, 1874, were read, stating that the Conference were unanimously of opinion that the arrangement should take effect from the present time. Reference was also made to the circumstances of the Pademba-road Church, and to the proposals that had been made from time to time to hand over the Pademba-road Church to the Native Pastorate. Letters were read on the subject from the Bishop of Sierra Leone, pointing out the difficulty that the Native Church Fund would have in accepting the Pademba-road Church, as it would not contribute much to the income of the Pastorate. The Committee resolved that, in the event of the Native Church Council undertaking the entire charge of the Pademba-road Church and district, the Committee would continue the subsidy to the Pastorate Fund of 300*l.* from its general funds for another year, after which time the reduction of the subsidy should be further considered. At the same time the Committee sanctioned the appointment of the Rev. M. Pearce to the Pademba-road Church.

General Committee (Special), July 7th.—A Special Meeting of the Committee was held at the Missionaries' Children's Home, Highbury, to take leave of Missionaries proceeding to Africa, India, Ceylon, China, and Japan. The Instructions of the Committee were delivered by the Rev. C. C. Fenn, and were briefly acknowledged by the Missionaries. They were then addressed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Burdon, and were commended in prayer to the favour and protection of Almighty God by the Rev. E. Auriol and the Rev. B. C. Billing.

THE INCORPORATED SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE ENLARGEMENT, BUILDING, AND REPAIRING OF CHURCHES AND CHAPELS.

The Society held its last meeting for the present session (and till November) on Monday, July 20th, at the Society's House, 7, Whitehall, Mr. W. Archdeacon Harrison in the chair, when grants were made amounting to 3810*l*. Since the commencement of the Society's financial year (April) the sums voted amount to 7756*l*, whilst the receipts during the same time have been but 3688*l*, leaving a deficiency of 4068*l*, and it is therefore earnestly urged on the attention of the Church at large that unless during the next greater benefactions are forwarded to the Society, there must be an inevitable reduction in the scale of grants.

CORPORATION OF THE SONS OF THE CLERGY.

The Court of Assistants held its last meeting for the present season on Saturday, the 18th ult., at the Corporation House, 2, Bloomsbury-place.

Since the last long Vacation the Governors have distributed about 24,000*l*. in donations to poor clergymen, their widows and children; and in pensions to clergy widows, and aged and single daughters, the recipients being about 1400 in number, and applying from various parts of England and Wales.

The Corporation does not confine its grants to any one class, but assists in various ways all classes of worth and need, and clergy widows, and helpless single daughters, and the children requiring a friendly hand to educate and place out in life.

LAW.

COURT OF ARCHES.

FRIDAY, JULY 17.

THE REREDOS CASE.

WID AND OTHERS v. THE VEN. ARCHDEACON PHILLIPOTS.

The case came before the Court on the question of the admission of the libel of appeal from the judgment of the Bishop of Exeter, ordering the removal of the reredos from the cathedral. The Dean and Chapter had appealed to the Arches' Court, and on a former occasion the learned Dean held that he had jurisdiction to hear the appeal. Archdeacon Phillipotts had not appealed on the question of jurisdiction to the Judicial Committee, and the case would proceed to hearing in this Court.

Mr. W. Phillipotts appeared as counsel for the respondent (the Archdeacon); Dr. Deane, Q.C. (with whom was Mr. Walter Phillimore), for the Dean and Chapter.

The object of the application was to obtain the decision of the Court on the question of jurisdiction of the Bishop of Exeter to order the removal of the reredos as Visitor of the church. There were other points as to the fabric of the church.

Mr. Phillipotts wished to obtain the judgment of the Court whether the Bishop had jurisdiction, which would shorten the proceedings.

Sir R. Phillimore was not aware that a similar case had occurred. The usual practice was to raise the questions on the hearing.

Dr. Deane intimated that the question as to the jurisdiction of the Bishop would be noted.

The Dean of Arches took occasion, in the course of the discussion, to refer to the "libel of appeal," as it was called, which was in effect a vehicle for bringing the proceedings before the Court from the other Court, and somewhat similar to the appeal from this Court to the Judicial Committee. Lord Kingsdown had complained of the mode adopted, and now an appeal was to the Judicial Committee by petition in few words. The libel of appeal still adopted in this Court contained allegations which could be removed, and he trusted would be one of the reforms to be effected under the new procedure.

The libel of appeal was admitted.

THURSDAY, JULY 23.

The hearing of this appeal was commenced to-day.

Dr. Deane, Q.C. (with whom was Mr. Walter Phillimore), appeared for the appellants, the Dean and Chapter; and Mr. W. F. Phillipotts for the respondent, Chancellor Phillipotts.

The points raised by the appeal on the part of Dr. Boyd, and other members of the cathedral body, of which the Bishop is a member, were, whether the Bishop, as Visitor of the cathedral, had jurisdiction to order the removal of the reredos; and, if his Lordship possessed the power, whether the images on the reredos were unlawful exhibitions as against the laws ecclesiastical. Chancellor Phillipotts presented a petition to the Bishop as Prebend of the Cathedral and Archdeacon of Cornwall against the reredos, on which a citation was issued, and the case heard on a visitation by the Lord Bishop, attended by Mr. Justice Keating as his assessor. The proceedings at Exeter occupied three days. On the 15th of April last the Bishop read the opinion of Mr. Justice Keating, and then gave judgment that the erection of the reredos without a faculty or other lawful authority was illegal, and that the placing of the images thereon was also illegal. Their removal was ordered, and in place of them the ten commandments were ordered to be set up at the east end of the choir. The order was on the Dean and Chapter. A petition to the Arches' Court was filed, and the learned Dean held, after a discussion on some preliminary questions, that he had jurisdiction to entertain the appeal, and appointed this day for its commencement.

Dr. Deane maintained that the Bishop of a cathedral had no authority to interfere with the Dean and Chapter as to alterations, and that in other improvements no faculty had been obtained. The present case was one of considerable importance, because, if this Court affirmed the decision of the Bishop of Exeter, no alterations could be made in a cathedral unless a faculty was obtained. It was the first attempt to impose such a condition on a Dean and Chapter of a cathedral, and one for which no precedent could be found, and which, if enforced, would lead to inconvenience. The learned Doctor commented on the reasons set forth by Mr. Justice Keating for the opinions he had formed as assessor, that the erection of the reredos without a faculty was unlawful, and that the images thereon were illegal. It was the first time such an opinion had been acted upon, and Dr. Deane was convinced there was no precedent for such a view as against the Dean and Chapter of a cathedral. He was about to enter on the next point, when

Mr. Phillipotts submitted that the question of jurisdiction of the Bishop as Visitor to order the removal should be first decided.

Sir R. Phillimore said he should prefer to hear the whole case before he gave his judgment.

Dr. Deane thought that the best course to pursue was to discuss both questions, and proceeded to contend that the images which unquestionably would be legal on painted glass at windows were equally legal on the reredos.

Mr. Walter Phillimore followed on the same side, and had not concluded when the Court rose.

The further hearing was then adjourned.

FRIDAY, JULY 24.

Mr. Walter Phillimore, at the sitting of the Court, resumed his address as to the legality of the images on the reredos in question, and quoted numerous authorities in support of the proposition. The contention would assume that all images both inside and outside cathedrals were improper. Both on the question of the authority of the Bishop to order the removal of the reredos and on the question of images he submitted that the Bishop of Exeter had exceeded the power with which he was invested.

Mr. Phillipotts occupied the remainder of the day in arguing the case in support of the judgment of the Lord Bishop of Exeter, who had the assistance of Mr. Justice Keating as his assessor, and who held with him that the reredos should not have been erected in the Bishop's own church without a faculty had been first obtained. On the first point he maintained that a bishop had on a visitation of his church power to order the removal of the reredos. On the question of images he contended that they promoted idolatry, and, in support of his contention, instanced an exhibition which had lately occurred at Mill-hill, where there had been the coronation of an image. Images came in with popery and went out with popery, and it was remarkable that of late years, when there was a Romanizing tendency in the Church of England, images were again introduced. His point was that images should be removed.

The Dean of Arches observed that if the argument was extended to its legitimate length, then all images, both inside and outside cathedrals, would have to be removed.

The learned counsel continued to the rising of the Court, and a discussion occurred as to pictures and images, it being remarked that in the Greek Church pictures were permitted, but not images.

The further hearing was adjourned.

SATURDAY, JULY 25.

Mr. Phillipotts continued and concluded his address, tracing from earliest times the introduction of images. He showed from history that when Popery prevailed they were introduced, and when Popery went out they were removed. Of late years the tendency was towards Popery, and reredoses had appeared. Images tended to idolatry and superstition, and their introduction was against the Reformation, and shocked the early Reformers, as opposed to the second commandment. He asked his Lordship, by refusing the appeal, to affirm the judgment of the Bishop of Exeter, and check the growing tendency of the present day to foster the superstitious practices of the Church of Rome in the Church of England.

Mr. Walter Phillimore replied on the case, denying that the introduction of images was superstitious or tended to idolatry. Such ornaments were requisite, and had nothing to do with worship. Those who alleged the contrary would remove all ornaments from churches, and images both from outside and inside of cathedrals.

The Dean of Arches, on the conclusion of the argument, expressed his acknowledgments to the learned counsel for the assistance they had given him. He would look into the various authorities cited before he pronounced judgment.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 6.

Judgment in this case was given this day.

The Dean of Arches, in giving judgment, referred to the facts of the appeal. The appeal came before him on the decision of the Bishop of Exeter, who was assisted by Mr. Justice Keating, as his assessor, ordering, as visitor and ordinary, the removal of the reredos with certain images thereon, which had been substituted for the stone screen with the ten commandments thereon. Chancellor Phillipotts presented a petition to the Bishop of Exeter on the 9th July, 1873, praying him to exercise his power as visitor, and order the Dean and Chapter to remove the reredos with the images thereon, and replace the screen with the ten commandments. On the reredos were sculptured representations in bas-relief of the Ascension of Our Saviour, the Transfiguration of Our Lord, and the Descent of the Holy Ghost on the Day of Pentecost. The Bishop held a visitation on the 7th, 8th, and 9th January last, when the same learned counsel appeared before him and his learned assessor. An objection was taken to the jurisdiction of the Court on the part of the Dean and Chapter. The case was, however, fully discussed, and on the 15th April the Bishop read the opinion of Mr. Justice Keating and delivered judgment. The opinion of Mr. Justice Keating was, that by the evidence it was clearly established that the Bishop had a right to visit his cathedral and the fabric thereof. The first question was whether what was done as to the erection of the reredos could legally be done without a faculty or without the consent of the Bishop; and, secondly, whether the placing of the images thereon was contrary to the laws ecclesiastical. His Lordship entered fully into the two questions, and advised the Bishop that the erection of the reredos without a faculty was contrary to the laws ecclesiastical, and that the images thereon were also contrary to those laws. The Bishop adopted the opinion of his assessor, and pronounced judgment for the removal of the reredos and the images thereon, and ordered the screen with the ten commandments to be replaced at the east end of the choir. On this decision the Dean and Chapter appealed to the Archies Court, and, after some preliminary discussions as to its jurisdiction to entertain the case, the matter was fully discussed on the three days mentioned. On the part of the Dean and Chapter, the contention was that they had a right to erect the reredos without a faculty, and that the images thereon were legal; while, on the other hand, it was contended that there was great peril of idolatry in the exhibition of images, and that it behoved those who venerated the Protestant faith to order their removal from inside cathedrals and churches. Images, it was urged, were placed in churches where Popery prevailed, and were removed when it declined. There was at present, and had been for some time, a tendency in the Church of England to Romanism, and therefore the urgent necessity to enforce the law on the subject. The Dean of Arches, having recapitulated the facts as above stated, said the case was of considerable importance, and he gladly availed himself of this opportunity to thank the learned counsel for their able assistance in the arguments they had used, and for the industry and talent they had displayed. The appeal was from a decision of the Bishop of Exeter by the Dean and Chapter, on his Lordship ordering the removal of the reredos which had been placed in the cathedral by them. The petitioner, Chancellor Phillpotts, as a prebend and archdeacon, had petitioned the Bishop to hold a visitation to obtain a removal of the reredos. He did hold a visitation, and Mr. Justice Keating was his assessor. The judgment was that the reredos be removed and the stone screen be replaced. The first question was as to the visitation. It was legal and competent for the Bishop of a diocese to hold a triennial or special visitation, and it was at the latter that the Bishop exercised his power to direct the removal of the reredos; and, after citing several cases, he (the Dean) was of opinion that the appeal to this Court was properly brought. The Bishop had held, and the learned assessor had advised him thereon, that the erection of the reredos without a faculty was illegal, and also that the images carved on or out thereon were illegal. As he understood the argument, the appellants did not object to the right of the Bishop to visit the cathedral, but contended that it was limited. Referring to the case of the Dean of York, and the order in Council as to the diocese of Exeter, it was contended that the Dean and Chapter were to be dealt with by the proper Court, and not by the Bishop. Such was the case of stealing the communion plate. A Bishop could inquire on a visitation into the matter, but the punishment must be awarded by the criminal Court. He (the Dean) had asked how the order to remove the reredos was to be enforced as against the Dean and Chapter by the Bishop, and he had received no answer. The question whether the reredos could be erected without a faculty, which was a licence for any alteration by a Dean and Chapter, had not been answered, and no instance had been cited of a faculty being obtained by a Dean and Chapter, and he (Sir Robert Phillimore) had been Chancellor of several dioceses before he held his present office, and he had been unable to find an instance of a Dean and Chapter asking for a faculty. In this cathedral a reredos was erected in 1823 without a faculty. And if such an authority was necessary then, a citation for the whole diocese of London would have been necessary for the present alterations at St. Paul's. A Dean and Chapter formed a council to the Bishop, as stated by Lord Coke. After a careful consideration of the point, he (the Dean) was of opinion that the absence of an episcopal faculty did not make the erection of the reredos illegal. He was of opinion that the Bishop had no power to order the removal. He would, however, assume that the Bishop had authority, and would consider whether the reredos erected at the back of the altar was illegal. He mentioned the historical subjects on the reredos, and he thought such subjects were edifying, and did not tend to the peril of idolatry, as was alleged. The learned Dean then proceeded to consider the objections urged by Mr. Phillpotts to the carved figures on the reredos, that to retain them would be tending to the superstitions of the Church of Rome. He did not consider that the reredos presented any peril of idolatry to the frequenters of the cathedral. On the last point, as to the discretion which he could exercise in granting an order to remove the reredos, he entered fully into the subject of "images," and quoted numerous authorities on the subject. In conclusion, he said he did not see that the images were objectionable, any more than the crucifixion placed over the choir. He ordered the appellants to be dismissed from further observance, and there was no order as to costs, as they were not asked by the appellants. The sentence of the Bishop would be reversed as to the removal of the reredos.

There is an appeal to the Judicial Committee.

MARTIN V. MACKONCHIE.

This case came before the Court to-day in the shape of an application on the part of Mr. Mackonochie, to examine on oath John Martin, the promoter, in reference to the allegation of the defendant that the suit was by a non-parishioner, and contrary to the wish of the churchwardens, and 1800 members of the congregation also had expressed their desire to the Bishop of London that the case should not proceed. Mr. Martin, it was stated on the proceedings, had interfered in the affairs of the parish, and was a violator of its peace and unity, and unworthy of appearing in an Ecclesiastical Court, where he had promoted the suit as an agent of the Church Association.

Mr. Walter Phillimore was for Mr. Mackonochie in support of the application, and Mr. E. Shaw opposed it.

Sir R. Phillimore declined to grant the application, and also an appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

An application by Mr. Shaw for an early day of hearing, as he said the object of the other side was delay, was refused, and the Court rose for the long vacation.

WILSON V. YENN AND ANOTHER.

An application was made by Mr. Walter Phillimore, as counsel for the Vicar of Tottenham, to vary an order for a faculty granted for various improvements in the parish church.

Dr. Spinks, Q.C., opposed the application.

Dr. Tristram decided that the faculty should be granted on the vicar bearing the expense of a new footpath, after notice to the parties interested.

ENDOWED SCHOOLS ACTS AMENDMENT BY THE DUKE OF RICHMOND, in moving the second reading of this Bill, justified the substitution of the Charity Commissioners for the Schools Commission, and gave notice that at a future stage he should propose that the jurisdiction of the former should not come into operation until the 31st December, at which date the latter would cease to exist.

LORD LYTTELTON, as Chairman of the Endowed Schools Commission, was willing to rest his defence of that body upon the evidence before the Committee, and the Report of 1873. He doubted whether the Charity Commission, proposed to be constituted, would be sufficiently numerous for the work.

PUBLIC WORSHIP REGULATION BILL.

The amendments made by the House of Commons in the Bill were taken into consideration and after a very interesting discussion, in which the Archbishop of CANTERBURY, the Marquis SALISBURY, the Archbishop of YORK, the Bishop of WINCHESTER, the Bishop of LINCOLN, the Earl of CAERNARVON, the Earl of HARROWBY, the Lord CHANCELLOR, the Bishop of OXFORD, LORD HATHLEY, and Earl FORTESCUE took part, the question was put that their Lordships do agree to the Commons' amendments.

Their Lordships divided; and the numbers were—

The following Bishops voted in the majority:—

Chichester.	Oxford.
Ely.	Rochester.
Lichfield.	Salisbury.
Lincoln.	Winchester.

The Commons' amendment, giving an appeal to the Archbishop, was accordingly rejected.

On clause 6,

The Bishop of OXFORD proposed the omission of that part of the clause which makes the Bill applicable to the chapels of colleges. The motion was agreed to, and the Commons' amendment was therefore rejected. The schedule were then agreed to.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 5.

The Clerk announced that the Commons had agreed to the Lords' amendments on this Bill.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 7.

Parliament was prorogued this day by Royal Commission, the Commissioners being Earl Fitzwilliam, Earl Fortescue, the Earl of Limerick, Earl Powis, Lord Raglan, Lord Redesdale, the Bishop of Rochester, and the Bishop of Ely.

Prayers were read by the Bishop of Ely, who is at present the junior Bishop in the House.

In the course of the speech, her Majesty through her Commissioners, said,—

"I have readily sanctioned the Act for reform of the system of patronage in the Church of Scotland. I trust that the removal of this ancient cause of controversy may both strengthen the Church and conduce to the religious welfare of a large number of my subjects.

"The Act for the better regulation of public worship in the Church of England will, I hope, tend to prevent or allay the unhappy controversies which sometimes arise from the difficulty experienced in obtaining an early decision of doubtful points of law, and a definite interpretation of the authorized form of public worship. Such controversies, even when they occur between persons loyally desirous to conform to doctrine and discipline of the Established Church, are a source of serious evils, and their speedy termination by competent authority is a matter of great importance to the interests of religion.

"In returning to your counties and constituencies you will have the opportunity of benefitting by exercising that influence which is the happy result of our local institutions, and I pray that the blessing of the Almighty may accompany you in the discharge of all your duties."

ENDOWED SCHOOLS ACTS AMENDMENT BILL.

Lord SANDON, in moving the second reading of this Bill, expressed his regret that at this late period of the session he had been obliged to bring forward so important a subject. The Bill proposed that the work of the Endowed Schools Commission should be transferred to the Charity Commissioners, who had discharged their duties to the general satisfaction of moderate men. The present vacancy in the Charity Commission is proposed to fill up, and to add two new Commissioners for five years; and to appoint also as many Assistant Commissioners for the same period as would suffice to keep the work going concurrently all over the country, and then to bring the matter to an end in five years. Referring to the principal changes in the Act, the noble lord commended the Bill to the approval of the House on the ground that it would respect the intentions of founders with regard to combining religious with secular instruction, and that where these intentions were not specified or clear, the usage of a hundred years would be taken as conclusive of the character of the religious teaching to be given in such schools. The endowed day schools would be open to all the inhabitants of a place, and a conscience clause would apply to them and to all the elementary schools affected by the Bill.

Mr. FORSTER moved, as an amendment, that the Bill be read a second time that day three months. He protested against the Bill, for the more he had studied it the more he was convinced that it was a backward step. He recommended Lord SANDON, therefore, to make use of the old Commissioners, and urged that it was not fair to the country, and especially not fair to the Non-conformists, to make an alteration which took away from many schools from the nation and gave them to the Established Church without informing the House how many of these schools there were, and what they were.

Mr. NEWDEGATE supported the Bill, and thanked the Government for introducing it.

Mr. A. BROWN condemned the measure as retrograde.

Mr. WHEELHOUSE approved of it as a reversal of the policy of the late Government, which had transferred to the middle classes schools that were founded for the poor.

Mr. WHITWELL defended the Endowed Schools Commission.

Mr. ASHETON and Mr. B. HOPE spoke in favour of the Bill, and Sir J. LUBBOCK and Mr. ELWIN against it.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL pointed out that the essential difference between Mr. Forster and the Vice-President related to the intentions of founders, and denied that the Bill would give exclusive advantages to the Established Church. Mr. KAY-SHUTTLEWORTH charged the Government with treating the question of middle-class education from a purely party point of view.

Mr. SALZ, who supported the Bill, was of opinion that the religious difficulty had been exaggerated by both sides of the House.

Lord F. CAVENTISH objected to the Bill, that it would exclude one-half of the nation of any share in the management of endowed schools.

Dr. PLAYFAIR argued that the measure created a machinery which would be influenced neither by Parliament nor by public opinion. He looked upon the Bill as an attempt to stamp by force of a majority a Church character upon endowed schools.

Mr. Secretary CROSS contended that the principle of the measure was that of the Act of 1869, and that it was for the interest of education that such a threat should not be held out to founders as that, whatever their intentions might be, Parliament was prepared to take their foundations and apply them to any purpose it liked. Let that be done, and the fountains of these benevolent institutions would soon dry up.

Mr. GLADSTONE opposed the Bill on the three grounds that it was inequitable, unusual, and most unwise.

Mr. HARRY vindicated the Bill from the criticisms of its assailants, and entreated the House not to exaggerate the subject to the enormous dimensions which were sought to be given to it, but to treat the measure simply as an amendment of the Endowed School Acts, proceeding upon the same principle, though going to a further extent than the measure of 1869. The imputation that Ministers were giving to the Church what belonged to the nation he utterly repudiated.

The House divided, and the numbers were—

WEDNESDAY, JULY 15.

PUBLIC WORSHIP REGULATION BILL.

The orders of the day having been postponed to give precedence to the adjourned debate,

Mr. Secretary CROSS supported the principle of the Bill, which was to enforce obedience to the law, a sentiment which was dear to the hearts of all Englishmen. He agreed with Lord Selborne that it was merely a Bill for simplifying and shortening certain questions of legal procedure in a certain class of cases. It created no new offence, was founded solely upon ecclesiastical law as contained in the Prayer Book, rubrics, and canons, and no portion of the just rights of the clergy was affected by it. If the law were wrong, let it be amended; but if it were right, let it be obeyed.

Mr. WALTER, whilst regarding the Bill as one mainly relating to procedure, observed that the question at issue was more than that, for upon the fate of the measure, and upon the sentiments it evoked in debate, might depend the future of the Established Church—at all events, whether the services of the Church should be performed in conformity with the authorized standards of doctrine and discipline, or be set aside and varied in every parish throughout the land, at the will of the minister or the discretion of the congregation. In his judgment the Bill was an extremely mild and considerate measure, the very reverse of oppressive, and in no respect stringent or offensive. As to the ritualistic practices against which it was aimed, he was utterly opposed to them, and would like to see those who indulged in them expelled from the Church.

Lord H. SCOTT, as an opponent of the Bill, had no sympathy with the extravagances of the extreme ritualistic party, but he held that until Convocation had reported on the questions referred to them by the Queen's Letters of Business it was neither fair nor reasonable to press the Bill through Parliament. In fact it would be an illustration of "Jeddart justice," which was to hang a man first and try him after.

Mr. FORSTER, as a friend of the Established Church, though not in communion with her, should vote for the Bill, because he agreed in the main with its object and intention. The Church of England was a State Church, and the law must be vindicated. The supremacy of Parliament must be asserted, and the Protestant character of the Church protected; for should it ever turn out that the anti-Protestant party in the Church obtained the ascendant, next day the Church would cease to be a State Church.

Mr. J. G. TALBOT warned the House against the danger of passing a measure to enforce a rigid conformity to the law, unless all orders in the Church were prepared to obey the law; and he urged Mr. Russell Gurney to be satisfied with the discussion, and not to press it further.

Lord SANDON exulted in the noble comprehensiveness of the Established Church, but when, in addition to the High, the Low, and the Broad Church, he saw another party rising in the Church whose principles were totally alien to those upon which the compact between Church and State rested, he gratefully accepted from the heads of the Church a measure which insisted on obedience to the law.

Mr. RICHARD doubted if the Bill would touch the core of the mischief. The clergy of the Established Church were State officials; and freedom of the clergy might prove to be the enslavement of the people.

Mr. WALPOLE did not wish to sanction harsh proceedings against any portion of the clergy, but for a long time there had been an unlawful deviation from established usage in the services of the Church, and from the form of worship required by the Act of Uniformity. It was not to be wondered at, therefore, that an appeal was made to Parliament, as the highest authority, to provide a remedy. If the House did not pass the Bill, the result would be a long and bitter controversy, to the great danger of the Establishment itself.

Mr. GOSCHEN followed with a speech in favour of the Bill.

Mr. RAYNES criticized the details of the Bill and recommended delay until Convocation had arrived at a decision on the questions referred to it by the Queen's Letter.

Mr. DISRAELI was anxious that there should be no mystification about the object of the Bill. It was simply intended to put down Ritualism, the meaning of which seemed to be clear to everybody with the exception of Mr. Gladstone, who in that respect stood in a perfectly isolated position. His ignorance at any rate was not shared in by the House of Commons. Ritualism meant practices in the Church to which the people were not accustomed, and which were symbolical of doctrines that were contrary to the laws of the Church. With regard to the part which the Government had taken in the matter, he thought that a Bill on the subject which had been introduced by the Primate with the assent of the Episcopate, and that had received the approval of the House of Lords, was much more likely to pass than if it had been brought in by the Government of a party. As to the Bill itself, he pronounced it a simple, temperate, and moderate measure, and having anxiously considered the matter, he had come to the conclusion that it ought to pass this year.

Mr. H. VIVIAN, referring to the resolutions of which Mr. Gladstone had given notice, assured that right hon. gentleman that he would not find twenty Liberal members to follow him into the lobby in their support.

Mr. RUSSELL GURNEY having replied, the question was put from the chair, and after the amendment of Mr. Hall had been negatived without a division, the second reading was agreed to, nemine contradicente.

THURSDAY, JULY 16.

Mr. GLADSTONE said that he could not, in fairness, do otherwise than interpret the assent of the House to the second reading of this Bill, without a division, as an expression of its desire to proceed to the committee without raising any of those questions relating to the grounds and proper limits of legislation on the subject which were undoubtedly raised in the resolutions of which he had given notice. Under all the circumstances, as his desire was that the propositions of the Bill should assume the best form of which they were capable, he did not intend to move the resolutions of which he had given notice.

FRIDAY, JULY 17.

Mr. RUSSELL GURNEY having moved the order for going into committee on the Public Worship Bill,

Mr. LOWE submitted, as an instruction to the committee, that they should make provision for extending the measure to all offences by clerks in holy orders against the law ecclesiastical, and for repealing the Church Discipline Act.

Mr. J. G. TALBOT seconded the instruction.

Mr. R. GURNEY's answer to the instruction was that that was the 17th of July, and he was not prepared to risk the Bill by accepting it.

Mr. HARDY was of opinion that had the Bill been designed for the reform of the whole ecclesiastical law a great deal of discussion would have been saved; he asked whether the right hon. gentleman would undertake, if the present Bill passed, to bring in another at the commencement of next session for extending the procedure to all ecclesiastical offences.

To this appeal Mr. GURNEY answered that if no member of greater influence introduced such a measure, he should be perfectly ready to do so.

Mr. DODSON said that if the proposal to extend the Judicature was likely to risk the passing of the Bill he would not give it his support.

After some further discussion,

Mr. DISRAELI said he thought that the offer of Mr. Gurney ought to be appreciated by the House. He did not wish at that moment to pronounce an opinion as to the policy of the instruction; but it was his conviction that if it were carried, judging from what passed in Convocation, there would at once crop up a large number of questions—such as, for example, the mode of trying criminal clerks, and whether it should be by a jury or not. Without, therefore, giving an opinion on the policy involved in the instruction, he would say that, being anxious to see the Bill pass this session, he was prepared to take the responsibility of recommending the House not to adopt the instruction, although it might be founded upon some principle and lead hereafter to beneficial legislation, but to go as soon as possible into committee on the Bill.

Subsequently Mr. LOWE withdrew his instruction, as did Mr. HOPE the amendment of which he had given notice, to the effect that the revision of the rubrics ought to precede legislation for their more rigid enforcement.

The House having gone into committee, adopted, on the motion of Mr. GURNEY, an amendment postponing the operation of the Bill from the 1st of January next to the 1st of July following.

Mr. WAIT also carried an amendment to include cathedral and collegiate churches under the term "Church" for the purposes of the Act.

Mr. WALPOLE induced the committee to expunge the section which provided that the new judge should be an ex-officio member of the Ecclesiastical Commission. The Bill was further amended by striking out the passage which provided for the payment of the judge's salary out of the common fund of the Ecclesiastical Commission. Progress was then reported, and the Chairman obtained leave to sit again at nine o'clock.

On the House reassembling at nine, committee was resumed, and

Mr. DILLWYN took a division against that portion of the 7th clause which provided that the judge to be appointed under the Act should be a member of the Church of England, but was defeated by 114 to 32. Subsequently

Sir W. VERNON HARCOURT gave notice that, upon the report, he should move to vest the appointment of judge in the Crown, instead of in the archiepiscopate, as enacted by the Bill.

At the instance of

Mr. WAIT, an amendment was adopted empowering any three inhabitants of a diocese to make complaint against ritualistic practices in the cathedral of such diocese.

An amendment by

Mr. HUBBARD, subjecting an incumbent to be represented to his Bishop for neglecting the use of any prescribed ornament or vesture excited some discussion, and was carried, on a division, by 160 to 125.

The committee were engaged in the discussion of the 8th Clause when progress was reported.

MONDAY, JULY 20.

ENDOWED SCHOOLS ACTS AMENDMENT BILL.

On the order for the committee on this Bill being read, Mr. FAWCETT moved as an amendment, "That, in the opinion of this House, it is inexpedient to sanction a measure which will allow any one religious body to control schools that were thrown open to the whole nation by the policy of the last Parliament." The hon. member made a vigorous attack upon the Bill from the Nonconformist standpoint. He objected that it would throw the entire management of the endowed schools into the hands of Church of England men, and would deprive the children of Nonconformists of the scholarships and exhibitions connected with them.

Lord G. CAVENDISH seconded the amendment.

Lord SANDON, in resisting the amendment, said that with regard to carrying out the wishes of founders in respect of religious education, the Bill proceeded on the principle of the Act of 1869, and was guarded by an efficient conscience clause for the protection of the children's religion. He believed that the proposed legislation, when well considered, would prove to be acceptable not only to Churchmen but to Nonconformists.

Mr. FORSTER supported the amendment.

The Bill was supported by Mr. NEWDEGATE, Mr. GOLDNEY, Alderman COTTON, Mr. HEYGATE, Mr. FORSTER, and Mr. FINCH; and was opposed by Mr. DIXON, Mr. JAMES, Mr. LEATHAM, Mr. LEFEVER, Mr. MUNDELLA, and Mr. MELLY.

The CHANCELLOR of the EXCHEQUER, in defending the Bill, said that it was never contemplated to exclude the great Nonconformist community from a fair share in the governing bodies of endowed schools.

Mr. LOWE pronounced the Bill to be the most obscure and difficult that ever came under his cognisance since he had had a seat in Parliament. He contended that the School Commission had merely done their duty, and felt certain, from his experience, that the Charity Commission would break down under the weight that the Bill imposed upon them, and that they would be subject to as much unpopularity as that which was charged on the Schools Commission.

Sir C. FORSTER then moved the adjournment of the debate, which was opposed by Mr. DISRAELI. After some discussion the House divided on the question of adjournment, and negatived it by 266 to 187.

Mr. MACDONALD then moved the adjournment of the House, but on the Premier intimating his willingness to resume the debate at the next sitting, the motion was negatived without a division. The debate was, therefore, adjourned accordingly.

TUESDAY, JULY 21.

Lord FITZMAURICE resumed the adjourned debate, and contended that, if the Education Commission was to be abolished, its functions ought to be transferred to the Education Department, with a Minister of Education at its head.

Sir J. KENNAWAY recommended the House to go into committee without delay. They would then see whether there was really a grievance or not, and, if it should appear that there was, he felt sure that members on his side of the House would be happy to remove it if possible.

Mr. DODSON criticized the Bill, and contended that it would tear up the compromise arrived at in the last Parliament. With regard to the introduction of a conscience clause to enable Nonconformists' children to enter the school, his objection to it was that it meant toleration, and not equality, and that those who came in under the clause would not participate in the prizes, exhibitions, and scholarships, and other advantages of these institutions.

Mr. WARD (as a Roman Catholic) said a real issue lay between the two great schools denominationalism and secularism. He was glad to see that the Government had espoused the side of denominationalism as against secularism, and he should stultify himself if he went into a lobby of secularism with Mr. Fawcett.

Mr. RICHARD avowed himself a political Dissenter, and contended that the Bill reversed the entire spirit of modern legislation on the subject of education, and ran counter in fact to the spirit of the age.

Mr. NEVILL felt reluctantly compelled to vote with Mr. Fawcett on the ground that Lord Sandon's promised amendment was not sufficient to remove the objections taken by the Dissenters to the Bill.

Mr. S. LLOYD denied that the Bill would exclude Nonconformists from the governing bodies any more than the Acts of 1869 and 1873.

Mr. WADDY predicted that if the Bill were passed all Dissenters would become political, and that the Established Church would then be the object of attack.

Mr. BRISTOWE also spoke against the Bill.

Mr. SCOURFIELD spoke in favour of the Bill, and Mr. STEVENSON, Mr. W. WILLIAMS, and Mr. T. ACLAND against it.

Colonel BARTLEOT said it was important to understand clearly and accurately what were the views of the Government on this point, whether Dissenters were to be excluded from governing bodies, and laymen from the office of teachers. If that were to be the case, he should not support the Bill; but he hoped and believed that Ministers would be able to show that it was not so.

Mr. GOSCHEN challenged the Government to declare plainly what was their real policy in proposing the Bill. Speaking in the name of the Opposition, he assured the House that they would prefer to let the present commission lapse, and have no reforms for a short time, than an effectual commission afterwards, than a sanction an ineffectual commission for five years.

Lord J. MANNERS argued that the policy of the Government was not a reversal of the policy of the late Parliament, but a legitimate expansion of past legislation.

Mr. GLADSTONE contended that the Bill under review was not a legitimate expansion of the moderate Act of 1869, but in effect a reversal of the policy then inaugurated. If the Endowed Schools Acts were to be carried on upon the old lines, why were the commissioners to be dismissed? As to the will of the founder it appeared that that was to be respected where it might be convenient, but cast to the winds where it was inconvenient. If the Bill were carried the schemes already adopted were insecure; for in principle their standing ground was entirely cut away. Neither policy nor faith would be promoted by such a measure.

The debate was closed by Mr. DISRAELI, who notwithstanding all that had been said by Gladstone, was of opinion that since the debate on the second reading nothing had been said which could not be more legitimately considered in committee. With regard to the founder's claim, as in 1869 Mr. Forster recognized it, in 1873 adopted more largely that principle, the present Government had a right, by the Bill, to pursue the same course. Referring to some inquiries addressed to him by Sir Acland, Mr. Disraeli said there was no intention to exclude Nonconformists from the management of the schools generally, that precaution had been taken by Lord Sandon's amendment to avoid any misunderstanding on that subject, that Nonconformist scholars would not be excluded from the exhibitions; that all educational advantages would be open to them, and that there was nothing in the Bill to make it compulsory that the head masters should be in orders. He hoped that the House would decide upon going into committee, for he believed that, when their labours in committee were terminated, they would find that they had passed a Bill which would give satisfaction to the country.

On the House dividing, the amendment of Mr. Fawcett was rejected by 262 to 193, a majority of 69. The House then went into committee, but progress was at once reported.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22.

The House having gone into committee on the Endowed Schools Acts Amendment Bill,

Mr. FAWCETT at once moved that progress should be reported.

This having been negatived by 82 to 62, the Committee proceeded to consider the first clause of the Bill, which transfers the powers of the Endowed Schools Commissioners to the Charity Commissioners.

Mr. A. BROWN proposed as an amendment that the former body be continued for a further period of five years.

Lord SANDON declined to reopen the question of the conduct of the Endowed Schools Commissioners. With regard to the work they had done, he might say that out of 800 grammar schools, no less than 570 remained untouched; and that out of 370 other educational endowments, 139 were yet to be dealt with.

After a long and lively discussion, at half-past five o'clock, Mr. MUNDELLA moved that the chairman report progress.

Mr. GLADSTONE supported the motion.

Mr. GURNEY and Sir G. JENKINSON condemned the opposition as factious.

Mr. MURVIN retorted with a counter charge against a "tyrannical majority," that they were forcing through Parliament a measure that was both "reactionary and revolutionary."

Eventually, after some remarks from Mr. M. LLOYD and Mr. MELLY, the Chairman, it being a quarter to six, was directed to report progress, and subsequently obtained leave to sit again.

THURSDAY, JULY 23.

The House, in committee, resumed the consideration of the Endowed Schools Acts Amendment Bill at the first clause, which transfers the duties of the Endowed Schools Commission to the Charity Commissioners, and to which Mr. A. BROWN had on the previous day moved an amendment continuing the former body for five years.

Mr. GLADSTONE warmly complained that the Schools Commissioners were dismissed without having had the opportunity of being heard or of defending their administration of the powers vested in them by the law.

Mr. HARDY reminded the House that the Commission was not a permanent one, but had been appointed for a limited time, and the late Government felt so strongly that their proceedings demanded inquiry that last year they themselves suggested a committee, partly for the reason that the Act did not work well in many respects, and partly with the view of examining the proceedings of the commissioners and their motives in taking such proceedings. The fact was that their published opinions on the subject of endowments had caused alarm, and in consequence they did not work in harmony with trustees. By their avowed determination to interfere with every governing body, and to establish the elective principle in cases where the existing arrangements were acting efficiently, they had displeased these bodies. With regard also to the proposed substitution of the Charity Commissioners for the Schools Commission, he justified it by reference to the fact that the former were an independent body, the greater part of which was permanent, and that under the Endowed Schools Act they were the visitors of these schools. Before their schemes could be adopted they would have to be submitted to the Government, and if accepted must then be laid before the House for its acceptance or rejection. As an independent tribunal was the one thing wanting, he thought that they had it in the Charity Commission.

In the course of the subsequent discussion Dr. PLAYFAIR alluded to the visitation powers of the Charity Commissioners, and raised the objection that by transferring to them the functions of the Schools Commission they would be constituted judges of their own administration of the law.

Mr. FAWCETT then addressed a catena of questions to the Prime Minister, who, in reply, twitted the hon. member with misconceiving the genius of Parliamentary debate, and pointed out to him how very inconvenient it would be when a discussion had closed, and a division was about to be taken, to catechize either the Government or the Opposition. He must protest, therefore, against the introduction of this new Parliamentary rubric.

At length the committee divided, and by 218 to 133 negatived Mr. Brown's amendment, and assented to the clause, which was ordered to stand part of the Bill.

On reaching the fourth clause, which provided for respecting the wills of founders, Mr. A. BROWN moved, as an amendment, to expunge the passage which enjoined the attendance of scholars at the religious worship of any particular Church or denomination.

Lord SANDON intimated that further on he himself should propose the amendment which he had placed on the paper, that nothing contained in the clause required the Commissioners to provide that the governing body should be members of any particular Church or denomination. He was also prepared to accept amendments to be moved by Sir J. Kennaway and Mr. Walpole; first, that in every scheme under Section 19 of the Act of 1869 one-third of the governing body might be Dissenters, unless the original instrument of foundation directed that the whole body should be members of any particular Church or denomination, and next that the original instrument should not be held to subject the regulations of a school to the approval of any ecclesiastical authority.

During the debate Mr. HERMON recommended that, as the important clause substituting the Charity for the Schools Commission had been agreed to, those relating to the religious part of the question should be given up.

Mr. O. LEWIS declared that he could not support the clause.

Mr. STEWART also urged that the clause should be abandoned.

Incidentally much discussion took place as to the real meaning of the clause—no two opinions being exactly accordant.

Mr. RUSSELL GURNEY having criticized the clause, and urged its withdrawal, a division was called; but Mr. FORSTER interposed, and objected to the sense of the committee being taken until the Government had explained what the clause actually intended.

No answer being returned from the Treasury bench, Mr. C. LEWIS moved that progress be reported.

Mr. DISRAELI then rose and expressed his readiness, as it was so late an hour, to assent to the motion.

The Chairman then reported progress.

SATURDAY, JULY 25.

Mr. DISRAELI, making an explanation with regard to the state of Public business, said that in redemption of his promise to give facilities to Mr. Russell Gurney for proceeding with the PUBLIC WORSHIP BILL, he proposed to surrender Tuesday July 28, for that purpose, Monday being devoted to supply. Adverting, then, to the ENDOWED SCHOOLS BILL, the right hon. gentleman remarked that Ministers had had to encounter the great disadvantage of introducing it very late in the session, whilst the debates upon it had been protracted by a misapprehension of the language in which the clauses were drawn. It seemed to the Government, therefore, that as the House had sanctioned a new commission, the better course would be to postpone for another year the consideration of the changes which they were anxious to effect in the present law, and to pass only those portions of the Bill which substituted the Charity Commissioners for the late School Commissioners.

Mr. GLADSTONE was not surprised at the decision, bearing in mind the conflicting interpretations put upon the measure by different members of the Administration. The result was that the legislation respecting endowed schools would remain where it was at present, but that those by whom that legislation had hitherto been faithfully applied were to be victimized.

Mr. NEWDEGATE pronounced the transfer of power from the Endowed Schools Commissioners to the Charity Commissioners an absolutely necessary measure, and felt convinced that the working classes and the poorer sections of the community who had an interest in endowed schools would now have justice done them.

Mr. HOPK exhorting the Premier to fulfil his promise of dealing with the remainder of the subject at the earliest opportunity next session.

Mr. C. LEWIS protested against the idea that the Premier was bound to introduce another Bill next year, and thus revive sectarian animosity.

The House then resumed the consideration of the Endowed Schools Acts Amendment Bill at Clause 4, relating to the intentions of founders, which was under discussion when progress was reported on the previous night, and which, with several others in the nature of corollaries thereto, was withdrawn in pursuance of the intimation made by the Premier. A short debate ensued on the preamble, which was eventually struck out, and the Bill, so amended, was ordered to be reported.

CHURCH PATRONAGE (SCOTLAND) BILL.

On the order for committing the Church Patronage (Scotland) Bill, Mr. E. JENKINS moved, as an amendment, that it was not expedient, in abolishing the existing rights of patronage in Scotland, to ignore the other Presbyterian bodies, and to legislate for the exclusive benefit of the Established Church. A discussion followed, but ultimately, at the suggestion of Dr. PLAYFAIR, the amendment was withdrawn. The House went into committee, and after making some slight progress, resumed.

MONDAY, JULY 27.

The Bill passed through committee with an amendment proposed by the Lord Advocate, to the effect that in parishes where there are less than twenty-five communicants, the power of presentation by the Presbytery should be suspended until rules were made by the General Assembly on the subject; the explanation being that the rules in question would admit other Presbyterian clergymen than those of the Established Church to become ministers of the congregation.

TUESDAY, JULY 28.

PUBLIC WORSHIP REGULATION BILL.

The House went into committee on this Bill.

At the instance of Mr. HOLT, and upon a division, a proviso was agreed to by 103 to 37, allowing an appeal to the Archbishop in the event of the Bishop declining to hear a case of complaint under the Act.

Mr. BEESFORD-HOPK also carried an amendment by 83 to 47, extending the notice of time and place for the proceedings before the judge from twenty-one days to twenty-eight.

The last clause in the Bill was the 19th. It exempted the chapels of the three Universities, the University churches, the chapels of the Inns of Court, and chapels in connexion with public and endowed schools from the operation of the Act; and was opposed, inter alios, by Mr. Secretary CROSS, Mr. HOLT, Lord SANDON, and Sir W. HARCOURT; and supported by Mr. B. GURNEY, Mr. MOWBRAY, Mr. HENLEY, and Mr. BEESFORD-HOPK.

On the committee dividing, the clause was expunged by a majority of 147; the ayes being 53 and the noes 200.

Mr. GREGORY was successful in inserting a new clause allowing parties to appear in person, or by counsel, proctor, or solicitor.

Considerable discussion followed upon a clause proposed by Mr. HOPE, to the effect that proceedings might be taken against bishops for violations of or departures from the rubric, on the representation of ten inhabitants of the diocese, two of whom should be incumbents.

Mr. R. GURNEY objected to the proposal, as contrary to the principle of the Bill. The bishops were not included in the measure, and it was not necessary that they should be.

Mr. HOPE said that to make the Bill complete it ought to include the Episcopate, and have no regard to persons; and Mr. HARDY observed that he did not see why the bishops should be excluded if they infringed the law.

Sir W. HARCOURT urged that if the clause were carried Mr. HOPE would achieve the great object of his ambition, for the Bill would have to be sent back to the Lords, and be possibly lost.

Eventually, on going to a division, the committee rejected the clause by a majority of 108, for 65 against 173.

Another division took place on the Short Title Clause, which was opposed by Mr. HUBBARD, but affirmed by 177 to 53.

Finally, the schedules and preamble having been agreed to, the Bill was ordered to be reported, Mr. DISRAELI giving notice that on that stage he should bring up a clause providing for the salary of the judge.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29.

The House, after some opposition on the part of Mr. DILLWYN and Sir C. DILKE, having gone into committee on the Bill, a resolution was submitted to the effect that it was expedient to authorize the payment out of the Consolidated Fund of the salaries and expenses of any judge or officers appointed under the Public Worship Regulation Bill.

Mr. DISRAELI said—The proposition of the Government is that for a limited period, not exceeding three years, a sum not exceeding 3000*l.* a year should be charged on the Consolidated Fund for the payment of the salary of this judge, and at the same time that certain sources of supply which will arise from fees and from the extinction of offices now existing shall be paid to the credit of the Consolidated Fund. Our object is to secure at the present moment a salary for the judge, and that a certain time should be allowed in order to make those arrangements which are in contemplation by which the office will be made self-sustaining. We have thought it expedient to secure that important result by a proposal that for a limited period, not exceeding three years, there should be charged an annual sum not exceeding 3000*l.* for the salary of the judge. We hope that long before that period elapses the arrangement contemplated will have been effected and the Consolidated Fund relieved of this charge. We also propose that for the three years there should be carried to the credit of the Consolidated Fund the amount which will accrue on the extinction of judicial offices about to expire and also from fees.

Mr. DILLWYN strongly objected to paying the salary out of the Consolidated Fund, and hoped the Premier would consent to progress being reported, and thus give the House an opportunity for carefully considering the proposal.

Mr. DISRAELI pointed out that the subject could be again discussed on the report of the resolution, and on the clause founded thereon to be inserted in the Bill.

Sir W. HARCOURT regretted that Mr. Russell Gurney, who had the conduct of the Bill, should have resisted the proposal to charge the cost of the new court upon the funds of the Church. The court would be set in motion by members of the Church of England, and the judge was to be appointed, not by the Crown, but by the Archbishop; he thought, therefore, there were strong objections to paying him out of the Consolidated Fund.

Mr. SALT observed that, provided the charge was recouped as anticipated, it mattered not whether it fell upon the Consolidated Fund or the funds of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners.

Sir C. FORSTER was of opinion that it should come from the latter source, or out of the bishops' incomes.

Mr. HERMON also thought it should be borne by the Church.

Mr. YOUNG objected to applying any portion of the Consolidated Fund to what he treated as a sectarian purpose.

Mr. FORSYTH took exception to this use of the word "sectarian," but could not help thinking that there might be some other means of providing the salary.

Mr. ASHLEY reminded the committee that the provision was only to be temporary, and added that the fees now paid by the clergy would be sufficient to repay the amount.

Mr. MUNTZ would be sorry to risk the loss of the Bill for the sake of 3000*l.* a year, though the people of Scotland and Ireland had nothing whatever to do with the matter.

The CHANCELLOR of the EXCHEQUER explained that the real question was not whether 3000*l.* a year should be voted out of the Consolidated fund, but whether the Government should be placed in a position to make a proposal to the House on a future occasion. Alluding to the remark which had fallen from Mr. Young, the right hon. gentleman said that, although the Bill related to the Established Church, its discussion had not been confined to members of that Church, and it was only reasonable to suppose that, being regarded as a matter of national importance, some national assistance should be contributed to it.

After some further debate the committee divided on the question that the Chairman should report progress, which was negatived by 72 to 34.

A division was also taken on the main question, and that was agreed to by 74 to 42, or a majority of 82 in favour of the resolution.

THURSDAY, JULY 30.

ENDOWED SCHOOLS NEW COMMISSIONERS.

Mr. DISRAELI informed the House of the names of the gentlemen who had been appointed to the vacant post of Endowed Schools Commissioners. The additional Charity Commissioner would be Mr. Longley, at present Chief Inspector of the Local Government Board in the Metropolitan district. The two Endowment Commissioners would be Canon Robinson, member of the former Commission, and Lord Clinton, who had served her Majesty as Under Secretary of State for India, and was one of the University Commission.

PUBLIC WORSHIP REGULATION BILL.

In moving to discharge the report of the resolution in committee of the whole House, authorizing the payment out of the Consolidated Fund of the salary of the judge to be appointed under the Public Worship Regulation Bill, Mr. DISRAELI explained that he took this step in consequence of an arrangement having been made which would secure the services of a judge of the highest character, and who would require no remuneration beyond the pension to which he was entitled as a reward for his eminent services. The order was thereupon discharged and the resolution withdrawn.

Mr. RUSSELL GURNEY then inserted a new clause providing that, in the case of college and university chapels, the duties appointed under the Act to be performed by the bishop should be discharged by the visitor, and in the case of the Temple Church and the chapels of the Inns of Court by the archbishop of the province, and that the persons entitled to make representations relating to a college chapel or university church should be three persons who were doctors of divinity, law, or medicine, or masters of arts; and in relation to the Temple Church and the chapels of the Inns of Court three barristers of three years' standing.

Mr. DILLWYN proposed an amendment, the effect of which would be to dispense with the qualification of churchmanship in the parishioners presenting complaints to the bishop.

This was rejected on a division by 153 to 51.

Sir W. HARCOURT next moved a clause providing that the judge's salary should be 4000*l.* a year, payable out of the funds of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, and constituting a charge upon fees received by ecclesiastical officers.

It was opposed by Mr. HARDY and by Mr. GLADSTONE, who said that it would take the salary out of the sole fund of a public character which was available, not simply for increasing the incomes of poor clergy, but for the establishment of new cures and parishes.

Ultimately the House went to a division, and negatived the clause by 120 to 85.

Mr. GLADSTONE then addressed the House at considerable length in support of a proposal to strike out a paragraph in the 9th clause, providing for what, he said, was called an appeal, but which was, in fact, a reference to the archbishop from the decision of a bishop, and invested the metropolitan with original jurisdiction to institute and allow suits in dioceses not his own.

The debate, having been adjourned, was resumed in the evening.

Mr. GLADSTONE moved to expunge from the 9th clause the paragraph which provided for an appeal by the complaining party from a bishop to the archbishop.

The clause was defended by Mr. HOLT, upon whose motion it was inserted in committee, and opposed by Mr. HARDY, on the ground that it set up two popes, making the archbishops public prosecutors in ecclesiastical cases, and that this was a harsh and an unjust proceeding.

Sir W. HARCOURT declared that if the amendment were carried, it would destroy the spirit of the Bill, and that Mr. Gladstone had come back to the House with no other object than to render the measure a dead letter.

Mr. Secretary Cross had throughout given his support to the Bill, believing it to be a good and wise measure; but he preferred leaving the decision to the bishop without appeal.

Eventually the debate was followed by a division, and Mr. Gladstone's amendment was rejected by 118 to 95, or a majority of 23. Finally the Bill was ordered to be read a third time on Monday.

MONDAY, AUGUST 3.

On the motion for the third reading of this Bill, Mr. DISRAELI read the following letter from the Archbishops of Canterbury and York:—

"House of Lords, 3rd August, 1874.

"We have the honour to inform you that we intend to submit to the Crown, through you, the name of Lord Penzance to fill the office of judge under the Public Worship Regulation Bill, in case that measure should become law. Lord Penzance has consented to undertake the duties of the office subject to the provisions as to salaries and emoluments which are embodied in the Bill, and which may be hereafter named by Parliament. We think that it may be convenient to the Government to be made aware of this, even before the passing of the Bill, and we feel confident that the name of Lord Penzance will have the approval of the Crown. We believe we shall be able to submit to the Government a plan by which the salary to be provided for the judge may be met by a readjustment of the ecclesiastical fees.

"A. CANTUAR.

"W. EBOR."

The right hon. gentleman said that the conditions of acceptance varied from those which he had mentioned to the House a few nights ago; but the misconception had arisen from the fact that the judge he had spoken of was not Lord Penzance, and he was of opinion that the itions upon which the noble lord had intended his disposition to take the office were only just but liberal.

the course of a discussion which then took place, Mr. GLADSTONE said he was not so sanguine as some gentlemen in their anticipations of a satisfactory effect from the ecclesiastical legislation of the session. The partial conversion of the House into an ecclesiastical synod, instituted as it was for other purposes, would tend to strain severely not only the temper of the House, but its position and working in the constitution. He had never denied that there was a case for legislation, but he objected to the form and manner of the proposed legislation, and he joined in the hope that the working of the Bill might be for peace.

Mr. R. GURNEY, in the course of his reply, which closed the debate, in reference to what had been said by Mr. Beresford-Hope, assured that the object of the Bill was to put down only unlawful practices. It was not to put down any one particular party, but to put down obedience to the law in the Church. It was this ground alone that he had advocated the Bill. He joined in the appeal of the right hon. gentleman (Mr. Gladstone) that they should, individually and collectively, do their utmost to prevent this measure being used in a hostile and acrimonious manner; and they should do all that they could, both in act and speech, to prevent being so administered. He joined heartily in that hope, and trusted that the Bill, having received such support in this House, would also pass unscathed through the other House. The Bill was then read a third time and passed.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 5.

PUBLIC WORSHIP REGULATION BILL.—THE LORDS' AMENDMENTS.

The Clerk at the table having read the Lords' reasons for disagreeing with certain amendments to this Bill made in the Commons, Mr. RUSSELL GURNEY moved that the House should not insist upon its amendments, though, with reference to the question of appeal, he owned that he did so with considerable pain, and only because there was not time at this period of the session to ask for a conference with the Lords.

Sir W. HARCOURT insisted that the proposed appeal to the archbishop was in strict conformity with the canons, statute law, and invariable practice of Christendom, and that to deny it would be to repudiate the fundamental authority on which the law of the Church was based. He held, with regard to jurisdiction, that the archbishop had a right to visit the diocese of any bishop, and even to deprive him of his office and assume his authority, if he saw legitimate reason for doing so. He regretted that the Bill had been shorn of some of its best provisions, and made a weak instrument for the accomplishment of a great work. If the Established Church were to be saved, it could only be by satisfying the Protestant feeling of the nation.

Mr. DISRAELI repeated his former declaration that the object of the Bill was to "put down ritualism," and explained that by ritualism he meant that practice by a certain portion of the clergy of ceremonies symbolical of doctrines which they were pledged by solemn contract with their Sovereign to denounce and repudiate. The measure, he believed, would still be effectual, and he feared, if they disagreed with the Lords, that the Bill would be imperilled; at the same time he was not prepared to say that their Lordships had not exercised their legitimate prerogative. He regretted the decision at which they had arrived, but he thought that respect should be shown to their independence, and that the best construction should be put on their motives.

Mr. GLADSTONE condemned the denunciatory tone of Sir W. Harcourt's comments on speeches delivered in the other House, and earnestly entreated the friends of the Establishment to act and speak in a spirit of moderation, for if angry feelings were permitted to have the ascendancy in their discussions, they might be assured that the Church would fall beneath the strokes of its own ill-advised defenders.

Mr. NEWDEGATE denounced the pretensions set up by the Bishops, and protested against the exclusion of the laity from the right of appeal, except at the discretion of the bishop.

Colonel BARTHELOT considered that the proviso struck out by the Lords was a mild and moderate one, and that its rejection would leave a greater responsibility upon the bishops. They would now have to see that the law was faithfully and fairly carried out; and if they did not do their duty, they might depend upon it that parliament would interfere and make them do it.

Mr. WHITWELL, though censuring the course pursued by the Lords, recommended that the House should not risk the Bill by insisting on its amendments.

Mr. HOLT, as the author of the appeal proviso, whilst concurring in the suggestion that the amendment should not be insisted upon, said he must not be understood as thereby assenting to the principle that he was prepared to place in the hands of each Bishop the absolute power of permitting or refusing the access of the laity to the Courts of the Church.

Mr. HENLEY having thanked Mr. Russell Gurney for assenting to the change effected by the House of Lords, the question was put that the House do not insist upon its amendments, and was agreed to unanimis contradicente.

CONVOCAION OF THE PROVINCE OF CANTERBURY.

TUESDAY, JULY 7.

BOTH Houses met this day.

The President read the letter of business (the Prolocutor and his Assessors being present), authorizing Convocation to report on the Fourth Report of the Ritual Commission.

The Upper House was engaged in considering the rubric concerning daily service, and the ornaments' rubric. It was considered that the daily service rubric should be retained, with the addition of the following note:—"The directions concerning the daily use of the Church services are retained not as an indispensable rule, but as a witness of the value put by the Church on daily prayers and intercessions, and on the daily reading of the Holy Scriptures." A debate on the ornaments' rubric followed, which was adjourned.

In the Lower House, after the announcement of the reception of the letter of business, Mr. JOYCE moved the following resolution:—

"That this House requests his Grace the President to direct the appointment of a committee of this House to consider the Report of the Lower House to the late Convocation, and to report thereon."

This was carried by 58 to 15; whereupon Mr. JOYCE proposed the following addition:—

"That in the event of the appointment of this committee, it be an instruction to the committee to report as early as may be to the Lower House upon the ornaments' rubric, and upon the rubric bearing upon the position of the celebrant."

This addition was carried by 47 to 18.

UPPER HOUSE.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8.

The Bishop of LINCOLN presented a petition founded upon the declaration drawn up at All Saints', Margaret-street, and praying Convocation to make, under her Majesty's letter of business, such regulations as would support and protect those clergy and laity who carried out and sustained such a use of ceremonial, ornament, and ritual as was in harmony with what the Church of England held to be primitive and Catholic, and gave greater beauty, dignity, and solemnity to her services.

The PRESIDENT observed that the argument of the petition was that "used by counsel in the Purchas case," and that it was decided by the Court to be invalid.

The Bishop of PETERBOROUGH also observed that their Lordships could not uphold the clergy in violation of the law, however much they might desire to see certain legal decisions modified.

The Bishop of LINCOLN having pointed out that the petitioners desired the intervention of Convocation in its legislative capacity, a conversation arose as to the renewal of the debate on the ornaments' rubric.

The Bishop of PETERBOROUGH moved the appointment of a committee to prepare a report on the rubric in question, by way of preparation for a more solemn discussion of the subject on the following afternoon.

The Bishop of LINCOLN drew attention to a circumstance of which they had informal knowledge, namely, that the Lower House wished to appoint a committee to consider the rubric. Thinking it better that their Lordships should wait till they received its report, he moved the further adjournment of the debate on his own motion of the previous day.

The Bishop of LONDON objected to that course on the ground that their Lordships themselves had as much interest in the matter as the Lower House. He also thought it undesirable to refer the matter to a committee.

The PRESIDENT prophesied that the committee of the Lower House, if appointed, would certainly not make its report that afternoon.

Nevertheless, the Bishop of PETERBOROUGH persisted in his motion for a committee, to consist of the whole House, and it was agreed to. The rest of the sitting was spent in private conference.

LOWER HOUSE.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8.

The Prolocutor having waited upon their Lordships and received from them their proposed note, explaining that the directions on the subject of the daily services were "retained not as an indispensable rule, but as a witness to the value put by the Church on daily prayers and intercessions and on the daily reading of the Holy Scriptures," a discussion arose on the subject.

The Bishop of NOTTINGHAM moved the adoption of the note, with the addition of the words "public or private" after "intercessions."

The Dean of ROCHESTER seconded the motion; whereupon Archdeacon DENISON said it struck him as marvellous and deplorable that the House should be called upon to undo in a moment its solemn decision to reject the note altogether. He had wondered why the House should be asked to reconsider its resolves, but the Archbishop had explained the reason; and it was that before he could carry out his project for enforcing the law upon the clergy, it was necessary that the rubrics should be relaxed from one end of the Prayer Book to the other. The Ven. Archdeacon moved a resolution requesting more time.

At the suggestion of Canon RAWLINSON, Archdeacon DENISON substituted for his amendment one requesting permission to submit the note to the committee on rubrics; and it was carried by 42 to 29. The House adjourned; and the afternoon was spent in the deliberations of the committee, which, at its rising, fixed, as we understood, its next meeting for the 25th inst.

UPPER HOUSE.

THURSDAY, JULY 9.

The Upper House met at two, when there were present all its members except the Bishops of Llandaff, Worcester, and St. David's (vacant).

The PRESIDENT opened the proceedings by a reference to the apparent anomaly of revising the rubrics when Parliament was supposed to be engaged in the same task. But the Worshipful Regulation Bill did not propose to alter the law in any respect whatever. It simply provided that the law of the Church of England should be enforced, whatever it might ultimately be determined that that law should be. With this preface the most rev. prelate recurred to the proposal of the Bishop of LINCOLN on the previous Tuesday, which he had ventured to describe as one to legalize vestments and ornaments of the minister, which the Church of England had since the Reformation associated, not with the English Communion Service, but with the Roman Mass.

The Bishop of LINCOLN, in reply, said it was quite true that he was very desirous that something should be done to check lawlessness and extravagance on the one side and negligence on the other.

The Bishop of LICHFIELD then proposed a resolution, which affirmed the competency of the Church to deal with matters of rites and ceremonies, and the expediency of allowing the use of a distinctive dress in ministering the Holy Communion, "but only in such cases and upon such conditions as shall be hereafter approved by lawful authority."

This was seconded by the Bishop of PETERBOROUGH.

The Bishop of WINCHESTER thought the proposal too indefinite in its terms.

In order to promote debate, the PRESIDENT here interposed with the remark, that it was proposed to alter the customs of the Church of England which had prevailed for three hundred years.

The Bishop of BATH and WELLS said that to adopt the resolution would be regarded as tantamount to a declaration that for the last three centuries the Holy Communion had been negligently administered.

The Bishop of WINCHESTER then moved as an amendment two propositions—the one asserting the unbroken continuity of the present Church of England, through the mediæval Church, with the Church of the Apostles, in faith, doctrine, orders, sacraments, and discipline, yet emphatically rejecting the principle that everything adopted in the middle ages, and not expressly forbidden, was binding on, or even lawful for, Churchmen of the present day; the other asserting that copes, chasubles, surplices, and the like were not originally priestly vestments, and that, in dealing with them, the House would decline to recognize them as symbolizing doctrine of any kind.

The Bishop of OXFORD argued that the principle of both resolutions—namely, that there should be a distinctive Eucharistic dress, was no novelty; for it had been ruled by the Privy Council that the canon of 1604, prescribing copes in cathedral and collegiate churches when there was a communion, was in force. He was speaking when the House rose.

LOWER HOUSE.

THURSDAY, JULY 9.

Canon MILLER brought forward a resolution in favour of a reform of Convocation. Personally he was convinced that the House already did its work as well as it would ever do it, let them alter its constitution as they might; but it was not enough that it should faithfully represent the clergy—it was necessary that people should feel that it did so. Personally, he should like to bring about a closer union between the two Provincial Synods; he would very greatly increase the number of Proctors of the clergy; he would extend the franchise to curates; and he would admit the laity, in some form or other, to a share in their deliberations.

Archdeacon GROOME seconded the motion.

Dr. FRASER proposed an amendment affirming simply the desirableness of a fuller representation of the parochial clergy. He was opposed to any fusion of the two Convocations. With regard to the admission of laymen, they were met by this difficulty in limine—who was a "layman"? The legal definition of the term included all her Majesty's subjects who were not clergymen; and if we were to have a lay house elected by such a constituency, we might as well be content with the House of Commons.

The Bishop of NOTTINGHAM seconded the motion, and suggested that the House of Commons might appoint a committee of ten or fifteen members to consider Church questions, and to confer with a similar committee of Convocation.

Archdeacon DENISON did not share the dread of the laity which some seemed to feel.

The Dean of WESTMINSTER reminded the House that whatever changes might be made, the important question which had been submitted to Convocation by the Queen's letter of business would have to be decided by the present House. That decision the public were anxiously awaiting; but he feared that the notices which from time to time appeared in the newspapers, that "the House had been engaged in matters of no importance," were substantially correct. If so, the fault would not be mended by trebling or quadrupling the number of members, and still less by adding a lay element. To admit lay members into that House would only lead them off on a false scent. The proper representation of the laity was in Parliament. In Scotland the lay members of the General Assembly were not representatives of the real laity; they were only ecclesiastical laymen—clergymen in disguise. Whether the line taken by the lay members of the General Synod of the Church of Ireland was likely to lead to the introduction of laymen in the English synods he would not ask; and the position of the Church at home was so completely different from that of the Church in our distant possessions, that colonial precedents were of no value.

Prebendary JOYCE said that the expression "the Sacred Synod of this nation" meant the two Convocations; and he had a strong belief that the Archbishop of Canterbury had power to summon the York Synod to his own. After further discussion the debate was adjourned.

UPPER HOUSE.

FRIDAY, JULY 10.

The PRESIDENT communicated to the House an opinion of Dr. Deane, his Vicar-General, to the effect that though the Bishops could not alter the customary mode of electing Proctors, it would be competent for Convocation, acting under licence from the Crown, to effect the desired changes.

The Bishop of OXFORD resumed his speech on the ornaments' rubric, adding that the men who desired a distinctive Eucharistic dress, being amongst the most energetic pastors of souls, the most laborious preachers and the most self-sacrificing men in the Church of England, ought not to be frowned at—still less dismissed with a sneer. Their Lordships were not bound to give them all they asked; but they were bound to treat them with civility and kindness, and with a certain degree of respect. At the same time, he should be disposed to meet in the same way those who desired to use the black gown in the pulpit. To attempt to enforce exact uniformity would be unwise; and before proceeding to make a new rubric, it would be well to wait till the opinion of the other Convocation could be obtained, and till their Lordships were in possession of more information.

The Bishop of LONDON said it had for the last twenty years been a matter of complaint that in that House they conducted their business in a manner different from any other public body in the world; but he confessed he had not been prepared for one of their body getting up and proposing that for the future they should legalize the dresses mentioned in the First Prayer Book of Edward VI. That proposal being withdrawn, it was moved that a clergyman should be allowed to use a distinctive dress for the Holy Communion. At first sight the proposition seemed a very harmless one, but a night's reflection had satisfied him that it reached far deeper than it seemed to go. To adopt it as it stood would be tantamount to declaring that Convocation thought any distinctive vestments might be used.

The Bishop of GLOUCESTER, though at first disposed to adopt the proposal, now saw great evil in it. A body of 3000 or 4000 men had lately expressed a desire for a distinctive Eucharistic vestment.

The ARCHBISHOP expressed a doubt whether there were 400 who did.

The Bishop of GLOUCESTER (reaniming) said that if there had been evidence of a long and deep-seated desire expressed in ruidecennial diocesan synods, the matter might have been considered; but that was not the case. If the authorized use of a vestment they might unconsciously give a great stimulus to the prevailing lawlessness; and they might be establishing a precedent for raising very serious questions of doctrine.

The PRESIDENT asked if it would be wise to proclaim to the whole Church of England for the next six months that they were in favour of some peculiar garment to be worn during the celebration of the Holy Communion? That would be very dangerous indeed; and he would propose that the whole question be referred to the committee of the whole House for consideration during the recess. At any rate, the House would not be justified in taking a leap in the dark which might justify the very persons who, their Lordships and the authorities of the State thought, were seeking to alter the spirit and substance of the Established Church.

The Bishop of WINCHESTER seconded the motion of the most rev. prelate, and his resolution were referred to a committee of the whole House.

The motion of the Bishop of LICHFIELD was also disposed of in the same manner.

LOWER HOUSE.

FRIDAY, JULY 10.

In the Lower House, Bishop PIERCE CLAUGHTON spoke in favour of reform; but protested against the idea that Convocation, as it stood, was not perfectly competent to deal with the great subjects which had been submitted to it.

Archdeacon ADY strongly objected to the present indirect mode of election.

The Rev. H. T. EDWARDS considered the House too much given to ecclesiastical antiquarianism and too little en rapport with the feelings of the present day. So far from abolishing the Convocation of York, he would revive that of St. David's.

The Rev. LATIMER JONES thought that the reform of Convocation should begin at home let its sessions be not so ridiculously short, and let them not waste so much time in going through needless forms. As to the laity, much as he desired their co-operation, he would not consent to their introduction into that House.

The Dean of LINCOLN pointed out that in actual practice the representatives of the parochial clergy were not outnumbered by the official members. Moreover, no case had ever occurred in which they had ranged themselves in opposite ranks.

Prebendary AINSLIE argued for the abolition of the chapter proctors.

Canon GREGORY, on the other hand, strongly opposed the abolition of ancient privileges, and the adoption of any such device as the cumulative vote.

Prebendary DAYMAN objected to the admission of laymen.

Archdeacon EARLE recommended that the deans and archdeacons should be sent to the Upper House, to provide the Bishops with learned advisers, and with that council of the presbytery of which St. Ignatius spoke. While he should be sorry to see lay members in the House, he did not see why half the clerical Proctors should not be elected by the laity. In the meantime, the lay members were represented by the bishops and deans who were nominees of the Crown.

Archdeacon EMERY said the ven. gentlemen's proposals were too revolutionary, and observed that laymen elected by the clergy would undoubtedly be qualified to sit in the House. He believed it would also be quite possible to draw a body of lay consultees.

The Rev. W. HARRISON thought that the officio members represented persons who would otherwise be unable to make themselves heard in the House.

Sir J. R. PHILLIPS spoke in favour of a fusion of the two Convocations.

CANON WALPOLE said that his own case served a precedent for the election of parochial laymen by chapters.

Archdeacon HARRISON suggested the reference of Lord Lyttelton's petition to the existing committees on the election of Proctors and on Lay Co-operation; but Lord A. COMPTON did not think that a convenient course, though it might be desirable to reopen the question of uniting the two Convocations.

Dr. Fraser's resolution was then agreed to; and Convocation was prorogued till the 8th of September.

CONVOCATION OF THE PROVINCE OF YORK.

THE Convocation for the Province of York met in York Minster on 30th ult., the Archbishop of York presiding. The chief object of the meeting, his Grace said, was the consideration of the licences from the Queen, and the letters of business received, authorizing them to proceed with the consideration of the subject of the revision of the rubrics. After considerable discussion, the following resolution was adopted:—

"That this Convocation receives in dutiful respect the licence from the Queen and the letters of business, and is thankful for this further opportunity of considering the revision of the rubrics, on which the late Convocation bestowed some attention, and that this Convocation engages to proceed with the consideration of the Fourth Report of the Ritual Commission as early as possible in the next session of parliament."

The cordial thanks of the House having been given to the Ambassadors for having used their influence in obtaining for Convocation the exercise of their constitutional privileges as set forth in the royal letters of business, enabling them to revise the rubrics, the meeting was adjourned to the 27th August.

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.

67, Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Tuesday, July 7, 1874.

Rev. Dr. CURREY in the Chair.

Book Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Book Grants, Special and Ordinary, were agreed to.

Bishop Gobat applied for 200 copies of the Turkish Prayer Book in the Armenian character, chiefly for use in the village of Kessab, in the neighbourhood of Antioch, which contains above 3000 souls, and where there appears to be a prospect of the whole population coming over to the Church of England.

The Standing Committee recommended the grant.

Mr. Denton moved, as an amendment, that this recommendation be referred back to the Standing Committee for further consideration. Mr. Darling seconded this amendment, which was put from the chair and lost. The original motion was then put and carried.

Melanesian Mission.—The Rev. R. H. Codrington, writing from Norfolk Island, on 10th March, 1874, expressed very hearty thanks for a grant of Books and Prints which he had recently received from the Society.

Mr. Codrington said that those which had reached him were just of the kind they most wished for, and would be useful not only in the school at Norfolk Island, where there are about 200 scholars gathered from different islands, but also in the schools which they had now established, under native clergy or other teachers, in several of the islands of Melanesia.

Mr. Codrington said that he should be glad to receive a further supply, specially of Prints.

It was agreed to grant Prints, &c., to be selected by Mr. Codrington's brother, to the value of 10*l*.

The Rev. W. Denton applied for 150 copies of "S. Chrysostom on the Pauline Epistles," to be placed in the hands of the Patriarch of Constantinople, and by him to be apportioned among the poorer and deserving clergy.

It was agreed to grant these Books.

Diocese of Capetown.—The Rev. George H. R. Fisk, Chaplain, Convict Department, Cape of Good Hope, applied for 1000 copies of each of Bishop Short's Sunday School Books, Nos. 1, 2, 3, in Dutch, which he spoke of as being very useful in the colony.

It was agreed to grant these, at a cost of 11*l*. 1*s*. 6*d*.

South Wales Training College for Masters, Carmarthen.—The Rev. R. H. Morris, Principal, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. Books, to the value of 4*l*., to meet an equal outlay on Books on the part of the Council of his College; the whole of the Books to be given as prizes to those Students who shall be placed in a first class in religious knowledge in an examination in the autumn.

This grant was made.

Durham Training College for Schoolmistresses.—The Rev. W. H. Walter, Principal, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. Books, to the value of 5*l*., to meet an equal outlay in Books on the part of the Committee of the College; the whole of the Books to be given as prizes to those students who shall be placed in the first class in examination in religious knowledge, to be held in October.

It was agreed to make this grant.

Mauritius.—The Rev. H. Wright, Hon. Secretary of C.M.S., applied for one dozen copies of each of the Society's six Standard Reading Books, and six sets of the "Portions of the Book of Common Prayer," issued by the Society in Persian, some few French Books for use in a Tamil Mission School at Crève-Cœur, Mauritius, under the care of Archdeacon Hobbs.

It was agreed to grant these Books as requested.

The Church of England Scripture Readers' Society.—The Secretary of this Society, in the name of his Committee, thanked the S.P.C.K. for previous grants of Tracts, and applied for a further grant.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant Tracts to the value of 60*l*.

London City Mission.—Rev. John Garwood, Secretary, and a Member of S.P.C.K., having thanked the Society for previous grants, and having stated that they had been found to be truly serviceable, applied for a further grant of Tracts.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant Tracts to the value of 50*l*.

Rev. Lewis M. Hogg, writing on 29th June, 1874, from Delemont, Bernese Jura, applied for a grant of French, with a few German and Italian Prayer Books, for the use of Abbé Deramey, Doyen Curé of Porrentruy, Jura Bornois.

The Abbé Deramey is the chief ecclesiastic to whom the Berne Government entrusted the delicate task of selecting Priests to fill the vacant cures, on the removal of the recalcitrant curés.

Porrentruy is the chef-lien of one of the four district Prefectures of the Bernese Jura. Three of these prefectures are French, viz. Porrentruy, Franches Montagnes, and Delemont; one is German, the Lauffenthal. In the French districts there are three or four Italian Priests as curés in provisional charge. There are also many Italians just now working on railways in course of construction through the Jura.

There are thus far 22 clergy placed in vacant parishes, and shortly 22 more are to be placed by election instead of by direct Government nomination. Thus there will be 50 more or less when all posts are filled.

Mr. Hogg has seen the majority of the clergy who are now at work, and has found through the whole of the four chef-liens and other country parishes (and that without making any suggestion to that effect) that these clergy hope and expect that the result of their reform movement will eventually be to bring a Swiss National Catholic Church into close accordance with the English Church and the American Reformed Episcopal Church.

Abbé Deramey and others have spoken with Mr. Hogg of the necessity that they will soon find of studying the formation of the Church Services they will have to use in the vernacular.

Père Hyacinthe and his brethren, in the four churches they have in and near Geneva, all use only French services; the Abbé Deramey will thoroughly appreciate a grant of Prayer Books and will thankfully do his best to place them in the hands of the Jura Clergy.

Mr. Hogg applied for fifty Prayer Books in all twelve German, six Italian, and the rest French; this not with a view of proselytizing, but a furnishing valuable information to persons able and ready to appreciate it. Mr. Hogg asks further for four copies of "Jewell's Apology" in Latin, and a few (six) copies of Bishop Ball's Correspondence with Bossuet, also some copies of "Portions of the Prayer Book." The Abbé Deramey has already spread several hundred copies of the New Testament.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to place the Books asked for at the disposal of Mr. Hogg to the value of 5*l*.

Grants recommended by the Standing Committee of which Notice was given at the last Meeting.

Diocese of Saskatchewan.—The Standing Committee, in accordance with notice given at the last Meeting, and for reasons given at length in the last Monthly Report, proposed the following resolutions in reference to this diocese:—

1st. That the conditions on which the Society's grant of 1000*l*. for the endowment of this see was made in May, 1873, should be modified so as to admit of the whole grant being paid, so soon as 4500*l*., independently of the Colonial Bishopric Fund grant of 500*l*., should have been actually invested in a manner satisfactory to the S.P.G.

2nd. That a grant of 500*l*. be placed at the disposal of the Bishop of Saskatchewan in aid of his scheme for building five small churches or school-chapels; the Bishop to be allowed to use his discretion as to the expenditure of the Society's grant, provided it be confined to the objects named, and provided also he makes (as he had volunteered to do) a report to the Society of the manner in which the grant had been expended.

3rd. That a grant of S.P.C.K. Books, to the value of 50*l*., be placed at the disposal of the Bishop for sale or gratuitous distribution in his diocese, on condition that the proceeds of sale shall be either invested in fresh stock of S.P.C.K. Books, or else paid as a donation to the general funds of the Society; and, in addition, that five 8vo sets of Service Books be granted.

4th. That a grant of S.P.C.K. Books to the value of 20*l*., as the beginning of a Diocesan Library, to be under the immediate care of the Bishop, be made.

5th. That a grant of such Greek Books as the Society had, and in such numbers as the Bishop might require them, be made.

All these resolutions were carried.

Reports and Notices from the Standing Committee.

Sunday Schools.—The Standing Committee reported that, in consequence of the power given them at the last Meeting to make grants, out of a sum of 2000*l*. set apart for Sunday Schools in February, 1869, in aid of renting School Board Schools for Sunday School purposes, and for otherwise promoting the efficiency of Sunday Schools, they had made grants in the four cases specified below.

1st. St. Matthias, Poplar, E.—In this case the Rev. J. F. Kitto had informed the Standing Committee that he had determined to take one floor of the large Board School in his parish, offered at a rental of 27*l*. 12*s*. 9*d*., to accommodate 200 children. The whole building will accommodate 750 children. Mr. Kitto has already 1100 children on the books of his existing Sunday School.

The Committee had granted 21l. towards the rent of these schools for one year.

2nd. St. Michael's, Abington.—The Rev. S. B. Sealy, Vicar, had made arrangements to rent a large Board School for Sunday School purposes, his own schools having been closed in consequence of the opening of these schools. The building for his own schools had been private property, and the use of them had been peremptorily withdrawn.

The rent is to be 44l. 18s. The population is entirely poor, and is not less than 10,000.

The Standing Committee had granted 22l. in this case for one year.

3rd. St. Peter's, Plough Lane, Battersea.—The Rev. S. Cooper Scott had applied for aid to enable him to pay the rent of a Board School at the rate of 12l. 7s. 6d. per annum. The district, which is about to become an independent charge, contains 1220 houses, upwards of 1000 of which are rated at or under 20l., and are inhabited by two families each. There are only six private residences rated at 50l. and over. The population is not less than 7000. There is no Church of England School of any kind within its limits.

A School Chapel is in course of erection which will hereafter be available as a Sunday School, so that Mr. Scott does not propose to take the Board School for more than one year at first.

The Standing Committee had made a grant at the rate of 9l. a year in this case.

4th. St. Anne's, Bermondsey.—The Rev. J. Thornton Wilkinson had applied for aid towards renting for Sunday School purposes, rooms in a Board School, at a cost of not less than 40l. per annum.

The population, which is poor, numbers 10,000. Mr. Wilkinson has no school whatever. Between 300 and 400 children attend Sunday School in the church. If there were room, the numbers might soon be double.

The Standing Committee had granted 80l. in this case for one year.

Supplemental Religious Catalogue Committee.—The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that since February Archdeacon Grant had resigned his office as one of the members of the Supplemental Religious Catalogue Committee; and further, that they had ascertained that the Very Rev. Robert Scott, Dean of Rochester, had consented to serve if elected.

In conformity with Rule XLII., the Standing Committee gave notice that in October they would propose the Dean of Rochester for election as a member of the Supplemental Religious Catalogue Committee.

Diocese of Newfoundland.—The Standing Committee reported that the Bishop of Newfoundland, who is in England, had applied for a grant from Canning's Fund for the passage-money of the Rev. Joseph Sharpe Ellis, who is about to go to his diocese in order to take charge of a Mission.

The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that they had granted 15l. in this case from Canning's Fund.

Diocese of Grahamstown.—The Standing Committee laid before the Meeting the following letter from the Bishop of Grahamstown, addressed to the Secretary:—

Grahamstown, S. Africa, May 26, 1874.

"MY DEAR SIR,—I have watched with the greatest thankfulness the exertions recently made by the S.P.C.K. to aid in calling out Native Students for Holy Orders in India and the Colonies, partly by the establishment of Theological Colleges in different dioceses, and partly by making grants for the maintenance of Students who are willing to devote themselves to the Ministry of the Church.

"The one great weakness of our present condition in this diocese appears to me the want of some means of raising an indigenous Ministry among us; and I am at a loss to see how the ministrations of the Church can be continued in the next generation unless some vigorous effort is made in this direction.

"After a quarter of a century's work in endeavouring to build up a branch of the Anglican Church in this land, we are still almost wholly dependent upon the supply of Clergy brought from England, and this source of supply becomes each year more and more precarious, and the expense of obtaining men from the mother country, with the numerous disappointments that we continually encounter in doing it, are exceedingly discouraging.

"Our Diocesan Grammar Schools, either at Capetown or Grahamstown, have aided us very little in this matter, for reasons which, at least as regards this diocese, are obvious enough, there being amongst us very little of accumulated wealth, and very few parents who can afford or are willing to dedicate their sons to an employment whose very meagre emoluments necessarily do not commence till the age of twenty-three, while the openings for young men to earn their bread in secular employ at the age of sixteen or seventeen are very numerous.

"Meantime the Kafir Institution, of much younger growth than our Grammar Schools, has already two of its late pupils in holy orders, and promises in course of time to furnish an abundant supply of duly-qualified native Clergy for the Mission-field.

"I have been waiting in the expectation that our newly-appointed Metropolitan would probably inaugurate his Episcopate by an endeavour to establish a Theological College near Capetown for this province of South Africa. But even should this be the case, I fear the establishment of such a College, 600 miles from Grahamstown, which is the distance of Capetown from us, would not in the existing state of things be of much avail in meeting our requirements.

"I see no prospect at present of a supply of young men who would be likely to embark on the work of Theological Students at so long a distance from their homes, and, under circumstances, involving so much expense, as a year or two's residence at the Cape, including the necessary expenses of travelling to and fro, would be sure to do.

"At the Cape there is a population sufficiently dense and sufficiently wealthy to render it probable that Students might be found in that neighbourhood for a Theological College; but we require something more elementary here to awaken attention to the subject, to evoke the dormant aspirations of some of our young men, and so to form a nursery, if it might be, to some future Theological Seminary.

"For this purpose I can conceive no better plan than the appointment of a Theological Tutor for this diocese, as I see is done through the aid of the venerable S.P.C.K. in the diocese of Nelson; and I accordingly write now to ask if I can obtain the assistance of the S.P.C.K. to enable me to effect this?

"I believe, with the aid of a small salary and with the public diocesan recognition of the office of a Theological Tutor—as I have a person close at hand in whom I have the greatest confidence, one who is perfectly competent and very willing to undertake the office—a very good beginning might be made. I allude to the Rev. J. Espin, late of Zonnebloem College, in the diocese of Capetown.

"Theological classes might be formed of serious young men who are now engaged in various pursuits in the town and neighbourhood, a class of senior boys from St. Andrew's College, and another from the Kafir Institution might certainly be counted on; and I think young men at a distance might, through the medium of written papers, be invited to enter on and keep up a course of theological study, and out of these some might be in due course drafted off to supply the ranks of the Ministry in the diocese. A few might be gradually encouraged to place themselves under the more complete and formal training that a Theological College would supply. It requires a great effort to be made, and if the Society will make me some grant to enable me to put this work in motion, I have good hope that, with sympathy and assistance from other quarters of the diocese, a step may be made towards supplying the most urgent need that now seems to oppress and weaken us.

"Whatever is done by the Society I should strive to supplement from other sources; and if we could begin with a very moderate endowment or an almost nominal salary, which might grow to something more substantial hereafter, I should feel that we were making an effort in the best and most hopeful direction.

"I am, my dear Sir,
"Yours very faithfully,"
"N. J. GRAHAMSTOWN.

"The Rev. H. Swabey,
"Secretary to S.P.C.K.,
"Lincoln's Inn Fields, London."

The Standing Committee gave notice that in October they would propose a grant of 500l. to meet 500l. for the permanent endowment of a Tutorship in Theology for the diocese of Grahamstown.

Diocese of the Falkland Islands.—The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that the Bishop of this Diocese, who is at present in England, had made an application for the modification of the resolution passed in April, 1870, under which the sum of 1000l. was voted for the endowment of his See.

The resolution was as follows:—

"That 1000l. be granted towards the endowment of a Bishopric in the Falkland Islands, to be paid when 9000l. more shall have been contributed for the purpose; such 1000l. to be invested in the names of Trustees, in a trust deed to be approved by the Society, the Trustees undertaking to pay the interest to the Society during the vacancy of the Bishopric in the event of any such vacancy continuing more than a year."

The Standing Committee stated that they had seen the Bishop, who had explained that there had been great difficulty during his absence in his diocese in collecting funds for the endowment of this See, that a great effort had been made during the time he had been in this country with a view of raising 4500l., and of the applying to this Society for the payment of one half of the grant promised by them in 1870. It appeared that the expenses of the Bishop were exceptionally great; that, though the Falkland Islands gave their name to his See, his work was practically over the whole of South America, and that consequently the cost of travelling was very large.

The South American Missionary Society have promised a salary during the lifetime of the present Bishop, and the interest arising from any endowment will go to supplement that salary; and there is reason to hope that this salary would be continued to any successor to the present Bishop till a sufficient income should be provided from an endowment.

The Standing Committee gave notice that in October they would propose that the sum of 500l. be paid out of the original grant of 1000l. so soon as 4500l. should be forthcoming to meet it, the other conditions to remain as before.

Motion of which notice was given at the last Meeting.

The Divorce Act.—The Rev. C. Miller, Vicar of Harlow, in accordance with notice given at the last Meeting, moved that "the attention of the Standing Committee be called to the extreme importance of appealing to both Houses of Convocation, and adopting all such measures as may tend to the Repeal of the Divorce Act."

The motion was seconded by the Rev. W. Denton, put from the chair, and lost.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, July 13th, 1874.—The Rev. James Vaughan, of Calcutta, at home for the first time since his departure to the Mission field in 1855, was warmly received by the Committee. He gave interesting particulars of the Trinity Church congregation, with which he had been connected, and of their earnest efforts towards self-support, speaking also in very hopeful terms of the Rev. Baboo Peari Mohun Rudra, who had been lately ordained to be their first Native Pastor.

Two memorials were presented from twenty-three clerical supporters of the Society in the diocese of Salisbury, forwarded respectively by the Rev. R. Harkness, rector of St. Giles', Salisbury, and by the Rev. W. Wynne Wilson, rector of Codford St. Mary, urging the Committee not to hinder the attendance of their Missionaries at the proposed Mission Festival to be held at Salisbury on the 30th inst.

Reference having been made to Resolution of the Committee of October 13, 1873, in which, while expressing their inability to send deputations to meetings that were not exclusively Church Missionary, they had stated that it was not their wish in any degree to abridge or interfere with the free and voluntary action of their friends, it was resolved that it be represented to the memorialists that the Committee desire that their wish as regards this freedom of action should be interpreted in the present case as applying to their Missionaries as well as to others.

The Secretaries reported that the examination of the children in the Church Missionaries' Children's Home had been conducted by the Rev. E. Auriol in Scripture, by the Rev. G. Calthrop in English Geography and History, by the Rev. C. Matheson in Classics, and by the Rev. C. J. Hutt in Mathematics; and that the result in every case had been satisfactory.

The Secretaries having reported that the British and Foreign Bible Society had granted a case of Tinné Gospels to the Society for the use of the Bishop of Athabasca, and 500 copies of the Epistle to the Romans in Sindhi for the use of the Society's Agents in India, the Committee directed the thankful acknowledgments of the Society to be conveyed to the British and Foreign Bible Society for these grants.

An arrangement was agreed to by which the Rev. W. Gray, formerly Secretary of the Corresponding Committee at Madras, and now Association Secretary, was asked to join the Home Secretariat.

Committee of Correspondence, July 21st, 1874.—The Committee, considering the present state of the Yoruba Mission, also the prospect of increased facility of access to Abeokuta and the Yoruba country, and the importance of promoting the organization and the development of the Native Church at Abeokuta, it was reported that the Rev. H. Townshend, whose health was better than it had been, was prepared to return, and to render what assistance he was able in this direction. His return to the Yoruba Mission was accordingly sanctioned, with a special view to the organization and development of the Native Church at Abeokuta.

The Rev. A. Menzies, recently returned from Sierra Leone, was introduced to the Committee, and gave information on the progress of the Gospel and the openings for Missionary work in the countries bordering on the colony, to which he had paid frequent visits.

Mrs. Caiger, being present, gave a hopeful account of the state of the Sierra Leone Female Institution, of which she had been obliged to surrender the charge on account of family circumstances. The Committee, while regretting her surrender of the charge, expressed their thankfulness that the institution had enjoyed the advantage of her oversight.

The subject of the proposed transfer of the Assam and Cachar Mission was again brought forward, after having been referred to the Calcutta Corresponding Committee.

Discussion having ensued, and the opportunities for enlargement of the Society's existing Missions and the probable requirements connected with the new Missions undertaken by the Society having been adverted to, and attention having been drawn to the fact that not only was the Assam and Cachar Mission isolated and situated beyond the reach of easy access and supervision, but that it was not capable of much expansion, being nearly surrounded by Missions of other Societies; it was resolved that the Committee, having now very carefully considered the whole circumstances of the Assam and Cachar Mission, and the proposals made by Colonel Foquett that the Society should take over and work that Mission, regret that they cannot entertain the proposal to undertake the charge and working of the Assam and Cachar Mission.

Letters were read from Mr. Piper, dated May 12, announcing the arrival of himself and Mrs. Piper in Japan; and also from Mr. Fyson, dated June 12, announcing the arrival of himself and Mrs. Fyson in Japan.

IN the current number of the Quarterly Review there is an article full of eloquent statistics on the state of the Church. The writer begins by pointing out that at the commencement of the century the Establishment was really in no position to do its duty by the people. There were but 10,600 benefices, and more than half of them (5555) were under the annual value of 50*l*. The number of clergy was but 10,500. Till the Church Building Act in 1818 every new church required the passing of a private bill; but from the moment the legal difficulty was removed private zeal began to display itself. The number of new churches in each decennium has been as follows:—

Ten years ending	Ten years ending
1810 ... 48	1850 ... 929
1820 ... 96	1860 ... 830
1830 ... 306	1870 ... 1110

These figures do not include proprietary chapels or temporary churches, of which there are not a few. According to Mr. Mann's Census Report, the total number of places opened for religious worship in connexion with the Church of England in the two decennia ending 1851 was 2194. The number of sacred edifices that have been rebuilt, enlarged, or restored is also very great. Thus, in the diocese of Lincoln alone, the churches of this class dealt with in the last five years have been 176, the number of additional ones being 29. Since 1830, 6520 parsonage-houses have been built or made habitable.

The cost of the new churches which have been aided by the Incorporated Church Building Society has been 9,000,000*l*.; and this includes not quite half the total number. The voluntary contributions for the restoration of eleven cathedrals enumerated by the Quarterly Reviewer—namely, Worcester, Llandaff, Salisbury, Bristol, Chichester, Chester, Rochester, St. David's, Ely, Exeter, Hereford, have been nearly 400,000*l*. Thus the voluntary expenditure on our churches cannot have fallen very far short of 20,000,000*l*. For school building to the 31st of December, 1862, the amount subscribed by Churchmen was 3,585,164*l*., against a total of 471,625*l*. raised from every other voluntary source whatever. The annual subscriptions of Churchmen for the support of schools is 389,769*l*.; whereas, those of all the Dissenters put together is but 48,771*l*. There can be no question that very great assistance has been rendered to the cause of Church extension by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, who now distribute upon the parochial machinery the proceeds derived from sinecures and non-residential stalls. Their yearly expenditure for this purpose is 456,345*l*. 7*s*. 8*d*., by which 3650 livings have been augmented or endowed. But to meet their gifts private benefactions have been received of the value of 1,368,916*l*. 17*s*. 9*d*., which produces a revenue of 57,149*l*. 15*s*. 2*d*.; and 120,000*l*. is now coming in every year for the creation of new endowments. This is in addition to gifts of land, restored tithes, and the like, the value of which cannot be estimated.

The increase which has taken place in the clerical staff of the Church is the most surprising fact of all. The figures stand thus:—

	1841.	1871.
Incumbents ...	5,776	13,043
Curates ...	5,230	6,000
	11,006	19,043
Clergy unattached ...	3,607	1,851
	14,613	20,894

Thus the Church is maintaining 8037 more working clergymen than she did thirty years ago. Supposing their average income to be very little more than 200*l*. each, it will be seen that at least 6000 of them must be supported without the aid of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners; and thus, since 1841, Churchmen have increased the staff which they keep up on the purest voluntary principles, by a number larger than that of all the professional ministers of religion of whom any three of the denominations can boast. Are we not right in concluding, therefore, that the Church of England, if an Established Church, is also the greatest voluntary body in the world?

One or two words may here be added on the subject of curates. Judging from the advertisements in the Ecclesiastical Gazette, the

Average stipend in 1843 was	...	283	2	10
" " 1873	"	129	5	8

The average number of deacons ordained per annum has been—

1834-1843	...	535	1853-1863	...	600
1844-1853	...	665	1863-1873	...	695
1873	...	...	...	...	690

Of our 630 ordinands, 457 were graduates of the elder Universities, 147 alumni of King's college, London, or theological colleges, and only 26 literates.

(2.) That the incumbent has within the preceding twelve months used or permitted to be used in such church or burial ground any unlawful ornament of the minister of the church, or neglected to use any prescribed ornament or vesture; or,

(3.) That the incumbent has within the preceding twelve months failed to observe, or to cause to be observed, the directions contained in the Book of Common Prayer relating to the performance, in such church or burial ground, of the services, rites, and ceremonies ordered by the said book, or has made or permitted to be made any unlawful addition to, alteration of, or omission from such services, rites, and ceremonies,—such archdeacon, churchwarden, parishioners, or such inhabitants of the diocese, may, if he or they think fit, represent the same to the bishop, by sending to the bishop a form, as contained in Schedule (B.) to this Act, duly filled up and signed, and accompanied by a declaration made by him or them under the Act of the fifth and sixth year of the reign of King William the Fourth, chapter sixty-two, affirming the truth of the statements contained in the representation: Provided, that no proceedings shall be taken under this Act as regards any alteration in or addition to the fabric of a church if such alteration or addition has been completed five years before the commencement of such proceedings.

9. Proceedings on representation.—Unless the bishop shall be of opinion, after considering the whole circumstances of the case, that proceedings should not be taken on the representation (in which case he shall state in writing the reason for his opinion, and such statement shall be deposited in the registry of the diocese, and a copy thereof shall forthwith be transmitted to the person or some one of the persons who shall have made the representation, and to the person complained of) he shall within twenty-one days after receiving the representation transmit a copy thereof to the person complained of, and shall require such person, and also the person making the representation, to state in writing within twenty-one days whether they are willing to submit to the directions of the bishop touching the matter of the said representation, without appeal; and if they shall state their willingness to submit to the directions of the bishop without appeal, the bishop shall forthwith proceed to hear the matter of the representation in such manner as he shall think fit, and shall pronounce such judgment and issue such monition (if any) as he may think proper, and no appeal shall lie from such judgment or monition.

Provided, that no judgment so pronounced by the bishop shall be considered as finally deciding any question of law so that it may not be again raised by other parties.

The parties may, at any time after the making of a representation to the bishop, join in stating any questions arising in such proceedings in a special case signed by a barrister-at-law for the opinion of the judge, and the parties after signing and transmitting the same to the bishop may require it to be transmitted to the judge for hearing, and the judge shall hear and determine the question or questions arising thereon, and any judgment pronounced by the bishop shall be in conformity with such determination.

If the person making the representation and the person complained of shall not, within the time aforesaid, state their willingness to submit to the directions of the bishop, the bishop shall forthwith transmit the representation in the mode prescribed by the rules and orders to the archbishop of the province, and the archbishop shall forthwith require the judge to hear the matter of the representation at any place within the diocese or province, or in London or Westminster.

The judge shall give not less than twenty-eight days notice to the parties of the time and place at which he will proceed to hear the matter of the said representation. The judge before proceeding to give such notice shall require from the person making the representation such security for costs as the judge may think proper, such security to be given in the manner prescribed by the rules and orders.

The person complained of shall within twenty-one days after such notice transmit to the judge, and to the person making the representation, a succinct answer to the representation, and in default of such answer he shall be deemed to have denied the truth or relevancy of the representation.

In all proceedings before the judge under this Act the evidence shall be given videlicet, in open court, and upon oath; and the judge shall have the powers of a court of record, and may require and enforce the attendance of witnesses, and the production of evidences, books, or writings, in the like manner as a judge of one of the superior courts of law or equity, or of any court to which the jurisdiction of any such court has been or may hereafter be transferred by authority of Parliament.

Unless the parties shall both agree that the evidence shall be taken down by a shorthand writer, and that a special case shall not be stated, the judge shall state the facts proved before him in the form of a special case, similar to a special case stated under the Common Law Procedure Acts, 1852-1854.

The judge shall pronounce judgment on the matter of the representation, and shall deliver to the parties, on application, and to the bishop, a copy of the special case, if any, and judgment.

The judge shall issue such monition (if any) and make such order as to costs as the judgment shall require.

Upon every judgment of the judge, or monition issued in accordance therewith, an appeal shall lie, in the form prescribed by rules and orders, to her Majesty in Council.

The judge may, on application in any case, suspend the execution of such monition pending an appeal, if he shall think fit.

10. Registrar of the diocese to perform duties under the Act.—The registrar of the diocese, or his deputy duly appointed, shall perform such duties in relation to this Act and shall receive such fees as may be prescribed by the rules and orders.

11. Parties may appear in person or by counsel, &c.—In any proceedings under this Act either party may appear either by himself in person or by counsel, or by any proctor or any attorney or solicitor.

12. No fresh evidence to be admitted on appeal.—For the purpose of an appeal to her Majesty in Council under this Act, the special case settled by the judge, or a copy of the shorthand writer's notes, as the case may be, shall be transmitted in the manner prescribed by rules and orders, and no fresh evidence shall be admitted upon appeal except by the permission of the tribunal hearing the appeal.

13. Inhibition of incumbent.—Obedience by an incumbent to a monition or order of the bishop or judge, as the case may be, shall be enforced, if necessary, in the manner prescribed by rules and orders, by an order inhibiting the incumbent from performing any service of the Church or otherwise exercising the cure of souls within the diocese for a term not exceeding three months; provided that at the expiration of such term the inhibition shall not be relaxed until the incumbent shall, by writing under his hand, in the form prescribed by the rules and orders, undertake to pay due obedience to such monition or order, or to the part thereof which shall not have been annulled; provided that if such inhibition shall remain in force for more than three years from the date of the issuing of the monition, or from the final determination of an appeal therefrom, whichever shall last happen, or if a second inhibition in regard to the same monition shall be issued within three years from the relaxation of an inhibition, any benefice or other ecclesiastical preferment held by the incumbent in the parish in which the church or burial ground is situate, or for the use of which the burial ground is legally provided, in relation to which church or burial ground such monition has been issued as aforesaid, shall thereupon become void, unless the bishop shall, for some special reason stated by him in writing, postpone for a period not exceeding three months the date at which, unless such inhibition be relaxed, such benefice or other ecclesiastical preferment shall become void as aforesaid; and upon any such avoidance it shall be lawful for the patron of such benefice or other ecclesiastical preferment to appoint, present, collate, or nominate to the same as if such incumbent were dead; and the provisions contained in the Act of the first and second year of the reign of her Majesty, chapter one hundred and six, section fifty-eight, in reference to notice to the patron and as to lapse, shall be applicable to any benefice or other ecclesiastical preferment avoided under this Act; and it shall not be lawful for the patron at any time to appoint, present, collate, or nominate to such benefice or such other ecclesiastical preferment the incumbent by whom the same was avoided under this Act.

The bishop may, during such inhibition, unless he is satisfied that due provision is otherwise made for the spiritual charge of the parish, make due provision for the service of the Church and the cure of souls, and it shall be lawful for the bishop to raise the sum required from time to time for such provision by sequestration of the profits of such benefice or other ecclesiastical preferment.

Any question as to whether a monition or order given or issued after proceedings before the bishop or judge, as the case may be, has or has not been obeyed shall be determined by the bishop or the judge, and any proceedings to enforce obedience to such monition or order shall be taken by direction of the judge.

14. Faculty not necessary in certain cases.—It shall not be necessary to obtain a faculty from the ordinary in order lawfully to obey any monition issued under this Act, and if the judge shall direct in any monition that a faculty shall be applied for, such fees only shall be paid for such faculty as may be directed by the rules and orders; provided that nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to limit or control the discretion vested by law in the ordinary as to the grant or refusal of a faculty: Provided also, that a faculty shall, on application, be granted, if unopposed, on payment of such a fee (not exceeding two guineas) as shall be prescribed by the rules and orders, in respect of any alteration in or addition to the fabric of any church, or in respect of any ornaments or furniture, not being contrary to law, made or existing in any church at the time of the passing of this Act.

15. Service of notices.—All notices and other documents directed to be given to any person under this Act shall be given in the manner prescribed by rules and orders.

16. Substitute for Bishop when Patron, or in case of illness.—If any bishop shall be patron of the benefice or of any ecclesiastical preferment held by the incumbent respecting whom a representation shall have been made, or shall be unable from illness to discharge any of the duties imposed upon him by this Act in regard to any representation, the archbishop of the province shall act in the place of such bishop in all matters thereafter arising in relation to such representation; and if any archbishop shall be patron of the benefice or of any ecclesiastical preferment held by the incumbent respecting whom a representation shall have been made, or shall be unable from illness to discharge any of the duties imposed upon him by this Act in regard to any representation, her Majesty may, by her Sign Manual, appoint an archbishop or bishop to act in the place of such archbishop in all matters thereafter arising in relation to such representation.

17. Provisions relating to cathedral or collegiate church.—The duties appointed under this Act to be performed by the bishop of the diocese shall in the case of a cathedral or collegiate church be performed by the visitor thereof.

If any complaint shall be made concerning the fabric, ornaments, furniture, or decorations of a cathedral or collegiate church, the person complained of shall be the dean and chapter of such cathedral or collegiate church, and in the event of obedience not being rendered to a monition relating to the fabric, ornaments, furniture, or decorations of such cathedral or collegiate church, the visitor or the judge, as the case may be, shall have power to carry into effect the directions contained in such monition, and, if necessary, to raise the sum required to defray the cost thereof by sequestration of the profits of the preferments held in such cathedral or collegiate church by the dean and chapter thereof.

If any complaint shall be made concerning the ornaments of the minister in a cathedral or collegiate church, or as to the observance therein of the directions contained in the Book of Common Prayer, relating to the performance of the services, rites, and ceremonies ordered by the said book, or as to any alleged addition to, alteration of, or omission from such services, rites, and ceremonies in such cathedral or collegiate church, the person complained of shall be the clerk in holy orders alleged to have offended in the matter complained of; and the visitor or the judge, as the case may be, in the event of obedience not being rendered to a monition, shall have the same power as to inhibition, and the preferment held in such cathedral or collegiate church by the person complained of shall be subject to the same conditions as to avoidance, notice, and lapse, and as to any subsequent appointment, presentation, collation, or nomination thereto, and as to due provision being made for the performance of the duties of such person, as are contained in this Act concerning an incumbent to whom a monition has been issued, and concerning any benefice or other ecclesiastical preferment held by such incumbent.

18. Limitation of proceedings against incumbent.—When a sentence has been pronounced by consent, or any suit or proceeding has been commenced against any incumbent under the Act of the third and fourth year of the reign of her Majesty, chapter eighty-six, he shall not be liable to proceedings under this Act in respect of the same matter; and no incumbent proceeded against under this Act shall be liable to proceedings under the said Act of the third and fourth year of the reign of her Majesty, in respect of any matter upon which judgment has been pronounced under this Act.

19. Rules for settling procedure and fees under this Act.—Her Majesty may by Order in Council, at any time either before or after the commencement of this Act, by and with the advice of the Lord High Chancellor, the Lord Chief Justice of England, the judge to be appointed under this Act, and the archbishops and bishops who are members of her Majesty's Privy Council, or any two of the said persons, one of them being the Lord High Chancellor or the Lord Chief Justice of England, cause rules and orders to be made for regulating the procedure and settling the fees to be taken in proceedings under this Act, so far as the same may not be expressly regulated by this Act, and from time to time alter or amend such rules and orders. All rules and orders made in pursuance of this section shall be laid before each House of Parliament within forty days after the same are made, if Parliament is then sitting, or if not, within forty days after the then next meeting of Parliament; and if an address is presented to her Majesty by either of the said Houses within the next subsequent forty days on which the House shall have sat praying that any such rules may be annulled, her Majesty may thereupon by Order in Council annul the same, and the rules and orders so annulled shall thenceforth become void, without prejudice to the validity of any proceedings already taken under the same.

CHAPTER 77.

An Act respecting Colonial and certain other Clergy. [7th August, 1874.]

WHEREAS by divers Acts of Parliament certain disabilities are imposed on persons ordained by bishops not being bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland:

And whereas by an Act passed in the thirty-second and thirty-third years of her present Majesty, c. 42, it is enacted that the union created by Act of Parliament between the Churches of England and Ireland shall be dissolved, and that enactments relating to the said United Church shall be read distributively in respect of the Church of England and the Church of Ireland:

And whereas it is desirable to amend the law respecting persons having been ordained by bishops not being bishops of either of the said separate Churches or of the said United Church, hereinafter collectively called "the Churches aforesaid":

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1. Short Title.—This Act may be cited as "The Colonial Clergy Act, 1874."
2. Repeal of Enactments in Schedule A.—The enactments enumerated in Schedule A annexed to this Act are repealed, but not so as to render invalid anything lawfully done in conformity with any of them.

3. Colonial and certain other Clergy not to Officiate without Permission from the Archbishop.—Except as hereinafter mentioned, no person who has been or shall be ordained priest or deacon, as the case may be, by any bishop other than a bishop of a diocese in one of the Churches aforesaid, shall, unless he shall hold or have previously held preferment or a curacy in England, officiate as such priest or deacon in any church or chapel in England without written permission from the archbishop of the province in which he proposes to officiate, and without also making and subscribing so much of the declaration contained in "The Clerical Subscription Act, 1855," as follows—(that is to say),

"I assent to the Thirty-nine Articles of Religion, and to the Book of Common Prayer and of the ordering of bishops, priests, and deacons. I believe the doctrine of the Church of England as therein set forth to be agreeable to the Word of God; and in public prayer, and administration of the sacraments, I, whilst ministering in England, will use the form in the said Book prescribed and none other, except so far as shall be ordered by lawful authority."

4. Not to hold Preferment nor act as Curates without Consent of Bishop.—Except as hereinafter mentioned, no person who has been or shall be ordained priest or deacon, as the case may be, by any bishop other than a bishop of a diocese in one of the Churches aforesaid, shall be entitled as such priest or deacon to be admitted or instituted to any benefice or other ecclesiastical preferment in England, or to act as curate therein, without the previous consent in writing of the bishop of the diocese in which such preferment or curacy may be situate.

5. As to Licence.—Any person holding ecclesiastical preferment, or acting as curate in any diocese in England under the provisions of this Act, may, with the written consent of the bishop of such diocese, request the archbishop of the province to give him a licence in writing under his hand and seal in the following form—(that is to say).

"To the Rev. A.B.,

"We, C., by Divine Providence Archbishop of D., do hereby give you the said A.B. authority to exercise your office of priest (or deacon) according to the provisions of an Act of the thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth years of her present Majesty, intituled 'An Act respecting Colonial and certain other Clergy.'

"Given under our hand and seal on the day of

And if the archbishop shall think fit to issue such licence, the same shall be registered in the registry of the province, and the person receiving the licence shall thenceforth possess all such rights and advantages, and be subject to all such duties and liabilities as he would have possessed and been subject to if he had been ordained by the bishop of a diocese in England: provided that no such licence shall be issued to any person who has not held ecclesiastical preferment or acted as curate for a period or periods exceeding in the aggregate two years.

6. Appointments, &c., contrary to Act void.—All appointments, admissions, institutions, or inductions to ecclesiastical preferment in England, and all appointments to act as curate therein, which shall hereafter be made contrary to the provisions of this Act, shall be null and void.

7. Penalty for officiating contrary to Act.—If any person shall officiate as priest or deacon in any church or chapel in England contrary to the provisions of this Act, or if any bishop not being bishop of a diocese in England shall perform episcopal functions in any such church or chapel without the consent in writing of the bishop of the diocese in which such church or chapel is situate, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay the sum of ten pounds to the Governors of Queen Anne's Bounty, to be recovered by action brought within six months after the commission of such offence by the treasurer of the said Bounty in one of her Majesty's superior courts of common law; and the incumbent or curate of any church or chapel who shall knowingly allow such offence to be committed therein shall be subject to a like penalty, to be recovered in the same manner.

8. Persons Ordained under 15 and 16 Vict., c. 52 Exempt.—Any person ordained a priest or deacon in pursuance of such request and commission as are mentioned in an Act of the fifteenth and sixteenth years of her present Majesty, c. 52, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to have been so ordained by the bishop of a diocese in England, and it shall not be necessary that the bishop to whom such commission shall have been given should have exercised his office within her Majesty's dominions, or by virtue of her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, provided that such bishop be a bishop in communion with the Church of England; and such commission shall not become void by the death of the grantor until after seven days: provided always, that any such act of ordination by any such bishop as aforesaid shall be subject to the same laws and provisions as to the titles and as to the oaths and subscriptions of the persons to be ordained, and as to the registration of such Act, as if it had been performed by the bishop of the diocese; and that the letters of orders of any persons so ordained by any such bishop shall be issued in the name of, and be subscribed with the signature of, such bishop as commissary of the bishop of the diocese, and shall be sealed with the seal of the bishop of such diocese.

9. Persons ordained under 24 Geo. III., sess. 2, c. 35, or 59 Geo. III., c. 60, s. 1, subject to Act.—Any person ordained a deacon or priest under the provisions of an Act of the second session of the twenty-fourth year of King George the Third, c. 35, or under the first section of an Act of the fifty-ninth year of King George the Third, c. 60, shall be subject to the provisions contained in this Act.

10. Contrariety to certain Enactments not to Invalidate Admissions to Ecclesiastical Preferments, &c.—No admission, institution, induction, or appointment to any benefice or other ecclesiastical preferment within her Majesty's dominions, nor any appointment to act as curate therein, nor any ministerial act performed by any person as priest or deacon of any of the Churches aforesaid, shall be or be deemed to have been invalid at law by reason of its contrariety to any of the enactments set forth in Schedule B to this Act annexed, unless its validity shall be inconsistent with the validity of some act, matter, or thing lawfully done before the passing of this Act.

11. Saving of 27 and 28 Vict. c. 94.—Nothing in this Act contained shall alter or affect any of the provisions of an Act of the twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth years of her present Majesty, c. 94, intituled, "An Act to remove disabilities affecting the bishops and clergy of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Scotland."

12. Archbishops may Dispense with Oath of due Obedience.—It shall be lawful for the Archbishop of Canterbury or the Archbishop of York for the time being, in consecrating any person to the office of bishop for the purpose of exercising Episcopal functions elsewhere than in England, to dispense, if he think fit, with the oath of due obedience to the archbishop.

13. Indian Bishops.—Nothing contained in an Act of the fifty-third year of King George the Third, c. 155, or in an Act of the third and fourth years of King William the Fourth, c. 85, or in any letters patent issued as mentioned in the said Acts, or either of them, shall prevent any person who shall be or shall have been bishop of any diocese in India from performing Episcopal functions, not extending to the exercise of jurisdiction, in any diocese or reputed diocese at the request of the bishop thereof.

14. Interpretation of Terms.—In this Act the word "Bishop" shall, when not inconsistent with the context, include archbishop; the words "Bishop" and "Archbishop," in the matters of "permission" and "consent," and of "consent and licence," shall include the lawful commissary of a bishop or an archbishop; the word "England" shall include the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands; and the term "church or chapel" shall mean church or chapel subject to the ecclesiastical law of the Church of England.

SITES FOR PLACES OF RELIGIOUS WORSHIP.

86 &amp; 37 VICT. c. 50.

An Act to afford further facilities for the Conveyance of Land for Sites for Places of Religious Worship and for Burial Places.

[21st July, 1873.]

WHEREAS it is expedient to afford greater facilities for granting sites for buildings for religious worship and for burial places in England and Wales:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same as follows:—

1. Landlords empowered to convey land to be used as sites for places of worship and residence of the minister.—Any person or persons being seised or entitled in fee simple, fee tail, or for life or lives of or to any manor or lands of freehold tenure, and having the beneficial interest therein, and being in possession for the time being, may grant, convey, or enfranchise by way of gift, sale, or exchange in fee simple, or for any term of years, any quantity not exceeding one acre of such land, not being part of a demesne or pleasure ground attached to any mansion house, as a site for a church, chapel, meeting house, or other place of divine worship, or for the residence of a minister officiating in such place of worship or in any place of worship within one mile of such site, or for a burial place, or any number of such sites, provided that each such site does not exceed the extent of one acre: Provided also, that no such grant, conveyance, or enfranchisement made by any person seised or entitled only for life or lives of or to any such manor or lands shall be valid unless the person next entitled to the same for a beneficial interest in remainder in fee simple or fee tail (if legally competent) shall be a party to and join in the same, or if such person be a minor, or married woman, or lunatic, unless the guardian, husband, or committee of such person respectively shall in like manner concur: Provided also, that in case the said land so granted, conveyed, or enfranchised as aforesaid, or any part thereof, shall at any time be used for any purpose other than as a site for such place of worship or residence, or burial place, or, in the case of a place of worship or residence, shall cease for a year at one time to be used as such place of worship or residence, the same shall thereupon revert to and become a portion of the lands from which the same was severed, as fully to all intents and purposes as if this Act had not been passed, anything herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding. The provisions hereinbefore contained with respect to any manor or lands of freehold tenure shall apply to lands of copyhold or customary tenure, but so, nevertheless, that the provisions of "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845," with respect to copyhold lands (being sections 95, 96, 97, and 98 of such Act) shall for the purposes of this enactment be incorporated with this Act.

2. As to payment of purchase-money, &c.—The purchase-money or enfranchisement money or money to be received for equality of exchange on any such sale, enfranchisement, or exchange shall, if such sale, enfranchisement, or exchange be made by any person or persons seised or entitled in fee simple or fee tail, be paid to the person or persons making such sale, enfranchisement, or exchange, but if such sale, enfranchisement, or exchange be made by any person or persons seised or entitled for life or lives only, then such purchase-money or enfranchisement money, or money to be received for equality of exchange, shall be paid to the existing trustees or trustee (if any) of the instrument under which such person or persons is or are so seised or entitled, to be held by them upon the trusts upon which the land conveyed for such site was held, or if there be no such existing trustees or trustee to two or more trustees to be nominated in writing by the person or persons making such sale, enfranchisement, or exchange; and the receipt of any person or persons to whom such money is hereby directed to be paid shall effectually discharge the person or persons paying such purchase or enfranchisement money or money for equality of exchange therefrom, and from all liability in respect of the application thereof; and the trustees so to be nominated as aforesaid shall invest such purchase or enfranchisement money or money to be received for equality of exchange in the purchase of other lands or hereditaments to be settled to the same uses and trusts as the land conveyed for such site should have stood limited to; and until such investment, such purchase or enfranchisement money or money to be received for equality of exchange shall be invested upon such securities or investments as would for the time being be authorized by statute or by the Court of Chancery, and for the purposes of devolution and enjoyment shall be treated as land subject to the same uses and trusts as the land conveyed for such site should have stood limited to.

3. Persons under disability empowered to convey lands for the purposes of the Act.—Where any person or persons is or are equitably entitled to any manor or lands, but the legal estate therein shall be in some trustee or trustees, it shall be sufficient for such person or persons to convey or otherwise assure the same for the purposes of this Act without the trustee or trustees being party or parties to the conveyance or other assurance thereof, and where any married woman shall be seised or possessed of or entitled to any estate or interest, manorial or otherwise, in land proposed to be conveyed or otherwise assured for the purposes of this Act, she and her husband may convey, or otherwise assure the same, for such purposes by deed without any acknowledgment thereof; and where it is deemed expedient to purchase any land for the purposes aforesaid belonging to or vested in any infant or lunatic, such land may be conveyed or otherwise assured by the guardian of such infant or the committee

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

Church Extension.—The Secretary of State for the Home Department has issued the following letter to the Archbishop of Canterbury:—

"Whitehall, August 13, 1874.

"My Lord.—The Queen having been pleased to comply with the prayer of an humble address presented to her Majesty in pursuance of an order of the House of Lords, dated 22nd of June, 1874, for 'Returns showing the number of churches, including cathedrals, in every diocese of England which have been built or restored at a cost exceeding 500*l.* since the year 1840, and showing also as far as possible the expenditure in each case, and the sources from which in each case the required funds were derived,' I have to desire that your Grace will have the goodness to cause such a return to be prepared accordingly so far as relates to the province of Canterbury, and to be transmitted to me as soon as possible, in order that it may be laid before the House of Lords.—I have the honour to be, my Lord, your Grace's obedient, humble servant,

"RIC. ASSHETON CROSS.

"His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury."

Consecration of two Bishops in Westminster Abbey.—On Monday, 24th ult. (the Feast of St. Bartholomew), the Venerable Archdeacon Jones was consecrated in Westminster Abbey to the See of St. David's, vacant by the recent resignation of Bishop Thirlwall. At the same time the Rev. Edward Steere, LL.D., late rector of Little Steeping, Lincolnshire, and formerly chaplain to Bishop Tozer, in Africa, was consecrated to the Bishopric of Central Africa. The officiating Prelates were the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishops of London, Rochester, and St. Asaph, and also the American Bishop of Pittsburg. The Dean of Westminster and a large body of the clergy had places inside the rails of the sacra-rium.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. A. W. Thorold, rector of St. Pancras, and one of the chaplains to the Archbishop of York, who took his text from 2 Tim. ii. 1, 2, "Thou, therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus. And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also."

At the Holy Communion the Archbishop of Canterbury was the celebrant, the Bishop of Rochester reading the Epistle, and the Bishop of London the Gospel. The alms collected at the offertory, except such as were especially offered for the Central African Mission, it was understood, would be devoted to the restoration of the ancient cathedral at St. David's, a work which has been for many years in progress.

Army Chaplains' Pensions in India.—The following rules as to chaplains' pensions have just been adopted in India:—A chaplain who is compelled from failing health to retire before completing the required period of residence and service will be awarded an invalid pension in accordance with the following scale:—If he have completed a service and residence of ten years, 173*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.* a year; if he have completed seven years' service and residence, 127*l.* 15*s.* a year; if under seven years' service and residence, 63*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* The above allowances will be granted only after a trial of a temperate climate, and upon a certificate from the Medical Board attached to the office of the Secretary of State for India that the said officer is permanently unfit for service in India.

On the Title of "Reverend" claimed from the Church of England by a Wesleyan Preacher.—The Bishop of Lincoln has added the following note to the correspondence which has been published upon this subject:—

"It has been alleged that the title of 'Reverend' is merely one of courtesy, and may be conceded as such. But the Wesleyan Preachers do not care for it as 'a title of courtesy,' but claim it because it puts them on a par with the Clergy. Dr. Johnson says in his dictionary, on the word Reverend, 'this is the honorary epithet of the Clergy.' We style a clergyman 'Reverend,' and it is because a clergyman is so styled that Wesleyan Preachers assume the title, and in order that the people may imagine that their orders (which are not even Presbyterian) are quite as good as those of the clergy. If the Church conceded to them that title, she would promote confusion and propagate schism."

The Sumner Memorial Fund.—At the preliminary meeting held at Farnham, under the presidency of the Bishop-Suffragan of Guildford, to carry out this object, 'more than 700*l.* was promised on the spot. Contributions may be forwarded to the Bishop of Guildford, Farnham; R. Alexander, Esq., Cambridge Villas, Richmond; the Rev. W. T. Jones, Tilford Vicarage, Farnham; or to the credit of the Sumner Memorial Fund, at Messrs. Knight and Sons, and London and County Bank, Farnham.

Custody of Parish Register Books in Parishes Consolidated by Union into one Ecclesiastical Benefice.—The following reply has been given by Dr. Deane, Q.C., to the question, "Is the Incumbent of the Consolidated Benefice of A. and B., who, though he is ecclesiastically resident in each parish, has his actual dwelling-house in A. only, legally justified in keeping the register books of the parish of B. in his dwelling-house at A.?"—

"Upon the best consideration which I have been able to give to this difficult question, upon which I am not aware of any authority, I am of opinion that the books of parish B. should not be removed to parish A., though the benefices A. and B. are consolidated, and there is but one residence, and that in A., fit for the Incumbent. The reason for this opinion is that, as two sets of books are provided, the parishioners of B., who are christened, married, and buried within their own parish, have a right, to some extent at least, to have the books kept in the parish

EUCHARISTIC VESTMENTS

AND THE

EASTWARD POSITION.

AMONG the 3000 Clergymen who have already signed the following Address to the Prelates, are 4 Bishops, 9 Deans, 35 Residentiary Canons, 16 Archdeacons and 11 Ex-Archdeacons, 8 Heads of Colleges at Oxon and Cambridge, 110 Prebendaries and Hon. Canons, and 140 Rural Deans. (See lists in Guardian, September 18th, and Record, September 9th, 18th, and 23rd.)

Further signatures may be sent to CANON SCOTT ROBERTSON, Sittingbourne.

"We the undersigned Clergy of the Church of England have learned, with great concern, that the issuing of the Queen's Letters of Business to Convocation has led to a movement for obtaining authoritative sanction for the use of the Eastward position, and of a distinctive Eucharistic dress, by the Clergy when officiating at the administration of the Lord's Supper.

"This use is avowedly, by many persons, desired as typifying and implying such a sacrifice in the celebration of the Holy Communion, and such a sacrificial character in the Christian priesthood, as we believe are not in accordance with the teaching of the Liturgy and Articles of the Church of England.

"We beg leave to represent that such doctrines should not be inculcated, by symbolical acts and things, in a service which is intended to form a common ground whereon all Churchmen may meet 'in perfect charity.'

"We should, therefore, deeply deplore any fresh legislation whereby authoritative sanction might be given to such use of the Eastward position, and of a distinctive Eucharistic dress. [490]

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.

67, Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Tuesday, October 6, 1874.

Rev. Dr. CURREY in the Chair.

After Prayers the Minutes of the last Meeting were read.

Annual Report.—The Secretary stated that, in accordance with Rule XLIX., it was the duty of the Secretaries to prepare an Annual Report of the principal transactions of the Society during the preceding year, and to lay it before the General Meeting in October.

The Report for the year 1873-4 was accordingly presented.

Money Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Auckland.—The Rev. B. Y. Ashwell applied for a grant in aid of a proposed new church for the newly-formed district of Taupiri. There is at present a congregation of the average number of forty, which assembles in a temporary chapel fitted up by Mr. Ashwell on his own land. This chapel, the Bishop says, is too small for the congregation, and not conveniently situated for the settlers.

The population is rapidly increasing. The proposed church will cost not less than 1500l., and will accommodate more than 100 persons. The Bishop writes:—"Taupiri is a district of increasing importance; but the European settlers there are at present poor. I think that the Society would do well to make a grant."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 15l. in this case; the Society's grant to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from all liabilities for debt, and that it has been secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Diocese of Auckland, New Zealand.—The Bishop forwarded and recommended an application, on one of the Society's printed forms, for a grant towards a new wooden church of the West Pukekohe, in the Mission district of Manku, in his diocese.

The Rev. E. R. Otway, Bishop's Curate in charge, stated that it was proposed to build for 120 persons, there being from fifty to sixty families, chiefly Episcopalian, in the neighbourhood. The estimated cost is about 1500l. A site has been set apart by the general government, to be made over to the Bishop. 300l. 15s. have been collected, and about 500l. may be raised.

It is an emigrant settlement, with good land; the people are just struggling through the difficulties of first settlement; the small farms are at present only partially cleared and grassed.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 120l. to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from all liabilities for debt.

Diocese of British Guiana.—The Bishop, writing from Kingston House, George Town, Demerara, on the 7th of August, 1874, forwarded, and very strongly recommended, an appeal, signed by the Rev. T. J. Moulder, Curate of St. Augustine's Friendship, East Coast, Demerara, and by the two wardens of the church.

The appeal stated that the church of St. Augustine, originally built about forty years ago, was now quite insufficient for the wants of the population, which now numbers upwards of 4600 persons; the majority of these are stated to be church-people, while the church will accommodate only 400. Accommodation is greatly needed for 800 or 1000 people. It is proposed, by an outlay of about 5000l., to add accommodation for 400 or 600 persons.

The population is for the most part made up almost entirely of the Creole labouring classes.

The Bishop has subscribed as largely as the many calls upon his purse will enable him to do, and earnestly asks for help in a work set on foot by a very energetic clergyman.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 1000l., on condition of 1000l. being raised elsewhere; the Society's grant to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the work, and to its being free from all liability for debt, and that additional accommodation for not less than 400 has been provided.

Diocese of Algoma.—The Bishop, writing from Sault St. Marie on the 22nd of July, 1874, reported that he had made arrangements for establishing one of the chapel school-buildings (towards the erection of which the Society in February last had granted 2500l. on condition that not more than 250l. of the Society's money should be spent upon each building) at an Indian village called Batchewanning. For this building the Bishop had been authorized to draw to the amount of 250l.

The Bishop also expressed a very strong hope that the Society would make a grant in aid of an Infirmary for Aged Indians connected with the Indian Industrial Home at Shinguanaw, the particulars of which were supplied by the Rev. E. F. Wilson.

The object of the institution is the civilization and Christian training of Indian children.

It is proposed also to receive ten or twelve aged or infirm Indians who are unable to provide for themselves.

This institution will replace one of the same kind, but on a smaller scale, erected in 1873 through the exertions of Mr. Wilson at Garden River, but unhappily destroyed by fire on the sixth day after the opening. Funds have been contributed by friends in England and elsewhere to the amount of 15000l.; the Canadian Government have made up the same to a total of 10,000, or 20000l. Of this amount it is proposed to spend about 6000 (12000l.) in building the remainder in the purchase of land, fuel, buying farm stock, &c., &c.

Mr. Wilson will reside in the institution as superintendent; there will also be a matron, under-matron, and schoolmaster, and a man.

Indian children of ten or twelve years of age will be received as pupils.

No servants will be kept, but the children will be taught to engage in every branch of house-work; and, besides receiving a good common education, will learn various trades, and in every way fitted, as far as possible, for a useful life.

A few young people, both male and female who have already had the advantage of a liberal education in more civilized parts, will be admitted with the view of fitting them to become teachers, and labour among their people; and it is hoped that some of the young men may eventually be admitted to Holy Orders.

The home will be mainly supported by voluntary contributions.

The Canadian Government undertakes the support of a limited number both of children and aged people. (For the present twenty children will be supported by the Government, and eight aged Indians.)

The greater number of the children will be supported by the different Church of England Sunday Schools throughout the Dominion.

The cost of a child is 75s. (150l.) per annum for board and clothing, or 50s. (100l.) for board alone.

The cost of a young person preparing for a teacher will be 1000l. (200l.) per annum; and of an aged person 75s. (150l.).

For the payment of salaries of teachers, supply of house-linen, repairs, medicines, school-materials, &c., &c., the institution is entirely dependent upon voluntary contributions.

The Bishop asked either for an independent grant, or to be allowed to spend 250l. out of the money raised in February, 1874, for Chapel Schools for this object, and specially on an infirmary to be erected in connexion with the Industrial Home at an estimated cost of 6500l. (1300l.).

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 500l. for the educational part of this scheme, and to inform the Bishop that the Infirmary and House for Aged Indians did not come within the province of the Society.

Diocese of Antigua.—The Bishop of Antigua, writing from his diocese on the 11th July, 1874, made an application for a grant towards the expense of re-habilitating a chapel of ease, built many years ago very substantially by a Mr. Cottle, the devout proprietor of Round Hill Estate.

The roof and wood-work of this stone building were destroyed by a hurricane in 1835, the Bishop thinks, and the naked but still well-preserved walls were all that remained till recently.

Sir Graham Briggs, Bart., into whose possession the estate came by purchase some few years ago, set apart two hundred guineas for the restoration of this church, the only condition he made being that the Rector should hold a service there once in every Sunday. This money has been all expended; the roof, windows and doors have been all replaced, but the necessary sittings and other internal fittings are wanting.

The Bishop feels that he cannot apply to Sir Graham Briggs (who, besides what he has done for this church, has been a very liberal contributor to the disestablished church) for the 4000l. which are wanted for the entire completion of the building; neither can the parishioners find the requisite sum. In the whole of the parish, which is eight miles long, and in which this is a second church, there are only two resident proprietors, neither of them flourishing; the rest of the parishioners are negro labourers, almost all of whom are attached to the church. Their Rector, a laborious and devoted man, is but recently appointed, and has no vested rights, so that the whole of his stipend (240*l.*) has to be raised from voluntary sources; "whilst (the Bishop writes) all the expenses of the other churches have been thrown upon our hands since the 1st of January." Added to these circumstances, the last three years have been years of excessive drought, and consequent short crops, whilst the price of sugar, the staple produce, has been such as to make it a question with proprietors whether they can continue to cultivate their estates.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 40*l.* in this case, the grant to be paid so soon as the Bishop certifies that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the work, and to its being free from all liability for debt.

Diocese of Melbourne.—The Bishop, who is in this country, forwarded and very strongly recommended an application for a grant towards the completion of a new church at Tyrandarra, a Missionary district in his diocese.

The church is a stone building, and will accommodate eighty persons; it is completed with the exception of interior fittings; it has cost thus far in money and labour about 175*l.*, and there is no debt; but there is no reading desk, communion table, seats, nor books—in short, nothing but the bare flooring and walls.

The Rev. J. C. P. Allnutt, the clergyman in charge, says that they have exhausted all their means; the population is increasing; there is no place of worship within six miles, and no Church of England within sixteen.

The Bishop speaks most highly of Mr. Allnutt's self-denying labours.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 10*l.* in this case, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Nova Scotia.—The Bishop of Nova Scotia forwarded and recommended an application from the Rev. Thomas W. Johnstone, Curate of Parrsborough in his diocese, for help towards the completion of a new church at Port Greville, in the parish of Parrsborough.

The church, the exterior of which is finished, will cost about 1400*l.*, or 280*l.*; the part at present built has been paid for, but five or six hundred more dollars are required to complete the church. The building, which is of wood, will accommodate upwards of 200. The population is about 700. The site will be invested either in the Diocesan Church Society, or in the Rector and Churchwardens as the Bishop directs.

The people generally are in comfortable circumstances, though not well off; they are employed in farming, lumbering, and ship-building; one half of the settlement are nominally Church people, the other half Methodists, with a few Baptists. All attend the church. During the last three years the people have been making a great effort.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 20*l.* on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Adelaide.—The Bishop, writing from his diocese on the 13th May, 1874, applied for a grant towards the erection of a brick church at St. Alban's, Port Wakefield.

The church, exclusive of the site, will cost over 400*l.*; upwards of 800*l.* have been collected. Port Wakefield is an important place, as it is the sea terminus of an inland tramway.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 20*l.* in this case, on the usual conditions.

Exeter Diocesan Training College.—Edwin Force, Esq., Honorary Secretary of the Exeter Diocesan Board of Education, applied for a further grant for additional female students to be maintained during the years 1875 and 1876 at the Exeter Training College. For 1873 and 1874 the Society had made a grant for nine additional students; ten were actually received. Mr. Force now asked for a grant at the reduced scale of 5*l.* per head per annum for ten students, bringing up the total number to sixty—the number previous to the Society's help having been fifty.

It was agreed to recommend 100*l.* on condition of the ten additional students being trained for two years from January, 1875.

Norwich Training Institution.—The Rev. W. Cufande Davie, Chaplain of this Institution, applied, by direction of his Committee, for a grant to enable them to maintain twenty additional female students for a second period of two years, viz. for 1875 and 1876. Mr. Davie wrote as follows:—"After estimating our probable expenses and means of meeting them, our Committee are of opinion that if your Committee would kindly make a grant for two years of fifty shillings for each additional student per annum, our income would meet our expenditure."

It was agreed to recommend a grant as applied for, viz. 100*l.* in twenty additional students, to be trained for a period of two years.

Book Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Book Grants, Special and Ordinary, including some made on the authority of the Secretary during the vacation, and subsequently sanctioned by the Standing Committee, were agreed to.

Durham Training College.—The Rev. Canon Eade applied, on behalf of the Durham Training College for Schoolmasters, for S.P.C.K. books to the value of 5*l.*, to meet an equal outlay in books on the part of the Sub-Committee of Management of the College; the whole of the books to be given as prizes to those students who shall be placed in a first class at the examination to be conducted during the autumn.

This grant was made in accordance with the resolution passed in June last.

Saltley.—The Rev. F. W. Burbidge, on behalf of the Worcester, Lichfield, and Hereford Training College at Saltley, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 5*l.*, to meet an equal outlay in books on the part of the Committee of the College—the whole of the Books to be given as prizes to those of the students who shall be placed in the first class at the examination in religious knowledge to be held on 12th October, 1874.

This grant was made.

Peterborough.—The Rev. Charles Daymond, Principal of St. Peter's College, applied for S.P.C.K. books to the value of 4*l.*, to meet an equal outlay in books on the part of the Committee of his college; the whole of the books to be given as prizes to those of the students who shall be placed in the first class in the approaching examination in religious knowledge.

This grant was made.

Rochester Diocesan Board of Examiners of Pupil Teachers in Religious Knowledge.—The Rev. John Menet, Hon. Sec. to the Diocesan Board of Examiners, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books as prizes in religious knowledge for pupil teachers after simultaneous examinations held at various centres throughout the diocese, to meet an equal expenditure on the part of the Boards of Education in Essex, Herts and Kent. The prizes will be given to the pupil teachers who obtained a first class out of a total of 620 presented for examination. The results of the examination were as follows:—

S.P.C.K. books to an amount not exceeding 20*l.* were granted.

Diocese of Chichester.—The Rev. H. Foster, Secretary of the Chichester Diocesan Association, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 10*l.*, to meet an equal outlay in books on the part of the Diocesan Association; the whole of the books to be given as prizes for religious knowledge to pupil teachers after a central or simultaneous examination.

233 was the number of "pupil teachers" examined in 1873; forty-seven "candidates" were also examined. There were in all thirty-eight in the first class.

The grant was made.

Oxford Diocesan Board of Education.—The Rev. Edward Barber, the Oxford Diocesan Inspector, applied for S.P.C.K. books to the value of 20*l.*, to meet an equal outlay in books on the part of the Diocesan Board; the whole of the books to be given as prizes for the religious knowledge to pupil teachers after central or simultaneous examinations. Mr. Barber wrote as follows:—"As there is an increase of over 20 per cent. in the number of pupil teachers examined, the grant is more than ever necessary, and will, I hope, not be refused. I may say that I do not know any grant which gives more widely-spread and greater satisfaction than one of this kind."

The number of pupil teachers examined has greatly increased; in 1872, 250 were examined; in 1873, 331; in 1874, 415.

Of these 415, 82 obtained a first-class, 289 a second, 34 a third, or pass; 10 failed. Handsome first and second prizes are given to the successful pupil teachers in their several years; and as there are five years, and the male and female pupils are classed separately, twenty prizes are thus given.

In the fifth year the first prize is sometimes as much as 25*s.* A smaller prize has also been given to each in the first class. Last year the Society's New Testament Commentary was the book given.

Mr. Barber further added, "I may say that the prizes are most highly appreciated, and I am sure have had a most salutary effect in keeping up the high character of the work."

The grant was made as applied for.

Exeter.—The Rev. Canon Lee applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 5*l.*, to meet an equal outlay in books on the part of the managers of some Church Schools in Exeter and the neighbourhood; the whole of the books to be given to the pupil teachers who shall distinguish themselves in the examinations in religious knowledge, conducted by the Diocesan Board of Education. The number of pupil teachers is about twenty-five.

This grant was made as applied for.

Bloemfontein.—The Rev. John Widdicombe Mission Priest in the Diocese of Bloemfontein but now in this country, applied, with the recommendation of the Rev. P. G. Medd, the Bishop's Commissary, for a grant of 100 Dutch Prayer Books; and also for a grant of English books, for the use of the children of Europeans scattered through his field of work in Africa

He also applied for a grant of books for his own use.

It was agreed to grant the Dutch Prayer Books as asked for; also miscellaneous books, to be selected by Mr. Widdicombe, to the value of 5*l.*, for the use of the Europeans; and books to the value of 4*l.*, for Mr. Widdicombe's own use.

Hong-Kong.—The Right Rev. Bishop Burdon, of Hong-Kong, writing, on 30th September, 1874, from 70, Pentonville Road, N., asked for a grant of books and maps suitable for the boys and youths about to be taught at the School at Hong-Kong.

The Bishop hopes to get twenty-five or thirty lads in addition to the Theological Class, and they will all be taught English.

The Bishop also applied for a complete set of the Christian Evidence Committee's Publications for the Library at St. Paul's College.

It was agreed to grant books, maps, &c., for the School, to the value of 5*l.*, and, in addition, a complete set of the Society's Christian Evidence Series.

Diocese of Mauritius.—Writing from his diocese on the 19th August, 1874, applying for a grant of books, including French and German, as well as English, for their very important "Sailors' Home" in Mauritius, the Bishop states that, at a very large outlay of subscriptions, and with the aid of Government, this very useful institution has now been placed on a good permanent footing.

Owing to losses (upwards of 1,000,000*l.*), through a hurricane in March last, the Bishop feels that he cannot now appeal for further aid to his people for this library.

Interesting and suitable books, including back numbers of periodicals, are asked for.

"Just now" (the Bishop writes) "the Home is full to overflowing, as we have had to receive the single men of a large emigrant ship (the 'Suffolk,' for Queensland) which put in last week utterly dismantled; but we have always a good number of inmates."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant books to the value of 15*l.* in this case.

Grants recommended by the Standing Committee, of which Notice was given at the last Meeting.

Grahamstown.—In accordance with notice given at the last Meeting, and for reasons set forth at length in the July Monthly Report, the Standing Committee proposed a grant of 500*l.*, to meet 500*l.* for the permanent endowment of a Tutorship in Theology, for the Diocese of Grahamstown.

The grant was made on the understanding that it would not be paid till the Committee were satisfied that 500*l.* had been raised to meet it, and that the whole sum of 1000*l.* would be satisfactorily and securely invested for the purpose stated.

Diocese of the Falkland Isles.—In accordance with notice given at the last Meeting, and for reasons set forth at length in the July Monthly Report, the Standing Committee proposed that the sum of 500*l.* be paid out of the original grant of 1000*l.*, made in April, 1870, for the endowment of this See, so soon as 4500*l.* should be forthcoming to meet it—the other conditions remaining as before. The original grant of 1000*l.* had been made on the understanding that none of it would be paid till 9000*l.* were forthcoming to meet it.

This resolution was carried.

Reports and Notices from the Standing Committee.

Independent Kaffraria.—The Standing Committee reported that they had, since the last Meeting, voted the sum of 40*l.* out of Canning's Trust Fund, for the passage to Kaffraria of the Rev. J. Oxley Orland, who was to go out in August last, with Bishop Callaway, as a Missionary.

Diocese of Colombo.—The Standing Committee also reported that the Bishop of Colombo, who is in this country in consequence of severe illness, had applied for a grant from Canning's Fund in aid of the passage-money to Ceylon of the Rev. W. H. Elton.

Mr. Elton is to leave England early in November, as chaplain to one of the newly-formed districts in the Hill country. His stipend, which will be paid entirely by private subscription, is only just sufficient for him to live upon, and he has no private means. Unless assisted, he will have to borrow money for his passage and outfit. He has a wife and child, and the expense will certainly not be less than 150*l.*

The Standing Committee reported that they had granted 50*l.* in this case out of Canning's Trust Fund.

Diocese of Antigua.—The Standing Committee reported that they had placed a further sum of 18*l.* 15*s.* at the disposal of the Bishop of Antigua, for the passage to his diocese of the Rev. R. de M. Dodsworth, in aid of whose passage 5*l.* had been granted some months ago. At the time the 5*l.* were granted, the Bishop was under the impression that the balance of the passage-money would be forthcoming elsewhere. In this impression he had been mistaken.

Crawford's Irish Trust.—The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that they had received satisfactory assurance from the Rev. John Halaham, Rector of Berehaven, and from the Bishop of Cloyne and Ross, that the Rev. W. O'Tool, licensed to the curacy of Berehaven, had satisfactorily discharged the duties of his office since 23rd of June, 1863, the date of his licence, and that all the conditions laid down by the Committee, when the first grant of 60*l.* for one year was made (see Monthly Report for Oct., 1873), had been fulfilled.

The Committee added that, under these circumstances, they had renewed the grant for another year, dating from June last, on the same conditions as before, and specially on condition that application for renewal, if made, reach them more than three months before the expiration of the year—that is, before March, 1875.

Motion of which notice was given at the last Meeting.

Supplemental Religious Catalogue Committee.—In conformity with Rule XLII., and in accordance with notice given at the July Monthly Meeting, the Standing Committee proposed that the Very Rev. Robert Scott, Dean of Rochester, be elected a member of the Supplemental Religious Catalogue Committee.

The Dean was unanimously elected.

Prices of Books.—The Rev. Percival Laurence, Rector of S. Ockenden, Essex, not being present, the motion of which he had given notice fell to the ground.

Mr. Laurence came in after the Meeting was over.

Notice of Motion for the next Meeting.

Character of Bibles and Prayer Books.—The Rev. H. A. Jeffreys, Vicar of Hawkhurst, gave notice that at the next Meeting he should move,—

"That the Standing Committee be requested to appoint a Sub-Committee of not less than five of their members, of whom not less than three shall be a quorum, to inquire into and report to this Society on the truth of the allegations constantly made as to the insufficient character of the Bibles and Prayer Books issued by the Society for the use of the poor, and particularly that they will, if possible, ascertain and report to the Society on the number of years in which such books, supplied to schools, are found to last in decent condition."

Letters of Thanks.

The following letters of thanks, &c., were laid before the Meeting:—

Bishop Crowther of the Niger Territory.—The Secretary stated that he had during the vacation received the following interesting statement from Bishop Crowther respecting the objects upon which he had applied the Society's grant of 250*l.* made for churches and school-chapels in October, 1872:—

"Mission House, Bonny, July 4th, 1874.

"REV. AND DEAR SIR,—I hereby send you a short statement of my proceedings since I left England in 1873, as regards church and school-chapel buildings, towards which objects the venerable Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge has made a grant of 250*l.*, as published in their Monthly Report of October 1st, 1872, for which amount I have drawn an order on you to be paid to the West Africa Native Bishopric Fund, from which all orders for the payment of my church and school-chapel buildings are paid.

"1. The Bonny Mission Church is being completed in a firmer foundation of brick walls.

"2. The Brass Mission Church is being enlarged by thirty feet to make room for the increasing congregation.

"3. Onitsha Church is undergoing material repairs and alterations, to be covered with galvanized iron roofing-sheets, instead of combustible grass, with additional seats.

"4. A larger mud-wall church is being completed at Lokeja Station, in the Upper Niger Station,—a great improvement upon the former school-chapel.

"5. A new Mission is opened at New Calabar River, with a school-chapel, for which materials have been bought, and the workmen are at work.

"To these improvements the native converts are giving liberal contributions according to their abilities, to which, when your grant of 250*l.* is added, we shall accomplish our buildings without being in debt.

"The purchases which are being made towards these objects are as follows:—

From Messrs. Irvine and Woodward, Liverpool:—
Iron roofing-sheets, boards, planks, &c. &c.	2 2 6
Paint, oil, &c. ....	139 0 6
From Mr. George M. Moore, Bonny:—
Galvanized iron roofing-sheets, boards, scantlings, planks ....	204 0 0
From Messrs. Charles Horsfall and Son, Brass River:—
Galvanized iron roofing-sheets, &c. &c.	74 2 11
From Messrs. Dickson and Stewart, London:—
Hardware, nails, bolts, locks, hinges ...	39 1 1

"Besides these, large quantities of useful native materials are bought on the spot. The carpenters' wages are to be paid as they work on.

"I hope this will be a sufficient explanation how the grant is expended, which has been so kindly placed at my disposal. In fact, in dependence on it, I was encouraged to undertake these extensions. With best respects,

"I remain, Rev. and dear Sir,

"Yours very truly,

"S. A. CROWTHER,

"Bishop, Niger Territory."

Diocese of Tasmania.—The Bishop, dating Hobart Town, 12th June, 1874, said:—"I express my deep obligation to the Society for the great encouragement which it has uniformly given to my efforts for increasing church accommodation, and for the late special grant of 50*l.* towards the expense of building a suitable boat for navigating the Straits between Tasmania and Australia."

Bishop of Antigua.—The following very interesting letter had been received from the Bishop of Antigua during the vacation:—

"Ponce, Porto Rico, July 24th, 1874.

"MY DEAR MR. SWABEY,—When I wrote to you, while leaving Antigua by the last mail, I dared not anticipate that I should be able to announce by this packet the extinction of the debt on the church here. I came down, indeed, prepared with all the necessary documents for its consecration, but in my most sanguine moments I did not venture to hope that I should be permitted to accomplish so desirable an object during this visit. I must now tell you how God, in His abounding goodness, has dealt with us.

"On my arrival on the 18th, accompanied by the Rev. C. J. Branch as my chaplain, I immediately called the Church Committee together, when we ascertained, from a careful audit of the accounts made before I came, that the exact debt amounted to $3194, about 665*l.* sterling. Mr. W. E. Lee, by far the largest contributor to the erection of the church, declared that he would resign forthwith his claim of $630 lent to complete the building, if any means could be devised of liquidating the remainder of the debt. Mr. Salamons, originally the next largest contributor, who had lent $131, followed Mr. Lee's example. Other gentlemen promised subscriptions amounting to $250. Mr. McCormick handed in $130 subscribed by the R.M.S. Packet Company. Reductions were consented to in some of the accounts to the extent of $150; and I then expressed my readiness to give a bill on the Society for 100*l.* (amount of their conditional grant), if any mode could be devised of meeting the remaining claims. The Treasurer also stated that he had in hand $155, expressly subscribed at different times for the liquidation of the debt. Mr. Lee then engaged on behalf of his firm, W. E. Lee & Co., the largest creditors (who had supplied all the material and wages), that if any one or more gentlemen would give his or their personal bonds for the payment of the balance ($1248), at the end of the year, they would undertake, on receiving these several sums, to pay all the accounts against the church, and would give themselves also a receipt in full. Early on the following morning (the 20th), Mr. Salamons called on me, and authorized me to inform Messrs. W. E. Lee & Co., that if they would accept his bonds for the payment of the $1248 in equal instalments in March, 1875, 1876, and 1877, he should be prepared at once to take the responsibility and risk of raising the amounts by the last of those dates. This generous proposal was acceded to, and on the 22nd the several deductions and payments were made, when I drew my bill on your Treasurers in favour of W. E. Lee & Co., and had the great satisfaction of receiving a release in full of every claim against the church.

"Yesterday, the 23rd, a brilliant day, even in this tropical climate, witnessed the fulfilment of this long-cherished hopes of the projectors of this good work. I was assisted in the consecration of the church and its dedication to the Holy Trinity by the Rev. C. J. Branch, Rector of St. John's Church, St. Croix, who, with the Rev. J. C. Du Bois of the same island, was mainly instrumental in giving effect to the wishes of the Protestants after the proclamation of religious liberty, and by the Rev. A. F. Giolma, whom in December last I licensed as its first Pastor. A large number of the Roman Catholics, including some of the authorities, attended the consecration, and seemed much impressed with the solemnity of the service. I hope to send you by next mail a small photographic view of the beautiful little church."

"York Factory, Hudson's Bay, April 4th, 1874.

"DEAR SIR,—Your kind favour of December 10th reached me here yesterday, and by the return of the men I beg to send you my grateful thanks for it. Will you kindly convey to the Committee my sincere thanks for undertaking the cost of printing the Chipewyan Manual, and say how much their kind help in this work has refreshed my spirit? This book is much needed, as I hope it may be at once used in the new diocese of Athabasca. The Bishop has been good enough to express great satisfaction with the parts of it which he had seen, and I hope that he may like it in its complete form. From the great distance existing between Churchill and Athabasca, there are slight differences in the language spoken at each place, but they are not so great as to prevent the Indians of the latter place from understanding this book. It may therefore be safely used by them until something better is prepared. I shall hope to see the books out by the H. B. Company's ship next Fall, and, if they come, will at once inform you of their safe arrival.

"The question may possibly have suggested itself to you as to how it is that at this station, which is only 200 miles from Churchill, the natives should not understand a word of Chipewyan, and yet as far westward as Athabasca—on to McKenzie River, to the Rocky Mountains, and even to Behring's Straits beyond them, substantially the same language is used with dialectic differences, increasing in number as we advance from one point to the other westward. The reason appears to be this:—From Churchill on the east, round to Behring's Straits on the west, the Esquimaux occupy the entire coast line. Next to them, and down as far as Churchill, or say the 55° parallel of latitude, the Tinné or Chipewyan race form a sort of straight band across the entire continent. South of them the different tribes, as Crees, Salteaux, Sioux, Blackfeet, &c., occupy irregular patches of country without any apparent order; and each tribe having its own peculiar language, manners, habits, &c., I trust that you will not think me presuming in mentioning this.

"I have also to thank the Committee of your Society for the noble grant made last year towards our little iron church for Churchill, and it is a great comfort to me to have been the means of erecting "a House of Prayer" at that long-neglected, isolated spot, this end of the earth as one may call it, for there is not another habitable dwelling between it and the North Sea. But I ought to inform you that the new church to which your Society contributed is not there, but here—circumstances compelling us to make a change before the new church reached us, and I ought before now to have told you of them. Just at this time last year I heard from Mr. Stride that there was every probability of the church coming out by the Company's vessel in the autumn, but there is no communication with Churchill after then. A schooner leaves here in July to take the annual supplies, and bring back the returns of that place, but by the same mail we heard that the ensuing summer was to be the last time the schooner was to go there, the Company having ordered it to go to England this season. Boats in future were to take its place. We saw at once that the church could not be sent by these; and as we had an iron church here, erected by my predecessor, and always used during the winter, we resolved to take this down and send it to Churchill by the schooner in July, and trust to the new one being sent out by the ship. A few days after this decision (April 11th), I left home and went to Churchill, over the last snow, to spend the summer with the natives there. But Mr. Fortescue had the church nicely taken down and sent, and I was there to welcome its arrival by the schooner at the end of July. As I had to return by that vessel early in August, the church could not be erected before my departure, but the gentleman in charge and the people were delighted to have it, and promised to do all they could in its erection that season, and I have been since rejoiced to hear that they did so. Shortly after my return home the ship arrived, and with it, to my deep joy, came the new building, and its very appearance made me exceedingly glad that we had acted as we did in the matter. The liberality of my dear friends had far exceeded both my requests and expectations; the church was much more elaborate than anything I had thought of. With only boats going, it would have been simply impossible to send it to Churchill, except by instalments; nor do I think the people could ever have put it together even if it had been sent. The tradesmen here did it very nicely, and in October it was opened for Christian service, and has been used for that purpose ever since. It is much nicer and more suitable every way for this place than the other was; and the smaller one is better adapted for Churchill than this. Both places have therefore been gainers by the exchange. My only regret in the matter was that I could not first consult with the kind donors, but I at once apprised them of what had been done, and now have received their cordial approval, and hope to have that of your good Society also. And now, with very grateful thanks,

"I remain, dear sir,

"Yours sincerely,

"W. W. KIRKBY.

"The Secretary of the S.P.C.K."

Training Colleges.—Viva-voce Examination of Students.—The Secretary stated that he had received the following letter from Canon Norris, the Archbishop's Inspector, on this subject:—

"The Abbey House, Bristol, September 26, 1874.

"DEAR MR. SWABEY,—I have now completed my tours of inspection of all the Church Training Schools except Bishop's Stortford. And a very satisfactory series of visits it has been. I have found no reason whatever to suppose that the Religious Instruction in our Training Schools is less cared for, but rather it seems more cared for, than in former years.

"You know how unsatisfactorily the Pupil Teachers are prepared in these subjects, as shown in my Admission Examination at Christmas.

"My viva-voce examinations of these same Pupil Teachers, after six or eight months' residence in the Training School, has shown a more marked improvement than I could have supposed possible in the time.

"I rejoice to think that nearly all difficulty is disappearing in the acceptance of the scheme. Indeed, I should be able to say that it was now permanently established, were it not that one Training College declines it.

"An arch that has one stone wanting may, of course, fall any day. If Bishop's Stortford declines, any College may decline.

"Ever yours faithfully,
"J. P. NORRIS."

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, Aug. 10th.—The Rev. S. Coles, lately arrived from Ceylon, gave encouraging information on the progress of the work of itineration among the Singhalese in the neighbourhood of Kandy. He stated that the district under his charge extended some hundred miles from Kandy, embracing three provinces; that he had been able to establish a considerable number of schools throughout this district, which were mainly supported by the liberality of the Native Christians; and that he hoped the Committee would enable him to increase them still more, as he felt they were a most valuable auxiliary to the preaching of the Gospel.

Dr. Hoernle, being present, was introduced to the Committee, and gave particulars in reference to the Jay Narain's College and the progress of the work in the neighbourhood of Benares.

Reference having been made to the minutes of the Committee of May 26th, respecting the assistance which the Committee were prepared to give to the Basle Missionary Society in connexion with the Mission to Ashantee, a letter was read from the Rev. Dr. Josenhans, dated Basle, July 20th, thanking the Committee for the kindness with which they had received their communication and had taken their proposals into deliberation; stating that it would have been quite in conformity with their wishes that the Society should have undertaken a Mission to Ashantee; accepting the Committee's proposal to place before the friends of the Society an appeal for funds, and to receive subscriptions; but pointing out that they could only undertake an extension to Ashantee on the understanding that at least 700l. a year be secured, as well as a preliminary expenditure of 6000l.; and adding that, even supposing the money were found, they would wish to decide the time when their Missionaries should be sent to Coomassie, which would probably be not before 1876. Resolutions were passed which, while expressing the willingness of the Committee to place before the friends of the Society, should the Basle Missionary Society be ready to undertake a Mission to Ashantee, an appeal for funds for that purpose, pointed out that the time which had elapsed and the proposed postponement of the Mission until 1876 would seriously militate against the collection of the large amount needed by the Basle Society to commence and maintain the Mission. Further, that the Committee accepted with much pleasure the assurance of the Basle Society that it would be in accordance with their wishes that the Society should undertake a Mission to Ashantee, and as their decision of May 26th, not to undertake a Mission to Ashantee, was partly in consequence of the avowed intention of the Basle Society to ultimately include Ashantee in their Gold Coast Mission, the Committee would at an early opportunity consider the advisability of undertaking a Mission to Ashantee; and that should the Basle Missionary Society at any time wish to make an appeal to the English public for funds for the purpose of sending a Mission to Ashantee, the Committee would be glad to receive subscriptions for them at the Society's House.

Extracts of a Letter from the Rev. J. Piper, dated Yedo, July 6, 1874:—

"In my last two letters I have informed you of our safe arrival in Japan and early settlement in its greatest city, Yedo, or Tokai (i.e. eastern capital), as the natives call it. As you doubtless remember, the latter name was given to it after the Mikado came from Kioto to reside in what was formerly the 'Capital of the Tycoon.' Our arrival here being so recent, our knowledge of the city and its people, beyond what books could tell us, is necessarily very limited. Nevertheless, a brief account of my first impressions may not be altogether uninteresting. With the aid of native maps, I have already gone over a great deal of the city, and the more I see of it the more am I struck with its beauty and extent as a heavenly city. Although it cannot boast of such a beautiful structure as the Taj in Agra, nor possesses ruins at all equal to those in Lucknow or Delhi, yet it far surpasses those cities in extent, and certainly surpasses them in the arrangement, width and nature of its streets. It is about eight miles from north to south, and nearly the same distance from east to west.

"Wherever we go throughout the city there are signs of foreign influence. Besides the naval, military, and other governmental departments, where this influence is manifested in the buildings and in the uniform of the soldiers and sailors, besides the dress of the police, we meet men either wholly or in part dressed in clothes made after foreign style. Then the lines of telegraph, running in almost every direction, and the railway station attest the same fact. Now and then we meet a four-wheeled vehicle, but the most general mode of riding is in what is called a jirikisha. It is two-wheeled, and has two shafts in front, drawn by one man. The number of the vehicle is printed on the back, and is in Chinese and English. I need hardly observe that the very fact that English should be used at all is a proof of the mighty influence of our language. The name 'jirikisha' is Chinese, and means 'Man's-strength carriage.' And this leads me to remark that my knowledge of Chinese has already proved of great service to me, as at the entrance to the Government buildings, at the foot of all their bridges, in all their shops, and all their public notices, Chinese characters are used.

"As regards the character of the people generally, so far as I have observed, there is much in it to excite and keep up our interest. They are an inquiring people. . . . There is one feature in the social life of the Japanese which would strike the least observant, and it seems all the more marked to me after being six years in China—I mean the accessibility of the women. I think it is Dr. Lightfoot (in his excellent book on the Epistle to the Philippians) who has remarked on the very prominent place which women seem to have occupied in the Philippian Church; and he ventures to say that St. Paul's success in the first Churches of Europe which he established owed much of that success to the superior social position which the women in those parts held over their sisters in Asia Minor. I hope and pray that we may have a similar experience in Japan."

LAW.

JUDICIAL COMMITTEE OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23.

PINCHER V. RICHARDS.

APPEAL.

In this case (see Ecclesiastical Gazette for July, 1874, p. 6) the Rev. W. H. Richards, as Vicar of St. Helen's, Isle of Wight, prohibited the Rev. J. G. Pincher, Incumbent of Sea View, from officiating at Sea View, in the parish of St. Helen's, as he had not continued the permission granted by the former Vicar. The Dean of Arches decided in favour of Mr. Richards, and hence the present appeal. Application was made this day to H. C. Rothery, Esq., her Majesty's Registrar, for an extension of time to file the necessary documents in prosecution of the appeal. The Registrar, under the 18th Rule, allowed further time to file the appendix in the appeal.

THE CHURCH CONGRESS.

The Congress at Brighton opened on Tuesday morning, October 6, with sermons at the two principal churches—that at St. Peter's by the Bishop of Ely, and that at St. Nicholas by the Bishop of Salisbury. Both churches were densely crowded. The Bishop of Ely's sermon was devoted almost entirely to an exposition of the doctrine of free will and the overruling power of God. The right rev. Prelate pointed out that those two great principles, seemingly antagonistic, worked in harmony in the Church of England, which was not the wretched compromise some people pronounced it to be.

The members then proceeded to the pavilion, where, under the dome, was gathered an audience of at least 4000 persons, the Bishop of Chichester in the chair.

The business of the Congress was opened with an address from the Bishop of Chichester, which he indicated the subjects for deliberation—missions, diocesan synods, church finance, the offertory, parochial choirs, &c.

Papers were read on the Old Catholic movement by the Bishop of Winchester and the Dean of Chester, who have just returned from the Conference at Bonn, and the subject was further discussed by the Rev. Malcolm M'Coll, the Rev. Professor J. E. Mayor, of Cambridge, and others.

Professor Mayor's paper, laid before the congress facts (some of which have never before been published in England) relating to the persecution of Old Catholics simply and solely as opponents of the Vatican decrees of the 18th July, 1870, and their precursors. By the concentration of all Church authority in the hands of the Bishop of Rome, a screw can (he said) be turned upon diocesan bishops, which not one of them has withstood. Two lines addressed by Cardinal Antonelli to the resident nuncio suffice to throw the whole machinery of a diocese out of gear: appeals, petitions for dispensation, &c., accumulated; the pressure of impatient suitors from below, together with the factitious impulse of societies worked by Jesuit springs, seconding the pressure from above, crushes the will of the unhappy prelate, inured from early years to regard blind submission as a Churchman's first virtue. Some of the coercive measures at the Bishop's command are denial of absolution, of the priest's blessing at the marriage and burial, exclusion from the sacraments and from the office of sponsor at baptism, and excommunication. Incumbents are deprived of their livings, professors are commanded, in defiance of University statutes and rights of the State, to suspend their lectures, students are withdrawn from the auditorium, children from the school. A black list of heretics and State Catholics is handed round, and all know whom to hate. Probably no leading Old Catholic is ignorant of what it is to face a fuming mob; no Old Catholic congregation has been allowed to meet for worship without passing the ordeal of railing and uproar. The reverend professor then gave a long list of cases of individual persecution, and the details of each, including not only priests and professors, but ladies, shopkeepers, and even boys.

On Wednesday, on the assembling of the members under the dome, after the usual hymn and prayers, the President announced that the Patriarch of Syria and the Bishop of Jerusalem had honoured the Congress with their presence. His Lordship welcomed them in the name of the congress as representatives and heads of Churches which had always resisted the encroachments of the Pontiff of Rome. He had also received apostolic greetings by telegraph from a convention of the American Church now assembled at New York. The Eastern bishops were received with immense cheering.

Foreign missions and Church patronage were the two main subjects of deliberation in the Congress. The Earl of Chichester supported Professor Max Muller's opinion that missionaries should be well trained in the language and literature of the countries they were to evangelize. The Bishop of Lincoln's argument respecting patronage was that it implied a duty and not a power of sale. The debate was continued by the Earl of Harrowby, Mr. Hubbard, M.P., Mr. Gorst and others, its tendency being in favour of a reformed system of patronage.

Church finance, as regards the offertory and clergy sustentation, and the adaptation of the forms and services of the Church to the wants of the times, were the subjects discussed on Thursday morning, the latter being most popular. Mr. Beresford Hope held that churches should be specially adapted to the needs of heaven, and the buildings so constructed as to enable the congregation to see and hear, and to join in the fullest manner. Chancel and nave should be alike broad, and chancel screens used wherever practicable. The chancel should not be much raised above the nave; the sanctuary should be well elevated. Where galleries were wanted, let the ancient triforiums be adopted. Mr. Street considered that there should be more ornaments, ritual, and stateliness. Parish churches should be treated for the glory of God, and not the comfort of worshippers—ambiguity must give way to convenience. Private prayer in churches could not be hoped for with the pew system. Large churches and frequent and magnificent services were wanted for the masses. Mr. Cadman insisted on the setting forth of the Gospel and not ceremony as the essential feature of service.

The subject for discussion at the afternoon sitting was "Scepticism, Critical, Scientific, and Popular."

The Rev. Canon Westcott opened the discussion. He contended that sceptical criticism, when it said that the evidence in support of Christianity was untrustworthy, was chargeable with three great faults. It failed to comprehend the nature of the problem to be discussed, it failed to take into account the accumulation of various facts in favour of Christianity, and also failed to appreciate the exact religious character of those facts. Christianity was the historical proclamation of an event which had changed man's whole relations, yet sceptical critics made no effort to understand that history. They occupied themselves with literary fragments, and not with vital realities. The Synoptical Gospels, and the Gospel of St. John, he went on to contend, afforded unimpeachable proof of their authenticity, while the resurrection of Christ, a fact unique in itself, and followed by a new life, standing as it did alone, solitary, and unapproachable in its conception, left, he maintained, to no one who brought to the subject the spirit of an impartial inquirer room to doubt as to the Divine origin of our Christian belief.

Professor PRITCHARD dealt with the scientific scepticism and the atomic theory of Tyndall, who, he said, had forgotten to show how the potential atoms came into existence. A lifetime spent in the pursuit of the study of nature had, he far from diminishing his (the Professor's) religion, deepened it, and proved to him that there was a God knowable to man. The paper was loudly applauded, especially that part in which the author measured himself with Tyndall. The same subject was next profoundly dealt with by Professor BIRKS, who denied that these new doctrines were any new scientific discoveries at all. The Rev. Dr. BUSSEY gave some of his own experience of different kinds of popular scepticism on this point. He was followed by the Rev. J. B. TITCOMBE. To him succeeded the Rev. Dr. WAINWRIGHT, who spoke with some originality and with abundance of illustration. The Hon. Charles Wood and Sir John CONROY, who said that the High Church party was the bulwark of the faith, also spoke. Dr. HAYMAN then came forward, and was greeted with universal and loud applause.

On Thursday evening, at the Town Hall, the National Association for the Freedom of Worship, in other words, for the abolition of pews, held its annual meeting. Ever since the establishment of a Church Congress this Society has kept its anniversary in the Congress week, and at the city or town where the Congress is held. The Mayor of Brighton, who occupied the chair, said that the society had made some impression upon Brighton, and was well worthy of support. General Shute, M.P., moved the first resolution—"That, regarding the free and equal and absolutely unrestricted access of the people at large to their parish church as all important to the recovery of the working classes to the National Church, without which recovery its nationality is endangered, this meeting is of opinion that the full discussion of the subject at Church Congress and at diocesan and rural-decanal synods is peculiarly imperative at the present time." The second resolution was an appeal to the bishops, viz.—"That as the episcopal sanction afforded to the Free Church Movement in several dioceses has in many places (e.g., in Leicester, Scarborough, Plymouth, and Brighton) led to the general renunciation of the pew-rent system in favour of the Scriptural plan of absolute freedom, the support of those prelates who have not yet actively endorsed the movement is earnestly invited in aid of the efforts now being made to restore parish churches to the people at large." Mr. Herford, the veteran apostle of the movement, read a short report of the movement, which contrasted the good done by the society with the smallness of its means, and appealed for increased funds, the want of which greatly cramped its energies. Many excellent speeches were made, and the resolutions were carried with enthusiastic heartiness.

The meetings held by the English Church Union and the Church Association also took place on Thursday evening. Both were to a certain extent private. In both cases the sittings were protracted, and far from unanimous. The Church Association, after a lengthened discussion, passed resolutions pledging them to resist all attempts at rubrical revision in an anti-Protestant direction, and more particularly proposals to appoint special vestments to be used in the administration of the Holy Communion. On Friday afternoon, however, a more general meeting of High Churchmen was held, when it was resolved to send the following petition for signature to all the parishes of England:—

"Petition to the Convocations of Canterbury and York.—The humble petition of the undersigned clergy or lay communicants of the Church of England, sheweth: That we, the undersigned clergy (or lay communicants) of the Church of England, earnestly pray that your house in its deliberations under the Royal Letters of Business will maintain the integrity of the Book of Common Prayer, as settled in 1662, and further, that in any explanations which you may deem it needful to propose touching the rubrics of the said book provision be made for the retention of such ornaments of the Church and of the ministers thereof as were prescribed by and used under the Prayer Book of 1549, and which your petitioners humbly represent are in their judgment lawful under the present Act of Uniformity. At the same time your petitioners strongly deprecate the enforcement of things which have long been in abeyance upon unwilling clergy and congregations. And your petitioners will ever pray," &c.

At the Working Men's meeting, Mr. Gorst, after some introductory remarks upon working men, addressed them upon their rights with respect to the National Church. Whatever differences there might be in many respects, when they entered the church porch there was perfect equality so far as the services and ministrations of the clergy were concerned. All participated alike in the common prayer, all joined in the same hymns of praise. The rich man's child might be richly dressed, but the office of Baptism was exactly the same for it as for the child of the poorest man. Again, when the Queen was married to Prince Albert there was pomp and grandeur, silks and satins, lords and ladies, but the ceremony was exactly the same as that performed when the poorest man present wedded his wife; and so when that event came which happened to all, whatever the pomp and ceremony of a rich man's funeral, the mourning coaches, the plumes, and all the other paraphernalia of the grave, the office of the Church was exactly the same for him as for a pauper. Something had been said of the poor man finding seats in church all appropriated, but if the working men of England would go in their thousands to church, and claim the right they had to attend the public worship, they would feel themselves welcomed, and ample room be found. The equality to which by all they were entitled, was a symbol of that equality which, when all the troubles and difficulties of this world had gone by, every member of the Church would find in another and purer state of existence, the presence of God and of the Lamb for ever and ever.

RECREATION.

While the working men's meeting was being held an interesting sectional discussion took place in the Corn Exchange on the subject of recreation—its proper use and limitation. There was a very large attendance. The Ven. Archdeacon BICKERSTETH presided.

The Rev. J. M'CORMICK read the first paper. He said the subject of recreation was one of great importance, as the state of a Church might be known by the amusements of its people.

The Rev. HARRY JONES read the next paper.

The Rev. J. ERSKINE CLARKE read a very earnest paper. He said the proper use of recreation was to recreate. He did not admit recreation for idlers, but the recreation of the wearied faculties was the wisdom of one who works the less that he may work the longer, for under the strain of constant toil the hardest frame would give way. Recreation had many forms, the truest and best form being an elevated home life.

The Rev. A. CAZENOVE spoke at some length on the evil influence of gin palaces, and the need of some suitable amusements for the working classes.

The Rev. ERNEST FITZ ROY, the Rev. E. H. HOARE, the Rev. R. G. BLENKINSOPP, and Mr. EUGENE STOCK spoke on the subject.

Captain NOBLE condemned in very strong terms the abominable beerhouses that were spread over the country, and recommended that beer should be sold at working men's clubs.

The CHAIRMAN said he felt sure that the first speaker had struck the key-note of the discussion when he said that they must use the world as not abusing it.

A hymn having been sung, the Benediction was pronounced, and the meeting separated.

SPIRITUAL LIFE.

The discussion upon "The Spiritual Life—its Helps and its Hindrances," which took place on Friday morning, generally attracts an overwhelming audience; and on this occasion the hall was densely crowded.

SOCIAL AND SANITARY SCIENCE.

On Friday afternoon a subject new to Congress was considered. It was "The Influences of Social and Sanitary Conditions on Religion." Papers were read by Dr. Acland, of Oxford, Dr. C. Meymott Tidy, and Mr. Douglas Fox.

EDUCATION OF WOMEN.

Simultaneously with the above a sectional meeting considered "The Education of Women." The Dean of Chester presided, and the speakers were the Rev. C. Bigg, the Rev. J. Ll. Davies,

Mr. W. E. Hubbard, jun., Professor Plumtre, Rev. H. J. Nevin, of America, Rev. G. Mercier, Rev. J. W. Gedge, &c. The meeting fully discussed the subject, and insisted upon improved education for women and girls as a necessity. Too much attention had been paid in past times to "accomplishments," and some of the speakers pointed out that a girl's education ought not to end when she left school at seventeen or eighteen years of age. Mr. Nevin stated that the experiment of the co-education of the sexes had not been a success in America.

CLOSE OF THE CONGRESS.

The closing session took place on Friday evening under the dome. Dr. Stainer gave a lecture upon Church music, and, being assisted by a large body of trained singers, the members enjoyed a great treat. After the lecture the Mayor moved a vote of thanks to the Bishop, and expressed his satisfaction with the successful conclusion of this great national institution.

The BISHOP, in replying, said that by God's blessing the Congress had been a signal success. He expressed the thanks of the members, of the mayor, corporation, and pavilion committee for the use of that magnificent palace. Neither in England, nor Scotland, nor Ireland, for aught he knew, could any institution have a palace placed at its disposal.

GENERAL SHUTE, M.P., moved a vote of thanks to the readers and speakers. He highly appreciated the delicacy and moderation with which they had handled many delicate subjects, and he trusted that when the Public Worship Act came into operation all sides would show a similar delicacy and consideration for differences of opinion. He trusted that England would ever be the home of free thought and of liberty of worship.

EARL NELSON responded for the laity, and the Bishop of Edinburgh for the clerical speakers.

A vote of thanks to the committee gave an opportunity to a member, whose name was not mentioned, to propose a rider, to the effect that in order to avoid the crush and rush consequent upon closed doors, the managers would at the next Congress permit the doors to remain open all day.

The Bishop said he supposed the motion was called a "rider," because it was only worthy of being "derided." The closing of the doors between the meetings was indispensable, in order to rearrange the seats, but the proper persons to apply to were the managers of the next Congress, which, his Lordship announced, would be held at Stoke-upon-Trent, in the heart of the pottery districts.

Dr. HANNAH, in returning thanks, mentioned that the number of full members' tickets issued had been 5000, and the highest number at any previous Congress had been 200 short of 4000.

Several other complimentary votes were proposed, and the Congress was then declared at an end.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10.

Following the example of the late Bishop of Winchester, when the Congress was held at Southampton, and of the Bishop of Bath and Wells, when it was held at Bath, the Bishop of Chichester invited the members to special parting services in Chichester Cathedral, a special train having been provided for their accommodation.

The sermon at the morning service was preached by Canon Ashwell from Psalm cxix. 89; and at the close both of morning and evening service collections were made in aid of the Choir Benevolent Fund for the relief of Widows and Orphans of Organists and Lay Clerks of Cathedral and Collegiate Churches.

In the afternoon the Earl of Chichester received a large number of the members at his residence, Stanmer Park, about four miles from Brighton.

During the Congress the Patriarch of Antioch and the Syrian Bishop of Jerusalem visited the various objects of interest in Brighton. In the book for distinguished visitors, kept at the Aquarium, the Patriarch wrote an inscription in Arabic, of which the following is a translation by the Bishop of Jerusalem:—"Ignatius, by the grace of God, Patriarch of the Apostolic See of Antioch, who is (baptismally) Peter III., on the 24th Eloat, in the year 1874, visited Mr. Reeves Smith, who did us great honour. We pray Almighty God to give him the most excellent recompense in the Heavenly Kingdom with the Saints. Amen. He who wrote this was our son, the Bishop Gregorios Addallah, the Syrian Bishop of Jerusalem.—Oct. 7, 1874."

An Act for dissolving Magdalen Hall, in the University of Oxford, and for incorporating the Principal, Fellows, and Scholars of Hertford College; and for vesting in such College the lands and other property now held in trust for the benefit of Magdalen Hall.

[7th August, 1874.]

WHEREAS Hertford College in the University of Oxford was dissolved on the twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and five:

And whereas, in accordance with the provisions of an Act passed in the fifty-sixth year of the reign of his late Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act to authorize such person as his Majesty shall appoint to transfer a certain sum in Three Pounds per cent. Reduced Annuities, now standing in the name of the dissolved College of Hertford, in the University of Oxford, and also to receive dividends due upon such annuities," and of another Act passed in the same year, intituled "An Act to enable his Majesty to grant certain lands, tenements, and hereditaments escheated and devolved to his Majesty by the dissolution of Hertford College, in the University of Oxford, and the site of the said college and buildings thereon, to the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the said University, in trust for the Principal and other members of Magdalen Hall for the purpose of their removing to such site, and to enable the said Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the said University, and the President and Scholars of Saint Mary Magdalen College to do all necessary acts for such removal," the land constituting the site of the said Hertford College, together with all other the real and personal property of which the said Hertford College was seised and possessed at the time of its dissolution, was granted, conveyed, and transferred to the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Oxford, in trust for the Principal and other members of Magdalen Hall in the same University, their successors and assigns, for ever:

And whereas Magdalen Hall now consists of a Principal (namely, the Reverend Richard Michell, Doctor in Divinity), ten Scholars, and certain Graduate and eighty-five Undergraduate Members, and is or claims to be equitably entitled (besides the land and property aforesaid) to other real and personal property of considerable value, now vested in trustees upon various trusts for the benefit of the said Principal and Scholars:

And whereas the Reverend Robert Gandell, M.A., of Magdalen Hall, Laudian Professor of Arabic in the University of Oxford, and the Reverend George Starton Ward, M.A., of Magdalen Hall, have been appointed to, and have agreed to accept unendowed fellowships in the said College:

And whereas a sum of thirty thousand pounds has been transferred into and is now standing in the name of the Present Chancellor of the University of Oxford, upon trust immediately after the passing of this Act to transfer the same into the name of the collegiate body to be hereby incorporated, for the endowment of Fellowships in the said body, and Francis Henry Jeune and Montague Johnstone Muir Mackenzie have been appointed the first holders of two of such Fellowships:

And whereas it will conduce to the advancement of public learning and the welfare of the members of Magdalen Hall that a collegiate body, to be known by the name of Hertford College, should be created and incorporated as a College of the University of Oxford, and that the property of Magdalen Hall should be transferred to and invested in such College, and that the provisions hereinafter contained should be made for that purpose:

And whereas the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Oxford, in convocation assembled, at a convocation holden on the second day of June, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, have given their assent to the dissolution of Magdalen Hall, and to the incorporation of Hertford College, and to the transferring and vesting in such College the lands and property now held in trust for Magdalen Hall:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1. Short title.—This Act may be cited for all purposes as The Hertford College Act, 1874.

2. Dissolution of Magdalen Hall and creation of Hertford College.—Magdalen Hall is hereby dissolved, and the said Reverend Richard Michell, D.D., the Reverend Robert Gandell, the Reverend George Sturton Ward, Francis Henry Jeune, and Montague Johnstone Muir Mackenzie, and the several persons who immediately before the passing of this Act were Scholars in Magdalen Hall (and all persons who shall hereafter be duly appointed to be Fellows and Scholars respectively of or in the College hereby created, and their respective successors as Principal, Fellows, and Scholars respectively of or in the said college), are and shall be incorporated into one body corporate, collegiate, and politic, under the name of "The Principal, Fellows, and Scholars of Hertford College, in the University of Oxford," and as such shall have perpetual succession and a common seal, and by that name may sue and be sued, and may purchase, take, hold, and dispose of lands and other property, either absolutely or subject to any trusts, and shall for all purposes be a college of the University of Oxford, and shall possess, exercise, and enjoy all such rights and privileges as are possessed or enjoyed, or can be exercised by other Colleges in the University of Oxford: Provided nevertheless, that up to and until the year 1889, at any election of Proctors by the Halls in the said University, the members of Hertford College shall be entitled to vote as if they were members of a Hall in the said University.

3. Transfer of property from trustees to Hertford College.—All lands, messuages, tenements, and hereditaments, and all rentcharges, sums of money, stocks, funds, and other securities, together with all dividends due or accruing thereon, and all other property whatsoever, of or to which any person or persons or any corporation or corporations, whether sole or aggregate, was or were immediately before the passing of this Act seized or possessed, or otherwise entitled upon any trust for Magdalen Hall aforesaid, or for the Principal or any of the Scholars thereof as such, shall immediately upon the passing of this Act vest absolutely in the Principal, Fellows, and Scholars of Hertford College, in the University of Oxford, and shall thenceforth be held, possessed, and enjoyed by them, their successors and assigns, for the same estates and under the same titles for and under which the same are now held, and upon the same trusts and for the same intents and purposes, and subject to the same rents, conditions, encumbrances (if any), powers, and provisos upon, for, and subject to which the same would now be held if in the several instruments by virtue of which the same are now held respectively, the name of Hertford College had been inserted instead of that of Magdalen Hall, or the Principal, Fellows, and Scholars thereof; as the case may be, had been named instead of Magdalen Hall, or the Principal and Scholars thereof; and the Principal, Fellows, and Scholars of Hertford College shall be and are hereby authorized to give full and sufficient receipts for all moneys paid to them in respect of the future rents and profits of the said lands and every part thereof, and in respect of the said rentcharges and the dividends or annual proceeds of the said stocks, funds, and other securities; and such receipts shall be in all respects effectual and binding.

4. Members of Magdalen Hall to become members of Hertford College.—All persons who immediately before the passing of this Act were members of Magdalen Hall, or held any office of honour or emolument therein, shall, immediately on the passing of this Act, become and be members of, or, as the case may require, holders of the like offices in Hertford College, and shall (subject to any alterations which may hereafter be made by or according to the provisions of the statutes for the time being of the said College) be entitled to and have the like rights, privileges, honours, and emoluments respectively, and shall be subject to the like rules and regulations, and shall hold their respective offices in the said College upon the like terms as they would respectively have been subject to and would have held office in the said Hall if the same continued to exist unaffected by this Act.

5. Power to make statutes.—Subject to any Act for the time being in force for the government of the said University or of the Colleges therein, the Principal and Fellows for the time being of the said College may from time to time make, rescind, and vary such regulations, ordinances, and statutes for the government of the said College and the good discipline thereof, and the election of the Fellows and Scholars thereof as to them shall seem meet: Provided that no such regulations, ordinances, or statutes shall alter the trust, intents, purposes, conditions, powers, or provisions mentioned in the third section of this Act, or shall have any effect until the same have been confirmed by the Chancellor of the said University as visitor of the College, and shall also have received the approbation of her Majesty, to be signified by an Order in Council, and forthwith published in the London Gazette, and shall have been laid before Parliament.

6. Preparation of statutes.—Statutes for the purposes above mentioned made by the Principal and Fellows of the said College, shall, after they shall have been confirmed by the Chancellor as aforesaid, be submitted for the approval of her Majesty in Council, and it shall be lawful for her Majesty in Council to alter and amend the same; and in case statutes are not so made and submitted on or before the first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, it shall be lawful for her Majesty in Council to cause statutes to be prepared for the said purposes, and any such last-mentioned statutes shall be forthwith published in the London Gazette, and at the same time laid before both Houses of Parliament if Parliament be then sitting, or if not, then within three weeks after the commencement of the next ensuing session of Parliament; and unless an address is within forty days presented by one or other of the said Houses, praying her Majesty to withhold her consent from such statutes, or any part thereof, it shall be lawful for her Majesty by Order in Council to declare her approbation of the same, and such statutes shall thereupon have effect as if they had been statutes made by the said Principal and Fellows, and confirmed by the said Chancellor, and approved by her Majesty in Council.

7. Power to accept endowments.—The said Principal, Fellows, and Scholars may from time to time accept, hold, and enjoy such gifts and endowments as may be made to them for the endowment, improvement, establishment, or maintenance of the Principalship, Fellowships, Professorships, Tutorships, Lectureships, or Scholarships within the said College, or for any other lawful purpose, upon such terms and conditions as may, with the sanction of the Chancellor of the said University, be agreed on between them and the respective donors.

8. Saving rights of Chancellor of the University.—The Principal of Hertford College shall, when and as often as a vacancy shall occur, be appointed by the Chancellor for the time being of the University of Oxford, and the Chancellor for the time being of the said University shall continue to have and exercise with respect to Hertford College all such rights and privileges, both as visitor and otherwise, as he has hitherto had and exercised with respect to Magdalen Hall aforesaid.

9. Saving rights of the University.—Except as by this Act expressly provided, nothing in this Act contained shall take away, diminish, or impede the exercise of any privilege or right whatever of the said University, or of any of the magistrates, officers, ministers, or servants thereunto belonging and now existing, and the said University, their magistrates, officers, members, or servants, shall have and exercise all such and the same privileges and rights in and over the said Hertford College as they are entitled to exercise in or over other Colleges of the said University.

10. Actions and other proceedings not to abate.—No action, suit, or other proceeding, whether at law or in equity, commenced before the passing of this Act and then pending, by or against the Principal, Scholars, or other members of the said Hall, or any of them, shall abate, determine, or be otherwise impeached or affected by the passing of this Act, but every such action, suit, or other proceeding may be continued by or against the said Principal, Fellows, and Scholars of Hertford College as though they had been originally named therein; and any notice, fine, requisition, warrant, summons, pleading, writ, or other process, record, deed, contract, agreement, writing, or instrument made, issued, written, or commenced at the time of the passing of this Act shall be as valid and effectual for, against, and with relation to the said Principal, Fellows, and Scholars of Hertford College as though the same Principal, Fellows, and Scholars had been named therein instead of the Principal, Scholars, or other members of Magdalen Hall.

11. General saving of rights.—Notwithstanding the provisions of this Act, everything before the passing thereof done, suffered, or confirmed by or on behalf of the Principal and other members of the said Hall, or any of them, shall be as valid as if this Act were not passed, and the passing of this Act shall not prejudice anything so done, suffered, or confirmed before the passing thereof, or any rights, liabilities, claims, or demands, present or future, which if this Act had not been passed would be incident to or consequent on anything so done, suffered, or confirmed.

12. Validity of deeds and instruments preserved.—All deeds, wills, instruments, purchases, sales, and contracts made before the passing of this Act in which the Principal and members of Magdalen Hall aforesaid, or any of them, are named shall be as effectual to all intents and purposes in favour of or against and with respect to the Principal, Fellows, and Scholars of Hertford College as if they respectively had been named therein instead of the Principal and Scholars or other members, as the case may be, of Magdalen Hall, and as if the words Hertford College had been inserted therein instead of Magdalen Hall.

13. Not to repeal provisions of 34 & 35 Vict. c. 26.—Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to repeal any of the provisions of the "University Tests Act, 1871."

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT ORDERS ACT. 37 & 38 VICT. c. 90.

WHEREAS the Education Department, in pursuance of the Elementary Education Acts, 1870 and 1873, have made the orders mentioned in the schedule to this Act with respect to the united school districts mentioned in those orders:

And whereas, upon the application of a school board of one of the said united districts for a loan from the Public Works Loan Commissioners, doubts have been raised as to the validity of the said orders, or some of them, and the right of persons acting as members of a school board to act as such:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

4. Validity of future Orders.—From and after the passing of this Act the Education Department may, if they think fit, make orders directing that any school board, which at the date of any order for forming a united school district exists in any of the school districts constituting such united school district shall either with or without any change in the existing members, or in the number of the members thereof, be the school board for the united school district.

UNIVERSITY AND CLERICAL INTELLIGENCE.

Oxford.

CHRIST CHURCH.

THERE will be holden at this college on Saturday, October 17, an election to two Junior Studentships, one in Classics, the other in Mathematics, tenable for five years from February 28, 1874. They will be of the annual value either of 100*l.* or 85*l.* There will be also holden on the same day an election to the Slade Exhibition, value 80*l.*, tenable for one year.

HERTFORD COLLEGE.

One of the last acts of the session was to dissolve Magdalen hall, in the University of Oxford, and to incorporate the Principal, Fellows, and Scholars of Hertford college, as also to invest in such college the lands and other property now held in trust for the benefit of Magdalen hall. The preamble recites that it will conduce to the advancement of public learning and the welfare of the members of Magdalen hall, that a collegiate body, to be known by the name of Hertford college, should be created, and that the property of Magdalen hall should vest in such college. In thirteen sections the objects declared in the preamble are carried out.

A Convocation was held on Friday morning, at half-past twelve o'clock, at which letters from the most Honourable the Chancellor of the University were read, nominating the Rev. James Edwards Sewell, D.D., Warden of New College, Vice Chancellor for the ensuing year. The retiring Vice Chancellor (the Dean of Christ Church) delivered a Latin speech, in which he detailed the principal academic events of the past year; he then formally gave up the keys, &c., and vacated the chair, which was taken by the new Vice Chancellor.

THE UNIVERSITIES COMMISSION.

In October, 1871, as many of our readers doubtless remember, Mr. Gladstone addressed a letter to the Vice Chancellors of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, in which he informed them of his intention to appoint a Commission to inquire into the property, income, and expenditure of the two Universities, their colleges, and halls, and asked his correspondents to ascertain whether the authorities of the Universities and colleges would be willing to supply the required information. There were two courses of action open to the advisers of the Crown. Mr. Gladstone went on to explain: they could proceed either by statutory or by Royal commission. The latter he would prefer as the most respectful to the Universities, but only on condition that he received a promise that the required information would be voluntarily given. The promise was given, and accordingly the Royal Commission was appointed at the beginning of the following January. The Commission decided to conduct its investigation by means of printed questions. Appropriate forms of return were accordingly drawn up, comprising no fewer than sixteen heads of inquiry, and to preserve uniformity it was requested that the answers might as far as possible be furnished under these several heads. Uniformity of return is obviously of the greatest importance in such an investigation, as without it comparison is impossible, and, indeed, the information collected is much more likely to mislead than to instruct. But the result was to throw an immense amount of work on the college authorities. Some of the colleges date from the thirteenth, others from the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries. Very diverse modes of keeping their accounts, as well as of managing their affairs, have consequently grown up amongst them. Still the authorities, with but very few exceptions, did their utmost to comply with the request of the Commissioners. The master of Sidney Sussex College, at Cambridge, who also discharges the duties of bursar, and has the college account books in his custody, refused to supply the information demanded; and New College and Lincoln College, Oxford, while affording copies of their own accounts readily, declined to reduce those accounts to the forms required by the Commissioners. With these exceptions, however, and the refusal of the tutor of Corpus Christi College to furnish information respecting tutors' fees, on the ground that they are private matters not properly falling within the scope of the inquiry, every facility was afforded the Commissioners for conducting their investigation, and, after spending nearly three years in the work, they have issued the first volume of their report in a bulky blue book of nearly 300 pages.

The revenues, both of the Universities and the colleges, are derived from two distinct sources, which the Commissioners designate respectively external and internal. The external sources consist of various kinds of property, such as lands, houses, tithe rent-charges, other rent-charges (chiefly in the form of fee farm rents), stocks and shares, and fines and profits from copyholds of inheritance, minerals, timber, and the like. The internal sources of income consist of the rent of college rooms, fees at matriculation, examination, and on graduation, and payments to the University chest. The various sources of revenue yielded in 1871 a total income of 754,405*l.* 6*s.* 14*d.*, of which sum 665,601*l.* 10*s.* 24*d.* was for corporate use, and 88,803*l.* 14*s.* 11*d.* was subject to conditions of trust. Of this total income the University of Oxford was in receipt of 32,151*l.* 1*s.* and it held in trust 15,437*l.* 19*s.* 3*d.*; the University of Cambridge received 28,942*l.* 19*s.* 3*d.*, and in trust 10,407*l.* 17*s.* 10*d.*; the colleges and halls of Oxford, 330,838*l.* 16*s.* 4*d.*, and in trust, 85,417*l.* 6*s.* 2*d.*; the colleges of Cambridge, 278,970*l.* 13*s.* 84*d.*, and 27,540*l.* 17*s.* 8*d.*. Thus the University, colleges, and halls of Oxford received for corporate or trust purposes an aggregate income of 413,842*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.*, and those of Cambridge 340,562*l.* 8*s.* 74*d.*. It ought to be explained, however, that the sums here given are not net income. We are told, indeed, that, with few exceptions, land tax and tithe rent-charges have been deducted. But there are exceptions, however, few or many, in which the deductions have not been made. Again, we are told that in some cases property and income tax has also been deducted; but it would appear from the form of the expression that the cases are a minority. Lastly, the cost of repairs, of collection of rents, and of insurance has not been deducted. Understanding, then, that we are not dealing with net income, we proceed to point out the proportions in which the several sources contribute to the income. The external revenues amount to 614,787*l.*, or to nearly six-sevenths of the whole, and lands yield more than half of this, or exactly 318,902*l.* Tithe rent-charges are the next largest item, yielding 90,714*l.* Stocks and shares come next, standing for 61,338*l.*; while houses occupy only the fourth place, returning 54,546*l.* Fee farm-rents and other fixed rent-charges, having been imposed in times long past, and being incapable of increase, are now of small amount, yielding only 9242*l.* Fines from copyholds, and profits from minerals, timber, and the like, return 32,279*l.* And the special endowments yield 51,653*l.* The internal income of the University consists of payments from the members to the University chest, amounting to 1*l.* per head in Oxford, with right to compound in certain cases, and 17*s.* per head in Cambridge. In the case of the colleges the internal revenue is derived from the rent of chambers paid by students, the fee on entrance and graduation dues paid by members, and the profits of the buttery and kitchen. In addition to these payments there are tuition fees, varying in amount from 21*l.* to 25*l.* in Oxford, and in Cambridge 18*l.*. But these fees seem generally to be regarded as belonging to the tutors rather than to the colleges. With regard to the prospects of increase in the income, it is to be observed, in the first place, that the lands, which yield nearly half of it, are situated chiefly in the south, and, therefore, hold out little hope of mineral wealth. At the same time some of those lands will probably increase greatly in value as building sites. Moreover, the colleges are now dropping the old system of beneficial leases—leases, that is, for lives or terms of years at low rents, renewable on payment of fines. When the system is entirely disused the lands and houses will be let at rack-rents. The change will apparently not increase the receipts if taken for a long series of years, but it will render the income regular. We stated above that of the entire aggregate income over 88,000*l.* is held on trust; it is to be observed, however, that the trusts in general have reference to college or University purposes, such as endowing a professorship, or the maintenance of a museum or library.

Turning now to the expenditure, we find that the heads of colleges receive an aggregate income of 50,953*l.* 19*s.* 3*d.*, of which the nineteen heads of Oxford colleges receive 30,543*l.*, or at the rate of 1874, and the seventeen heads of Cambridge colleges receive 20,410*l.*, or at the rate of 1200*l.* a year. The whole amount paid to fellows is, in Oxford 101,171*l.*, and in Cambridge 102,976*l.*. From which it appears that a very much larger proportion of the income of Cambridge college is applied to fellowships than is done at Oxford. At both Universities there are special endowments for scholarships and exhibitions, but in addition to these there is devoted to those objects from the corporate income of colleges 26,255*l.* at Oxford, and 24,308*l.* at Cambridge. In comparison with these very large sums the payments to University professors out of college incomes will appear small. In Oxford these payments amount to 6694*l.*, and in Cambridge to no more than 1011*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.* In 1871, 8772*l.* was devoted at Oxford to the augmentation of benefices, and at Cambridge 5253*l.* The cost of managing the estates of Oxford colleges amounting to the annual value of 308,759*l.*, was no more than 8901*l.*, or less than three per cent., and at Cambridge the percentage was still lower. Of whatever else, then, these colleges may be accused, they cannot fairly be charged with an extravagant management of their properties. The trust funds, as we have already remarked, which are held by the Universities and colleges, are intended to endow certain chairs or to maintain museums and libraries, but in many cases they are not adequate for the purpose, and the Universities have to allocate additional funds. Thus the great Bodleian Library has a special fund of 2837*l.*, but the University has to supplement this with a grant of 3615*l.*—Standard.

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

METROPOLIS.

St. Antholin's Church.—The demolition of St. Antholin's Church and the reinterment of the bodies are now completed. The church, which was built in 1399 by Sir Thomas Knowles, Lord Mayor of London, was burnt down in 1666, and rebuilt in 1682 by Wren at a cost of 5700*l*. By a special arrangement with the Ecclesiastical Commissioners the bodies, instead of being, as is customary, removed to the City of London Cemetery, Ilford, have been placed in a huge mausoleum constructed beneath the base of the tower. The tower, which is an octagonal shaft 154 feet high, crowned with an Italian capital, will not be pulled down, but will remain embellished with a suitable inscription, to mark the spot of the reinterment. The monuments, mural tablets, &c., have been removed to St. Mary, Aldermay.

Teaching of Drawing in Board Schools.—At the Weekly Meeting of the London School Board on Wednesday, the 8th instant, the following resolution came under consideration:—"That it is desirable that an inspector should be appointed to examine and generally promote the teaching of drawing in board schools." After a long discussion, the previous motion was carried by a majority of 18 votes to 7.

It was afterwards resolved, unanimously:—"That systematized lessons in drawing be given in all Board Schools; so that all scholars may have an opportunity of learning drawing; and that it be referred to the School Management Committee to report on the arrangements necessary to carry out the foregoing resolution."

PROVINCIAL.

Rochester Cathedral.—The Dean and Chapter of Rochester Cathedral are appealing to the public for assistance in restoring the ancient cathedral. Already rather more than 10,000*l*. has been expended in this work, but the restoration has been limited to the north transept and the choir. At the expense of the Rev. Dr. Griffith and Mrs. Griffith, the fittings of the choir are in progress of restoration, and the cost will amount, when the work is completed, to about 3000*l*. Notwithstanding this munificent gift, fully 17,000*l*. is required for the completion of the much-needed restoration.

Manchester.—The National Association for Freedom of Worship.—At the last monthly meeting of the Council, Mr. Herford in the chair, the following Vice-Presidents were elected:—The Ven. Archdeacon of Bedford, the Ven. Archdeacon of Richmond, Rev. Sir James E. Phillips, Bart., the Worshipful A. J. Stephens (Chancellor of the Dioceses of St. David's and Bangor), Rev. Canon Tristram, Rev. Canon Jarrett, and the Rev. Canon Tarver.

Yorkshire.—The Vicar of Illingworth has received a donation of 5*l*. from a South American lady, to be applied, in any way he may approve, towards the further adornment of his restored church. The existence of the lady was previously unknown either to the vicar or his parishioners.

Faversham.—In reply to a memorial addressed to the Archbishop of Canterbury by the Trustees of Public Charities, Faversham, his Grace expresses his disapproval of certain ornaments and practices adopted by the almshouse chaplain. He further alludes to the chaplain's imprudence in questioning the acts and orders of the Trustees during Divine Service, and advises the Trustees to make rules for his future guidance.

IRELAND.

See of Kilmore. Election of Bishop.—The Ven. Archdeacon Darley has been duly elected to the vacant Bishopric. The total number of votes in his favour was 163 Lay and 108 Clerical. Canon Daunt stood second on the select list.

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.

67, Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Tuesday, November 3, 1874.

Rev. Dr. HESSEY in the Chair.

After Prayers the Minutes of the last Meeting were read.

Money Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Christchurch, New Zealand.—The Bishop, writing from his diocese on the 3rd of July, 1874, forwarded for the favourable consideration of the Society an application from the Rev. Harry Stocker, for a grant towards a new church at Springton, in the district of Burnham, where Mr. Stocker is curate.

The total estimated cost is 600l. Of this 270l. have been promised, and 50l. more may be raised. Five members of the congregation have agreed to supply any deficiency which may remain after all subscriptions have been received, without security, looking to be repaid in course of time from the offertory. A grant is expected from the Church Property Trustees.

The church will be built of wood on concrete foundation, and will accommodate ninety persons. The site is invested in the Church Property Trustees.

The population is 400, many of whom are Wesleyans, the rest Church people. Nearly all of the people came out as labourers and mechanics, and now hold farms of different values.

In many cases they had to borrow money to work their farms, and this debt is not in all cases yet cleared off. There is a congregation of forty adults. The Bishop cordially recommended the case.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 20*l.* to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of that sum will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from all liability for debt.

The Bishop, writing again on the 28th of August, 1874, forwarded and recommended an application on one of the Society's forms for a new church, Holy Trinity, Avonside, Christchurch, of which the Rev. Henry Glasson is Incumbent.

This church is to replace one built seventeen years ago of the best materials then available, which, however, have proved not to be durable, the old church being now in some danger of collapsing; it is also wholly inadequate to the wants of those who claim to worship in it. Avonside is in the immediate suburbs of Christchurch, and is virtually a part of Christchurch, and its inhabitants are making every exertion to supply their wants by a building of suitable dimensions, and one which they hope will endure. The cost of the proposed church is 2800*l.*; of this, 1400*l.* in works and money have been provided on the spot, and probably 400*l.* more may be raised.

The population, one half of whom are nominally Church people, numbers nearly 3000, a large proportion being labourers and mechanics. The new church will accommodate 500; it will be built of stone, on a site vested in the Bishop of Christchurch. The population, through immigration, is increasing in a manner which makes the parishioners quite unable, without extraneous aid, to provide the required church accommodation.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50*l.* in this case, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Calcutta.—The Bishop, writing from his diocese on the 16th June, applied for a grant in aid of building a church in the native village of Bell, close to Allahabad. The church, which is in course of erection, is in connexion with the Church Missionary Society, and will be duly consecrated. There is a native clergyman, the Rev. David Mohun, whom the Bishop describes as an able man, who has charge of the village and district. Accommodation will be provided for 600 persons, and the church promises to be a handsome, though simple structure of brick, wood, and tiles. Sir William Muir, the late Lieut.-Governor, took much interest in the village and church. The Bishop writes:—

"We trust it will soon be one of those almost self-supporting parishes which it is so desirable to establish among our native brethren. The church cannot be carried on and completed without considerable assistance."

1970*l.* have been expended at present, and 150*l.* are in hand; about 1000*l.* more would be required to finish the church in accordance with the plan.

The present native congregation numbers about 450, and is increasing; many of them are employed at the Government press at wages varying from 10*s.* to 10*l.* a month; they are attached to the Church of England. The site is invested in trustees appointed by Government.

Another church is being built in the station for Europeans, for which funds are raised with difficulty, so that Mr. Davis, the C. M. S. Missionary at Allahabad writes, "we are not likely to get any further voluntary contributions here." 300*l.* have been subscribed in Allahabad.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 150*l.* in this case, and that the Society's grant should be paid so soon as the Bishop should have certified that the receipt of it would lead to the immediate completion of the building in accordance with the plan, and to its being free from all liability for debt.

The Bishop, writing again from Umballa on the 3rd September, 1874, forwarded, and strongly recommended, the following application from the Rev. John E. Marks, for a grant of money in aid of printing in Mandalay an edition of the Book of Common Prayer in the Burmese language.

Ten years ago Mr. Marks states that he edited the first edition, consisting of 750 copies only, of the Morning and Evening Prayer.

That edition has been for some time quite out of print. There are not three perfect copies in Mandalay, and the Rev. C. Warren writes: "We have only four printed copies here for a congregation of from 50 to 100." The Missionaries at Rangoon and elsewhere are no better off.

Of the Litany an edition was prepared and printed in 1871 by the Rev. C. H. Chard, but that is nearly exhausted.

The other Services, such as that for the Holy Communion, Baptism, Churching of Women, Marriage, Burial of the Dead, Confirmation, &c., exist only in manuscript.

"Meanwhile," Mr. Marks writes, "we are thankful to feel that, by God's blessing, our need for the Prayer Book in the language understood by the people is continually increasing. Our Burmese Christian congregations are becoming larger, and real inquiries more numerous."

Relying on receiving help from the Society, Mr. Marks has put this business in hand, and has made the best terms he can with the only printer in Rangoon capable of doing the work properly. The first part has been placed in the printer's hands, as the wants are so pressing and urgent.

The total cost of an edition of 1000 copies will be not less than Rs. 1000 = 100*l.* For this sum Mr. Marks hopes to print and bind 500 copies of the Daily Services and Litany, and 500 of the complete Prayer Book. The Psalms and Gospels will not be printed at length, as the Psalms and New Testament can be had separately in a cheap form.

Mr. Marks proposes to sell the Morning and Evening Services at 1 rupee per copy, and the complete book at 3 rupees, and to return the proceeds of sale as a donation.

Mr. Marks hopes for the Society's kindest liberality, urging that the Mission is now in the greatest difficulty, owing to the change of mind on the part of the king, who, after having been a warm supporter, has become the determined opposer of the Mission.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make a grant of 100*l.* for this purpose, with a special request to the Bishop and Mr. Marks to see that the book be brought up as far as possible to the critical knowledge of the day, and on condition of the proceeds of sales being returned as a donation to the Society.

Book Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Book Grants, Special and Ordinary, were agreed to.

Diocese of Grahamstown.—The Rev. H. J. Mullins, Principal of the Kafir College, Grahamstown, who is at present in this country, had submitted a list of theological books selected by the Bishop of Grahamstown and himself. The books are intended to be used by the theological students who are to be instructed by the Tutor in theology, towards the endowment of whose tutorship the Society granted 500*l.* at the last Meeting.

It was agreed to recommend a grant of the books asked for, so far as they were published by the Society, amounting to the value of 5*l.* 7*s.*

Diocese of Bath and Wells, for Pupil Teachers' Prizes.—The Rev. W. Michell, Diocesan Inspector of Schools, stated that, owing to the absence through illness of Prebendary Fagan, application for a grant of S.P.C.K. books as prizes in religious knowledge for pupil teachers had been deferred. Mr. Michell stated that twenty pupil teachers had obtained prizes, and that eight pounds' worth of books were required for this purpose.

The number of pupil teachers examined was 191.

Mr. Michell added that they greatly needed all the help the Society could give, as they were giving small capitation grants to the amount of 65*s.* to teachers of schools in respect of children who (1st) passed, or (2ndly) were commended, or (3rdly) who got first-classes in a simultaneous examination.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant S.P.C.K. books at a cost to the Society of 4*l.*, on condition of the Diocesan Committee spending an equal sum on books—the whole of the books, to the value of 8*l.*, to be given as prizes for religious knowledge to pupil teachers after a central or simultaneous examination.

Diocese of Lincoln, for Prizes to Pupil Teachers.—The Rev. John Hasy, Secretary to the Lincolnshire Religious Prize Scheme Committee, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 15*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure on books on the part of his Committee; the whole of the books, to the value of 30*l.*, to be given to pupil teachers and monitors after a central examination, as prizes for religious knowledge.

In 1873 the numbers were as follows:

	Examined.	Passed.	Took Prize.
Pupil Teachers	180	118	33
Monitors	40	35	11

Every teacher who obtained a first-class had some prize—those above the line who did well in all subjects, had really good prizes—those below the line had generally a prize of the value of 6*s.* or 7*s.*

There is no reason to believe that the numbers will differ much this year from those of 1873. It is desirable that the Diocesan Inspector should know before the examination what will be the value of the prizes at his disposal.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant S.P.C.K. books at a cost to the Society of 15*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure in books for the same purpose on behalf of the Lincolnshire Board.

Diocese of Exeter.—Deanery of Penwith for Pupil Teachers.—The Rev. W. Horsburgh, Hon. Secretary of the Board of Religious Instruction, in the Deanery of Penwith, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to meet an expenditure of 5*l.*, on the part of his Board, the whole of the books to be given as prizes to pupil teachers in the deanery, who shall distinguish themselves in an examination in religious knowledge, conducted by the Diocesan Board.

Last year eleven pupil teachers gained prizes; about thirty were examined. There are thirty-six parishes in the deanery. More candidates for examination are expected this year.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant S.P.C.K. books at a cost to the Society of 3*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure on books for the same purpose on the part of the Ruridecanal Board.

Diocese of Oxford.—The Rev. Henry Lewis, Principal of the Training College at Culham, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 10*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure on the part of the Committee of the College; the whole of the books to be given as prizes for religious knowledge to those students who shall be placed in the first class at the General Divinity Examination of Training Colleges.

There are eighty-two students in the college, and Mr. Lewis thinks that he may reasonably expect twenty of them to obtain first classes.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant S.P.C.K. books at a cost to the Society of 10*l.*, to meet an equal outlay on the part of the Committee of the College.

Diocese of York.—The Rev. George Rowe, of the Training College, York, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 3*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure on the part of the Committee of Management of the College; the whole of the books to be given as prizes for religious knowledge to those students who shall be placed in a first class in the forthcoming examination in religious knowledge.

The number of students who sat for the religious examination was of the

First year ... ..	30
Second year ... ..	38

Total ... .. 68

Mr. Rowe thinks it probable that four of the second year's men and six or eight of the first may succeed in getting first classes.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant books as asked for, i. e. at a charge upon the charitable funds of 3*l.*

Diocese of Exeter.—Edwin Force, Esq., Hon. Secretary of the Exeter Diocesan Board of Education, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 5*l.*, to meet a sum of 5*l.* voted by the Committee for prizes for the students in the Training College in religious knowledge on the result of the approaching examination.

The number of students is sixty, and last year the number who obtained a first class in the examination in religious knowledge was twenty, and this year the number will probably be about the same.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make the grant of S.P.C.K. books at a charge upon the Society's funds of 5*l.*

Diocese of London.—Whitelands.—The Rev. J. P. Faunthorpe, Principal of Whitelands Training Institution, Chelsea, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books, for the purpose of forming a library for Sunday reading for the use of the pupils in the Training Institution. Mr. Faunthorpe writes,—"The books would be well used, and I do not know how better Church work could be done than by engaging these 120 mistresses heartily in it."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make a grant of S.P.C.K. books at a cost to the Society of 5*l.*, to meet an equal outlay on books for the same purpose.

French Portions of the Scriptures.—The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that in April last they had deferred recommending a grant of 1500 of each of the four Gospels, at a cost of 25*l.*, to Pasteur Dardier, of Geneva, who was recommended by the Rev. Richard Burgess, one of the Vice-Presidents of the Society, in order that more information might be supplied.

Pasteur Dardier had since written to say that the Société Évangélique de Genève, with which he is connected, employs regularly forty-eight colporteurs, who are engaged in distributing the Scriptures. Mr. Burgess has further informed the Committee that the books asked for would be distributed gratuitously, and that former gifts of the same kind had been very gratefully received.

Mr. Burgess had recently seen numerous letters of acknowledgment which are most satisfactory, speaking of the books as treasures which the writers of the letters had previously no knowledge of.

The Standing Committee, in accordance with Mr. Burgess's request, recommended a grant of half of the number of copies asked for, on condition of the other half being purchased for the same purpose.

Reports and Notices from the Standing Committee.

Vauxhall.—The Standing Committee reported that the Rev. George W. Herbert, writing from the Parsonage, Vauxhall, S.E., had applied for a grant to enable him to rent a Board School for Sunday-school purposes.

The united parishes of St. Peter and St. Mary, with a population of 23,000 almost exclusively poor, have five blocks of schools with flourishing Sunday schools.

There is a large London School Board school in the centre of the district; part of this, affording accommodation for 150 children, has been taken for a Sunday school at a rental of 16*l.* 10*s.* The powers of the parishioners and neighbours are already taxed to the uttermost to support the day school.

The Standing Committee stated that they had granted (out of 2000*l.* set apart in February, 1869) 12*l.* to meet this application.

St. Paul's, Clerkenwell.—The Standing Committee reported that the Rev. A. Styleman Herring, Incumbent of this parish, had applied for a grant to enable him to secure for Sunday-school purposes for one year, at a rent of about 40*l.*, the lower rooms of the Central School Board Schools. Mr. Herring said that there are now 600 or 700 children attending these schools, which are nearly opposite the site on which his new church is being erected; that he feels it to be of the greatest importance for him to secure these schools for Sunday-school purposes for this year; he will undertake to superintend the schools, and to gather efficient teachers, the majority of whom will be of the working classes, and principally, like himself, total abstainers.

The lower room, which Mr. Herring hopes to be able to rent, will accommodate 338, at a rent, exclusive of cleaning, of 42*l.* 5*s.*

The Standing Committee added that they had granted 30*l.* towards the rent of this school for one year.

Wapping.—The Standing Committee reported that the Rev. S. Buss, Rector of Wapping, applied for a grant towards renting a School Board school in his parish for Sunday-school purposes.

Mr. Buss has the Sunday school already in operation every Sunday morning and evening.

The numbers in attendance were small at first, but have increased since.

There are now more than seventy on the books, and more than forty in attendance.

Mr. Buss has agreed to pay as follows:—

For the infants' room:—
Rent ... ..	£7 16 0 per annum.
Cleaning ... ..	0 19 6 "

For the upper room:—
Rent ... ..	£8 6 0 per annum.
Cleaning ... ..	1 0 9 "

£18 2 3

It is towards meeting this sum Mr. Buss asked for a grant. The parish of Wapping is, he says, very poor, as all the wealthy residents have now left, and it is therefore impossible to obtain the necessary funds from local sources. The Committee reported that they had voted the sum of 12*l.*, in answer to Mr. Buss's appeal.

Diocese of Fredericton.—The Committee reported that the Bishop of this diocese had applied for a grant to enable a young man of the name of Frederick Towers, aged twenty, to prosecute his studies at college, in Fredericton, for three years, with a view to his being ordained at the end of that time. Mr. Towers's father is a farmer, and not at all in affluent circumstances, and cannot afford to keep his son free from secular employment till he is of age to be ordained; he is a very zealous Churchman, and Churchwarden of the parish of St. David. The expenses would be about 60*l.* a year.

The Committee reported that they had agreed, subject to Mr. Towers having been colonial born, to reserve 90*l.* out of the sum remaining at the disposal of the Committee for the purpose, with a view to enable the Bishop to draw at the rate of 30*l.* a year for three years, provided at the end of each year the Bishop certified that Mr. Towers was going on satisfactorily, and giving promise of becoming an efficient clergyman at the end of his course.

Diocese of Montreal.—The Committee reported that in June last they had before them an application from the Bishop of Montreal for a grant from the Fund for Assisting Students for Holy Orders in the Colonies of 120*l.* (40*l.* each for three students), who were at present unable to give up their secular employment and devote themselves entirely to their studies, though they attended evening lectures.

The Committee added that at that time they delayed making a grant in order to ascertain the names and ages of the students, also the total cost of the college course, and further the length of time during which it was proposed that each student should read before ordination; the Bishop had also been informed that the Society did not generally make grants of more than half the total cost, nor for more than three years.

The Bishop, in a letter dated Montreal, 26th September, 1874, had written as follows:—

"I beg to say that we have three students who are eligible,—

1. M. Houghton, aged 20 years.
2. J. Lummis, aged 22 years.
3. L. N. Tucker, aged 21 years.

"They were all born in Canada, and are well-conducted young men, and apt for the ministry."

The Bishop added that there were no fees for the students at the college, which is entirely supported by subscriptions; that the cost of boarding and lodging was about $25, or 5*l.* per month. The Bishop expressed a strong hope that as large a grant as possible would be made to each student, as they are all very poor men, and can only give up their time entirely by receiving liberal assistance.

The Committee stated that they had reserved 270*l.*, being at the rate of 30*l.* a year for each student, to enable them to assist the three young men named by the Bishop in the way proposed, provided they gave their whole time to study, and that the Bishop certified, as he applied at the end of each year, that the young men were going on to his satisfaction, and gave promise of being efficient clergymen at the end of their course of reading.

Diocese of Christ Church, New Zealand.—The Committee reported that the Rev. Henry W. Tucker, as Commissary for the Bishop of Christ Church, had applied for a grant in aid of the passage out to New Zealand of the Rev. Hubert Carlyon, B.A., Curate of St. Gwilliam, Cornwall, who has been selected by Mr. Tucker for a charge in the diocese of Christ Church.

The Bishop describes this charge as follows:—

"It is situated in an extensive agricultural and pastoral district, with a scattered population of small farmers and squatters, with a township, through which a railway passes, fast growing into importance, and where there is a reserve for the church about to be built, and ten acres of land for a parsonage, for the building of which there is money in hand.

"The clergyman who undertakes it must be a strong active man, capable of enduring the fatigue of long and continuous rides, and not unwilling to absent himself from home for three or four days every week. His cure will range over a district of forty miles square, but every house may be reached by a person travelling in a light buggy, and of course by one on horse-back."

The cost of passage is 52*l.* 10*s.*, without allowing anything for outfit, for which 25*l.* or 30*l.* in addition are required. The Committee stated that they had agreed to vote 52*l.* 10*s.* out of Canning's Fund in aid of the passage of Mr. Carlyon.

Jamaica.—The Standing Committee reported that they had received an application, forwarded by the Bishop of Kingston, from the Synod of the Church in Jamaica, in reference to the Society's grant of 5000*l.*, made in October, 1870, for the endowment of the Disestablished Church in that diocese.

The Society's grant was voted—"In aid of an Endowment Fund for the permanent maintenance of its future Bishops and Clergy, to be handed over for investment in the name of the Corporate Body to be named by the next Synod as trustees of the property of the Jamaica Church, by instalments of 1000*l.* when it shall be satisfactorily shown to the Standing Committee of this Society that 5000*l.* for every such 1000*l.* have been raised in Jamaica, either from the regular or special contributions of the people, and permanently and securely invested."

Amongst other conditions was the following:—"That if the whole grant be not claimed, and the necessary conditions fulfilled within five years from the time of its being made, the unpaid balance will be forfeited."

Of this grant 8000*l.* have been claimed and paid, and a sum of 15,000*l.* has been raised to meet the Society's money, and the whole 18,000*l.* have been permanently invested.

The present application of the Jamaica Synod, and of the Bishop of Kingston, is that the Society will remit the conditions in regard to that portion of the Society's grant which remains unpaid, viz. 2000*l.*, and that they will pay that sum with a view to its being at once invested in a fund to be called the "Sustentation Reserve Fund," though the required 10,000*l.* to meet it be not forthcoming.

The reasons urged are as follows, as stated in the Bishop's words:—

"We have had a larger number of vacancies within the last four years than could have been anticipated. Consequently the amount received for endowment, from churches served by state-paid incumbents, has been less, and the amount required for the sustentation of churches served by clergymen not paid by the State has been greater, than could have been anticipated.

"Our resources having thus been diminished it will not be in our power to add, within the next two years, 10,000*l.* to the Endowment Fund of our church, the condition on which your grant of 2000*l.* in two years has been made payable.

"We trust, however, that the total amount raised in our church for the past year (an amount which will certainly be somewhat exceeded in the next two years, severally), and wisely and properly expended or invested, is so large as to justify our request for a continuance of your aid; and we hope that in consideration of the heavy calls on us for the immediate sustentation of disendowed churches, you will permit your grant of 2000*l.* to be invested for the permanent benefit of such churches.

"The Appendix to the Report of the Financial Board for 1873, herewith forwarded, shows a list of eighty-seven congregations, of which some belong to merely catechetical stations.

"To this might be added about thirty more congregations maintained by our people through the Jamaica Home and Foreign Missionary Society.

"Either for endowment, or for the present support of all these, our united contributions amounted last year to 13,739*l.*, a sum which, I trust, your Society will consider creditable to us, though it is short of our expectations, and below what we may certainly calculate upon for the future."

It appeared further that, in order to make provision for those parishes which, through the premature loss of their state-paid clergy, had been prevented making any endowments of their own, it had been deemed necessary by the Financial Committee of the Diocesan Synod to create a general endowment fund, distinct from the endowment fund being raised by state-paid churches for their individual benefit, and that this general endowment fund had been for the present named the "Sustentation Reserve Fund."

Towards this fund the sum of 4000*l.* had already been contributed, and the amount had been securely and permanently invested in the same way as all the endowment fund has been invested. The interest arising from this sum will be devoted to the payment of the salaries of clergy and catechists of the poorer churches, which have been unable, through the unexpected removal of their state-paid clergy, to create endowments of their own.

The Standing Committee gave notice that at the next Meeting they would propose to extend for five years from the present date the time during which the balance of 2000*l.* (which remains unpaid, of the grant of 5000*l.* made in 1870) may be claimed; and further that the balance of the Society's grant may be payable in sums of 500*l.*, instead of 1000*l.* as was previously the case, on condition of not less than five times the amount of the Society's grant being forthcoming to meet it, viz. 2500*l.* for each instalment of 500*l.*, or 10,000*l.* to meet the whole balance of 2000*l.*

The Standing Committee would further recommend that the Society should consent to the 2000*l.*, or the instalments thereof as they became due, being paid to the fund described above as the "Sustentation Reserve Fund," provided that the Standing Committee should be satisfied that that fund is securely and permanently invested as regards the capital thereof, and that the interest arising therefrom can be applied only for the support of clergymen serving churches in the diocese of Jamaica.

Diocese of Calcutta.—The Standing Committee reminded the Meeting that in July last a grant of 100*l.* had been made for the production of 8000 copies of a Hymn Book in Oordoo, under circumstances and conditions mentioned in the following extract from the MONTHLY REPORT:—

"The Bishop, writing from his diocese on 16th of May, 1874, made the following application for a grant towards the production of a Church Hymnal in the Oordoo language, intended specially for use in the North-west and the Punjab:—

"I have received an urgent application from the Secretary of a joint Committee of S.P.G. and C.M.S. Missionaries in behalf of a Church Hymnal in Oordoo (or Hindustani) which they are desirous of printing. It will contain about three hundred hymns. It is taken from various sources. Some hymns are translations, some original.

"There is no Oordoo Church Hymnal, and the one which has been occasionally used is not what we could in all things desire. One of our own is wanted. A number of hymns especially suited to us are not contained in the other collections.

"I saw some of the specimens of the newly-translated hymns, and thought them well done, when I was last in the Punjab.

"The calculation made at the Secundra Orphanage Press is, for 2000 copies 197*l.* 10*s.*, and for 3000 copies 288*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*

"Perhaps your Society might print it more cheaply at home, but I certainly feel deeply the need of such a hymnal, and strongly recommend it to the assistance of the Society in the way which it thinks best.

"It is intended especially for the North-west and the Punjab, but would, I think, be available for the Hindee-speaking world as well, as most natives know Oordoo as well as Hindi, especially where the Christian expressions are used, which must be in many cases common to both languages."

"It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 100*l.* for the production of 3000 copies, on condition that one-third of the proceeds of the sale of the books be paid back to S.P.C.K. as a donation; the Society's grant to be paid as the Bishop may desire upon his certifying that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate production of the 3000 copies."

The Committee added that upon receiving intimation of the grant referred to in the foregoing extract, the Bishop had written as follows on the 15th of September, 1874:—

"I have gone into the calculations of the Committee. The proceeds expected from the whole sale would be only 200*l.* It was therefore hoped that your grant would enable the Societies to sell at the proposed price without loss. If it has to be repaid the price must be raised, which would be a misfortune, and, indeed, prevent the sale of the book. . . . I trust that your Committee may be able to make this further concession, as I do not else see how this book can be published. There seems to be no other fund for the purpose."

The Bishop also enclosed a letter on this subject from the Rev. C. G. Daible, Secretary to the Church Hymn-Book Committee.

Mr. Daible wrote:—

"I wish to state that the Sub-Committee has no funds whatever at its disposal towards publishing the Hymn Book, and that the object in asking the three Church Societies in Calcutta for aid towards the undertaking, was to enable them to sell the book at half price to the Native Christians, the majority of whom are in poor circumstances, and thus bring it within reach of all. May I, therefore, ask your Committee for some modification proportionate to the sacrifice which we make, in order to sell cheap, and that the return of one-third of the grant will not be required on copies sold to our Native Christians."

The Committee gave notice that at the next Meeting they would propose the remission of the condition respecting the return of one-third of the proceeds of the sale of this book.

Bishop Callaway, of Independent Caffraria.—The Committee reported that Bishop Callaway, before he left England for his distant diocese, on the 25th of August last, wrote as follows:—

"I would ask the Society to make me a grant of 500*l.*, for the purpose of forming a permanent endowment of a Tutorship in Theology, for the diocese of Caffraria, similar to, and on the same terms as that proposed to be granted to the Bishop of Grahamstown (viz. to meet 500*l.* to be raised from other sources, and permanently invested for the same purpose). I hope before long to be able to get the Training Institution into working order."

The Standing Committee gave notice that at the Monthly General Meeting in December, they would propose a grant of 500*l.* for the purpose and on the conditions specified above.

Annual Register.—The Standing Committee reported that Mrs. E. Lloyd, of Hazelcroft, Ripley, York, a subscriber to the Society since 1844, had offered to present to the Society a set of the Annual Register, complete, from 1770 to 1869. The Committee reported that they had directed the Secretary to thank Mrs. Lloyd for her offer, and to accept it on behalf of the Society.

Motion of which notice was given at the last Meeting.

Character of Bibles and Prayer Books.—The Rev. H. A. Jeffreys, Vicar of Hawkhurst, proposed the motion of which he had given notice at the last meeting; the Rev. C. Miller seconded the motion, which was carried, in the following slightly altered form:—

"That the Standing Committee be requested to appoint a Committee of not less than five members of the Society, of whom not less than three shall be a quorum, to inquire into and report to this Society on the truth of the allegations constantly made as to the insufficient character of the Bibles and Prayer Books provided by the Society for the use of the poor, and to make recommendations accordingly."

Grants of Books, &c., recommended by the Standing Committee.

Grants were then made.

8. The Secretary stated that during the recess the Standing Committee had considered the application of the Bishop of Bombay, and had assured his Lordship that in the event of some distinguished preacher accepting the Bishop's invitation to visit India, a sum of not less than 300l. should be forthcoming for the necessary expenses. (2) That Mr. A. C. Howitt had been appointed for six months on probation as Collector, in the room of Mr. Squibb, who had received another appointment in the Treasurers' Department. (3) That the Rev. John Reuther, late of the diocese of Nassau, had been accepted for the Missionary work, and had already left for Calcutta. (4) That the Archbishops of Canterbury and York had communicated to the Society their desire that St. Andrew's Day, which had been recommended by the Committee of Convocation of the Province of Canterbury as an Annual Day of Intercession for Missions, should be observed this year pending the final action of the two Convocations. (5) That the Syrian Patriarch of Antioch had arrived in England, and that the President, Vice-Presidents, and Standing Committee had received His Holiness at a soirée on 13th inst.

4. The Bishop of Bombay being about to return to India, made a statement of the needs of his diocese, and the condition of the Missions in the Mahratta country.

The Rev. J. W. Festing moved the suspension of the Standing Orders, but on a division the motion was lost.

The Rev. R. T. West gave notice of his intention to move at the next meeting:—"That the Board, having heard from the Bishop of Bombay of the great need of Missionaries in India, pledges itself to use strenuous efforts to provide fresh Missionaries for India, and specially for the diocese of Bombay."

The suspension of the Standing Orders having been moved, on the proposition of the Rev. J. W. Buckley, the same was carried unanimously.

And the Bishop of Bombay moved, and the Rev. W. Cadman seconded—

"(1) That the Society shall address the two Convocations of Canterbury and York, with a view to bringing before the Church the exceeding difficulty of finding Missionaries for some of the more important spheres of labour, and especially for India.

"(2) That a Statement, embodying the same fact, shall be drawn up by a Committee, consisting of the Rev. G. H. Wilkinson, Rev. W. Cadman, Rev. B. Compton, General Tremeneere, Rev. W. D. MacLagan, and Rev. H. W. Burrows, with power to add to their number, and forwarded to the clergy of England before the Day of Intercession.

"(3) That the same Committee be appointed to deal with the whole question."

5. J. G. Talbot, Esq., M.P., moved, and it was resolved by 14 to 9—"That with reference to the alleged interference with other religious communities, the Standing Committee, in communication with the Bishop of Bombay, be requested to present to the Board a statement of principle with regard to the liberty of action of the Church of England in evangelizing the natives with whom the members of the Church are brought in contact in India."

6. Resolved (1) that it would be for the interest of the Church in Bombay that the Rev. C. Gilder be transferred from Trinity Church, Bombay, to Kamateepoor; (2) that the Bombay Diocesan Committee be authorized, if they see fit, to grant an additional allowance of 20 rupees per mensem to Rev. C. Gilder, his time being mainly devoted to work among the heathen; (3) that Trinity Church, Bombay, be lent to the Bishop for a period of three years, for the purpose of Divine service.

7. The Earl of Chichester and the Rev. J. Goring having been elected Diocesan Representatives for the diocese of Chichester, Rev. Prebendary Bennett and J. Floyer, Esq., M.P., for the diocese of Salisbury, and C. L. Higgins, Esq., and Archdeacon Bathurst for the diocese of Ely, the said elections were confirmed.

8. Resolved that the Seal of the Society be affixed to a release for the Bequest of the late Mrs. Wheeler of Toronto.

9. Resolved that the Seal of the Society be affixed to the transfer of 1700l. Canada Dominion Stock of the Saskatchewan Endowment Fund.

10. The Rev. T. Darling gave notice of his intention to put at the next meeting the following question:—"Whether any communication has been made to the Society by his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury in reference to the Nestorian Christians; and, if so, whether the Standing Committee has any report to make thereon."

11. All the members proposed in June were elected into the Society.

12. Twenty-six persons will be proposed for election at the meeting in December.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, Sept. 14th.—A letter was read from the Rev. Dr. Josehans, of the Basle Missionary Society, explaining the reasons of that Society for not contemplating the occupation of Coomassie at an earlier date than 1876, stating also that no guarantee was asked from the Committee for the collection in England of any particular sum, and wishing to be informed whether the Committee maintain the offer of forming a fund for the support of a Mission to Ashantee to be undertaken by the Basle Society. A resolution was passed requesting Dr. Josehans to send a draft of an appeal to Christians in this country, which the Committee would be willing to circulate, and that the Committee would receive and remit to the Basle Society any contributions which might be received.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson and Mr. Last were introduced to take leave of the Committee on proceeding to join the East African Mission. They were addressed by the Rev. C. O. Fenn and the Rev. E. Auriol, and, having replied, were commended in prayer to the favour and protection of Almighty God by the Rev. Canon Conway.

A grant of 100l. was made towards the erection of a school-house at Kurachi, which will also serve as a preaching-place, and towards the erection of which the Rev. J. Sheldon had succeeded in raising 500l. from other sources.

A letter was read from the Rev. J. Barton, of Madras, announcing the death of the Rev. W. Smith, of the Travancore Mission, and speaking of the great loss which the Mission had thus experienced.

The ordination of Mr. S. Guanapragasam as an additional Native Assistant Missionary in the Tamil Cooiy Mission in Ceylon was sanctioned.

VICE-CHANCELLORS' COURTS.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4.

(Before Vice-Chancellor Sir JAMES BACON.)

BURCHELL v. BURCHELL.

THIS case came on for further consideration, the question being as to the effect of a direction contained in the will of Miss Burchell, the testatrix, who was a lady of considerable property in the neighbourhood of Fulham, that her executors should set apart a sum of 200l. Consols, and for ever apply so much of the dividends as they should deem necessary in the repair and maintenance of the tombs of her ancestors in the Parish Church of Fulham, and should pay over the residue of such dividends to the Vicar of Fulham, to be by him applied in the relief of such poor persons as he should select. Upon the authority of the cases of "Fisk v. the Attorney-General" (L. R. 4, Eq. 521), and "Dawson v. Smale" (L. R. 18, Eq. 114), an order was made by the Vice-Chancellor, declaring that such part of the gift as directed the repair and maintenance of the tombs was void as an honorary gift in perpetuity, and that the latter part of the gift amounted to a good charitable bequest of the whole 200*l.* Stock in favour of the poor persons therein-mentioned.

COURT OF ARCHES.

(Before Sir B. J. PHILLIMORE, Dean of Arches.)

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6.

MARTIN v. MACKONOCHE.

Application was made this day, on the part of Mr. Mackonochie, the incumbent of St. Alban's, Holborn, to postpone the hearing of the suit against him until after the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in a pending appeal.

Mr. Arthur Charles (with whom was Mr. Walter Phillimore) appeared for Mr. Mackonochie; Dr. Stephens, Q.C., and Mr. B. Shaw for the promoter of the office of the judge.

Mr. Charles applied for the postponement until the Judicial Committee heard the case of "Roughton v. Parnell" from the Chancery Court of York, in which similar questions were raised. There was another case in the Arches Court of "Coombe v. Edwards" (the Prestbury case) which he should apply to be heard with the case of Mr. Mackonochie after the decision in the case of "Roughton v. Parnell" by the Judicial Committee. The learned counsel proceeded to read the affidavit of Mr. Brooks (Brooks, Tanner, and Jenkins), the proctor for Mr. Mackonochie, in which it was stated that the case of "Roughton v. Parnell" would be shortly heard before the Judicial Committee, and after the decision he should ask that "Coombe v. Edwards," and "Martin v. Mackonochie," should be heard together.

His Lordship asked whether the points in the cases were the same.

Mr. Charles said they were similar on two great questions—the vestments worn in the celebration of the Holy Communion and the position of the celebrant. He reminded his Lordship that the former case of "Martin v. Mackonochie," and another case of "Flammox v. Simpson," were heard together seven years ago.

Sir B. Phillimore asked whether it was seven years ago since he heard that case?

Mr. Charles said it was, as it was heard in 1867. He referred to the affidavit of Mr. Moore (Moore and Currey), proctor for the prosecution, which was, in fact, an argument on oath, and of a singular character, and did not touch the question in this case. He contended that as the Court had postponed the case of "Coombe v. Edwards" until after "Roughton v. Parnell" was heard, he asked his Lordship to postpone this case and the case of "Coombe v. Edwards" and the present case together.

The Dean of Arches observed that Mr. Moore's affidavit could only be admitted as to the facts, and not as to the legal reasoning.

Dr. Stephens urged that there were no grounds for the present motion, and there never was an application so replete with injustice. The only question before the Judicial Committee was on the pleadings, neither was there any point in Coombe v. Edwards analogous to the present application. The case of "Martin v. Mackonochie" was to be heard on the merits, and Mr. Martin was ready in August last, and his witnesses were now in attendance. The points were not identical, and the other cases might never be heard.

The Dean of Arches interrupted the learned counsel, and said he need not trouble him further. He was of opinion that he could not grant the application, and that the case must now proceed to hearing.

Dr. Stephens proceeded to open the case, and expressed his intention to call witnesses in support of the articles alleged against Mr. Mackonochie.

Mr. Charles said he should ask for a little delay before he answered the case, as he was not prepared to go on after the decision his Lordship had just given.

Dr. Stephens objected to go on with his evidence and then to have the case adjourned. He was willing to consent to an adjournment of a fortnight or three weeks on payment of all costs by the adjournment.

Mr. Charles said the question of costs was in the discretion of the court. He thought the witnesses present might be called. He wished the case to be adjourned till the end of the present term.

Dr. Stephens declined to call his witnesses.

The Dean of Arches eventually adjourned the case to the 26th inst., and the costs to be paid incidental to the postponement.

Order accordingly.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

REV. R. GARDNER AND ANOTHER v. ELLIS.

An application was made this day to reverse the decision of Bishop Hobhouse, judge of the Consistorial Court of the Diocese of Lichfield, refusing to hear an application for a "Confirmatory Faculty" sanctioning the use of a super-altar, a cross, and other ornaments, which had been placed in the church of St. Matthew, Smethwick, Stafford, by the vicar and one of his churchwardens (the appellants) against the wishes of a large section of the parishioners. The respondent, the other churchwarden, having applied for a Faculty to remove the so-called ornaments, a counter application for a "Confirmatory Faculty" was made by the vicar, which was refused.

Dr. Middleton (with Mr. Walter Phillimore) appeared on behalf of the appellants; and Dr. Tristram for the respondent.

His Lordship reversed the decision of the Court below, and remitted the case back to the Consistorial Court of Lichfield, with an order that the case should be heard.

CONSISTORIAL COURT OF LONDON.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17.

(Before Dr. TRISTRAM, Chancellor.)

THE REV. A. WILSON v. VENN AND ANOTHER.

This case (see Ecclesiastical Gazette, August 11, p. 22) was brought to a conclusion. The vicar had applied for a faculty to make some improvements in the old parish church of Tottenham, and funds had been provided. The learned Judge ordered him to pay costs to the parties opposing, and notice to be given to the parishioners as to certain contemplated alterations.

Application was now made for the faculty to issue, and no further objection having been made, the Court granted the faculty.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30.

EVANS v. DODSON.

This case came on for hearing on a complaint by the Rector of St. Mary-le-Strand (Dr. Evans) against Mr. Dodson, of 147, Strand, one of the churchwardens, for removing two boxes from the interior of the church, which had been placed there for offerings (for floral decorations in the church).

Mr. Walter Phillimore, instructed by Messrs. Brooks, Tanner, and Jenkins, appeared for Dr. Evans; Mr. B. Shaw, instructed by Messrs. Moore and Currey, was for Mr. Dodson.

Mr. Phillimore opened the case, and said he should call witnesses. In December, 1873, a locksmith, by the direction of the beadle, ordered by Mr. Dodson, took away the boxes in question, and took them to Mr. Dodson's residence in the Strand, where the contents were removed. The money was immediately returned to the rector, and proceedings were instituted by him against the churchwarden for ordering the removal of the boxes. A responsive plea had been entered, and it was charged that the boxes were placed near the poor-box, and means adopted to divert the congregation from contributing to the poor-boxes.

Counsel having been heard on both sides, and witnesses having been examined, the learned Judge said he would look into the cases cited before he gave his decision.

Judgment was accordingly reserved.

CONSISTORIAL COURT OF NORWICH.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3.

THE ARCHDEACON OF NORWICH v. THE CHURCH WARDENS OF ST. AUGUSTINE'S, NORWICH.

At a court held before the Chancellor of the diocese (John Worlidge, Esq., M.A.), this suit was again before the court, and Mr. Overbury appeared as Proctor on behalf of the Archdeacon of Norwich, the promoter, and filed the article against the defendants, who appeared in person and admitted the allegations and pleaded guilty to the charges therein contained, but alleged that a public improvement had been effected by throwing the portion of the churchyard into the street. Whereupon Mr. Overbury stated that he was under the circumstances instructed not to press for a decree for the actual restoration of the wall forming the ancient boundary of the churchyard, but prayed that the Judge would order a sufficient lasting recognition of the ancient boundary of the churchyard to be made by inserting boundary-stones in the public street, and by an inscription on the new wall, and that the defendants be condemned in all the costs of the suit. He also stated that the suit was instituted by the Archdeacon simply with a view to prove that churchyards cannot be desecrated with impunity. The Archdeacon explained that he had addressed two letters to the churchwardens before the proceedings were taken, but that no notice had been taken of them. The Rural Dean, the Rev. A. C. Copeman, also stated that he had informed the Vicar and churchwardens two years ago that the proposed alteration was quite illegal.

The Chancellor, after hearing the statements on both sides, delivered judgment, and referred to the leading case of Harper v. Forbes and Sisson, 5 Jurist, N. S. 275. He stated that the Archdeacon was perfectly justified in the course he had taken, and in fact it was his bounden duty so to do, in order to teach the defendants and all other churchwardens that they were not to deal with consecrated ground in the way in which the defendants had done, although he was glad to find that no human remains had been disturbed in the course of the alterations. He pronounced the allegations contained in the articles fully proved by the defendants' own admission, and decreed that the churchwardens should forthwith place four dark-coloured stones in the public street at intervals, at fifteen yards, to mark the old boundary of the churchyard, and insert a memorial-stone in the present wall, with an inscription stating that it stands within the old churchyard, and that the stones in the street mark the position of the old boundary wall; and condemned the defendants in all the costs of the suit; and he further stated that such dealings with consecrated ground could only be legalized by the authority of Parliament, and he thought it would be well in the present case for the defendants to obtain the insertion of a short clause in some future local Act relating to Norwich, to legalize the alteration.

UNIVERSITY AND CLERICAL INTELLIGENCE.

Oxford.

In a Convocation held on Friday, October 15, letters were read from the Chancellor of the University (Lord Salisbury), nominating as Vice-Chancellor for the ensuing year the Warden of New College, Dr. Sewall. The outgoing Vice-Chancellor, the Dean of Christ Church, who has now completed the fourth year's tenure of this onerous office, took leave in a Latin speech, in which he reviewed the events of the year. While generally praising the conduct of the undergraduates, he excepted their conduct at the Commemoration. To such unseemly uproar it would be impossible to call upon distinguished men to subject themselves. He commended to his successor the consideration of the steps to be taken. The University had been happily free from excessive legislation during the year. The advancement of science and the training of youth was a matter of greater importance. In such respects the University should be constantly leading. For this reason he congratulated the two Universities on their joint and harmonious action in reducing to method the examination of schools throughout the country. He deplored the reiterated failures of schemes for building new Examination Schools, though this, at all events, gave the opportunity for the further consideration of the difficult question of a future provision for the Bodleian Library. He noticed the extinction of Magdalen hall, and its revival under the old name of Hertford college, the growth of the new observatories, and other improvements, as well as the works issued during the year by the Clarendon Press. Of Professors, two had retired during the year—the Professor of Moral Philosophy, the President of Corpus, from ill-health; and the Professor of International Law, Dr. Bernard, to whom he expressed the great obligations of the University. In lamenting the death of Professor Phillip, he dwelt upon his genial character and eloquence, and the genuine philosophic spirit which prompted him to the love of science for itself, to the neglect of wealth and distinction, and which attracted round him all men of science. But he had, so he himself said, no wish for a longer life, save that he might a little longer study the beauty and grandeur of nature, the handiwork of God. Lastly, he deplored the loss of Mr. Freemantle, cut off in his youth by a pestilence such as that to which the Prince of Wales had all but fallen a victim, and whose clearness and justice of spirit, whose assiduity and piety, it would be hard to replace. The Dean finally referred to the Report of the University Commission, which would presently be published, if not already published. He would have such superfluous revenues as were in process of accruing applied to the requirements of the University itself. He would have united action on the part of the colleges in contributing to academical requirements, and obviating the necessity of Parliamentary interference, which he deprecated. He pointed out the numerous needs to supply which this joint action might be directed—building, professors, secondary education through the country, readjustment of Fellowships. For these and like objects a representative body might be deputed by the several colleges to discuss their respective contributions and the best mode of applying them. The Vice-Chancellor concluded with thanks to the Rector of Exeter for his help, and good wishes for the University and for his successor, who subsequently assumed office in an short speech in elegant Latin, in which he spoke doubtfully of his physical powers, enfeebled as he found them by recent illness, to discharge its duties.

The proceedings ended with the nomination as pro-Vice-Chancellor for the year of the Rector of Exeter, the Dean of Christ Church, the Rector of Lincoln, and the Master of Pembroke college.

In a Congregation held on Saturday, October 10, being the first day of Term, the following degrees were conferred—

Mr. Peters was in the second class in In Literis Græcis et Literis Humanioribus in Michaelmas Term, 1869, and in the first class in In Literis Humanioribus in Michaelmas Term, 1871. There were nine candidates.

UNATTACHED STUDENTS.

The Delegates of Unattached Students give notice that the Master and Court of Assistants of the Clothworkers' Company have offered three Exhibitions of 50*l.* a year each, tenable for three years, for the encouragement of the study of natural science; the first examination to be held at the beginning of the Hilary Term, 1875, at which time one Exhibition will be awarded. Gentlemen who shall have matriculated in the present term, or who have not yet matriculated, are eligible for the Exhibition.

The Delegates of Students not attached to any college or hall have issued a Report in which they speak very favourably of the conduct of the students. Their success in the schools appears also to be satisfactory, except at Responsions, where the proportion of failures is large. The number of students on the books is—M.A.'s, 2, 18, 36; Undergraduates, 162; total, 200. The whole number entered since the beginning in 1868 has been 411, 300 by matriculation, 102 by migration. During the same period 220 have removed their names, 152 by migration, 68 by leaving the University. The colleges have therefore removed from this Delegacy 50 students more than they have sent it. In the past year the entries by matriculation were 62; by migration, 23; by name replaced, 1; total, 86. It will be seen that this total exceeds that of any year except 1872-73. The Delegacy lost in the year—by migration, 40; by names removed from the University, 17; total, 57. One-third of the students are drawn from the colleges, and halls, 37 per cent. migrate to colleges or halls, 14.1 per cent. leave the University without taking a degree. The library is stated to have grown considerably. Some students have presented books. Canon Liddon has sent a handsome donation. The Censors report that they have also received four parcels of very useful and valuable books, in all amounting to 180 volumes, from Mr. Gladstone. His gifts were accompanied with letters which indicated the warm interest taken by him in the well-being of the students. The students have founded a new club, with a dining and luncheon-room, a reading-room, and a small store of necessary groceries, &c. They have taken St. Catherine's hall, a house close to the Old Clarendon-buildings, and their club has been in operation for one term. The Delegates, on the whole, think that the club promises well, and that the opportunities for social intercourse afforded by the club will tend to do away with one of the greatest difficulties which has met the students in their career at Oxford. The Censors have collected fresh statistics as to the cost of living. They received 48 estimates of weekly expenses. Taking the lowest 30 (which run up from 23*s.* 6*d.* to 34*s.* per week), they find the average cost of living for a thrifty student to be 1*l.* 8*s.* 7*d.* per week; but if the lowest 20 be taken, the average drops to 1*l.* 8*s.* 6*d.* In the estimates of 1870 the average of the lowest 20 was 1*l.* 6*s.* Taking the large average as the sum per week for which a careful student can get respectable board and lodging in Oxford, we arrive at the following figures for a year's expenses:—

Board and lodging for three terms of eight weeks at 28 s. 6 d. ...	£34	4	0
University dues ...	4	10	0
Examination fees (on the average) ...	1	10	0
Tuition expenses (about) ...	10	10	0

It will, of course, be observed that these figures do not include travelling, books, clothes, pocket-money, or cost of living in the vacations. Still, they prove conclusively that the necessary Oxford expenses of a careful student need not exceed 50*l.* a year.

The Register of the Congregation of the University just issued shows that, besides official members, the number of those qualified by residence during the past year has been 303, of whom 184 are clergymen, and 119 laymen. Last year the numbers were 160 clergymen and 112 laymen, so that the increase has been chiefly in the clerical element, there being 15 additional clergymen on the list and 7 additional laymen. The largest proportion of clergymen is at Queen's college, where they number 9 to 2 laymen; at St. John's, where they are 15 to 4; and at Christ Church, where they are 32 to 9. In the two latter colleges, canonries, chaplaincies, and Oxford livings to a great extent account for this result. There appear to be several anomalies in the list as issued. Two Fellows of colleges are omitted from the lists of their own college, and appear in another place; the Principal of Hertford college appears as a member of Lincoln; Hertford college itself does not appear at all; while Magdalen hall, though by Act of Parliament it has ceased to exist, still appears on the list.

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

(From the London Gazette.)

SUPPLEMENT, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1874.

Buckingham Palace, October 15, 1874.

This morning, at a quarter to three o'clock, her Royal and Imperial Highness the Duchess of Edinburgh was safely delivered of a Prince.

Tuesday, October 20, 1874.

At the Court at Balmoral, the 20th day of October, 1874,

Present,

The QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty in Council.

It is this day ordered by her Majesty in Council that the Convocations of the Provinces of Canterbury and York be prorogued from the day to which the same now stand prorogued to Thursday, the 17th day of December, 1874; and the Right Honourable the Lord High Chancellor of that part of the United Kingdom called Great Britain is to cause writs to be prepared and issued in the usual manner for proroguing the Convocations accordingly.

The Rateability of Dissenting Chapels.—The following case came before the Greenwich Police-court on Thursday, the 29th ult.:—

Mr. Edmund Brown, treasurer to the trustees of the Wesleyan chapel, situate in Mary Ann-buildings, High-street, Deptford, appeared to an adjourned summons taken out by the Greenwich District Board of Works, to show cause why an order should not be made for the payment of a sum of 27*l.* 10*s.*, being the amount apportioned to be paid in respect of the paving of the above street.

Mr. Spencer attended in support of the summons, and Mr. Howard, solicitor, for the defence.

Mr. Howard said he objected to the order asked for being made. He relied on the decision given in the Court of Queen's Bench by Lord Chief Justice Cockburn and Justices Blackburn and Lush (reported in L. R., vol. iii.), in the case of "Angell v. the Vestry of Paddington." In that case there had been a church erected in the parish which occupied nearly the whole of one side of the street. Both sides of the street had been paved, the cost of which was wholly charged on the owners of land and houses on the other portion of the street. The case came before the magistrate, who decided that the vestry had done right. Against this decision an appeal was entered, and in the case quoted the Lord Chief Justice had upheld the decision, on the ground that the church was neither within the meaning of land nor house which were liable to rating. In this opinion Justices Blackburn and Lush also concurred.

Mr. Spencer said that although it was contended that a chapel was not liable by statute to be rated, he thought the word "chapel," as in the present case, admitted of a different application to that of "church," as contained in the judgment just read.

Mr. Balguy said he did not perceive any difference, and should like to hear the distinction.

Mr. Spencer said that in the case before the court the whole of the space paved and charge for was not the chapel merely, but a adjoining schools belonging thereto. The deed of trust appointing the trustees had not been produced, but it was admitted that the deed gave the trustees the power to sell the chapel on obtaining the sanction of the Wesleyan Conference.

Mr. Howard said the same power was exercised by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners in respect to the sale of churches. The chapel and schools had never been assessed to the poor-rate, and he contended that they could not be made liable for any rate made for the improvement of a part of a parish.

Mr. Spencer produced a witness to prove that part of the building was used as a school both on Sundays and week-days, and that fees were received from the latter, and paid to the secretary of the school, who paid the same over to the trustees, who were also the trustees of the chapel.

Mr. Howard said there was free entrance to and from the chapel and school, and that no profit was made by the fees paid for boys and girls, as the school would not support itself but by the aid of the congregation worshipping at the chapel and the capitation grant allowed by the Government.

Mr. Balguy concurred in the defence set up, and dismissed the summons, refusing, however, to make an order for defendant's costs.

Day of Intercession for Missions and Missionaries.—A joint Committee of both Houses of the Convocation of the Province of Canterbury has presented a Report recommending that St. Andrew's Day should be set apart by authority for an annual Day of Intercession for Missions. This Report, from want of time, has not yet been considered by the Convocation of Canterbury, nor has the subject yet been dealt with by the Convocation of the Province of York. Meantime the two Archbishops have signified their desire that St. Andrew's Day should be observed in the present year as a "Day of Intercession for Missions and Missionaries."

Transfer of Denominational Schools.—At a meeting of the London School Board, on the 4th inst.,—

Mr. F. PEEK, in accordance with notice of motion which has been a long time on the agenda of the Board, moved—"That this Board is willing to entertain proposals from the managers of denominational schools to transfer such schools to the Board on the condition that the first hour of each day be reserved by such managers for the purpose of religious instruction; provided—first, that no expense shall be incurred by the Board on account of such instruction; secondly, that the secular teaching shall not commence later than forty-five minutes past nine." He said that before the passing of the Elementary Education Act nearly all the education of the country was given by denominational schools. In fact, for the general masses there were no other schools. On the strength of this palpable fact denominational schools could claim public support, and received it. Now it was different. New schools had been brought into existence, and put into competition with the denominational schools. The result was that the denominational schools had been placed in a very difficult position. They could not compete with a system of education which cost a good deal more than was paid for the old system, and the result was very unsatisfactory, as the denominationalists considered, and very unjust as well. They had, under these circumstances, only three courses open to them—to hand these schools over to the School Board, simply retaining them for Sunday-school purposes; to shut them up and use them only as adjuncts to their churches; and to do what was indicated in his motion. As these schools were erected partly by the subscriptions of denominationalists, partly by funds from the Government, for educational purposes, he thought that what he proposed was the best that could be hit upon. As a simple act of justice to denominationalists, he urged the Board to assent to his motion.

The Rev. Mr. PICTON seconded the proposition. Although not agreeing with all that had been said, he still could not deny that the Education Act was to some extent a violation of religious equality.

Mr. WATSON moved the previous question, which was seconded by Dr. GLADSTONE.

After a long discussion, adverse generally to the motion,—

Mr. PEEK replied, and expressed himself satisfied with the debate, inasmuch as the value of denominational schools and Board school, working together, and the disadvantage under which the former carried on their operations were acknowledged.

On a division the previous question was carried by a majority of 28 to 5 votes.

METROPOLIS.

Church of England Sunday School Institute.—The operations of the Institute having rapidly increased, the Committee have found it necessary to obtain larger and more commodious premises. These have been procured in New Bridge-street, Blackfriars (adjoining the temporary offices of the London School Board), where, in future, the business of the Society will be conducted.

PROVINCIAL.

The Festival of the Three Choirs of Gloucester, Hereford and Worcester.—The Dean of Worcester has written to the Mayor of Worcester stating the grounds upon which the dean and chapter declined to allow the use of the cathedral for the next musical festival. The main grounds of the unanimous decision of the dean and chapter are the following:—"1. That the cathedral having now been completely restored, and the nave, as well as the choir, having been devoted to the purposes of Divine worship, they no longer feel at liberty to transfer the charge and control of it to other hands. 2. That they are of opinion that musical performances which are unconnected with any religious service, and to which admission is given only by purchased tickets, should no longer take place in the cathedral. At the same time, feeling the importance of keeping up the meetings of the Three Choirs for the cultivation of sacred music, and of providing (so far as is now necessary) for the interest of the charity to which they have so long contributed, the dean and chapter believe that these objects may be better attained by reverting to the general form under which the meetings of the choirs were originally conducted. They propose, therefore, in the month of September next to hold, on two or more days, a festival of religious services, which shall include the performance of sacred music of a high class by the united choirs, with adequate assistance, vocal and instrumental, and sermons by preachers of eminence, advocating the cause of the charity. They will only add that they see nothing in this proposed change which will necessarily prevent them from still co-operating with the chapters of Gloucester and Hereford for the support of the charity in which they have a common interest, and for the improvement of sacred music.

The result of this year's festival at Gloucester has not been, in a pecuniary point of view, successful. The receipts from the sale of tickets for the performances in the cathedral and concert-room fell short of the expenditure by 244. 5s. 1d., and a call has been made upon each of the stewards for the sum of 2l. 10s., to meet the deficiency. In the case of the previous festival of 1871, there was a small balance in hand.

Ely Cathedral Restoration.—In accordance with the resolution passed at the Ely Diocesan Conference in July, an influential committee has been formed to take steps to raise subscriptions for the rebuilding of the north-west transept of Ely Cathedral. The total cost of this work is estimated by Sir Gilbert Scott at between 25,000l. and 28,000l. The Dean of Ely, and Mr. O. C. Pell, of Wilburton Manor, were requested to act as honorary secretaries.

The Reredos Question at Denbigh.—The Bishop of St. Asaph having declined to consecrate the new church at Denbigh, in consequence of the sculptured images on the reredos, his Lordship, in reply to a deputation which waited upon him on the subject, stated that he had consulted the most eminent authorities on ecclesiastical legislation, who were unanimous in declaring the Denbigh reredos in its present state to be utterly illegal. He intimated his willingness, if the central figure were removed, to consecrate the church without delay, otherwise he could never be induced to do so. The deputation further represented that a certain gentleman had promised to assist them in liquidating the debt upon the building to the extent of 1000l., on condition that the reredos remained intact; to which his Lordship replied that his advice to them was to act in this matter as true Welshmen, let them first take away the objectionable portion, and then lay their case confidently before the public. If they did this, he would himself head the list with a subscription of 50l.

Exeter. Payment of Dominicals.—Sir E. Watkin, M.P., having made an offer to pay the sums for which distresses have been levied until Parliament can settle the question, the clergyman to whom the offer was made declined this, and asked instead that the annual value of the dominicals might be capitalized, and the sum required for this added to the endowment of the living.

FOREIGN.

The English Church at Montreux.—Disputes have arisen as to the disposal of moneys which have been subscribed by the English and American community and visitors at Montreux, towards defraying the expenses for building an English church at that place. In the year 1871 the Church Committee of Montreux decided to raise subscriptions for the erection of an English church, as they had been offered as a free gift a plot of ground which was given on condition that the projected church be built within a certain specified time. Subscription-books were issued to the different hotels and pensions in the locality for the receiving of donations, and arrangements were made with a banker at Montreux that he should receive subscriptions in the names of two trustees, who were then appointed, one of whom acted as secretary pro tem. of the fund. Owing to dissensions which arose in the year 1873, the secretary separated from the church committee, which formed itself into a society termed "La Société Civile de l'Eglise Anglaise de Montreux," and appointed another secretary. They withdrew also the subscription-books from the hotels and pensions for the purpose of striking out the name of the former secretary, and endeavoured to withdraw the money that had been deposited at the bankers. They could not do so, however, as the bankers would not cash any cheque that did not bear the former secretary's signature in combination with that of the trustee acting on the part of the society. Hence the necessity of having recourse to law. The society seeks to obtain possession of the money which has been lying so long idle at the bank, in order to employ it at once to defray the expenses of building the church. The case was to have been heard in September last at the Hotel de Ville at Vevey, Switzerland, but proposals of arbitration having been made, the hearing was deferred.

CURATIVE EFFECTS OF ELECTRICITY. ARE THE CURES PERMANENT?

ABOUT four years ago there appeared a rather remarkable letter in the Christian World for July, from Mr. Robert Seagar, a gentleman well known and highly respected in the religious circles at Ipswich. The statements made by Mr. Seagar were vouched for by the Editor of the paper in a note, in which he said he inserted the letter because he knew the writer was incapable of misrepresentation, and that his object was one of pure philanthropy. It appears that Mr. Seagar had suffered for several years from extreme nervous debility, indigestion, and flatulence, brought on by great mental toil and anxiety. He tried every remedy suggested to him, but without any good following, until some one induced him to try electricity as applied by means of Mr. Pulvermacher's bands. He had no faith in them, but rather looked upon his case as one for which no cure was to be had. He was, however, astonished to find that the bands did what he could not believe possible. In a few months he was completely cured; and he was so convinced of the value of the appliances he used that he wrote to the Christian World, describing what had thus happened to himself. He was astonished to find his letter attracting the attention it did, and was partly pleased and partly pained to find great numbers of people writing to him, asking his opinion of their special complaints. He was not a doctor, he had been a patient incurable by doctors, but cured by means of electricity. In such cases as resembled his own he could not help recommending the appliances from which he had obtained such great relief. But repeated applications forced him to give more attention to this subject of electricity as a curative agent, and gradually his experience enabled him to advise many who applied to him

This he did as a mere matter of philanthropy. After a time he selected from the particulars of many cases such as he thought were illustrative of what electricity as applied by Mr. Pulvermacher could do, and embodied them with his own personal experience in the letter, of which we have spoken, to the Christian World.

Some of the cases are certainly "remarkable" enough. They were, however, in every case authenticated by the name and address of each person, and so, backed by his own name, and the high repute for integrity which he enjoyed, carried conviction to the minds of his readers. Still there was one thing which troubled him. He was anxious to be able to say that the cures were permanent; and the object of the letter which he has recently sent to the Christian World, and which appears in that paper, is to show that after several years he can say with perfect honesty that the cures were as permanent as they were effective at the time.

The first case he gives is that of Mrs. Green, of the Waterloo Hotel, Ipswich, who had suffered from severe neuralgia in the head and face. Her sufferings were so severe that she could not rest night or day. For six months two eminent medical men treated her in vain. She applied a small Galvanic Band, and was cured in a week. Six years have passed since her cure, but she has never had a return of the pains. The second case was that of a gentleman at Horbury, who had suffered for a long time from great nervous debility and indigestion. He was cured after using the Galvanic Bands about nine months. He is frequently reporting to Mr. Seagar the advantage he obtained by the Bands. The third case is that of a well-known minister at Ipswich. He suffered from acute rheumatism in the arm and shoulder. Many remedies were tried under the advice of eminent medical men, but the disorder so increased that his health was broken down. In June, 1868, he began to wear the Galvanic Bands by Mr. Seagar's advice, and was completely cured in three months. From that time to this he has had good health, although he is more than seventy years old. Case four is that of a Suffolk farmer, who suffered terribly from indigestion. He was cured in six weeks, and has never since had a return of his old complaint. The fifth case was more remarkable. It was that of a physician in extensive practice, near Ipswich, who had been suffering for about nine months with severe rheumatic pains flying all over the body, but especially affecting the loins and the joints of the arms, so that he was unable to dress himself. These symptoms were accompanied with loss of spirit, loss of appetite, and great physical depression. Being a personal friend, Mr. Seagar invited him to spend a week or two at his house, for a change, but the physician was too weak to undertake the journey. Mr. Seagar suggested a trial of Mr. Pulvermacher's Chains, but the physician only regarded them as catchpennies. It was only after some arguing, and after reminding him of the facts of Mr. Seagar's own case, that the sufferer consented to try the bands after consulting some of his medical friends. He did try them, and in four months was quite cured. In the six years which have since passed, he has been perfectly free from his old and fearful ailments. The sixth case is that of a well-known tradesman of Ipswich, who went to Mr. Seagar on crutches in 1869. His physician had sent him to try what the remedy in which Mr. Seagar had such faith could do. For four months he had suffered the most excruciating pains, and all that could be done failed to give even momentary relief. He tried the bands, and in fourteen days could do without his crutches. In three months he was perfectly cured, and is now in good health. Case seven is that of Mr. Phillips, a farmer at Freston, in Suffolk, who suffered from severe indigestion, torpid liver, and great nervous prostration. He went up to London after trying local medical men and an eminent physician, who told him that his case was utterly hopeless. It was indeed bad, for when he came to Mr. Seagar he thought him looking so near death that he had little hope of success even with galvanic appliances. To the surprise of every one he was cured in six months. This cure was made in 1869, and the farmer is still in perfect health. The eighth case was that of a poor farm-labourer, between eighty and ninety years of age, who suffered from severe rheumatism in the loins and legs. In the summer of 1870, a lady interested in the poor old man called and asked Mr. Seagar if he thought the Galvanic bands would do him any good. Mr. Seagar was doubtful because of the manifest age, but the lady urged that it might be worth trying. The lady bought the band as advised by Mr. Seagar, and in a fortnight the man was all well and without pain.

Mr. Seagar gives these as samples of the cases of which he has personal knowledge. In all he has undertaken the labour of replying to and giving advice to nearly four thousand applicants, and again expresses his readiness to do this still further. He does this because of what he himself has found by the Pulvermacher Chain Bands, and will reply to all free of charge who may send him a statement of their case with a stamped envelope for reply.

As he was writing his letter he received one which is, perhaps, as striking in its testimony to the value of the Pulvermacher Chains as any he has referred to. It came from Grafton-road, Kentish-town, from one Mary Brown, who relates how she received a Galvanic Belt from him in December, 1872, at a time when she was as helpless as an infant, and could neither walk, sit, nor stand, owing to the weakness of her spine and ankles. She had delayed writing to him until she was able to report a complete cure. She can now do needlework, can get about the house readily and attend to various domestic duties, and for some time past has been able to attend her chapel on Sundays, a privilege which she was afraid would never be hers again.

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.

67, Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Tuesday, December 1, 1874.

Rev. Dr. CURREY in the Chair.

After Prayers the Minutes of the last Meeting were read.

Money Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Barbados.—The Bishop, writing from Bishop's Court, Barbados, on the 17th of October, 1874, forwarded and very strongly recommended an application from the Rev. S. Bradshaw, for help towards building a new church in Tobago, to take the place of an old wooden building which has now completely gone.

For three years efforts have been made to raise funds; 400*l.* have been promised, but only 150*l.* actually paid, though the rest is expected. An architect has contracted to rebuild the church for 700*l.*, and to receive payment by instalments, on condition of the last instalment being paid within a year of the completion of the work. Mr. Bradshaw writes:—

"At present we cannot see where the balance required is to come from. The people have almost done their best for the present—at least, all the more respectable ones, the majority being sunk to the lowest depths of degradation and ignorance. Our work is of a missionary character, and we shall be unable to carry it on unless we can get help from our brethren in the faith."

The congregation consists of an average of 200, nearly all negroes, and it will be impossible for them to give all the money required.

The Bishop very urgently commended the case to the favourable consideration of the Society, saying that it is a grave question how far the Church of England will be able to retain her footing at all in Tobago. The island is poverty-stricken; the proprietors, so far as they are resident, are many of them professedly Presbyterians, and still more of them indifferent to considerations of religion or morality. The labouring population are too poor and too accustomed to depend on others to do much for Church support. The Bishop has succeeded in raising a little help towards church repair in Tobago; but he says there is little sympathy, and, as he fears, much jealousy between colony and colony in the West Indies; added to which, Barbados has enough to do to support her own Church-work and her African Mission without undertaking the Church maintenance of the sister isles.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50*l.* in this case, the Society's grant to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from all liability for debt, and secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Jerusalem.—The Right Rev. Bishop Gobat forwarded and recommended an application from the Rev. F. A. Klein, of the Church Missionary Society, for a grant in aid of the completion of a church at Jerusalem, for an Arabic-speaking congregation in connexion with the Church of England.

The sum of 4000*l.* has been already expended upon this work. The contributions collected in Jerusalem amount to about 150*l.*

The Church Missionary Society has advanced some of the 4000*l.* till such time as more money shall come in. The church will accommodate 300 persons. It is intended for the Arab Protestant congregation. The walls of the church are built of the stone of the country. The roof, which is of wood, was sent from England. The premises are the property of the Church Missionary Society. Most of the Arabs, for whose use the church is intended, are poor people belonging to the labouring class, but they have notwithstanding joyfully and liberally (considering their poverty) contributed towards the object.

"The object of the erection of this church is," Mr. Klein states, "not only to afford accommodation to the existing congregation, but also to be a witness to those who are as yet without, chiefly the Moslems, and it is of the greatest importance to give them an opportunity both of hearing the preaching of the gospel of Christ free from human additions and perversions, and of witnessing the worship of God in a church free from image worship and idolatry. Our church will in this respect be a protest against idolatry and will-worship that surround us in this city, and a witness to the truth as it is in Christ, and enable Moslems to see what Christian doctrine and Christian worship really are."

The Standing Committee reported that they had satisfied themselves that the property had been as efficiently secured for Church uses as the law of Turkey admits, and recommended a grant of 100*l.*, to be paid when they shall be satisfied that the receipt of that sum will lead to the immediate completion of the building, free from all liability for debt.

Diocese of Fredericton.—The Bishop, writing from his diocese on the 11th of July, 1874, applied for a grant in aid of the completion of a new church in the parish of Sussex.

The Bishop wrote:—

"This very large parish, including the greater part of a county, has been twice divided, and there are now six churches where originally there were only two. The last division leaves the new parish in possession of the old church built sixty years since; and a new church has been built on another site nearer the railway station, where a population is rapidly springing up."

"The parishioners have taken hold of it with great zeal, and have subscribed about $3400, independently of my own subscription, and donations and generous gifts from his Excellency Sir Fenwick Williams, Bart., W. Gibbs, Esq., and others. The price of labour and materials is now so enormous that our resources are taxed to the uttermost. The church will be completed in a few weeks. It is a very sightly and convenient building, and already found to include many among its worshippers who could not attend the more distant church. There will be no debt upon the building when completed. Its cost has been between eight and nine thousand dollars (1600*l.* or 1800*l.*), exclusive of stained glass windows, one given by the children of the parish, and one by another donor. As we have not therefore failed to work for ourselves heartily, I trust the Society may be pleased to extend to us that liberal aid we have often invoked and which is so kindly granted."

The Standing Committee having satisfied themselves by correspondence with the Bishop that this church, though in use, is not finished, recommended a grant of 50*l.* on the usual conditions.

This grant was made.

Diocese of Cape Town.—The Venerable P. P. Fogg, Archdeacon of George, in the diocese of Cape Town, writing from George on the 5th October, applied for a grant in aid of building a church in an outlying district between George and Knysna, which are about fifty miles apart. Archdeacon Fogg wrote as follows:—

"It is a beautiful district, but remote and difficult of access, and, though fairly populated, without a single town, village, or hamlet, and dependent for spiritual ministrations upon George and Knysna."

"About sixteen miles from George, an English gentleman, Mr. Walter D. Dumbleton, has a farm and residence called Pakhurst. The population, within a radius of five miles from his house, amounts to about 500, consisting mostly of woodcutters of the poorest description, and a few farm-labourers, some of them emancipated slaves; the proportion of coloured people to the white people is as four to one. Mr. Dumbleton does his best for his poor neighbours. He has built a school and maintains it, with the help of a small Government grant, at his own cost. The attendance of children, almost all of them coloured, is from thirty to forty. On Sundays Mr. Dumbleton holds service in his house for all who like to come, having been authorized to do so by the late Bishop, and once in every three months I go out and administer the Holy Communion. There are about twenty-six communicants. The congregation has lately much increased; on the occasion of my last visit over eighty persons were present in Mr. Dumbleton's large dining-room, and several could not get in. The school-room is smaller still, and there is no room in the locality which could hold the congregation."

"The people are manifestly eager to avail themselves of the means of grace, and to enter into the Church's fold. On my last visit I baptized six adults and fourteen infants (all, with the exception of one infant, coloured, and one an emancipated slave). But many are still heathen in that neighbourhood."

"Mr. Dumbleton is anxious to have a church built, and I believe that, under God's blessing, it would be a great help to us in endeavouring to Christianize the population."

"To build a simple church which would hold 120 persons would cost at least 300*l.*, exclusive of the labour which some of the neighbours might be willing to contribute."

"Mr. Dumbleton is unable to incur so large an outlay, and with the exception of one farmer in the neighbourhood, no one else is in a position to offer substantial aid. Nor can contributions be collected in George or Knysna, for both parishes are very poor, and both have mission stations to help support, besides their own churches."

The Archdeacon very earnestly commended this case to the favourable consideration of the Society.

The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that they regarded this as a peculiarly interesting and deserving case, and that they therefore recommended a grant of 100*l.*, on the usual conditions.

This grant was made.

Diocese of Toronto.—The Bishop of Toronto forwarded from his diocese, and recommended an application from the Rev. P. Tecque, missionary clergyman, for aid towards the completion of a new church in the mission of West Mulmur.

The total cost will be 560*l.*, a large portion of which has been collected by Mr. Tecque outside the mission. There remains a deficiency of about 30*l.* to complete the building, and render it free from debt.

Most of the people are poor struggling immigrants, with large families, and have done what they could towards the erection of the building.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 15*l.* in this case, on the usual conditions.

Cree Grammar.—The Standing Committee reminded the Meeting that in May last they had, on their recommendation and on the application of Bishop Bompas, of Athabasca, voted 36*l.* 5*s.* 3*d.*, for the production of 250 copies of an elementary work on the Cree language, for the use of missionaries and others. It now appeared that this work, which was by Archdeacon Hunter, formed an introduction to a Grammar of the Cree Language, which Archdeacon Hunter had also prepared, and that the Archdeacon was anxious that the work should be completed, by the Society making a further grant for printing 250 copies of the grammar, at an estimated further cost of 62*l.* 5*s.*

Mr. Wright, Secretary to the Church Missionary Society, had written to say that the book would be of great use to their North-West American Mission, and that his Society would be glad to distribute 225 copies at the following stations, &c. :—

	Copies.
Bishop Machray (Rupert's Land and St. John's College, Red River) ...	60
Red River Missionaries ...	20
York Factory ...	10
Bishop Horden (Moosonee) ...	10
Cumberland or Devon Station ...	10
Bishop McLean (Saskatchewan) ...	50
English River ...	10
Bishop Bompas (Athabasca) ...	50

225

It was agreed to produce 250 at the estimated cost, and to place 225 of them at the disposal of the Church Missionary Society, for distribution in the manner named above.

Book Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Book Grants, Special and Ordinary, were agreed to.

Diocese of Lincoln.—The Rev. Chancellor Benson, of Lincoln, wrote, in a letter dated, The Chancery, Lincoln, 5th November, 1874, as follows :—

"There has now been established in Lincoln for nearly twelve months a revival of the ancient 'Cancellarii Scholæ' attached to the cathedral for the Training of Candidates for Holy Orders. Lectures are delivered to the students by the Principal, Canon Crowfoot, by the Precentor, Bishop Suffragan, Archdeacon, and others, as well as by me as Chancellor of the cathedral.

"The students live after the usual discipline of such institutions, attending the cathedral, and giving parochial assistance to the clergy of the city in visiting the poor, and in their schools and services. The Bishop takes an earnest interest in the plan, and supports it in every way.

"Fees which are received are laid by with view to perpetuating these lectures in the future."

Chancellor Benson's application to the Society for a grant of books, to be placed for the use of the students in two rooms of the Old Chapel in Lincoln, which are being used, by the Bishop's permission, as lecture-rooms for the students. Though the scheme has been in operation only since January there are already seven students; three were ordained on Trinity Sunday, and three will be ordained this Advent. They have succeeded well in the new Cambridge Preliminary Examination for Holy Orders." One of the seventeen students are graduates of Oxford and Cambridge; others sons of poor clergy unable to maintain themselves at the University; and five have been Methodist Ministers and preachers.

This application had the recommendation of the Bishop of Lincoln.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant S.P.C.K. books, to the value of 10*l.*, in this case.

Oxford Missionary Association.—The Rev. John Wordsworth applied, as Secretary of a new Missionary Association which is being formed in the University of Oxford, for a grant of books.

The first object of the Association is to collect literature and other information bearing on the work of Missions, and to promote the study of the religions, languages, and characters of the nations and countries to which our Missions extend.

The second object of the Association is to aid in the improvement of the education given to European or native students in training to become Missionaries.

The Association, which is scarcely fully organized at present, numbers sixty graduate members, including all the Divinity Professors, and will probably largely increase.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant S.P.C.K. books to the value of 10*l.* in this case.

Winchester Training College.—The Rev. George Henry Sumner, Hon. Secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Board of Education, applied for S.P.C.K. books to the value of 5*l.*, to meet an equal outlay on books on the part of the Diocesan Board; the whole of the books to be given as prizes to those of the students who obtained first classes in an examination in religious knowledge recently conducted under the auspices of the National Society.

The number of students examined was fifty-five, the number of first classes was twelve.

This grant was made as applied for.

Diocese of Lincoln.—The Rev. Hector Nelson, Principal of the Training College at Lincoln, applied for S.P.C.K. books to the value of 2*l.* 2*s.*, to meet an equal purchase on the part of the governing body of the college; the whole of the books to be given as prizes to those of the students, six in number, who have obtained first classes in the examination in religious knowledge recently conducted under the auspices of the National Society.

This grant was made as applied for.

St. Mark's, Chelsea.—The Rev. Canon Cromwell, Principal of this college, applied for S.P.C.K. books to the value of 9*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure in books on the part of the managing body of the college; the whole of the books to be given to those students who had obtained first classes in an examination in religious knowledge recently conducted under the auspices of the National Society.

The number of students examined was 121, the number who obtained first classes fifty-nine. It was agreed to make this grant as requested.

Diocese of London.—The Rev. J. P. Fauntorpe, Principal of Whitelands College, applied for a grant of books, for prizes to those of the students who had succeeded in getting first classes in the recent examination in religious knowledge.

There were two prize students of the second year, and eighteen of the first. Mr. Fauntorpe said it was proposed to give prizes of the value of 20*s.* each to the second-year students, and of 10*s.* each to those of the first year. Thus 11*l.* in all would be required.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to give S.P.C.K. books at a charge upon the charitable funds of the Society of 5*l.* 10*s.*

Diocese of Chester.—The Rev. John L. Darby,

Diocesan Inspector in Religious Knowledge, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 10*l.*, to meet an equal outlay in books on the part of the Chester Diocesan Board of Education; the whole of the books to be given as prizes to pupil teachers for religious knowledge after a simultaneous examination held at twenty-two Centres.

The number of pupil teachers examined was 739.

It was agreed to make this grant as applied for.

Diocese of Newfoundland.—The Bishop, writing from his diocese, applied for a grant of Service Books. Many years ago the Bishop received a grant of six sets of such books; these have been long since distributed, and many new churches have since been built and consecrated. In the course of last summer the Bishop had consecrated four new churches, and laid the corner-stone of two others; he therefore asked for "a renewal of the Society's bounty in a similar form, and to such an extent as the Committee may appear right and reasonable."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant eight sets of Service Books, four 4*to*, and four 8*vo*.

Diocese of Algoma.—The Bishop of this diocese, dating from Sault St. Marie, Ontario, on the 27th of October, 1874, wrote as follows :—

"I write to acknowledge with thanks the arrival, in good condition, of two boxes of books, &c.

"The contents will indeed prove most acceptable, as the want of Bibles and Prayer Books is very much felt amongst our scattered settlers, who, even when prepared to pay for them, are positively unable to procure them.

"I am somewhat disappointed not to find any sets of Service Books amongst them, and hope that the Committee will not think me too grasping or exacting, if, after the receipt of so liberal a grant, I ask for a further one in the shape of a few sets, suitable as well for churches as for chapel-schools.

"There are five churches now in the diocese requiring them, as well as the Shingwauk Industrial and the Batchewanning Chapel-school, whilst I hope that there will be three or four more required before another year expires. I would ask, therefore, for a grant of ten or twelve sets, to be sent out next spring, and can assure the Committee that if made the grant will be highly appreciated."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant eight sets of Service Books, four 4*to* and four 8*vo*.

Grants, &c., recommended by the Standing Committee, of which Notice was given at the last Meeting.

Bishop Callaway of Independent Kaffraria.—In accordance with notice given at the last meeting, and for reasons set forth in the November MONTHLY REPORT, the Standing Committee proposed a grant of 500*l.*, for the permanent endowment of a Tutorship in Theology for the Diocese of Kaffraria; the Society's grant to be paid when 500*l.* shall be forthcoming to meet it, and when the Standing Committee shall be satisfied that that sum has been permanently and securely invested, and that the Society's grant will also be permanently and securely invested for the purpose named.

This grant was made.

Jamaica.—In accordance with notice given at the last meeting, and for the reasons set forth in the November MONTHLY REPORT, the Standing Committee proposed the following resolution, viz. :—

"To extend for five years from the present date the time during which the balance of 2000*l.* (which remains unpaid of the grant of 5000*l.* made in 1870) may be claimed; and, further, that the balance of the Society's grant may be payable in sums of 500*l.*, instead of 1000*l.*, as was previously the case, on condition of not less than five times the amount of the Society's grant being forthcoming to meet it, viz. 2500*l.* for each instalment of 500*l.*, or 10,000*l.* to meet the whole balance of 2000*l.* And further, to consent to the 2000*l.*, or the instalments thereof, as they become due, being paid to the fund described as the 'Sustentation Reserve Fund,' provided that the Standing Committee shall be satisfied that that fund is securely and permanently invested as regards the capital thereof, and that the interest arising therefrom can be applied only for the support of clergymen serving churches in the diocese of Jamaica."

This resolution was carried.

Diocese of Calcutta.—The Standing Committee, in accordance with notice given at the last meeting, and for reasons set forth at length in the November MONTHLY REPORT, proposed, in reference to the grant of 100*l.* made in July last for the production of 3000 copies of a Hymn Book in the Oordoo language, that the condition respecting the return to the Society of one-third of the proceeds of the sale of this book should be remitted.

The proposal of the Standing Committee was agreed to.

Reports and Notices from the Standing Committee.

The Rev. J. D. Glennie.—The Standing Committee informed the meeting that, since their last meeting, Mr. Glennie, one of the Vice-Presidents of the Society, and formerly—viz. from 1842 to 1869—one of the Secretaries of the Society, had died in his eightieth year. The death took place on Wednesday, the 4th of November. They also reported that they had, on the 23rd instant, passed the following resolution:—

"The Standing Committee have heard with sincere regret that they have, since their last meeting, been deprived, through death, of the valued services of the Rev. J. D. Glennie, one of the Vice-Presidents of the Society, and formerly one of the Secretaries of the Society. They desire to place on record their sense of the value of the services, specially in connexion with the Foreign Translation Committee, rendered by Mr. Glennie during the twenty-seven years—viz. from 1842 to 1869—in which he held office as one of the Secretaries of the Society; also of the great and varied accomplishments possessed by Mr. Glennie, which were always placed at the disposal of the Society. They desire also to express their sense of the loss which their own body has experienced by the death of Mr. Glennie, who, since the year 1870, has been one of the Vice-Presidents of the Society, and a frequent attendant of the meetings of the Committee.

"The Committee add a heartfelt expression of sympathy with the members of Mr. Glennie's family, who have lost in good old age a father whom they must naturally mourn over, though their mourning cannot but be cheered with the liveliest hope and truest consolation."

It was unanimously resolved, on the part of the General Meeting, to adopt this resolution and to communicate it to the members of Mr. Glennie's family.

Secretariat.—The Standing Committee informed the meeting that the Rev. J. M. Fuller, the Editorial Secretary, had been presented by Lord Sydney to the living of Bexley, and had accepted it, and that he therefore wished the Committee to make arrangements for relieving him of his work in connexion with the Society.

They further informed the meeting that they had on the 30th of November unanimously passed the following resolution:—

"The Standing Committee, in accepting the resignation of the Rev. J. M. Fuller, the Editorial Secretary, beg to express their congratulations upon his appointment to the living of Bexley, and their hope that he may be enabled to perform the duties which he is about to undertake to the benefit of his parishioners and to his own satisfaction.

"In closing their connexion with Mr. Fuller, which has now continued for more than four years, they desire to place on record their sense of the ability with which he has performed his duties as Secretary to the Society. He has united qualifications for his various duties which few possess, which have enabled him to confer the greatest benefit upon the Society, while his uniform kindness and courtesy, his indefatigable and zealous exertions in carrying out the works committed to him, have been such as to call for the hearty thanks of the Committees with which he has acted."

St. Bartholomew's, Islington.—The Rev. L. Stanham, Vicar of this parish, had applied for a grant to enable him to rent for Sunday-school purposes a set of rooms in a large Board School in his district.

The rooms will accommodate 329 children. The rental will be at the rate of 2*s.* 9*d.* per child, or 45*l.* 6*s.* per annum.

Mr. Stanham is confident that he could, without injuring his present Sunday Schools, gather together sufficient children to fill the additional rooms which he proposes to rent; he has already secured the help of two superintendents and a good staff of teachers.

The Committee reported that they had, out of the money at their disposal for the purpose, granted Mr. Stanham 38*l.* for one year, to enable him to rent these rooms.

St. Mark's, Birmingham.—The Rev. H. G. Thwaites, Vicar of this parish, had applied for a grant to enable him to secure for a Sunday-evening school, a School Board School in his parish. Mr. Thwaites has 900 children in attendance, and 200 more on the books of his Sunday-school, and feels confident that he should have 700 children at night.

The Board charges 1*s.* 6*d.* per head per annum, which would make 50*l.* a year.

Mr. Thwaites dwelt upon the great importance of securing the religious education of the young in Birmingham on Sundays, as the School Board in that town exclude the Bible and all religious teaching from their schools, and he thinks it probable that many of the children who attend these schools on week days would also go on Sundays, if the schools were open.

The Standing Committee had granted 37*l.* for one year in this case.

St. Paul's, North Bow.—The Rev. William R. Adamson, Minister of St. Paul's, had stated that, though there were several hundred children in his district who might be gathered into a Sunday-school, and though he has ready a strong staff of teachers, male and female, as well as a superintendent, he cannot open a school for want of accommodation.

Mr. Adamson applies for a grant in aid of renting a Board School for Sunday-school purposes. The school will accommodate 389 children. The rent is 38*l.* 18*s.* per annum, payable quarterly in advance.

Mr. Adamson says that he cannot hope for any help in his own district, and therefore begs for as large a grant as possible, and urges that, if possible, the grant should be guaranteed for three years, during which time he hopes to build a Mission room and premises.

Mr. Adamson's is a Conventional District, with a population of not less than 6000, all of the working class; his church is a temporary iron building, which was erected through the generosity of the widow of a Clergyman, supplemented by a grant from the Bishop of London's Fund. The church was only opened last October, and there is already a congregation averaging from 150 to 200 in the evening. There are hundreds of little ones needing Sunday-school accommodation.

In this case the Standing Committee had granted 33*l.* for one year.

All Saints', Wellingborough.—The Rev. Frederic W. Willis had applied, in the first instance, in a letter dated 7th November, for a grant to enable him to rent a School Board School in his parish for Sunday-school purposes. He did this under the impression that the School Board would consent to let the room. Subsequently Mr. Willis informed the Secretary that the Board had resolved not to let their Schools for any such purpose. Mr. Willis now applied for a grant towards enabling him to secure two other excellent rooms for additional Sunday-school accommodation at a cost of 8*l.* 10*s.* per annum. Mr. Willis is confident that he will obtain both teachers and scholars.

Mr. Willis's parish has a population of nearly 5000 working men and women, with children in large numbers. There is neither endowment nor vicarage, the only Church fund is the offertory, which yields about 100*l.* a year. The existing school, which is crowded, is a rented building 21*l.* a year; it was opened in June, 1872; there are 500 children, and there is danger of losing scholars simply for want of accommodation. The Standing Committee had granted 8*l.* 10*s.* for one year.

Vice-Presidents.—The Standing Committee, in accordance with an intimation given in April last, and for reasons set forth in the MONTHLY REPORT of that month, now gave notice that in February next they would propose the election of W. H. Smith, Esq., M.P. for the city of Westminster, and one of the Secretaries to the Treasury, and formerly one of the Treasurers of the Society, as one of the Vice-Presidents of the Society.

Standing Committee.—In conformity with Rule XXVII., the Standing Committee informed the Meeting that the six Members of the Committee who would retire by seniority in February next, were Revs. Dr. Hessey, Mr. Edwards, Mr. Wade, Rev. E. Capel Cure, Mr. Frances, and Mr. Charles Daubeney; that four only of these were eligible for re-election; that of the six named, Mr. Edwards had expressed his desire not to be proposed for re-election, in consequence of the pressure of other duties rendering it impossible for him to give the amount of attention to the Society's work which he thought necessary; while Gen. Daubeney, owing to his election in April last as one of the Treasurers of the Society, had become an ex officio member of the Standing Committee; the Committee added that the Dean of St. Paul's, finding it impossible to attend, had expressed his desire to retire; and also that Mr. Hales, in consequence of his pressing parochial and other engagements, had determined to retire.

The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that there would therefore be eight vacancies in their body to be filled in February, and gave notice that they would propose the following gentlemen to fill them:—Rev. Dr. Hessey, Mr. Wade, Rev. E. Capel Cure, Mr. Frances, Rev. Harry Jones, Mr. G. B. Hughes, Mr. F. S. Powell, and Rev. Edward Garbett.

The Standing Committee added, that they proposed Mr. Powell in the place of the Dean of St. Paul's, and the Rev. E. Garbett in the place of Mr. Hales, so that if there was no opposition, the first six names would be arranged alphabetically as members elected to serve for four years; while the names of Mr. Powell and Mr. Garbett would be substituted in the list for those of the Dean of St. Paul's and Mr. Hales respectively; that, in case of there being a ballot, the names would be arranged according to the number of votes given for each candidate, the member who should receive the fewest votes being so placed as to retire first, and so on.

Tract Committee.—In conformity with Rule XXX., the Standing Committee proposed the following seven members of the Society to form the Tract Committee for the ensuing year:—
 Rev. Walter Abbott. Rev. C. W. Edmonstone.
 Rev. W. H. Burrows. Rev. Dr. Francis Hessey.
 Rev. Berdmores Compton. Rev. G. H. Hodson.
 Rev. Dr. Currey.

These gentlemen are the same as those who constitute the Tract Committee at the present time, with the exception of Mr. Abbott, Vicar of St. John's, Upper Holloway, who takes the place of Mr. Thorold, who retires, being unable any longer to give the necessary amount of time to the work of the Committee.

Committee of General Literature and Education.—Similarly, in conformity with Rule XXXV., the following members of the Society were proposed by the Standing Committee as the Committee of General Literature and Education for the ensuing year:—

T. A. Barker, Esq., M.D. Rev. A. Johnson.
 Thomas Bell, Esq. Rev. H. Le Bas.
 Rev. W. Campbell. Rev. A. Povah.
 Rev. W. Cooke. Rev. Canon Tinling.
 Rev. Brownlow Maitland. Thomas Turner, Esq.
 Rev. C. J. D'Oyly. J. E. White, Esq.

These are the same gentlemen as those who form the Committee at the present time.

Supplemental Religious Catalogue Committee.—In accordance with Rule XXXIX., the Standing Committee proposed that the following five members of the Society should form the Supplemental Religious Catalogue Committee:—

Ven. Arch. Bickersteth. Rev. W. Walsham How.
 The Dean of Rochester. Rev. N. J. Ridley.
 Rev. Lewis Hensley.

These are the same gentlemen as those who form the Committee at the present time, the Dean of Rochester having been elected in October last in place of Archdeacon Grant, who had retired since February, 1874.

The Meeting was informed that the names of any other candidates for the several Committees, duly proposed and seconded, may be sent to the Secretaries on or before the Saturday previous to the January General Meeting.

Notice of Motion for the next Meeting.

Church Education Society for Ireland.—The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that the Archbishop of Dublin had forwarded and strongly recommended an application made by the Church Education Society for Ireland for a grant towards the Training School or College in Kildare Place, Dublin. The Rev. Canon Leeper, D.D., Secretary of the Society, wrote as follows:—

"The institution is conducted by Churchmen exclusively, and the students are trained to be parochial school teachers; it is the only Church Training College in Ireland, and it has received the sanction of the General Synod of the Church of Ireland. It would have been closed last year, had not a special appeal called forth some aid and sympathy."

The Archbishop of Dublin wrote thus on the 21st Nov., 1874:—

"Having myself taken a share in the Examinations of the Training School in Kildare Place, and in other ways interested myself in the institution, I am able to speak in very high terms of the work which it is doing, and of the extreme importance of maintaining it in a state of efficiency in the present crisis of our Church."

"There have been so many other and new calls during the last three years upon Irish Churchmen, that the school is at the present time a good deal crippled for lack of funds."

In answer to inquiries made by the Secretary after the receipt of this application, Dr. Leeper had written:—

"1. As to the length of our course, we usually keep the male students for two, and the female students for three sessions, each of five months' duration.

"2. The cost of each student, including all expenses, such as rent, fuel, &c. is 45l. per annum.

"We can maintain about fifty (male and female) students at present. That number may be considered sufficient for our wants; but we cannot keep our students long enough in the institution to train them properly.

"If the men could be trained for a third session and the women for a fourth, by the kind assistance of the Society for the Promotion of Christian Knowledge, a great boon would be conferred on the Church. At present we are obliged by poverty to send them away before many of them are sufficiently prepared for their work."

"With our present staff and number we could equip the students fully for their profession, if we had a grant of 6l. per head for giving them the benefit of an additional session in the manner indicated."

Archdeacon Stokes also wrote in support of this application as follows:—

"Our present effort is to prevent the necessity for a diminution of the number of students from the falling off of funds, from the too general idea that secular instruction is of paramount importance, which can be obtained in Government Schools, where the Bible is not allowed to be seen or even alluded to."

The Standing Committee gave notice that, at the next Meeting, they would propose that 300l. be set apart for the purpose of assisting the "Church Education Society for Ireland" to retain their fifty students (male and female) during an additional period of five months, with a view to preparing them more efficiently for their work.

Grants of Books, &c., recommended by the Standing Committee.

SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL IN FOREIGN PARTS.

The Monthly Meeting of the Society was held at 19, Delahay-street, Westminster, on Friday, November 20, P. Cazenove, Esq., in the chair.

1. Read Minutes of the last meeting.

2. The treasurer presented a statement of the Society's income to the end of October.

3. Resolved, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, that the allowances on account of the education of children of Missionaries in the East be increased from the present scale, viz. for boys between eight and sixteen years of age, 25l. per annum, and for girls of the same age, 20l. per annum; and that for the future the rates be 35l. and 30l. for boys and girls respectively.

4. Resolved, that it is desirable that the Society co-operate with the Archbishop of Canterbury in assisting the Assyrian Christians, and that it be referred to the Standing Committee to appoint a Special Committee to report on the best way of giving effect to this resolution. An amendment moved by the Rev. T. Darling to insert after the word "Assyrian" the words "and other Eastern," was lost on a division.

5. Resolved, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant from the Negus Fund 20l. to the Rev. J. F. Kearns, and 30l. to the Rev. J. L. Wyatt, for the purpose of enabling them to cheapen the cost of Tamil Bibles and Prayer Books to the Native Christians in their respective districts.

6. Resolved, that permission be granted to the Rev. J. E. Marks, the Senior Missionary in Burmah, to return to England on furlough.

7. Resolved, on the suggestion of the Calcutta Diocesan Committee and the Standing Committee, to commence on a small scale an orphanage within the compound of Bishop's College, Calcutta.

8. Resolved, at the request of the Bishop of Labuan and Sarawak, to grant a title for ordination to Ah Luk, a Chinese catechist, who has for many years been labouring in the Society's Missions.

9. Resolved, to sanction the expenditure of a sum not exceeding 250l. for the purchase of land in the Japan Mission subject to the approval of the Rev. A. C. Shaw and W. B. Wright, the Missionaries of the Society in Japan.

10. The Secretary read a letter from the Bishop of Bloemfontein, August 31, in reference to the necessity of establishing a Theological College at Bloemfontein; and it was resolved that the Society approves of the Bishop's desire to establish a Theological College at Bloemfontein, and gladly assents to one of the Missionaries of the diocese, supported by the Society, being relieved from his strictly Missionary duties in order to assist in the work of such an institution.

11. Resolved, that in view of the fact that the Fiji Islands are now annexed to the English Crown, it seems desirable at once to send two clergymen thither.

12. The Rev. Julian Moreton, formerly Missionary in Newfoundland, and now Chaplain in Penang, made a statement of the needs of the ministrations of the Church in the Malayan Peninsula, both for English residents and for the heathen, and it was resolved,—"That the Standing Committee be requested to consider and report whether any advantage can be taken by the Society of the openings for Missions both among European and heathens in Province Wellesley and its neighbourhood."

13. Resolved that, subject to the opinion of the Society's Solicitor, the seal of the Society be affixed to a deed confirmatory of a power of attorney granted in 1855 in reference to certain lands in Toronto.

14. Sir Arthur Elton, Bart., and Rev. J. H. Moore, having been elected Diocesan Representatives on the Standing Committee by the Diocese of Bath and Wells, Rev. P. Holme and H. 15. Resolved that the sum of 300l., the amount of a loss incurred by the Calcutta Diocesan Committee in 1872, be written off.

16. All the members proposed in July were elected into the Society.

17. Twenty-one persons will be proposed for election at the meeting of January, 1875.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, Oct. 12th.—Correspondence with the Rev. R. Bruce, Missionary of the Society in Persia, was read, giving an account of the translational work he had carried on, the openings he had found for making known the Gospel to Mohammedan inquirers who were studying the Scriptures, and the school he had established at Julfa, with an attendance of 150, of whom the majority were Armenian Christians, with a few Persian Mohammedans; and it was resolved, after a careful review of all the circumstances bearing upon the question of maintaining a Mission in Persia, and regarding the present opportunity for Christian work there as a leading of Divine Providence, to sanction the appointment of Mr. E. Downes, or some other European Missionary, to occupy the place of Mr. Bruce during his visit to England.

It was stated that information had been received that the Archbishop of Canterbury, with the concurrence of the Archbishop of York, had sanctioned the observance of November 30 as a day of Intercession for Foreign Missions, in accordance with the recommendation of a joint Committee of the Convocation of Canterbury; and it was determined to draw up a memorandum informing the members of the Society of the appointment of the day, and inviting them to join in its observance, at the same time stating the reasons why the Committee had demurred to the appointment of an annual day.

Committee of Correspondence, Oct. 20th.—The Rev. R. Young, Association Secretary for the Yorkshire district, was appointed to the charge of St. Andrew's Church, Red River.

The Rev. H. Townsend and the Rev. D. Hinderer took leave of the Committee on proceeding to join the Yoruba Mission. The Instructions of the Committee were delivered to them by the Hon. Clerical Secretary, and, after being addressed by the Rev. E. Anriol, they were commended in prayer to the favour and protection of Almighty God by the Bishop of Sierra Leone.

The Rev. W. G. Baker, of the Telugu Mission, who had been ordered home on medical certificate, gave interesting information respecting the work amongst the Mala population, expressing his belief that, while it was necessary to ascertain the motives which led many in the first instance to ask for Christian instruction, there were yet several amongst the Christian congregation now formed that gave eminent proofs of a work of the Holy Spirit in their hearts, and that the Mala Christians generally had often to undergo annoyance and persecution, which gave occasion to prove the steadfastness of their attachment to Christianity.

Committee of Correspondence, Oct. 27th.—The presentation of Mr. J. Bowen, Native Tutor at the Fourah Bay Institution, and acting Catechist at Olive Town and Kisey Road, and of Mr. Cole, Native Catechist at York Island, both of the West Africa Mission, for ordination was sanctioned.

The presentation for ordination of four Native Catechists in the Ceylon Mission was sanctioned, viz.: Messrs. B. Kanunakutna, S. Dias, Kalpage Johannés, and W. Liyanage Alexander.

The attention of the Committee was called to the satisfactory condition of the Native Church Council at Kandy, and to the fact that the annual grant which that Council had asked from the funds of the Society had steadily diminished from 1864, in the year 1868 to 60*l.* for the present year. The Committee was also reminded of the high testimony which had always been borne by the Ceylon Missionaries, and in particular, recently, by the Rev. J. Allcock and the Rev. S. Coles, to the Christian consistency and ministerial gifts and faithfulness of the Rev. Henry Gunasekara, Pastor of the Central Singhalese congregation at Kandy. The Committee recorded their warm appreciation of the services of the Rev. S. Coles, and his predecessor, the Rev. J. I. Jones, in their presidency of the Church Council in the Central Province of Ceylon; and they thought that, by the blessing of God, so good a foundation had been laid for the independence of the Singhalese Church, that a further step might now be taken in that direction. They therefore desired that the Rev. Henry Gunasekara be appointed Chairman of the Singhalese Native Church Council at Kandy, so soon as Mr. Coles could make it convenient to install him in that post. The Committee also rejoiced to observe the growing pecuniary independence of the Singhalese Native Church Council.

Committee of Correspondence, Nov. 3rd.—A grant of 250*l.* was made towards the completion of the Mission Church at Allahabad, on condition that other help should be forthcoming to complete the building in a substantial manner.

Application was made by the Rev. R. T. Dowbiggin, through the South Ceylon Conference, for a grant for the purpose of extending evangelistic work in districts lying to the East and South-East of Colombo, which were at present untouched by Missionary effort. It was pointed out that Native itinerant preachers met with willing audiences in the districts adjoining Colombo, that suitable agents for such work could be obtained from the Preparandi Institution at Cotta. The Committee decided to make a grant for this object.

THE INCORPORATED SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE ENLARGEMENT, BUILDING, AND REPAIRING OF CHURCHES AND CHAPELS.

The usual monthly meetings of this Society were resumed on Monday, 16th ult., at the Society's house, 7, Whitehall, S.W., the Rev. John Evans in the chair; there were also present Archdeacon Harrison, the Rev. Arthur Cazenove and A. J. Ingram; Messrs. John Boodle, E. Hussey, Arthur Powell, Wm. Rivington, Edward Thornton, and Rev. George Ainslie, M.A., Secretary.

Grants of money were made in aid of the following objects, viz.:—Building new churches at Ealing, St. John's, Middlesex; Kilburn, St. Luke, Middlesex; Matfield, in the parish of Brencley, Kent; and Ayot, St. Peter, Herts; enlarging or otherwise increasing the accommodation in the churches at Bethnal Green, St. Peter, Middlesex; Great Grimby, St. James; Isfield, Sussex; Leinthall-Starkes, Hereford; Little Chart, Kent; Little Dean, Gloucester; Much Marcle, Hereford; Poling, Sussex; Ormesby, St. Cuthbert, York; Sutton Valence, Staplehurst, Kent; and Cwm, Flint.

Under urgent circumstances the grant formerly made towards building the Church at Brookfield, in the parish of St. Ann, Highgate, was increased; grants were also made from the School-church and Mission-house Fund towards building school or mission churches at Accrington, Lancashire; Horton St. Andrew's, in the parish of Bradford, York; Long Wick, in the parish of Princes Risborough, Bucks; and Low Fenton, Stoke-on-Trent.

The Society likewise accepted the trust of sums of money as repair-funds for the churches at Honor Oak Park, St. Augustine's, Kent; and Blundellsands, St. Nicholas near Seshpton, Lancashire.

The grants voted on this occasion have once more nearly exhausted the special fund for school-churches and mission-houses, and so many outstanding applications have yet to be met that it is earnestly hoped fresh contributions may soon be made to so very important a branch of the Society's operations.

THE CORPORATION OF THE SONS OF THE CLERGY.

The Annual General Court of the governors of the above Corporation was held on Thursday, 12th ult., at their house, 2, Bloomsbury-place, W.C., Lord Chelmsford, Vice-President, in the chair. Several noblemen and gentlemen who had, as stewards of the Anniversary Festival or otherwise, each contributed thirty guinees or more to the funds of the charity, were elected life governors. The governors next proceeded to elect for the ensuing year the court of assistants by whom the affairs of the charity are managed, and the Archbishop of Canterbury and Lord Chelmsford were re-elected President and Vice-President.

Mr. Baker, the Registrar, having announced the resignation of the Rev. J. W. Vivian, D.D., and Sir Thomas Tilson as Treasurers, the former from advanced age and the latter from failing health, votes of thanks for their able and faithful services, kindly rendered for many years to the great advantage of the charity, were cordially passed, and Mr. Alderman Finnis and the Ven. Archdeacon Jennings were unanimously elected Treasurers in their room, to act with Mr. Pownall, now senior Treasurer.

Eight vacancies among the other members of the court of assistants were reported, and the following were appointed to fill their places:—The Lord Mayor, Archdeacon Harrison, O. H. Coope, Esq., M.P., Right Hon. Peter Eric, Q.C., Revs. John Evans (Prebendary of St. Paul's), W. H. Lyall, and Canon Thorold. The remaining members were severally re-elected. The governors were much gratified to hear that the affairs of the Corporation continued to prosper, and that the pecuniary assistance afforded to poor clergymen, their widows, and families, was widely diffused among them, according to merit and necessity. The aid afforded had in many cases become of larger amount than formerly, and therefore was more adequate to meet the present high prices of the necessaries of life, which were so severely felt by clergymen with large families and small fixed incomes. The Christmas benefactions, intended mainly for curates in actual duty, will be distributed this month.

LAW.

JUDICIAL COMMITTEE OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 21.

(RIGHTS OF ROMAN CATHOLICS TO ECCLESIASTICAL BURIAL.)

BROWN v. THE CURÉ AND CHURCHWARDENS OF MONTREAL.

SIR R. J. PHILLIMORE gave judgment in this case (see Ecclesiastical Gazette for July, p. 5). The question raised was, whether, as a Roman Catholic, a man was disentitled to ecclesiastical burial because he was a member of the Canadian Institute, which contained books prohibited by the Church of Rome. The party, Joseph Gaubord, died in 1869, and his widow claimed burial in the cemetery of his parish, which was refused because he was under the ban of the Church, but not excommunicated. Burial was offered in another part of the cemetery, where persons unbaptized were interred, but the offer was not accepted, and since the year 1869 his remains were "temporarily deposited" in the Protestant Cemetery, waiting the result of the litigation on the subject. The Primary Court of Lower Canada ordered a mandamus for the burial, which the other courts set aside, and the Canadian Institute, which had succeeded to the suit after the death of the widow, were now the appellants. The point was discussed before their Lordships some months ago at considerable length.

SIR R. PHILLIMORE, in course of his judgment, said Gaubord was a lay parishioner of Montreal. He was of unexceptionable moral character, and by baptism and education a Roman Catholic up to the time of his death. In the year 1844 a literary and scientific institution was formed at Montreal for the purpose of providing a library, reading-room, and other appliances for education. In 1858 certain members of the institute proposed a committee for the purpose of making a list of books in the library which ought not to be allowed to remain therein. An amendment, however, was carried by a large majority that the institute contained no improper books, that it was the sole judge of the morality of its library, and that the existing committee of management was sufficient. On the 13th April in the same year the Roman Catholic Bishop of Montreal published a pastoral, which was read in all the churches of his diocese, in which he referred to what had taken place at the meeting of the institution, and, after praising the conduct of the minority, pointed out that the majority had fallen into two great errors, first in declaring that they were the proper judges of the morality of the books in their library, whereas the Council of Trent had declared that it belonged to the office of the bishop; secondly, in declaring that the library contained only moral books, whereas it contained books which were in the index at Rome. The Bishop further cited a decision of the Council of Trent, that any one who read or kept heretical books would incur sentence of excommunication, and that any one who read or kept books forbidden on other grounds would be subject to severe punishment, and he concluded by making an appeal to the institute to alter their resolution, alleging that otherwise no Roman Catholic would belong to it. The resolution was not rescinded by the institute, and in 1865 several of the Roman Catholic members, among whom was Guibord, appealed to Rome against the pastoral. No answer was received. Sir B. Phillimore then proceeded to consider what were the merits of the case. The question was the right of Guibord to interment in the ordinary way in the cemetery of his parish, a right enforceable by his representative, and the proprietors of the cemetery were, like a parson in England, owner of the freehold of the churchyard, subject to the rights of the parishioners to be buried therein. The respondents did not contest that Guibord had that right, but alleged that they had refused nothing but ecclesiastical burial, for the refusal of which they were responsible only to the religious, and not to the civil authority. It seemed to be admitted on both sides that the law upon the point in dispute was to be found in the Quebec ritual, which did not differ in any material particular from the Roman ritual. To bring Guibord within the third rule of the Quebec ritual it would be necessary to show that he was excommunicated by name, that such a sentence of excommunication might be passed against a Roman Catholic in Canada; and that it might be the duty of the civil courts to respect and give effect to it their Lordships did not deny. It was no doubt true that there was now in Canada no regular ecclesiastical courts such as existed and were recognized by the State when the province formed part of the dominion of France. It must, however, be remembered that a bishop was always a juxta ordinarius according to the canon law, and according to the canon law might hold a court and deliver judgment if he had not appointed an official to act for him. There was, however, no proof that any sentence of excommunication was ever passed against Guibord nominative by the Bishop or any other ecclesiastical authority. Indeed it was admitted at the bar that there was none. The cause of refusal finally insisted upon was that Guibord was a pécheur public within the meaning of the sixth rule. After alluding to the evidence on the subject the learned judge observed that it was impossible wholly to avoid a suspicion that it had originally been intended to rely upon an ipso facto excommunication, and the subsequent defence of pécheur public was resorted to when it became manifest that a sentence of excommunication was necessary, and that none had been pronounced. What was the category of pécheur public to include? To allow a discretionary addition to or an enlargement of the categories specified in the ritual would be fraught with the most startling consequences. Their Lordships were satisfied that a discretionary enlargement of the categories in the ritual would not have been deemed to be within the authority of the Bishop by the law of the Gallican Church as it existed in Lower Canada before the cession, and in their opinion it was not established that there had been such an alteration in the status or law of that Church founded on the consent of its members as would warrant such an interpretation of its ritual, and that the true and just conclusion of law on the point was, that the fact of being a member of the institute did not bring a man within the category of a public sinner to whom Christian burial could be legally refused. The conclusion to which their Lordships had come upon this difficult and important case was that the respondents had failed to show that Guibord was at the time of his death under any such valid ecclesiastical sentence or censure as would according to the Quebec ritual, or any law binding on Roman Catholics in Canada, justify the denial of ecclesiastical sepulture to his remains. They would advise her Majesty that the decree of the Court of Queen's Bench and of the Court of Review be reversed. That the original decree of the superior court be varied, and that instead of the order made by that court it should be ordered that a peremptory writ of mandamus be issued, directed to "Le Curé et les Maitrues, &c.," commanding them, upon application by the Canadian Institute, and upon tender of the accustomed fees, to prepare or permit to be prepared a grave in that part of the cemetery in which the remains of Roman Catholics who receive ecclesiastical burial are usually interred, for the burial of the remains of the said Joseph Guibord, and upon such remains being brought to the cemetery for that purpose at a reasonable and proper time, they do bury the remains in the said part of the cemetery or permit them to be buried there, and that the defendants do pay the Canadian Institute all the costs of the widow in the lower courts, and of this appeal, except as to the plea of recusatio judicis. His Lordship concluded by expressing the regret of the Court that any conflict should have arisen between the ecclesiastical members of the Roman Catholic Church and the members of the Institute, and added, that if any difficulties should arise as to the interment, without religious ceremonies, in that part of the cemetery now ordered, the ecclesiastical authorities would permit the performance of such ceremonies as might be sufficient, as their Lordships hoped that the question of burial, with ceremonies, would be reconsidered by them and further litigation avoided.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 24.

(Present, The Archbishop of CANTERBURY, the LORD CHANCELLOR, the Lord Bishop of LONDON, Lord SELBORNE, Lord PENZANCE, Sir JAMES W. GILVILE, Sir BARNES PEACOCK, and Sir ROBERT PHILLIMORE.)

FARNELL V. ROUGHTON.

This was an appeal instituted by the Rev. Charles Farnell, M.A., incumbent of St. Margaret, Toxteth-park, Liverpool, against an interlocutory decree made in April last in an ecclesiastical suit in which he was the defendant by Mr. Granville Harcourt Vernon, Vicar-General and Judge at the Chancery Court at York.

Dr. Stephens, Q.C., Mr. Francis Jeune, and Mr. Walter Phillimore were counsel for the appellant; Dr. Deane, Q.C., and Mr. Benjamin Shaw for the respondent.

The suit in question was brought under the Church Discipline Act against the appellant, a beneficed clergyman in the diocese of Chester, for certain alleged offences against the ecclesiastical laws relating to the mode of conducting Divine Service. It came before the Chancery Court of York in the first instance by virtue of letters of request from the Bishop of Chester. An appearance was duly entered for the appellant, and articles were then exhibited on behalf of the respondent. These alleged that on certain days within the two years immediately preceding the commencement of the suit, the incumbent, before the Communion Service, formed a procession in his church of clergy and choristers, accompanied by a boy bearing a vessel filled with incense, and a person carrying a large metal cross, and by others bearing banners, he himself wearing a long embroidered cope, and that the procession so formed went round the church in a ceremonial manner, singing a hymn and with the incense lighted and smoking; that he used lighted candles on a ledge immediately over the Communion-table during the celebration as a matter of ceremony, and when they were not wanted for the purpose of giving light; that when officiating in the Communion Service he wore a vestment called a chasuble, and other vestments of divers forms and colours as matters of ceremony and ritual; that he mixed water with the sacramental wine used in the Holy Communion; that while reading the Prayer of Consecration he stood at the west side of the holy table and with his back to the people; that he elevated the paten and cup in a ceremonial manner; that he made the sign of the cross when giving the elements to the communicants, the same being performed as and constituting a ceremony; that on certain occasions he consecrated and received the elements when no one communicated with him, and on other occasions when only two persons and only one respectively communicated; that he sanctioned or permitted and suffered these various acts to be done by others in the church; and that the whole of them were unlawful additions to and variations from the form and order of public worship prescribed by the ordinances of the Church. The appellant opposed the admission of the articles on the ground that certain passages of them, such as the description of his acts "as matters of ceremony and ritual" were embarrassing, and prejudicial, and improperly pleaded; and that others disclosed no ecclesiastical offence. The admission of the articles was argued before Mr. Vernon, the Judge, in April last, when, with one slight exception, he overruled all the objections of the appellant, and ordered the articles to be admitted and exhibited. From that decision the present appeal was brought.

Dr. STEPHENS, Q.C., in arguing the case for the appellant, contended that the various expressions in the articles, such as "as matters of ceremony," "the same being performed as and constituting a ceremony," ought to be struck out, inasmuch as they were either mere deductions of law or imputations of motives, and as such could not properly be pleaded. It was for the pleader to give the simple facts upon which a conclusion of law might be drawn, and not to draw that conclusion himself and omit the facts. He also urged that the statements, which might, as Lord Selborne suggested, be mere surplusage, were inserted by way of prejudicing the appellant; as, for instance, where it was complained that the elements were elevated in a "ceremonial manner," it being well known that it was not when that act was ceremonial, but when, in addition, it was excessive that it became illegal.

The Archbishop of CANTERBURY reminded the learned counsel that the motive was all-important in these matters. For example, the incumbent might assert that he wore "a chasuble," to keep out the cold; but the respondent, on the contrary, might allege that it was worn in a ceremonial manner and as part of a religious ceremony.

Dr. STEPHENS inquired if his Grace would permit clergymen to wear chasubles to keep out the cold.

The Archbishop of CANTERBURY said he would not argue that point, but he wished to draw the attention of the learned counsel to the fact that there were several ways in which an act might be regarded, and that it would be of importance to know from the pleadings the way in which the particular persons who complained of the incumbent's conduct regarded it.

Lord SELBORNE pointed out that while the question whether a certain thing was or was not a ceremony might be a mere matter of fact, yet whether that ceremony was illegal or otherwise was quite another question, and had to be decided judicially.

The LORD CHANCELLOR said it was important to know whether an act was done at all, and.

so, whether it was done as a ceremony or otherwise.

Dr. STEPHENS went on to contend that the article which alleged that the appellant, Mr. Parnell, had consecrated and received the elements himself during Divine Service when no person communicated with him did not disclose any ecclesiastical offence. He laid down the proposition that if at the time immediately preceding the Prayer for the Church Militant there were then present three persons at least who were of sufficient discretion to receive the Sacrament, and if they remained to the time of the Consecration Prayer, the minister was legally entitled to consecrate the elements and receive them in both kinds himself, although it might afterwards happen that the persons present did not go to the holy table and partake of the Communion.

The Archbishop of CANTERBURY observed that on that hypothesis it would be impossible for the rubric to be violated.

Sir ROBERT PHILLIMORE said he should certainly have admitted the article in question, leaving the clergyman to prove by way of defence, that, although there might have been a violation, yet it was accidental.

Mr. JEUNE, following Dr. Stephens, urged that a clergyman was not penally responsible for the acts of a subordinate, unless he distinctly caused or authorized those acts.

Sir ROBERT PHILLIMORE and Lord SELBORNE distinctly laid it down that an incumbent was responsible for all the acts done in his church.

Mr. JEUNE, dealing with the sufficiency of communicants, contended that the two rubrics at the end of the Communion Office were confused, inasmuch as in point of fact they ruled that a clergyman could not do something which should come first unless some other thing which came afterwards should also be done.

Lord SELBORNE observed that the two acts would be consecutive, and depending one upon the other.

Mr. JEUNE remarked that the presumption would naturally be that every one who stayed in church up to the Prayer of Consecration would be a communicant, and what then was to prevent a minister, in that belief, consecrating the elements and partaking of both kinds himself?

The LORD CHANCELLOR said that a communicant, according to the line of thought which pervaded the rubrics, was one who intended to receive and did receive the Holy Communion. The question would be whether at the time anterior to the Consecration Prayer there were sufficient persons assembled in the church to receive the Communion.

Mr. JEUNE urged, in conclusion, that unless it could be shown that a clergyman knew the persons present would not come to the Communion-table, he had a right to consecrate the elements and receive them himself.

Mr. Deane, Q.C., the counsel for the respondent, was not called upon.

The LORD CHANCELLOR, in giving judgment, said that the questions which were raised in this case were merely points of pleading, and, moreover, points of mere technicality in pleading, and their Lordships desired that it might be understood that in the advice which they would humbly lay before her Majesty no proposition of law whatever would be decided and no legal opinion given. They could not but regret that in such a matter great and unnecessary expenditure had been incurred in bringing the case at that stage before their Lordships' tribunal. The objections which had been made to the articles were threefold. The first was that in several of them certain acts were alleged to have been done "in a ceremonial manner," or "as part of the ceremonies of public worship." Their Lordships could not regard those words as more than statements by the pleader that the acts in question were not done in an accidental or casual manner, but deliberately and intentionally as a part of the worship then proceeding. These were facts capable of proof, and no conclusion of law could be derived from the mere statement of them in the articles. On the next point their Lordships held that an incumbent being responsible for the due and lawful performance of Divine Service in his church, it was sufficient to say and to charge that the alleged departures from the order of service therein were sanctioned, permitted, or suffered by him, leaving it to him, if he was able, to prove any circumstances to show that those acts had not his authority, sanction, or permission. As to the third objection relative to the number of communicants, the rubrics were:—"There shall be no celebration of the Lord's Supper except there be a convenient number to communicate with the priest, according to his discretion, and if there be not above twenty persons in the parish of discretion to receive the Communion; yet there shall be no Communion except four (or three at the least) communicate with the priest." Their Lordships considered that at that stage, without offering any opinion on the facts, it was quite sufficient for the pleader to follow the exact words of the rubrics as he had done, leaving it to the minister to allege by way of defence any circumstances of explanation; such as that he had seen a sufficient number of persons in church ready to communicate with him, and that he had expected them to do so. They held, in conclusion, that there was no substance in any of the three objections to the articles, that the decision of the learned Judge at York was correct, and that the appeal must be dismissed, with costs, and that they should advise her Majesty accordingly.

COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13.

(Sittings in Banco, before Mr. Justice BLACKBURN and Mr. Justice ARCHIBALD.)

BURIAL FEES IN DISTRICT CHAPELS AND PAROCHIAL DISTRICTS.

HAMMOND v. M'ALLISTER.

This was a special case, raising the question as to the right of sexton's burial-fees in the district chapel of St. Nicholas, in the parish of Plumstead. The church of St. Nicholas was formerly the parish church of Plumstead, but in the year 1860 the new church of St. Margaret was substituted for it as the parish church, and in 1864 a chapel district was assigned to the church of St. Nicholas. The old churchyard, which was contiguous to the church of St. Nicholas, remained the only churchyard for the parish. The plaintiff was the sexton of the parish, having been appointed by the vicar in 1870. The defendant, who was the incumbent of the district chapel, claimed the right to appoint a clerk and sexton for the chapel to perform burials in the churchyard under 60 Geo. III. cap. 134, and Lord Blandford's Act.

Mr. BENJAMIN SHAW (with him Mr. COWIE) argued the case for the plaintiff; Mr. FITZJAMES STEPHEN, Q.C. (with him Mr. BARROW), for the defendant.

The Court were of opinion that, notwithstanding the Acts relied on, the freehold of the churchyard of the whole parish, and the right to perform burials there, remained in the vicar of the parish, and gave judgment accordingly for the defendant, the sexton of the parish.

ORMEROD v. THE BLACKBURN BURIAL BOARD.

This case raised the question whether the sextons or gravediggers of the districts created under Lord Blandford's Act were entitled to follow their burials to a new burial-ground established for the whole of the district, and to dig the graves of all persons dying within their respective districts buried in the new burial-ground, or whether the Burial Board are entitled to appoint the gravediggers for the ground. The question appears to have caused much local excitement, owing to the contests to which it has given rise, and it is one which arises whenever new burial-grounds are created under such circumstances.

Mr. MANISTY, Q.C., and Mr. FORBES were the plaintiff, the gravediggers; Mr. HOLKER, Solicitor-General, was for the Burial Board.

In the result, The Court gave judgment in favour of the claims of the gravediggers.

COURT OF ERROR IN THE EXCHEQUER CHAMBER.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 30.

(Sittings in Error from the Court of Common Pleas before Baron BRAMWELL, Mr. Justice BLACKBURN, Mr. Justice LUSH, Baron CLEASBY, and Baron AMPHLETT.)

THE QUEEN v. GREEN.

The question in this case, raised on mandamus was whether the parishioners of March, Cambridgeshire, were entitled to elect both the churchwardens, or whether the rector was entitled to appoint one. The question turned on the terms of local Acts. The Court of Queen's Bench, a court of three judges—Mr. Justice Blackburn, Mr. Justice Quain, and Mr. Justice Archibald—decided, by two judges to one, in favour of the rector, Mr. Justice Quain dissenting in favour of the inhabitants. In this Court the judges also were divided, the four Exchequer judges holding in favour of the inhabitants, the three judges of the Common Pleas in favour of the rector.

Lord COLERIDGE delivered the judgment of the minority—himself, Mr. Justice Brett, and Mr. Justice Denman—in favour of the rector; and Baron Cleasby delivered the judgment of the majority in favour of the inhabitants.

Thus the Court of Queen's Bench were two to one in favour of the rector; the Court of Error were four to three in favour of the inhabitants; and, on the whole, taking the judges in both Courts, they were equally divided, five judges—Lord Coleridge, Mr. Justice Blackburn, Mr. Justice Brett, Mr. Justice Denman, and Mr. Justice Archibald—being in favour of the rector, and five—Baron Bramwell, Baron Cleasby, Baron Pollock, Mr. Justice Quain, and Baron Amphlett—being in favour of the inhabitants. The majority, however, of the Court of Error being in favour of the inhabitants, they have judgment in their favour, though there is an equal weight of judicial authority in favour of the rector.

COURT OF ARCHES.

(Before Sir R. J. PHILLIMORE, Dean of Arches.)

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 23.

THE BISHOP OF LLANDAFF v. JOHN.

In this case Mr. WALTER PHILLIMORE, on the part of the Bishop of Llandaff, moved the Court to accept letters of request, under the Church Discipline Act, to hear and determine a prosecution instituted by his Lordship against the Rev. Ebenezer John, a beneficed clergyman in his diocese, for offences of which that Act has cognizance. He explained that as the Bishop himself was the patron of Mr. John's living, he had been unable to take any part in the preliminary proceedings in the matter, but the Archbishop of Canterbury, in his stead and on his complaint, had issued a commission, who had reported that there was a prima facie case against the defendant. His application, therefore, was that the Court of Arches should now accept letters of request to decide the case.

The defendant did not appear personally or by counsel.

The DEAN of ARCHES accepted the letters of request, and ordered the usual citation to issue.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26.

MARTIN v. MACKONOCHE.

(See Ecclesiastical Gazette, November 10, p. 68.) Mr. A. J. STEPHENS, Q.C., and Mr. B. SHAW were for the promoter; Messrs. Moore and Curry were the proctors; Mr. ARTHUR CHARLES, Mr. JEUNE, and Mr. WALTER PHILLIMORE were for the defendant. The proctors were Messrs. Brooks, Tanner, and Jenkins.

The shorthand writer having been sworn to, take an accurate note of the proceedings, Dr. STEPHENS then opened the case of the promoter, Mr. Martin, which, he said, he should prove by witnesses he intended to call. Omitting the formal matters, there were nine charges alleged in the articles. The first of these was that Mr. Mackonochie had used lighted candles, placed on a ledge over the communion-table, both before and during the communion service, and as connected therewith, at a time when candles were not needed for the purpose of giving light. With regard to this charge, the learned counsel read the remarks of the Lord Chancellor (Cairns) in the case of "Martin v. Mackonochie" before the Privy Council, and of the Dean of Arches in "Elphinstone v. Purchas," and "The Bishop of Winchester v. Wix." The next charge was that of marching up and down the church in procession, with a crucifix borne on a pole, and wearing an albe, a cope, a biretta, and subsequently a chasuble. The next charge was that of standing in front of the communion-table with his back turned to the congregation; which had been, the learned counsel contended, expressly decided by the Privy Council to be illegal. The other charges were the use of a wafer in lieu of the "pure wheaten bread" prescribed by the Church; the singing of the "Agnus," immediately after the consecration; making the sign of the cross at various parts of the service; and, lastly, kissing the open page of the service book. In support of these charges two witnesses were called, one a solicitor's clerk, and the other a tradesman, neither of whom was a parishioner of St. Alban's, or in any way connected with the church. Both witnesses were asked as to what was done by, or in the presence of, Mr. Mackonochie during the services in St. Alban's on Christmas-day last, on Easter-day last, and on several Sundays in 1873 and the present year. Both deposed to the use of lighted candles and wafer bread, to the procession with crucifix, incense, and banners; to the elevation of chalice and paten by the officiating minister (identified as the defendant) above the top of his head; to the turning of the back on the congregation, the singing of the "Agnus," the sign of the cross, and the kissing of the Prayer Book. Both were cross-examined by Mr. Arthur Charles for the defendant, with a view to show that they were not parishioners, and were sent to St. Alban's Church for the purpose of manufacturing evidence. But, with the exception of the question of how high Mr. Mackonochie elevated the elements above the communion-table, the evidence was left uncontradicted. One of the witnesses was asked as to his knowledge of ecclesiastical ritual, and gave as the source of his information a work known as "The Ritual Reason Why." The author of this work, Mr. Walker, was then called to prove that, as ceremoniaries of Mr. Purchas's chapel at Brighton, he had charge of the ceremonial department generally. In cross-examination he said that the vestments deposed to as having been recently worn by Mr. Mackonochie were in use in the Church of England in the second year of Edward the Sixth.

This having completed the case for the prosecution, Mr. Charles proceeded to open the defence, and proposed, before arguing the points of law, to supplement, and in one respect to modify, the evidence of the prosecution.

This course not being objected to,

Mr. LAYMAN was called, who said that, though never resident within the parish of St. Alban's, he had for many years been churchwarden. This gentleman had been in the church on all the occasions deposed to by the previous witnesses, and had "minutely observed" the officiating clergyman during the consecration prayer. He distinctly observed that both the paten and the chalice were raised to a height perceptibly below the forehead and never above the head, as stated by one of the witnesses. As to the use of wafer bread, he could not say what bread was used, as he had not himself received the Holy Communion at St. Alban's since the introduction of the wafer.

This being the only evidence for the defence, Mr. CHARLES resumed the argument. The acts of which the promoter complained might be divided into (1) acts done by the defendant which had not been dealt with by previous decisions; (2) acts which had been dealt with by the Court of Arches in "Elphinstone v. Purchas;" (3) acts committed which had been dealt with by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in "Hebbert v. Purchas." As to the acts comprised under the first head—the using lighted candles during Morning Prayer, and elevating the consecrated elements higher than was necessary—he contended that neither practice had ever been judicially pronounced to be illegal; nor, if it were otherwise, was the evidence sufficient to convict the defendant of a criminal offence. As to the second class of acts, dealt with in the Arches Court in "Elphinstone v. Purchas," he was not prepared to argue, in the face of that decision, that the change of vestment by Mr. Mackonochie during the procession was not illegal. As to the singing of the "Agnus Dei," he contended that it was not necessarily forbidden because not mentioned in the rubric, and, if it could be regarded as ancillary to the decent performance of the service, it would be no more objectionable than any other hymn. Either all hymns whatsoever were illegal as they certainly were unauthorized, or this particular hymn was lawful.

The DEAN of ARCHES referred to the judgment of "Martin v. Mackonochie," by the Judicial Committee, in which it was held that all omissions and additions to the Prayer Book were illegal. There was nothing in the Prayer Book about hymns.

Mr. CHARLES went over the several articles on which evidence had been given. Many things were done in services which were not prescribed; for instance, in the recital of the Creed, it was usual to turn to the east, but there was no direction given on the subject.

The DEAN of ARCHES remarked that when he was at Christ Church College it was customary not only to turn to the east, but to bow to the altar.

Mr. CHARLES dwelt on the case of "Hebbert v. Purchas" as to vestments and as to the position of the celebrant. Wafer bread was a new subject. The Judicial Committee reversed the decision of this Court. But that was no argument on the other side, as Mr. Purchas did not appear either in this Court or before the Judicial Committee, and he therefore wished to be heard on the question—namely, on the eucharistic vestments, the position of the celebrant, and the wafer bread, which questions had been decided by the Judicial Committee on only hearing one side. And he wished to bring these important matters before this Court, which were of great moment to Mr. Mackonochie.

The DEAN of ARCHES said it was certainly a most important point whether he could hear argument and give his opinion on three points which had been decided by the Judicial Committee. He would consider the matter and give his decision in the morning.

Mr. JEUNE followed on other matters, as also Mr. PHILLIMORE, and the case was adjourned.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 27.

The DEAN of ARCHES, on taking his seat, gave his decision on the important question raised on the preceding day, as to a re-argument of three points already decided by the Judicial Committee. He said the 7th, 8th, and 9th articles of the charge against Mr. Mackonochie related to the use of certain vestments or ornaments of the minister; the position of the celebrant before the holy table, and the use of wafer bread in the administration of the Holy Eucharist. On former occasions this Court had pronounced judgment upon all these subjects favourable to the defendant. The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council had overruled his judgments. In that state of things an application was now made to him by counsel for the defendant to hear an argument which had for its object to show that the decisions of this Court were right and the judgments of the appellate court were wrong. The application was admitted to be unusual, but it was said not to be unprecedented, and various cases were referred to in support of the proposition. It was argued before the Court with considerable force that the present case came within the principles of these precedents for several reasons, among them that the judgments of the appellate court were delivered on hearing of an ex-parte case, and therefore had not the judicial weight of a judicial precedent; that the judgment of the appellate court upon the questions now before him had been conflicting and irreconcilable, and that it could be shown to be founded on mistakes of fact as well as of law. Under these peculiar circumstances, it would, he (the dean) thought, be competent to this Court to allow the questions to be re-argued before it, more especially as it appeared to him that the judgment of the appellate court in "Hebbert v. Purchas" as to the ornaments of the minister was irreconcilable with the former judgment of the same tribunal in "Westerton v. Liddell," and with respect to the position of the minister, irreconcilable with the former judgment in "Martin v. Mackonochie," and because, with respect to the use of wafer bread, he thought it probable, if they had not been deprived of the usual assistance of counsel, they would have arrived at a different conclusion. It did not require a long experience with discharge of judicial duties to be aware of the very great disadvantage under which a court laboured when it was compelled to decide a case, and especially a very important case, upon an ex-parte argument. Under such circumstances he thought it would be competent to him to hear now a re-argument on the points mentioned. But upon reflection he was satisfied that such a course would, on the whole, be inexpedient, and would not further the ends of justice. All the points mentioned might be argued before the Privy Council, and if there had been any miscarriage of justice in the former decision of that tribunal, it was fully competent to it to rectify its error without the intervention of another judgment on the same subjects from this Court. He thought it more consistent with the usual practice of courts, and far more proper, that the argument which it was now sought to address to this Court should be addressed to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. He therefore declined to hear it.

Dr. STEPHENS and Mr. SHAW were heard in reply.

The DEAN of ARCHES said he would consider the points before he gave his decision.

Judgment reserved accordingly.

COOMBE v. REV. JOHN EDWARDS, JUN.

(See Ecclesiastical Gazette, June 9, pp. 155, 156.)

This case came before the Court on the admission of the articles. The defendant is Vicar of Prestbury, near Cheltenham, and it was alleged that various ritualistic practices had taken place in his church, and the matter had excited much interest. The cause had been delayed, owing to the appeal before the Judicial Committee, "Parnell v. Roughton," which was decided on Monday.

Mr. A. J. STEPHENS, Q.C., Mr. JEUNE, and Mr. WALTER PHILLIMORE objected to the articles.

Dr. DEANE, Q.C., and Mr. B. SHAW on the other side.

The DEAN of ARCHES, after a discussion, admitted the articles, after directing an alteration, and the case will now proceed to hearing.

CONSISTORY COURT OF LONDON.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 23.

EVANS v. DODSON.

Dr. TRISTRAM gave judgment in this case (see Ecclesiastical Gazette, November 10, p. 68), in which Dr. EVANS, as rector of St. Mary-le-Strand, cited Mr. Dodson, one of the churchwardens of the parish, for removing two offering boxes from the interior of the church for "altar flowers." The excuse of the churchwarden was that the boxes interfered with the offerings for the poor, and as they had been placed without a faculty, he did not consider that a faculty was necessary for the removal; and further, that he was not aware that he was committing an ecclesiastical offence.

Mr. PHILLIMORE prayed that the boxes be restored, and that the churchwarden be condemned in costs.

Mr. B. SHAW, for Mr. Dodson, complained of the course adopted against him. There had been considerable contention in the parish for years.

Dr. TRISTRAM, in delivering the judgment of the Court, after reciting the facts, laid down some rather important principles as to the duties of churchwardens. Although the boxes had been placed in the church for "altar flowers" without a faculty by the rector, "it was an ecclesiastical offence to remove them by the churchwardens;" they had only the custody of the church under the minister. The proper course would have been to apply to the Diocesan Court. Mr. Dodson had, therefore, been guilty of a breach of ecclesiastical law, though unintentionally, and he was bound to admonish him for his conduct, and also to admonish him that he do not repeat the like offence. Further, Dr. EVANS prayed that the boxes be restored. Similar boxes had been placed by Dr. Evans, and were now in the church, and as the original boxes were for altar flowers, he could not make such an order. He condemned Mr. Dodson in costs in obtaining the order for the admonition, and granted Mr. Dodson his costs for opposing the restoration of the boxes.

Order accordingly.

UNATTACHED STUDENTS.

Mr. J. H. Jones has been recommended by the censors for election to an exhibition founded by the Grocers' Company, of London, for unattached students. Mr. C. F. Cole, unattached student, has been appointed to the office of librarian, now first established by the delegacy of unattached students.

It is announced by the Delegates of Unattached Students that the Warden and Court of the Clothworkers' Company in London propose to found three Exhibitions for the benefit of unattached students in the University of Oxford, for which liberality they tender their best thanks to the Company. The Grocers' Company, it may be noticed, also give an Exhibition tenable by unattached students. The Delegates propose that the Exhibitions shall be ruled by the following conditions:—1. The Exhibitions shall be three in number, of the value of 50*l.* a year each, tenable for three years from the date of matriculation. They shall be continued only during the pleasure of the Court. 2. One Exhibition shall be awarded each year by the Company, after a competitive examination among candidates proposing to matriculate in the Michaelmas Term. (The first examination, however, shall be held at the beginning of Hilary Term, 1875, and shall be open to all persons who may have matriculated in the Michaelmas Term, 1874, or who may be proposing to matriculate in the Hilary Term, 1875.) 3. The Exhibitions are given for the encouragement of the study of natural science. 4. The arrangements for examination shall be as follows:—Candidates must offer either,—A. Elementary mathematics (i.e., Algebra, "Euclid," I.—IV. and VI., Plane Trigonometry); or B. Elementary mechanics and hydro-mechanics. They are at liberty also to offer one, or at most two, of the following subjects:—a, chemistry; b, heat; c, electricity; d, geology; e, botany. The candidate who, in the judgment of the Examiners, is the best, shall be recommended to the Company by the Delegates for an Exhibition. 5. The selected candidate must satisfy the Censors, (1) That he will be able with due diligence to pass the several examinations required for the B.A. degree; (2) That his character is good. 6. The Delegates, in case the Examiners state that there is no candidate worthy of an Exhibition, shall report the fact to the Company, and (subject to their approval) may either suppress the Exhibition for the year, or may offer it for competition in some other subject recognized by the University among its examination subjects for the B.A. degree. 7. The elected candidate shall be required to matriculate at once, and to keep residence from the time of election, unless hindered by some serious and sufficient cause to be approved and certified by the Censors. 8. Due publication of the time, subjects, and conditions of the examination shall be made each year by the Delegates. The Exhibitioners must pass responses within four terms from matriculation, and moderations within eight terms; failure in either case carrying with it the loss of the Exhibition. 9. Before payment of the second and third years' exhibition, the Censors must certify to the Company that the Exhibitioner has been duly diligent in the study of natural science, and well conditioned, and has passed the requisite examinations. In case the Censors refuse to grant such certificate, the Company reserves to itself the right of withdrawing the exhibition. 10. If an Exhibitioner becomes a member of a college or hall, or removes his name from the books of the University, he vacates his exhibition. An examination for one of the above exhibitions will begin on Thursday, January 14, 1875.

ST. MARTIN'S, OXFORD.—BISHOP COLENZO.

It having been announced that the Right Rev. Dr. Colenso would preach in the Church of St. Martin's, Oxford, on Sunday, 29th of November, the following monition was served upon the rector and posted upon the church door:—

"John Fielder, by Divine permission Lord

Bishop of Oxford, to the Rev. Carteret John Halford Fletcher, M.A., rector of the parish of St. Martin (Carfax), in the city of Oxford, within our diocese, greeting. Whereas we have been informed that a notice has been affixed to the door of the church of the aforesaid parish of St. Martin, and otherwise published, that a sermon will be preached on Sunday next, in the said church, by the Right Rev. John William Colenso, Doctor in Divinity; and whereas the said Dr. John William Colenso hath not been licensed nor allowed to preach by us, according to the laws, canons, and constitution in that behalf. Now we do hereby admonish you not to suffer the said Dr. John William Colenso to preach, catechize, or perform any other ecclesiastical function in your parish church before named. Given under our hand and episcopal seal this 27th day of November, in the year of our Lord, 1874, and of our consecration the 5th.

"J. F. OXON."

"In consequence of the above monition, the Bishop of Natal will not preach at St. Martin's to-morrow."

"CARTERET J. H. FLETCHER, Rector.
28th November, 1874."

The rector afterwards added a written intimation that he would read the bishop's sermon, and that the offertory would be devoted to the clergy of Natal.

The BISHOP of LINCOLN has addressed the following letter to the Venerable the Archdeacons of the Diocese of Lincoln, and to the heads of those colleges of which the Bishop of Lincoln is visitor:—

"My Reverend Brethren,—The Right Rev. J. W. Colenso, D.D., having been recently invited to preach in a church in an English diocese and in a chapel in a college in one of our Universities, I desire your attention to the following facts. In the year 1863 forty-two bishops concurred in an address to Bishop Colenso, urging him to resign his bishopric. In 1863 his writings on certain books of the Old Testament were condemned as erroneous and pernicious by the bishops and clergy in the Convocation of this province. The Bishop of Capetown, as Metropolitan of the Church of South Africa, summoned Bishop Colenso before him and his suffragans. Bishop Colenso appeared before them by his proctor, and was condemned for heresy, and sentence of deposition was pronounced upon him. This act of the Church of South Africa was approved by the bishops and clergy in the Convocations of Canterbury and York, by the General Convention of the Church of the United States in 1865, by the Episcopal Synod of the Scottish Church, by the Provincial Synod of the Church in Canada; and the spiritual validity of that sentence of deposition was accepted by fifty-six bishops on the occasion of the Lambeth Conference in 1867. In the name, therefore, of the Great Head of the Church, and for the sake of the souls purchased by His Blood, I earnestly exhort and entreat you to assist me in guarding the congregations of all churches and chapels under my episcopal care against the erroneous teaching of the said Dr. Colenso, who must not be permitted to preach in any of the said churches or chapels until he repents of his errors, and publicly retracts the same, which may God, in His mercy, grant, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

"I am, your faithful brother,

"C. LINCOLN."

"December 3."

METROPOLIS.

Decoration of St. Paul's.—At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the St. Paul's Completion Fund, held at the Chapter House on the 27th ult., the Dean of St. Paul's in the chair, the following resolution adopted by the Chapter was read:—"That, though the Dean and Chapter have given a general approval to the designs submitted by Mr. Burges, they think that, considering the divided state of opinion in the Executive Committee, and also in their own body, it is desirable to suspend for the present any attempt to proceed with the decoration of the cathedral. They recommend that steps should be taken for rescinding the agreement with Messrs. Burges and Penrose, which has been found to be highly inconvenient in its working. They hope that the Committee, in dealing with Mr. Burges, will treat him with the liberality to which in their judgment his professional eminence and his services have entitled him. That, subject to the expression of an adverse opinion in the Executive Committee, the Dean and Chapter deem it advisable to withdraw the permission given by them on the 21st July, that temporary experiments should be made on the walls of the apse of the cathedral, with a view to illustrate the effect of Mr. Burges's plans. That these resolutions be communicated by the Dean to the Executive Committee." After considerable discussion, in which it seemed to be the general feeling that it would be unwise to attempt to carry Mr. Burges's plans into execution at present, and also that nothing should be done which could in any way be construed into a stigma upon Mr. Burges's work and designs, which evinced remarkable talent and originality, the following resolution, proposed by the Dean and seconded by Canon Gregory, was carried by a majority of nine to four:—"The Committee agree to comply with the recommendation of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, that steps should be taken for rescinding the agreement with Messrs. Burges and Penrose, which has been found to be highly inconvenient in its working." It was then proposed by the Dean, seconded by Mr. William Longman, and carried unanimously:—"That the question of Mr. Burges's remuneration for work hitherto done be referred to the Finance Committee."

PROVINCIAL.

The Festival of the Three Choirs.—The following resolution embodies the final decision of the Dean and Chapter of Worcester in connexion with the Festival of the Three Choirs:—"They deeply regret the differences that exist respecting the form and conduct of the future musical festivals to be held in Worcester Cathedral. They adhere, however, to their already expressed opinion that sacred music of the highest character should be combined on these occasions with religious services, open to all classes of the community, and they feel sure that with the assistance of the principal gentlemen of the city and diocese of Worcester, and with the co-operation, which they hope to retain, of the choirs of Gloucester and Hereford, a festival of prayer and praise worthy of the occasion, and likely to secure the attendance of all worshippers—lovers of the finest sacred music—may be satisfactorily organized."

SCOTLAND.

The Scotch Episcopal Church.—The Annual Meeting of the Scotch Episcopal Synod was held in Edinburgh on the 18th ult., the Primus in the chair. On the motion of the Primus, seconded by the Bishop of Brechin, it was agreed,—"That the Primus be requested to convey to Dr. Von Döllinger, on behalf of the Bishops of the Scottish Church, their sense of the great value of his services to the Church in Christ, in having called the late conference at Bonn, and presided over its discussions with so much wisdom, impartiality, and consideration for the feelings and opinions of other members of the Church Catholic. They cannot but regard such united action as an earnest of yet fuller agreement and more intimate union among those who hold the one faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, and who adhere closely to the form of doctrine which was delivered by Apostolic teaching and held by the primitive and undivided Church. Their hopes of the ultimate success of this blessed work of union have been in no small degree increased by the judgment, piety, and learning displayed in the late conference by him who was its President, and they pray God to guide them and him in the great work to which they have been called."

The following resolution was then adopted:—"That the Bishops consider it desirable to constitute the Board of Foreign Missions established in 1871, and that the draught schemes approved by the Board be submitted by the Bishops to their respective diocesan synods, for their consideration at their next meetings, and that the results be communicated by the Bishops to the Synod next year."

The next Monthly General Meeting will be held on Tuesday, 9th February, 1875, at two p.m. SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.

67, Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Tuesday, January 5, 1874.

Major-Gen. Sir H. CHAS. B. DAUBENY, K.C.B. in the Chair.

After Prayers the Minutes of the last Meeting were read.

Money Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Nova Scotia.—The Bishop of Nova Scotia, writing from his diocese on the 25th of November, 1874, forwarded and very strongly recommended an application from the Rev. J. A. Richey, for a grant in aid of a new church in the Mission district of "Tanjus and Spy Bay."

Mr. Richey wrote as follows:—

"The site of the proposed church is a very desirable one, in a small but growing settlement on the eastern shore of Halifax County. The material is prepared and on the spot, for a building sixty feet in length by thirty in width, including a chancel twenty feet by fifteen. There will be a good vestry and porch. The roof will be open and nearly equilateral. The church will be of wood on a foundation bed of granite. The cost is estimated at from $1700 to $2000. Of this amount the people have by their own unaided exertion already raised about $500, and something more has been guaranteed to them."

The foundation of granite has been laid, and the work of erection will immediately begin."

The Bishop said, "I heartily recommend the foregoing appeal. The district is entirely inhabited by fishermen, and Mr. Richey is a very zealous and hardworking man, badly remunerated."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 25*l.* in this case; the Society's grant to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from all liability for debt, and secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Diocese of Nova Scotia.—The Bishop also recommended an application on one of the Society's forms, made by the Rev. Thomas B. McLean, Rector of Summerside, in Prince Edward Island.

It is proposed to build a new church at a cost of $6000 = 1250*l.* sterling, if built of wood only, or of 1850*l.* if cased with brick. Towards this sum 600*l.* sterling are promised definitely, and some small additional sums are expected. The proposed church will accommodate at least 400 people. The population is 3000. The site is already invested in the Bishop of Nova Scotia and the Diocesan Synod. There are about six merchants, so called, who are in reality shopkeepers; the rest are mostly farmers employing no hands but their own. There is a great variety of Dissenters, who have much larger places of worship than the Church-people. The present church holds only 140. The people are now anxious to build; one person has offered $1000 = 200*l.*, if a like sum can be raised in England.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to recommend a grant of 40*l.*, on the same conditions as those stated in the former case.

Diocese of Calcutta.—The Bishop of Calcutta, writing from Lucknow on the 3rd of November, 1874, forwarded and very strongly recommended an application from the Rev. J. C. Whitley, dated Ranchi. Mr. Whitley spoke most gratefully of the grant of 1000*l.* made by the Society in April, 1870, towards the Chota Nagpore Mission. The following is an extract from Mr. Whitley's letter:—

"You will remember that six years ago, when the old German missionaries with several thousands of their people were received into the Church of England, there was absolutely no suitable accommodation for either church, schools, or residence. A great deal has since that time been accomplished. Two dwelling-houses for missionaries, a boarding-house for the school-children, a master's house, and a large church, which, however, is not a foot too large, have been built. In a large Mission like Chota Nagpore, there are always needs which have to be supplied from funds specially collected. The grant which we receive from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel is not large enough to meet our current expenses, and we are therefore compelled to make continual exertions to meet these, and cannot gather funds for special objects. We have no school-house. There are above 150 children in our boarding schools, and we have been obliged to make use of the room in which they sleep and eat, for school purposes. We shall probably be able to get some assistance from Government after we have realized something from other sources. A school-house would cost about 600*l.*"

The Bishop writes most highly of Mr. Whitley's work, and of his colleague's, Mr. Vallings, describing it as "really beyond praise."

He adds, "The numbers who could be gathered into the fold can be guessed from those already given us by God. The increase of the ministry at Ranchi would be an ingathering of thousands. Every labourer there meets an immediate response. The measure of success is simply the amount of work. I earnestly commend this mission and its application to the Committee's favourable consideration."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 100*l.* for the completion of the proposed school, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Melbourne.—The Bishop of Melbourne, who is in this country, made application in a letter dated 29th December, 1874, for a grant toward the erection of a church to be called St. Saviour's, in a poor suburb of the city of Melbourne.

The following is the Bishop's statement:—

"The city is divided, like an English town, into a number of distinct parishes, each having its own church and clergyman; but these are altogether insufficient for the wants of the people. Several populous localities are unprovided with churches, and each parish has for the most part only a single clergyman for the performance of all ministerial duties within it. Hence a large number of families, especially of the poorer classes, while nominally of our communion, never attend our services or Sunday Schools, nor are ever visited by our clergy. For this defect in our Ecclesiastical system it is very difficult to supply a remedy; for, as the Committee of the Society are aware, there are no endowments in the church of my diocese, and the clergy are in general wholly dependent upon their congregations for their support. Some, indeed, receive partial assistance from the State, but this will cease at the end of next year, and the S.P.G. gives us some little aid. Now in those parts of the city where additional churches and clergymen are most needed the people are too poor to maintain a minister for themselves, and therefore it is undesirable to form new parishes there.

"Under these circumstances it has been determined, at the suggestion of an earnest layman, to try the experiment of erecting a Missionary church, in which the sittings shall be wholly free, and the minister maintained by extraneous contributions. Accordingly a very convenient site, near the junction of three parishes, and in the midst of a large poor population, has been purchased at a cost of 250*l.*, and the building is already in progress. The scheme has my cordial approval, and it has also been approved by the clergymen of the three parishes. The contract for the portion of the building now in course of erection is 1405*l.*, for which walls, roof, floor, and windows, but not internal fittings, will be provided. Subscriptions amounting to about 1200*l.*, have been paid or promised, and the Committee hope to see the church opened free of debt in March next. To help them in the work, they have earnestly asked me, through their Honorary Secretary, to "beg for aid from your Society," and I have very readily consented to do so. 'Your Committee,' he justly remarks, 'will not need to be reminded that the raising of subscriptions for such an object is a very much more difficult task than to obtain contributions for a building in which the contributors obtain advantages for themselves and their children in the way of church accommodation. It is purely a missionary undertaking, and, as such, needs no further commendation to the favourable attention of your Venerable Missionary Society.'

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50*l.* in this case on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Ontario.—The Bishop forwarded and recommended an application made on one of the Society's forms for a grant for the completion of a church in the parish of Napanee, in his diocese, which was commenced in May, 1871. In December, 1871, when the roof was on, a gale blew the edifice to ruins. It was therefore necessary to begin afresh in the spring of 1872, using what was possible of the old walls and materials. The estimated loss was about $300 or $400. The total cost of the building, irrespective of the loss, will be about $1200, increased by the loss to $1500 at least. The work has been going on gradually, and has been paid for as it went on; $80 or $100 are still required for its completion.

The church is of brick, and will accommodate about 120 persons. The population is a scattered one, and not easy to be reckoned. There are about forty families belonging to the congregation—these consist mostly of farmers, with fairly comfortable means.

The site is vested in the Bishop.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, and on the understanding that no previous grant had been made, to grant 10*l.* in this case, on the usual conditions.

Book Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Book Grants, Special and Ordinary, were agreed to.

Diocese of Huron.—The Bishop of this diocese on 23rd September, 1874, wrote as follows:—

"May I ask for a grant of Service Books and such other useful books and tracts for the benefit of the diocese, usually granted by the Society?"

In a subsequent letter the Bishop gave the following explanation:—

"I meant several sets of Service Books, to supply not less than fifteen churches built in the remoter and poorer parts of my diocese. The useful books I asked for are to help us to make up a library in our Chapter-house, for the use of all the clergy of the diocese; the tracts for distribution."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant fifteen sets of Svo Service Books, S.P.O.K. books to the value of 10*l.* for the Chapter Library, and S.P.C.K. tracts to the value of 5*l.* for distribution.

Durham Training College for Schoolmasters.—

The Rev. S. B. Smith, Principal of this Institution, who had in October last obtained a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 5*l.*, to meet an equal purchase—the whole of the books being for prizes to such students as should succeed in obtaining first classes in the Examination in Religious Knowledge, which was then about to take place under the auspices of the National Society—now applied for a further grant of the same value, on similar conditions, for the same purpose.

More of the students (viz., nineteen out of fifty-seven, ten of the 2nd year, nine of the 1st year) having succeeded in getting first classes than had been expected, it had become necessary to increase the money to be given in prizes, as each pupil who gained a first class had been led to expect a guinea prize.

Mr. Smith wrote as follows:—

"The sum which we have to spend is, indeed, a large one for such a purpose, but my committee, looking at the state of Religious knowledge in the elementary schools of this diocese, thought that a liberal expenditure in this matter would be a decidedly wise plan to adopt. I believe the results will completely justify their policy."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 5*l.* worth more books, to meet a further outlay of 5*l.* in this case.

Diocese of Canterbury.—The Rev. E. Gilder, Hon. Secretary of the Canterbury Diocesan Education Society, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 15*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*, to meet an equal expenditure on the part of the Diocesan Society; the whole of the books to be given as prizes to pupil teachers and paid monitors who obtained first classes in the last Examination in Religious Knowledge, according to the following scale:—

Candidates of 1st year	...	...	6s.
" 2nd "	...	...	8s.
" 3rd "	...	...	10s.
" 4th "	...	...	12s.
" 5th "	...	...	14s.

There were 139 school departments represented; 256 pupil teachers, &c., were presented for examination, of whom—

7 Preliminary monitors gained 1st classes.
16 pupil teachers of the 1st year gained 1st classes.
13 " of the 2nd "	"
22 " of the 3rd "	"
7 " of the 4th "	"
6 " of the 5th "	"

In all 71

It was agreed to make the grant, at a charge upon the Society of 15l. 3s. 6d., as requested by Mr. Gilder.

Grant recommended by the Standing Committee, of which notice was given at the last Meeting.

Church Education Society for Ireland.—In accordance with notice given at the last meeting, and for reasons set forth at length in the Monthly Report for December, the Standing Committee proposed to set apart 300l. for the purpose of assisting the Church Education Society for Ireland to retain each of their fifty students (male and female) during an additional period of five months, with a view to preparing them more efficiently for their work; the grant to be paid when the Standing Committee shall be satisfied that the object in view has been attained thereby.

The Standing Committee stated they had, since the notice of this proposal had been given, received letters from the Archbishop of Dublin and from Canon Loeper, thanking them very heartily for the proposal.

The proposal was then put from the chair and carried.

Reports and Notices from the Standing Committee.

Free Distribution of Tracts.—The Standing Committee reported that, during the year 1874, a copy of every new Tract had been sent once a quarter to every Clerical Member of the Society; that this had been done with a view to draw the attention of those who were most likely to distribute tracts, to the new publications of the kind as they were produced. The Committee proposed to continue this plan for another year, and took this opportunity of drawing the attention of Members to it.

Diocese of London.—St. Mark's, Walworth.—The Standing Committee reported that the Rev. R. R. Resker, Vicar of this parish, had applied for a grant to enable him to rent, for Sunday School purposes, a room in the Board School in Penrose-street, Walworth. The room will accommodate 245 children; the rent, exclusive of cleaning, will be 30l. 12s. 6d.

Mr. Resker is confident that he will speedily be able to fill this room with children and to obtain teachers. His present Sunday School, held in an iron Mission-room, is sadly overcrowded, and he has some classes in his church. The iron room will still serve for the infants.

Mr. Resker says that, unless he gets help from the Society, he fears he must abandon his scheme, as his parish is inhabited, with the exception of a very few tradesmen, by the lower labouring classes, and all funds for parochial purposes have to be raised outside the parish.

The Standing Committee had agreed to grant 22l., care being taken to make it distinctly understood that this grant and other similar grants were for one year only, and further to request quarterly reports as to the success of the Sunday Schools assisted.

Clerkenwell.—The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that the Rev. Robert Maguire, Vicar of Clerkenwell, had applied for a grant to enable him to rent, for Sunday School purposes, the "Bowling-green Lane Schools," which are London School Board Schools in his parish.

Mr. Maguire stated that the part of the building which he proposed to rent would accommodate 486 children, and might be had for 48l. 12s.; that he was most anxious to secure this, and confident that he could make good use of the accommodation without in any way interfering with his existing Sunday Schools.

The Committee reported that they had agreed to set apart 36l., to enable them to assist Mr. Maguire in the rent for one year, it being distinctly understood that the assistance thus rendered was for one year only, and that an account would be required each quarter as to the success of the new Sunday Schools.

Diocese of Antigua.—The Standing Committee reported that the Rev. Thomas Owen, Commissary to the Bishop of Antigua, had written to request a grant in aid of the passage out to Antigua of the Rev. S. Dutton Green. Mr. Green will have charge of a parish either in Antigua itself, or else in the Island of Montserrat.

The Bishop, writing lately, stated that it would be of the greatest service to him, if, when Mr. Owen had succeeded in finding a suitable clergyman to work in his disestablished and disendowed diocese, the Society would pay his passage.

The cost of the passage-money is 30l., and, without it, Mr. Owen fears he shall not be able to send out the clergyman he has in view.

The Standing Committee reported that they had agreed to grant 30l. from Canning's Fund for this purpose.

Diocese of Dunedin.—The Standing Committee reported that the Hon and Rev. L. Neville, Commissary to the Bishop of Dunedin, had applied for a grant in aid of the passage to Dunedin of the Rev. W. J. Price, M.A. Oxon, formerly Curate to the Bishop, to whom the Bishop has offered a sphere of Missionary work. Mr. Neville says that he has no funds from which to help Mr. Price, who cannot afford the cost of the passage himself. Mr. Neville adds that he finds extreme difficulty in obtaining good candidates for the work; so that the present opportunity should not be lost. The total cost of passage is estimated at 80l., but the Bishop is prepared to pay some portion of it.

The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that they had voted 50l. from Canning's Fund in this case.

Diocese of Huron.—The Standing Committee reported that the Bishop of Huron had applied for a grant, in aid of the maintenance of Mr. Johnson, a native of Canada, aged twenty-three, as a student for Holy Orders, at the Theological College, London, Ontario.

Mr. Johnson is the son of a widow, with a family of six children, and in very limited circumstances.

The course of study will end in June, 1876, having commenced in October last. A student cannot meet the expenses at the college with less than £300, or 75l. currency, per annum. This would include tuition, books, clothes, and board.

The Committee had agreed to reserve 75l. to enable them to make payments at the rate of 37l. 10s. for two years in aid of the training of Mr. Johnson—the payments to be made quarterly, subject to the Bishop's certifying that Mr. Johnson is in every respect going on satisfactorily.

The Fund of Clericus.—The Standing Committee reported that they had received through the Chaplain-General, the following application from Archdeacon Wright, Chaplain of the Forces, for grants of Books from the Fund of "Clericus," for the use of the Troops, &c., at Portsmouth; and that they had had great pleasure in making all the grants requested, except the 500 Bibles, which cannot, in accordance with the Trust, be supplied out of "the Fund of Clericus." The Tracts asked for have been granted to the value of 5l., and any subsequent grant will be made only on fresh application. The Committee are glad to draw attention to this application, hoping that it may lead to other similar applications reaching them for books of a religious tendency, other than Bibles, for the use of her Majesty's Land Forces, whether at home or abroad.

The following is Archdeacon Wright's application, countersigned by Lieut.-General H. Doyle.

Portsmouth, Dec. 23, 1874.

"DEAR SIR,—As all Military Hospitals have been placed under a new system, it is very desirable that an effort shall now be made to supply them with Libraries of Books fitted for the Patients, who are often left either to a few newspapers, or books not best fitted for sick and suffering men.

"I have therefore to request that the following grants may be made to the Hospitals of the Southern District from the Fund "Clericus":—

"1st.—Books to the value of 25l., for the use of the large General Hospital of Portsmouth. The number of Patients varies from 100 to 200.

"2nd.—Books to the value of 20l. for the use of the large General Hospital of Gosport Garrison and Alverstoke, &c. Forts. The number of Patients from 75 to 150.

"3rd.—Books to the amount of 15l. for the use of Hilsa Hospital, to which new additions to the Artillery Patients are brought the sick of corps stationed in the several Forts along the Portsmouth Hill. Number of Patients from 50 to 100.

"4th.—A Grant of Books is also requested for the use of the Drummers, Bandboys, Buglers, and Choirmen and Choirboys of the Garrison Church, 10l. The number about 80.

"5th.—A Grant of Tracts quarterly (5l. worth every quarter), to be distributed by the Chaplains of Portsmouth, Gosport, Alverstoke Forts and Portsmouth Hill Forts. These Tracts are sadly wanted for the Hospitals, and also for the Barracks.

"6th.—Grant of Bibles for Bible Classes, and for the Hospitals; and Prayer Books for the Churches and Hospitals.

"500 Bibles.

"1000 Small Prayer Books.

"100 Large do.

"At present we, the Chaplains, are in great want of help, and as the 'Clericus' Fund exists, I trust that the Society will help us in just the way I have suggested.

"On the receipt of the Books, I will have them duly distributed, and send to the Society a report as to the way in which the grants have been divided.

"I am, dear sir, yours faithfully.

"H. P. WRIGHT, Chaplain to the "Forces, 1st Class.

"To the Secretary, &c."

Examination of Acting Teachers.—The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that Canon Norris had reported as follows on this subject in a letter addressed to the Secretary, dated 17th December, 1874:—

"I have just completed my examination of Acting Teachers for the Archbishops and S.P.C.K., and enclose the list.

"You will see that rather more were examined this year than last. (In all 238.) Thirty were not passed, and do not appear in the list. (Twenty-seven were placed in the 1st Class, seventy-seven in the 2nd; 104 in the 3rd; thirty not passed.)

"On the whole they have done about as well as last year. Oddly enough the number who failed is exactly the same as last year. I have been asked for more than 2000 papers for candidates for admission, and they are now (while I write) being examined on identical papers in all our thirty Training Colleges. I do hope and trust they may do better than last year. In my tour I inquired how many had received help from their clergy during their pupil teachership, and found it was 29½ per cent. of the whole number. Last year it was 28½ per cent.; not much improvement."

Character of Bibles and Prayer Books.—The Standing Committee reported that, in compliance with the following resolution on this subject, which was passed at the Monthly General Meeting in November, viz.,—

"That the Standing Committee be requested to appoint a Committee of not less than five members of the Society, of whom not less than three shall be a quorum, to inquire into and report to this Society on the truth of the allegations constantly made as to the insufficient character of the Bibles and Prayer Books provided by the Society for the use of the poor, and to make recommendations accordingly,"—they had appointed a Committee, consisting of the Treasurers, Mr. Jeffreys, Mr. Rivington, Mr. E. Oapel Care, Mr. Cummins, Mr. Evans, Canon Miller, and Mr. Wade.

The Committee, thus appointed, made the following Report to the General Meeting:—

"The Committee report that they met on Wednesday, 16th of December, 1874, when there were present, Mr. Powell, General Daubeney, Mr. Jeffreys, Mr. Rivington, Mr. Wade, and Mr. Evans.

"That they had the principal officers of the Society before them; also specimens from the Depot of all the books which were the subject of their inquiry, together with other specimens of the same books (after use) which were supplied by Mr. Jeffreys; that they also had before them the contracts for binding these books, as well as the Society's Catalogues and certain figures showing the relative sales during the years 1873-4 of two Bibles, two New Testaments, and two Prayer Books, bound in American cloth and sheep respectively. That the total sales of these three books were, in sheep 57,743, in American cloth 138,720.

"From the facts, figures, &c., &c., which were before them, the Committee recommend that the Finance Committee, with the officers of the Society, should examine carefully and singly all the books referred to in this inquiry, with a view to strengthening such as may appear to require strengthening.

"That for the future, when any contract is entered into for binding, specimens should be required, not only of a bound book, but of the materials (such e.g. as the leather, cloth, thread, &c., &c.) employed; and that when any contract is accepted, these specimens should all be preserved, with a view to doing all that is possible to secure good quality, both of workmanship and material.

"And, with the same end in view, the Committee recommend that great care should be taken to have every delivery of books very carefully examined by a competent officer, whose duty it shall be to report to the superintendent all apparent departures from the proper standard of excellence.

"In conclusion, the Committee would point out that, while excellence of quality so far as it can be arrived at is essential, lowness of price cannot be disregarded.

"It is the practice of the Society to keep most of the books referred to in this inquiry in both coloured sheep and American cloth; and, as the figures above given prove, the demand for the books in American cloth is very greatly in excess of that for the same books in sheep—this is owing probably, not to any preference on the part of the public for the American cloth books, but because they cost from a halfpenny to a penny less than the corresponding books in sheep.

"The Committee desire it to be known that, these books can be had, at the option of the purchaser, either in sheep or American cloth; and further, that any Bible, New Testament, or Prayer Book, which can be obtained from either of the three privileged printers, will be supplied on order, and charged to members at the usual rate below cost, bound either in sheep, American cloth, or good strong sprinkled calf."

The foregoing Report was agreed to by all the Members of the Committee who attended, except Mr. Jeffreys, who desires it to be known that he dissents therefrom.

After the reading of this Report, Mr. Hales moved and Mr. Evans seconded the following resolution:—

"That the Report be received, and the Standing Committee be requested to adopt the suggestions contained in it in such manner as they may think most conducive to the interests of the Society."

Upon this Mr. Jeffreys moved, and Mr. Darling seconded the following amendment:—

"That the Report be returned to the Committee for further consideration of the alleged insufficient character of the books which form the subject of it, with a view to its being drawn up in a fuller and more specific form."

The amendment was put, and lost.

The original motion was then put, and carried.

Notice of Motion for the next Meeting.

Diocese of Adelaide.—The Standing Committee stated that they had received an interesting letter from the Bishop of Adelaide, which would be printed in full; that in consequence of what was there stated, they now gave notice that in February next they would propose a grant of 500*l.*, to meet an equal sum to be raised by the Bishop, on condition of the whole sum of 1000*l.* being invested in a satisfactory manner, and secured for the permanent endowment of a Tutorship in Theology for the diocese of Adelaide.

Principles, Proceedings, and Results of the Divorce Act.—The Rev. Charles Miller, Vicar of Harlow, gave notice that at the next Monthly Meeting, viz. on February 9th, he would move the following resolution:—

"That the Standing Committee be requested to call the attention of both Houses of Convocation to the Principles, Proceedings, and Results of the Divorce Act, with a view to procure its repeal by her Majesty and her Parliament."

Letters of Thanks, &c.

Bishop of Adelaide.—The following is the letter from the Bishop of Adelaide, which is referred to above.

"Bishops Court, October 5th, 1874.

"MY DEAR SIR,—I have to acknowledge with thanks your letter of August 5th, containing a form of draft for 90*l.*, which I have filled up and negotiated with the Bank of Adelaide. I have also paid Messrs. Russell and Spicer for the half year ending September 30th, they having passed public (preliminary) examinations. Mr. Whittington, so soon as he has completed his, will receive the same. It will show the success which may follow on this system, if carried out by partial endowment, when I say that I have three other young men desirous to fit themselves for Holy Orders, but who are compelled to work as clerks or assistant schoolmasters, in order to maintain themselves while carrying on their theological studies. No doubt halls and colleges, scholarships and exhibitions, grew up in early days from the want, now felt by colonial dioceses, of means to educate an indigenous clergy. If it be asked, why we did not set about founding these institutions, my reply to those who ask is, "Place yourself in a land occupied by a mixed population—English, Scotch, Irish, German, spread over a country bigger than France—with every variety of religious profession, Anglican, Lutheran, Roman, Scotch Presbyterian, Wesleyan, and other Methodist sects, Independents, Baptists, &c., numbering in all not more than 200,000 (all bread-winners), who have to build churches, parsonages, schools, and who have to find ministers' stipends, found Collegiate Schools for higher education, and the reason is plain—we can't." Nor is it till of late, that our young men have grown up to be of an age to select for themselves the clerical profession. Meanwhile the cathedral to which "the School of the Prophets" ought to be attached is scarcely half built, though I am happy to say, that the day after to-morrow I am looking forward to see the noble monolith stone floored cross (eight feet high), of pure white primitive crystalline sandstone (from the hills which surround Adelaide on the east), raised to surmount the lantern tower. We are looking forward on St. Peter's Day, 1875 (on which, D.V., I shall complete the twenty-eighth year of my episcopate), so far to have furnished the interior, as to inaugurate the building with a service. Meantime the members of the Chapter are rendering such assistance as they can to the Theological Students, in which work I gladly take a share. If the venerable Society thinks this effort of our poor voluntary Church worthy of encouragement, I should be thankful. Aid for a Theological Tutorship, in connexion with the cathedral, to be held by one of the canons or some other clergyman appointed by the Bishop, would be a very great step, I think, towards providing for the direction of the studies of young Theologi. Part of the Cathedral Chapter plan is, that a class in Church History, English Church History, Prayer Book, Hooker, Pearson, Butler, &c., shall be undertaken by one or more of the canons in turn; the Theological Tutor having the more immediate duty of reading the subjects with the students.

"We are getting a good Theological Library in our church office. Time and money alone are wanted to carry out the plan. The wide dispersion of our population engaged in agriculture (land being now taken from the Government on a credit system) renders Missionary effort more than ever necessary at the present time; so that our moderate resources are at present needed in this direction, or in building small school-churches in the numerous little townships which are springing up.

"If the Society can furnish the nucleus of an endowment for a theological tutor, or allow a stipend for a given number of years; or do partly one and partly the other, it will greatly encourage that system of self-help, which is the life and soul of colonial society, and the tap-root of healthy diocesan action and existence. I do earnestly hope that the General Board will give this system and my request earnest consideration. To show how their donation to the cathedral has fructified, I enclose a list of subscriptions, which it has been my good fortune to receive. The design and building are the admiration of all who see them, and a desire seems to be springing up to carry on and complete the edifice. I don't think it has in any way stopped parish-church building, as, in my late tour of nearly 400 miles, I opened two churches, which together cost about 2600*l.* The season has been remarkable for the continuance of rain from April to October. There is every prospect of a fine harvest, a good crop of wood, and active production of copper. How to find clergy to visit even the country between and beyond our churches, now 500 miles apart, is my difficulty. The Society can materially assist me by helping to maintain theological students and a theological tutor.

"I am, yours very truly,
"A. ADELAIDE."

"Rev. H. Swabey."

Rev. J. D. Glennie, Vicar of Croston, wrote a letter, which was submitted, expressing on behalf of himself and the other members of his late father's family, their warmest thanks for the resolution in reference to his father, which was passed by the Standing Committee on the 23rd of November, and adopted by the General Meeting on the 1st of December.

Diocese of Jamaica.—The Bishop of Kingston, writing on the 15th of December, 1874, from the Vicarage, Upper Tean, Stoke-on-Trent, said:—

"I duly received your letter, dated the 10th inst., with its enclosures. The resolutions passed by your Society, on the 1st of December, relative to your grants in aid of our struggling church, deserve my warmest thanks. They embody all that we could wish. You have relieved us from all anxiety. We are now certain to be able to meet your grants with the proportionate sums required; and are able to apply the interest, if necessary, to our most immediate wants.

"It is very important to secure an Endowment Fund, by means of which the clergy, who will hereafter occupy our more considerable stations, will be secured incomes adequate to the support of highly qualified men; but it is not less important that our numerous poor congregations, provided they do their best, or even are gradually learning their duty, should be helped and encouraged."

Diocese of Bloemfontein.—The following interesting letter had been received from the Rev. H. Crip in reference to a grant of 250*l.* made by the Society in March, 1874, in aid of printing the Bible and Prayer Book in the Soccoana language:—

"Thabu Nehu, 9th October, 1874.

"Sir,—We have sent by book-post copies of those parts of the Prayer Book which we have hitherto completed, to show you how far we have got with our work. The Bishop was with us last week, and was so kind as to show me your last letter. I am encouraged by it to tell you a little more about Soccoana publications. The Soccoana live mostly in the country between the vast river and the Zambesi, west of the Transvaal. There are many divisions of the tribe, with as many dialectic peculiarities; but books printed in any one of these dialects are quite serviceable to the whole. Thus we hope our Soccoana Prayer Book will serve the Church, as, one by one, she ministers to these. North-east of the Transvaal are large and important tribes, speaking a language more akin to that of the Basuto. This is also the case north of the Zambesi and into the far interior. The Soccoana Prayer Book will scarcely avail for use among these; but it will very much facilitate the translation of the Prayer Book into those languages, for the natives there would so far understand Soccoana as to be able to give their equivalent for the words and phrases used in the Soccoana book. In this way I have found the Zulu translation and the Kafir book used in the diocese of Grahamstown very useful in preparing our own book.

"Such a work as we are doing is of course a very anxious one. It is so peculiarly difficult to find exact expressions in an unwritten language; but Soccoana is peculiarly rich in exact verbal combinations, and we have rarely sought in vain; but often a sheet is delayed for days to determine some knotty point. The stitched pamphlet I send contains the Communion Service. We do not issue this, but we have printed 500 copies, a number of which are kept in each church, and lent to the people at the time of the celebration. This reserve has been found necessary amid so many heathens, and in dealing with a people who have yet to learn to be circumspect. The service as said is printed on the right-hand page; the left contains rubrics, proper pre-faces, &c.

"The aid which the Society has so generously granted us is a boon of the greatest kind to me. The book was so urgently needed that it was an evident duty to undertake, but I confess I did so at the risk of a total break-down. Providentially, just as the news of the grant reached me, a steady, God-fearing young man, who was apprenticed in the town from which I came, and had been unsuccessful in the Cape Colony, came to me, and we were, by means of the grant, able to secure his aid. He proposes to remain with us till the book is finished. Thus I am able to work at the book without financial worry, and am saved much of the harder work, while the production of the book will be hastened by at least nine months. We reckon the book will contain about 350 pp. The Baptismal and other occasional Services will be printed in a book by themselves, of the same size as the Communion Service, and will make, I reckon, about eighty or one hundred pages.

"We hope to send you from time to time proofs of the rest of the Prayer Book as they pass through the press. It did not occur to us in time to ask for a block of the scroll which appears on the title-pages of publications of the Society, but if we may have one, it could be printed on the fly-leaf which faces the title.

"I am, Rev. Sir, yours faithfully,
"WM. CRISP."

"The Rev. the Secretary."

SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL IN FOREIGN PARTS.

The Monthly Meeting of the Society was held at 19, Delahay-street, on Friday, December 18, Bishop Piers Claughton in the chair.

1. Read Minutes of last meeting.

2. The Treasurer presented a statement of the Society's income to the end of November.

3. The Secretary stated that in accordance with Bye-law VI., the following members would retire from the Standing Committee, viz. by seniority, Rev. A. Blomfield, C. H. Rice, and E. T. West, and by paucity of attendance, Dean of St. Paul's, Rev. J. Cave-Browne, and J. A. Shaw Stewart, Esq., and that the Standing Committee proposed Messrs. Blomfield, Rice, and West, for re-election, and Rev. Canon Ashwell, Lewis Majendie, Esq., M.P., and Clement Dale, Esq., for election as members of the Standing Committee, and that at the February Meeting the Rt. Hon. Gathorne Hardy, M.P., the Dean of St. Paul's, and Rt. Hon. G. Slater Booth, M.P., would be proposed for election as Vice-Presidents.

4. The Secretary presented the following Report from the Special Committee appointed at the last Meeting, in reference to the Assyrian Christians:—

"The Committee report that in their opinion the best way of co-operating with his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury in helping the Nestorian or Assyrian Christians would be

"(1) To place at the Archbishop's disposal sufficient money to enable him to send out to the Nestorian Christians two Delegates, one of whom at least must be a clergyman, who shall open friendly communication with them and report on the best means of instructing and helping them further.

"(2) To place at the Archbishop's disposal sufficient funds to enable him to procure for the two Deacons, Hormizd and Benjamin, now in this country, instruction in the English methods of education and school management, in printing, and in the English language.

"(3) To ask the S.P.O.K. to confer through its Foreign Translation Committee with Dr. Badger, with a view to printing a correct version in Old Syriac of the English Prayer Book for the information of the Nestorian Christians, and

"(4) To print copies of the Book of Psalms in old Syriac and English on opposite pages for use in Nestorian Schools.

"(5) The Committee are of opinion that the requisite funds might be provided, at least partly by a public appeal, if it were headed by liberal gifts from the S.P.G., S.P.C.K., and other associations which appear to include within their scope such an object as the enlightenment and aid of the Nestorian Christians."

It was resolved to adopt the Report, and to request the Standing Committee to consider and report what sum should be contributed by the Society in aid of the object stated in the Report, and to authorize the Standing Committee to do so, once provide, at a sum not exceeding 80*l.* if they see fit, for the board and education for one year of the two Deacons as suggested in the Report.

5. Read letter of Bishop of Madras, November 3, in reference to a proposal to consecrate a Coadjutor Bishop in his diocese. Resolved that the Society will gladly co-operate towards securing Suffragan Bishops for India, provided that each Bishop is appointed to minister within definite territorial limits, and that such territory shall not be defined so as of purpose to include only the stations occupied by one Society.

Resolved also to apply to the Colonial Bishops Fund to undertake the payment of the salary of such Bishop, on the understanding that the Society would pay to the Treasurers of that Fund an annual sum equivalent to a Missionary's full stipend and allowances: also to ask the S.P.C.K. to join with this Society and the Council of the Colonial Bishops Fund in raising the salary of the proposed Bishop.

6. Resolved on the recommendation of the Standing Committee:—

"(1) That the departure from Calcutta of the Rev. R. M. Stewart, Principal of Bishop's College, without asking permission, and with the avowed intention of not returning, must be taken as a distinct resignation of his office of Principal of Bishop's College, and that in consequence thereof the office is now vacant.

"(2) That the Society does not think it compatible with the interests of the College that the Rev. R. M. Stewart should be reinstated in his office.

"(3) That the Rev. J. W. Coe be requested to forego for the present the remainder of his furlough, and to return at once to Calcutta and undertake the charge of the College as Acting-Principal, pending the decision of the Society as to its future management, and that during the time of his acting as Principal he be allowed an addition of 100*l.* per annum to his salary."

7. The Rev. H. F. Johnson and Hon. Baron Dimsdale having been elected Diocesan Representatives for the diocese of Rochester; the Rev. E. J. Selwyn and C. R. C. Petley, Esq. for Canterbury; the Rev. and Hon. F. Grey and W. Henderson, Esq., for Durham; Lord Clinton and Rev. F. Hockin, for Exeter; the Right Hon. Sir Michael H. Beach, Bart., M.P., and Archdeacon Randall, for Gloucester and Bristol; W. Layton Lowndes, Esq., and Rev. H. T. Hill for Hereford; Earl Beauchamp and Rev. Canon Boyle, for Worcester; the Dean of Manchester and H. Birley, Esq., M.P., for Manchester; the said lections, having been approved by the respective bishops, were confirmed.

8. Read letter from Rev. W. Greenstock, of Elizabeth, proposing to make a missionary tour of eighteen months to Matabele diggings in the regions south of the Zambesi. Resolved that the proposal of Mr. Greenstock being a regular opportunity for opening Mission work in a wholly new region, and being offered under circumstances that will not bear the delay which would be incurred by postponing its consideration till the usual time for making money grants, and having regard to the favourable prospects of the Society's income for the year, the Society put the sum of 450*l.* to Mr. Greenstock for his proposed expedition.

9. Read letter from Bishop Kestell-Cornish, dated October 13, Tamatave, announcing his arrival in Madagascar, and his having confirmed eighty-five native Christians and visited the outlying stations of Ivondrona and Mahasoa, and his intention to start for the capital on the following day.

10. The Secretary announced that a disaster had befallen the Missionary party under the Rev. J. J. Curling, by which Mr. J. Frewen Moor, a student of St. John's College, Newfoundland, was drowned off the island of Quirpon; and it was resolved that the Secretary do communicate to the parents of Mr. Moor the sympathy of the Society with them in their bereavement, and also to offer to the Bishop of Newfoundland and the Rev. J. J. Curling an assurance of similar sympathy.

11. Resolved, that if in April, 1875, the Funds of the Society will allow, the sum of 150*l.*, the balance due on the Church School built by Rev. J. B. Good in the Mission of Lytton, be advanced to Mr. Good as loan, to be repaid without interest in instalments at the rate of 20*l.* per annum.

12. The Bishop of Melbourne made a statement in reference to the Fiji Islands, and Rev. R. J. Mullens gave an account of the working of the Kafir Institution in Grahamstown which is under his charge.

13. Mr. J. Pulman gave notice of his intention to move at the next meeting, that the Secretaries be directed to lay on the table the Charter of Incorporation of the Society, and the cases and opinions referred to at the last Meeting by the Secretary.

14. All the members proposed in October were elected into the Corporation.

15. Six persons will be proposed for election in February.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, Nov. 9th.—A letter was read from the Rev. J. A. Maser, announcing the death of the Rev. Chas. Knödder, on the 22nd of October, at Steinenberg, in the 38th year of his age, and alluding to Mr. Knödder's Missionary work in the Timneh country, and his labours in connexion with that language.

The Rev. Mr. Coan, who had laboured since 1849, in Northern Persia, in connexion with the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, was introduced to the Committee, and gave an interesting account of the progress of the work in the neighbourhood of Tabreez, where he had himself laboured, as well as at Isphahan, which he had recently visited, and where he had seen the Rev. Robert Bruce. He believed that Mr. Bruce was doing a good work in the preparation of publications for the Mohammedans, and also by his educational labours in behalf of the Armenians and others. Mr. Coan also expressed his opinion that a great disintegration of Mohammedanism was going on in Persia, as shown by a number of sects who do not admit the authority of the Koran, and that among these increasing opportunities offered for making known the Gospel.

Letters were read from the Rev. R. H. Weakley, dated Constantinople, September 28, 1874, giving a detailed account of several cases of persecution which had recently taken place in the Ottoman empire, and expressing his decided conviction that the entire suppression of Missions to the Mohammedans in Turkey was the object systematically kept in view by the Turkish Administration now in power; and from the Rev. J. Zeller, dated September 7, 1874, forwarding copy of a letter of the same date to H.B.M.'s Consul-General at Beyrout, reporting that, by order of the Governor-General of Syria, the Turkish authorities at Acca had closed the Protestant school recently opened at that place, and protesting against this measure as a violation of the liberties guaranteed in the Hatti-Humayoun for all classes in the Turkish empire, without distinction of creed. It was resolved that, after communication with the President of the Society, a strong remonstrance be made to the Foreign Office against the reactionary policy of the Turkish authorities, and their action in closing the school at Acca, and that, in furtherance of this course, a Sub-Committee be associated with the Secretaries.

The differences of opinion and of practice existing in reference to the orthography of the Yoruba language having been alluded to, it was agreed to form a Committee or Conference of all the ordained Europeans and Natives in connexion with the Society in the Yoruba Mission, with power to add to their number, for the purpose of considering and reporting upon the questions at issue.

The Rev. J. D. O'Mara, First Class in Classical Honours, and Gold Medallist in Moral Science in the University of Toronto, was appointed to the Professorship of Exegetical Theology in the College of St. John's, Winnipeg, the nomination having been vested in the hands of the Committee of the Society by the Deed of Endowment. It was also, on the request of the Bishop of Rupert's land, agreed to pay to the Rev. J. D. O'Mara the interest on that part of the Hall and Houghton Fund, which the Committee were permitted to spend under the trusts of that fund, in connexion with St. John's College, as long as he should fill the position of Lecturer, within the terms of the Trust.

A grant of 100*l.* was made to the Directors of the Strangers' Home for Asiatics, for the purpose of continuing Missionary efforts among the heathen to be found in London and large provincial towns.

Committee of Correspondence, Nov. 17th.—The Rev. H. Maundrell, late of the Madagascar Mission, was assigned to the Japan Mission.

Letters were read from the Bishop of Mauritius, Archdeacon Hobbs, Captain Havelock, Civil Commissioner at the Mauritius, and Bishop Ryan, calling attention to the extreme importance of making provision for the liberated slaves landed at the Seychelles, stating that two of her Majesty's ships, the "Vulture" and the "Thetis," landed captures of slaves at the Seychelles in August last, numbering in all 284 persons; that the chaplain, Mr. Vaudin, was about to leave the islands, and requesting that the Society would allow the Bishop to appoint Mr. Maundrell to the chaplaincy, and aid him in the establishment of an Industrial Institution for the Africans. The Secretaries stated that Mrs. Maundrell's state of health prevented Mr. Maundrell from accepting a post so near the equator; but it was resolved that, considering the responsibilities the Society had undertaken in connexion with the suppression of the Slave Trade on the East Coast of Africa, they were willing, in the present emergency, that the Rev. W. B. Chancellor should undertake the office of chaplain, on the understanding that he shall not cease to be regarded as a Missionary of the Society, and that in the event of the disembarkation of liberated Africans at the Seychelles being discontinued, or of the opportunities for Missionary work not proving such as, in the judgment of the Committee, justify the employment of one of their Missionaries in this post, the Committee shall be at liberty to appoint him to work elsewhere. A grant of 100*l.* per annum was made for the supply of an additional agent to labour amongst the liberated Africans at the Seychelles.

The Rev. A. Elwin, having arrived from Hang Chow on sick leave, gave interesting information on the Missionary work carried on in that place, and in particular on the Medical department carried on by Dr. Galt, Medical Missionary of the Society.

Special General Committee, Nov. 24th.—The question of interference by the Turkish Government with Protestant Missions in Turkey was again referred to. The Secretaries stated that they had had an interview with the President, who was of opinion that the wisest course would be that a deputation should present a memorial to Lord Derby on the subject. A memorial was then drawn up; and, reference having been made to the statement in the daily papers that the action of which the Society complained in regard to their school at Acca was owing to a mistake on the part of the provincial Government, it was resolved that the Secretaries be directed to make inquiries at the Foreign Office as to the truth of the statement, and report at the next meeting of the Committee.

Special General Committee, Dec. 1st.—The above subject was again brought forward, and the Secretary reported that he had had an interview with Lord Derby's private Secretary; but the Foreign Office did not then appear to be in possession of any specific information which would corroborate the statements which had been made in the daily papers, and that he had forwarded a proof of the memorial and accompanying memorandum with a letter, asking for the information desired by the Committee. The Committee resolved that, even should it appear that the acts complained of in the memorial are disavowed by the Turkish Government, they would desire the memorial to be transmitted to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, as placing on record the facts of the case, and an expression of the Committee's feeling thereon. The Secretaries were also directed to obtain the signatures of the Vice-Patron, President, Treasurer, and principal Vice-Presidents, and forward the memorial to Lord Derby.

Committee of Correspondence, Dec. 1st.—A letter was read from the Rev. A. Menzies, of the West Africa Mission, expressing his readiness to return to Africa early in the coming year, adverting to the Instructions of the Committee communicated to him on the 24th October, 1873, in which the wish of the Committee was expressed that he should be free to visit the outlying Missions of the Society, and asking that a decision might be arrived at in reference to his future location, stating also his sense of the importance for carrying on the work in the Sherbro country and of the location of a European Missionary in that country, and expressing his readiness to take up his abode there in case it should be so decided by the Committee; at the same time referring to the importance of strengthening Mr. Nicholson's hands at Sierra Leone. The Committee agreed to sanction Mr. Menzies' removal to the Sherbro country in the event of sufficient help being available for Mr. Nicholson at Sierra Leone.

Estimates Sub-Committee, Dec. 4th.—The Lay Secretary reported that the receipts from all sources to the 30th November showed a total of 51,559*l.*, as against 53,554*l.* of last year, and, with the exception of the item "Legacies," show no increase upon the average of the last five years. That, taking the remaining four months of the Society's financial year on the average of five years, an income of 165,077*l.* might be expected, to which an addition might be made of about 600*l.* on account of the Hill Trust. That, looking to the totals of the estimate for the period ending 31st of March next, a total expenditure, including all additions, might be expected of about 173,000*l.*, thus leaving a probable deficit of 7923*l.*

The estimates for the year ending September 30, 1875, were reviewed, and it was found that the action of the Committee since July last had sanctioned an addition to the Foreign estimates to the extent of 3106l.

It was further reported that the estimate for the North-West America Mission, considered at the last meeting of the Estimates Sub-Committee, had been replaced by one prepared by the Finance Committee at Manitoba, showing an increase of 1439l. upon that sanctioned by the Committee. The Sub-Committee, having examined the items, considered that, with a few exceptions, the figures represented the probable cost of the recent additions to the Society's staff in the province of Manitoba.

The Sub-Committee recommended the Committee to accept the amended estimates for the North-West America Mission, together with the additions and alterations in the other Missions; and also to sanction the Foreign Estimates for the quarter ending March 31, 1875, amounting to 31,338l. 2s. 3d.

VICE-CHANCELLORS' COURTS.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10.

(Before Sir CHARLES HALL.)

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL v. ST CATHERINE'S COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE.

Mr. Edmund Yorke, by a codicil to his will, dated 15th May, 1847, gave whatever stock might be standing in his name at his decease to the masters of Trinity and Magdalene, in trust, to found two annual prizes to be awarded half-yearly to the author of the best essay on the consistency or inconsistency of the law of primogeniture with the dictates of nature, as well as with the spirit and precepts of the Christian religion, regard being had in judging the merits of the essay to the numerous Scriptures applicable to the subject, which are to be construed not so much by their text as by their context, and their bearing upon the English law referred to, and how far such law, in its practical operation, is in conformity with the reciprocal obligation by our blessed Saviour in His answer to the question of the lawyer, as recorded in St. Matthew's Gospel, 22nd chapter, 39th verse. "The essays might be in English, Greek, or Latin." The testator died in November, 1871. It appeared that the council and senate of the University thought that a literal compliance with the testator's direction would be productive of more evil than good. An opinion adverse to the project as suggested by testator was expressed by Dr. Cookson, Master of St. Peter's, Dr. Thompson, Master of Trinity, Dr. Bateson, Master of St. John's, Mr. Jebb, Public Orator, Mr. Clark, Regius Professor of Laws, Mr. Birkbeck, Professor of Laws, Mr. Birks, Professor of Moral Philosophy, Dr. Lightfoot, Professor of Divinity, Dr. Wescott, Regius Professor of Divinity, Dr. Kennedy, Professor of Greek, Mr. Cayley, Professor of Pure Mathematics, Mr. Grierson, Fellow of Christ's College.

Mr. Dickinson, Q.C., and Mr. Rigby appeared for the relatives; Mr. Greene, Q.C., and Mr. Yoal appeared for the trustees of the fund, which amounted to 3989l. 19s. 3d. Consols; Mr. Lindley, Q.C., and Mr. Hawkins appeared for the executors.

The VICE-CHANCELLOR said that the order would be, it appearing to the Court that the charitable gift was incapable of being carried into effect, to decree a scheme to be settled in chambers as nearly as possible in conformity with the testator's intention, and direct the income to be applied according to the scheme. The costs of all parties to be paid out of the fund.

COURT OF ARCHES.

(Before Sir R. J. PHILLIMORE, Dean of Arches.)

MONDAY, DECEMBER 7.

MARTIN v. MACKONOCHIE.

(See Ecclesiastical Gazette, pp. 82, 83.)

Judgment was given this day.

The DEAN of ARCHES said,—In this case the office of the Judge is, by virtue of letters of request from the Lord Bishop of London, promoted by Mr. Martin, of 2, New Square, Lincoln's Inn, against the Rev. A. H. Mackonochie, the incumbent of St. Alban's, Holborn, in the diocese of London. The charges contained in these articles were perspicuously and properly arranged by the counsel for the defendant under the following heads:—1, Acts done by Mr. Mackonochie, as to the lawfulness of which no judicial decision has yet been pronounced; 2, acts done by Mr. Mackonochie, as to the lawfulness of which this Court has pronounced judgment in the case of "Elphinstone v. Purchas"; 3, acts done by Mr. Mackonochie as to the lawfulness of which the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council have given judgment in "Hebbert v. Purchas." Under the first head, Article 4 charges,—“That on Christmas Day and on Sundays, the 15th of March and the 5th of April last, the defendant used lighted candles on the Communion-table or on a ledge immediately above the same, during the performance of Morning Prayer and as connected therewith, at times when such lighted candles were not wanted for the purpose of giving light; and also on Christmas Day, Sunday, December 28th, and Sunday, April 5th last, caused lighted candles to be carried about or lifted up by attendants when not needed to give light in and immediately before the commencement of the Communion Service and as connected with that service.” The defence set up for this practice was that these lights were not part of any ceremony and were symbolical of nothing, but merely a permissible decoration—"an inexpressive act," it was said, constituting no ecclesiastical offence. I am unable to justify the legality of their use on this ground. They seem to me to fall within the general principle either of ceremonies additional to those ordered by the Book of Common Prayer, or of ornaments not ordered and not subsidiary to those that are ordered. I must pronounce this practice illegal and this article proved. Article 6 charges that "on Christmas Day and on Sundays, the 15th of March and the 5th of April last, when the defendant was officiating as the principal minister or celebrant in the office for the administration of the Holy Sacrament, he elevated the paten, or bread, or wafer, and also the cup, which had been respectively placed on the Holy Table for the Holy Communion in an unauthorized manner and in a much greater degree than was necessary for the purpose of complying with any of the Rubrics or requirements of the Book of Common Prayer and of the Communion Service." Two witnesses were examined on this article by the prosecution, one being Mr. Todd, the managing clerk to a solicitor, not a parishioner, but employed to watch the performance of Divine service by Mr. Mackonochie and to report thereon. He deposed to an elevation of the elements which would bring the act of Mr. Mackonochie within the letter of the judgment of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in "Martin v. Mackonochie." On the other hand, Mr. Layman, who had been a churchwarden of the parish, who constantly attended Divine Service, and who was in church on the occasion as to which Mr. Todd had spoken, and who paid especial attention to the acts of Mr. Mackonochie in this matter, and had from his position a better opportunity of observing him than Mr. Todd, gave a material contradiction to his evidence; while it is to be observed that Mr. Proctor, the other witness produced by the prosecution, was not examined on this point. Upon the whole, I am of opinion that the charge laid in this article is not substantiated by adequate evidence, and I pronounce that it is not proved. Under the second head, Article 5 charges, "that on Christmas Day last, and on Sundays, the 28th of December and the 5th of April, after the conclusion of Morning Prayer, and immediately before commencing the Communion Service, and as connected with such service, and in the presence of the congregation then assembled for such service, he (the defendant) formed, or caused to be formed, or himself accompanied processions of clergy and others singing hymns and marching up and down the aisles or round the interior of the church with lighted candles, a crucifix borne upon a pole and banners (one of such banners bearing device of a lady standing in a crescent and presenting the Virgin Mary), and that he himself on the said occasions then and there wore an and cope, with a biretta on his head, and at the conclusion of the procession assumed a chasuble instead of the cope, and immediately, without any break or intermission, commenced the Communion Service." The wearing of a biretta was not illegal, but it was properly admitted by the counsel for the defendant that the whole ceremony, as laid in the article, proved by the evidence, has been pronounced in me in Mr. Purchas's case to be illegal. I repeat the opinion which I then expressed, and pronounce this article proved. Article 10 charges "that on Christmas Day last, and on Sunday the 15th of March and the 5th of April, the defendant during the performance of the service for the administration of the Holy Communion caused to be said or sung immediately after the prayer of consecration and before or during the reception of the elements by the communicants the words, or hymn, or prayer commonly known as the Agnus Dei—that is to say, 'O Lamb of God, that takest away the sins of the world, have mercy upon us.'" The evidence proves that this hymn was sung after the consecration of the elements, but not during the reception of them by the communicants. It was contended on behalf of Mr. Mackonochie, that the singing of this hymn might be put upon the same footing as the ordinary singing of a hymn before or after the sermon, or the singing the Gloria before reading the Gospel. But, looking to the history of the Prayer-book, and to the fact that this hymn is appointed to be said or sung in a later part of the Holy Communion Service, I am not of this opinion, nor do I see any reason to alter the decision upon this subject which I have already delivered in "Elphinstone v. Purchas" within the principle and almost within the very letter of which this article is brought. I pronounce this article to be proved. Article 11 charges "that the defendant on Christmas Day last, and on Sundays the 15th of March and the 5th of April, when officiating in the performance of Divine Service and of the service for the administration of the Communion (and not of the office of Baptism), made the sign of the Cross by the appropriate gesture of his hand for that purpose;" and Article 12 charges "that the defendant on Sundays the 28th of December, the 15th of March, and the 5th of April last, when officiating in the performance of Divine Service and of the Communion Service kissed the Prayer-book or service-book." It was properly admitted by the counsel for Mr. Mackonochie that upon the subject of these two charges generally I had given judgment in the case of "Elphinstone v. Purchas," pronouncing the kissing the book and the making the sign of the cross to the congregation to be illegal. The evidence upon the 11th article went beyond this, and further proved that Mr. Mackonochie during the performance of Divine Service crossed himself. I have considerable doubt whether this charge is specifically laid in the articles. The counsel for the defendant, however, did not take this objection, but contended that there was an essential difference between making the sign of the cross in the air (admitted to be illegal) and the crossing of himself by the minister, not yet pronounced to be illegal. This latter act was said not to be illegal, as not being any part of the service performed by the minister as minister but an act done by him in his individual capacity as one of the congregation, and it was likened to the act of bowing at the name of the Lord and turning to the East during the recital of the Creeds or before the Doxology—innocent and edifying practices, it was said, introduced by custom in the services prescribed by the Book of Common Prayer. The adverse contention seems to be that the officiating minister is not allowed to divest himself during the whole time of performing Divine service of his ministerial character, and therefore that an act which it would be competent to him as a member of the congregation to perform is not permitted to him while officiating as minister. This proposition seems to me too wide. The more limited proposition would be that it is not competent to him to do any act of private devotion which either conflicts with a direct order of the Rubric or which introduces a new rite or ceremony to the congregation. Upon the former principle the Privy Council found Mr. Mackonochie guilty of "excessive kneeling" when the Rubric ordered him to adopt the posture of standing; upon the latter principle I admonished Mr. Purchas not to make the sign of the cross in the air to the congregation. But the minister's crossing himself as a matter of private devotion does not seem to me to fall under either of these categories, but rather to be of the same character as covering the face with the hands during prayer, or crossing the hands over the breast, or spreading them out or lifting them up, which could not, I think, reasonably be contended to be an ecclesiastical offence. Any interference with the liberty of private devotion is beset with difficulties, while public ministrations easily admit of public order respecting them. I am of opinion that the legal offence is proved so far only as making the sign of the cross to the congregation is concerned. Under the third head Article 9 charges "that the defendant on Christmas Day last, and on Sundays the 15th of March and the 5th of April, in the celebration of the Holy Communion and in the administration thereof to the communicants used wafer bread or wafers (being bread or flour made in the form of circular wafers) instead of bread such as is usual to be eaten." Article 7 charges "that the defendant in his church on those same days, when officiating in the Communion Service wore the following vestments or things—viz. an alb, a cope, a chasuble, an amice, a maniple, a stole, and a girdle; and Article 8 charges that "when officiating as the principal minister or celebrant in the service for the administration of the Holy Communion stood while reading the Prayer of Consecration at the west side of the Holy Table in such wise that he then stood between the congregation and the Holy Table, with his back to the people." The evidence produced by the prosecutor proved, though not very distinctly, the use of the wafer-bread, the position of the minister at the Holy Table, and the wearing of the vestments; it also proved that the vestments were those in use in the second year of King Edward VIth's reign. I have already, during the course of this trial, given my reasons for refusing to hear an argument from the counsel for the defendant as to the lawfulness of this position, the use of this bread, and the wearing of these vestments. To those reasons I now, without recapitulating them, refer. They must be taken as part of my judgment. I pronounce that the charges laid in these three articles are proved.

These several articles of charge—with the exception of the sixth, which relates to undue elevation of the elements—being proved, it remains to consider what sentence of canonical punishment the Court should pass. I do not desire to conceal that this question has given the Court considerable anxiety. On the one hand, Mr. Mackonochie is admitted to have disobeyed the sentences both of the Privy Council and of this Court, and is also proved to have contravened the general law with respect to a matter decided for the first time by this judgment. On the other hand, the matters charged relate to no moral or doctrinal offence, but to an excess of ritual observance beyond that which the Prayer-book and Formularies of the Church prescribe. This prosecution is brought, through the permission of the Bishop of London, by a non-parishioner, who in a few months' time, when the Public Worship Act shall have come into operation, will be, on the ground of his being a non-parishioner, disqualified to be a prosecutor. The articles do not contain the averments familiar to the Court in these criminal suits—viz. that the parishioners have been offended, or the services of the church unattended, in consequence of the conduct of the incumbent; nor has any evidence been given by any parishioner to this effect. The law with respect to some of the matters charged is in an uncertain state, and with respect to the charges contained in the articles proved in this suit, Mr. Mackonochie does not appear to have been already the subject of a personal admonition, either from the sentence of a Court or from his Diocesan. Nevertheless, Mr. Mackonochie must obey the law. He must recognize some authority superior to his own. He cannot make the law for himself, nor out of the existing law select what portions he will obey and what disobey. Upon the whole, I am of opinion that I must pass a sentence upon him of suspension ab officio for six weeks, and I must condemn him in all the costs of the suit, except those incident to the charge of undue elevation, which I have pronounced not to be proved. It is my duty also to admonish Mr. Mackonochie to desist from the practices mentioned in the articles proved, and to warn him that contumacious disobedience to this sentence may entail upon him, according to the Ecclesiastical law; one of far greater severity. The sentence will be published in the usual manner and form, and take effect from Sunday next.

Mr. Brooks, proctor for Mr. Mackonochie, has lodged notice of appeal with the Registrar of the Archdeacon's Court.

The appeal will be proceeded with by appeal to the Queen. The petition will be referred to the Judicial Committee for hearing. By the notice given, the proceedings are likely to be in abeyance for some months. It will prevent the publication of the sentence of six weeks suspension on the Church door of St. Alban's, and also delay the taxation of costs, which Mr. Mackonochie was ordered to pay. The suspension was to commence on Sunday, 13th December, but no action will probably be taken for some time.

CONSISTORY COURT OF LONDON.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 7.

(Before Dr. TRISTRAM, Chancellor of London.)

ST. MARY'S WHITECHAPEL.

Dr. MIDDLETON applied on the part of the rector and churchwardens of St. Mary's, Whitechapel, for a licence or faculty to remove the parish church of St. Mary's, Whitechapel, and to rebuild a new church on its site. The petitioner stated that a vestry meeting had been held, and having regard to the repairs required, the parish had availed themselves of a most liberal offer made by Mr. O. E. Coope, M.P., to rebuild the church at an expense not exceeding 12,500*l.* The rector and churchwardens therefore applied for a faculty, and it appeared that the additional expense according to the plans made would be about 6000*l.* which would be raised by public subscription. Provision had been made as to the vaults and graves in the church, &c.

Dr. TRISTRAM directed a faculty to be granted for the demolition and a new church to be built on the site of the present one.

Order accordingly.

Mr. John Hassard officiated as Registrar.

COMMISSARY COURT OF LONDON.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 7.

Dr. TRISTRAM, attended by Mr. John Hassard as Registrar, held a Commissary Court at the Chapter-house, St. Paul's Churchyard, to give his decision as to the admission of Mr. Stephen Hayworth as "parishioners' churchwarden" of West Hackney.

On a former occasion the admission was opposed.

The CHANCELLOR, in giving his judgment, cited some cases in which it was held that where the majority of the poll held in favour of a particular person he was bound to be admitted to the office. He accordingly directed Mr. Hayworth to be admitted "parishioners' churchwarden."

PROCEEDINGS UNDER THE CHURCH DISCIPLINE ACT.

Bristol, 8th December.

JENKINS v. REV. FLAVEL S. COOK.

A Commission sat at the Chapter-house, Bristol, yesterday, to inquire into a complaint made by Mr. Jenkins, a barrister-at-law, against the Rev. Flavel S. Cook, vicar of Christ Church, Clifton, for refusing to administer the Sacrament to him in the parish church.

Dr. Tristram appeared for the promoter, and Dr. Stephens for the defendant.

In stating the case Dr. TRISTRAM informed the Commission that Mr. Jenkins was a gentleman of private means, residing at Clifton, and a regular attendant at the parish church of Clifton, where the defendant was vicar. On Sunday, the 4th of October, Mr. Jenkins presented himself at the Communion Altar, after giving due notice to Mr. Cook of his intention to do so, in accordance with the requirements of the rubric, and Mr. Cook deliberately passed him over. Mr. Jenkins wrote to the bishop respecting the matter, and his Lordship directed the following inquiry, under the provisions of the Church Discipline Act. This was the first of the kind which had been heard since the Reformation, and its importance to the laity was paramount as a decision by this Court in favour of Mr. Cook would justify any clergyman of the Church of England in adopting a similar course of action with their congregations. He contended that the only grounds upon which a clergyman could refuse to administer the Holy Communion were those mentioned in the rubrics, and that contained in the canons did not in any way bind the laity. One of the charges brought against Mr. Jenkins was, he believed, that he was a common and notorious depraver of the Book of Common Prayer, of the Word of God, and of the Apostles' and Nicene Creeds.

It was admitted on behalf of the defendant that the promoter duly presented himself, after notice, to receive the Sacrament on the 4th of October; and further evidence having been given,—

Dr. STEPHENS then stated to the Commission the facts on which the defence relied, and in doing so he was authorized to state that in repelling Mr. Jenkins from the holy table Mr. Cook was not actuated or influenced by the slightest imputation on his moral character, which Mr. Cook believed to be unimpeachable. The substantial question in the case was, whether Mr. Jenkins had or had not committed a spiritual offence by depraving the inspired word of God—The Book of Common Prayer—and more especially the order for the administration of the Holy Communion, and the Apostles' and Nicene Creeds. The facts were that during the last summer the respondent (Mr. Cook) preached a course of sermons at Clifton Church, upon the theories advanced by the Rationalistic party of the day, in consequence of which a correspondence took place between the promoter and the defendant, in the course of which it transpired that Mr. Jenkins denied the existence of Satan, and the doctrine of eternal punishment. A book was also in use at the promoter's household (published by himself), in which Dr. Stephens contended the Bible was mutilated by leaving out such passages as dealt with these doctrines. The promoter himself, in a letter, admitted that in their generally received sense they were not compatible with religion or decency. He, however, persisted in presenting himself to receive the Holy Communion, and the Rev. Flavel Cook at once refused to administer the Holy Communion to him as holding these views. Mr. Cook applied to the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol, who informed him that he had received a copy of the correspondence, and, as the case was of a doubtful character, he would make no order, but should leave Mr. Jenkins to take proceedings under the Church Discipline Act, in order, if he thought fit to do so, that a decision upon the legal point involved might be given. After this Mr. Jenkins again presented himself to partake of the Holy Communion, and was again refused. The first exhortation in the Communion service, Dr. Stephens contended, justified the course the respondent had taken. It states that if any one be a hinderer or a slanderer of God's word, the minister shall call on him to repent of his sins or else not come to that holy table. It was evident that those who were guilty of moral crimes, not of spiritual crimes, were evil livers such as the rubric contemplated. It was the duty of the minister or curate to warn such a one not to come to the Lord's Table, and if he did come he was instructed by the 27th canon, and authorized by the rubric of the Book of Common Prayer, to repel him as an evil liver in this sense—namely, as a spiritual offender. The respondent would have been guilty of a great scandal, and would have been a violator of the Holy Sacraments, if he had admitted a person who had publicly debarred the holy orders of the Church by stigmatizing as incompatible with religion and decency those portions of the Holy Scriptures from which they were derived.

The COMMISSION thought that a prima-facie case had been made by the promoter for further proceedings, and the case will therefore, in all probability, come before the Court of Arches.

ST. PETER'S COLLEGE.

There will be an examination at this college on the 6th of April, 1875, and two following days, for four Scholarships, two of 80l., one of 60l., and one of 40l., a year each, tenable until the scholars are of standing to take the degree of B.A. The examination will commence on Tuesday, April 6th, at nine a.m., in the college hall. The Scholarships will be awarded for proficiency in Classics, or in Mathematics, or in Natural Science, provided the Examiners are satisfied with the attainments of the candidates. The subjects of examination in Classics will be Greek and Latin Translation and Composition in Prose and Verse; in Mathematics, Euclid, Algebra, Trigonometry, Geometrical and Analytical Conic Sections, and problems upon these subjects; and in Natural Science, Botany, Chemistry and Chemical Physics, Geology, and Comparative Anatomy and Physiology. No candidate will be able to compete in more than a single branch of study, and no candidate for a Natural Science Scholarship will be examined in more than two of the above-mentioned subjects. All candidates are expected to show a sufficient knowledge of Classics and Mathematics to enable them to pass the Previous Examination in due course. Candidates must have obtained permission to become members of the college, and, if successful in obtaining Scholarships, will be required to enter their names upon the boards of the college immediately after their election, and to commence residence in October next. No candidate must be upwards of twenty-one years of age on the 1st of October, 1875. Applications to become candidates must be made on or before the 29th of March to the Rev. J. Porter, Tutor of St. Peter's college, who will give all necessary information. In cases of special merit the college will prolong the tenure of Scholarships, or promote from one to another, or confer upon a scholar a second Scholarship. The college will also make donations from the Open Scholarship Fund to deserving students, whether scholars or not.

CLARE AND CAIUS COLLEGES.

A joint examination will be held at Clare college and at Gonville and Caius college, on Tuesday, March 16, and three following days, beginning at nine o'clock, when six Scholarships at least will be offered for competition—viz., two for Classics, two for Mathematics, and two for Natural Science, each of the value of 60l. a year, and tenable for two years, but subject to extension, or exchange for Scholarships of longer tenure. These Scholarships are limited to persons who have not yet begun residence in the University, and have not been already elected to a Scholarship at any college. At Gonville and Caius college the Scholarships in Classics and Mathematics are limited to persons under twenty years of age on the first day of the examination. At Clare college there is no limitation of age in regard to any Scholarship. Particulars of one or other of the respective Tutors—viz., the Rev. N. M. Ferrers, Tutor of Gonville and Caius college; or the Rev. W. Baynes, Tutor of Clare college.

TRINITY HALL.

Two open exhibitions at this college, of the value, 70l. each, will be at the disposal of the Master and Fellows in March next. The examination will commence on Tuesday, March 16. It is not necessary for candidates to be previously entered at the college. The subjects will be: Translation of passages from Latin at Greek authors; Latin and Greek Composition; Euclid Books I., II., III., IV., V., VI. Arithmetic and Algebra; Plane Trigonometry. Conic Sections (Geometrical and Analytical). One or both the exhibitions may be awarded either for excellence in particular departments of examination, or for general proficiency. No person is eligible who will have completed his twentieth year before March 16, 1875. The successful candidate will commence residence in October next. The exhibitions are tenable during the first year of residence, at the end of which time the Scholarships are awarded according to the result of the general college examination. The College Scholarships are tenable up to the time of taking the B.A. or LL.B. Degree. Five or six fall vacant every year. Two of these, in 1875, will be of the value of 70l. each; the rest will vary according to the merits of the candidates, the minimum being 21l. per annum. Augmentations of the Scholarships may be obtained subsequently. A prize of 15l. has been lately left for an English Essay. It is to be called "The Cressingham Essay Prize." It will be offered annually. All undergraduates of the college may compete. Law Studentships of the value of 50l. per annum are awarded after the degree. They are tenable for three years by persons preparing themselves for any department of the Legal Profession. One is usually vacant every year. No residence in the University is required of the holders of these studentships. Persons wishing to become candidates are requested to communicate early with the Rev. E. Latham, Trinity Hall.

FENBROKE COLLEGE.

An examination of students who have not commenced residence will be held at this college, on Tuesday, April 6, 1875, and the two following days. Candidates, who must be under twenty years of age, must send a certificate of age and a testimonial to the Tutor (the Rev. C. E. Searle) before March 11. The Classical part of the examination will comprise passages for translation from the best Greek and Latin authors, and composition in both languages in prose and verse. The Mathematical subjects will be Euclid, Algebra, Trigonometry, and Conic Sections. The successful candidates must commence residence in October next.

JESUS COLLEGE.

There will be an examination on March 16, and 17, 1875, for Two Scholarships, tenable until the degree of B.A., of the value of 40l. or 50l. annually, according to merit. They will be given for classical or mathematical proficiency, candidates being expected to show such knowledge of both classics and mathematics as will enable them to pass the previous examination. At the same time there will be an examination for two or more Scholarships on the Rustat Foundation. Candidates for which must be orphans or sons of clergymen of the Church of England. The value of these latter will be the same as the others, and the same papers will be for them. All candidates must be under twenty years of age, and those who are successful will be required to commence residence in October. The usual certificate from a Master of Arts, or a superior graduate, must be sent by each candidate, on or before March 14, to the tutor, the Rev. H. A. Morgan, of whom further information may, if needed, be obtained.

MAGDALENE COLLEGE.

The examination will begin on Wednesday, April 7, and the subjects Classics and Mathematics. Preference will in general be given to excellence in one line of study, but no one will be elected who does not satisfy the Examiners in the elementary parts of both Classics and Mathematics. Candidates must be under twenty years of age at the commencement of the examination. Each candidate is requested to send his name and certificate of age, with a testimonial of good character, on or before Tuesday, March 25, to Mr. Patrick, tutor of the college, from whom further information, if required, may be obtained.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE.

There will be an examination at this college on March 17 and 18, for four Scholarships, open to all persons under twenty years of age who shall not have commenced residence in the University. Two of the Scholarships will be of the value of 60l. per annum each, and two of the value of 40l. per annum each; one-third of which sums will be paid for each term kept by residence. Two of them will be awarded for proficiency in Classics, and the other two for proficiency in Mathematics. The Classical part of the examination will comprise the translation of passages from the best Greek and Latin authors, and composition in those languages. The Mathematical part will be limited to papers in Euclid, Arithmetic, Algebra, Trigonometry, and Conic Sections, treated both analytically and geometrically, with problems arising out of those subjects. Additional Scholarships will be awarded to candidates of promise, recommended by the Examiners; but no Scholarship will be given except the Examiners report that a candidate merits such a distinction. Each candidate must forward to the president of the college, before March 13, a certificate of baptism or birth, and a certificate of good conduct from a Graduate of Cambridge, Oxford, or Dublin. The successful candidates will be required to enter their names on the boards of the college at once, and to commence residence in October next. Further particulars will be furnished by the Rev. Dr. Champion, or the Rev. G. Pirie, Tutors of the college.

THE HULSEAN PRIZE.

The late Rev. John Hulse having bequeathed to this University certain estates for the advancement of religious learning; and having directed in his will, that out of the rents and profits, so soon as annuities and other incumbrances would admit, an annual premium should be given "for the best dissertation in the English language on the evidences in general, or on the prophecies or miracles in particular, or on any other particular argument, whether the same be direct or collateral proofs of the Christian religion, in order to evince its truth and excellence," to be written by a member of this University under the degree or standing of Master of Arts: the adjudicators give notice that a premium of about 75*l.* will this year be given for the best dissertation on the following subject:—"The Synod of Elvira, with special reference to Christian Life and Worship in the fourth century." The adjudicators are the Vice-Chancellor, the Masters of Trinity and St. John's colleges, and the Rectors, the Lady Margaret's, the Norwician, and the Hulsean Professors of Divinity. The dissertations are to be sent to the Vice-Chancellor on or before the 31st of October, 1875, with some motto prefixed, and to be accompanied by a paper sealed up, with the same motto outside, and having the candidate's name and college written within. The author of the essay best approved is to print it at his own expense, and is not to be a second time a candidate for the premium.

TITHE COMMUTATION.—SEPTENNIAL AVERAGES.

To the Editor of the "Ecclesiastical Gazette."

SIR,—For the information of the Clergy, I beg to state that the result of the Septennial Corn Averages to Christmas, 1874, as published in the London Gazette of 5th January, 1875, is as follows, viz.:—

Wheat ... 6s. 10*d.* per imperial bushel.
Barley ... 4*s.* 11*d.* "
Oats ... 3*s.* 2*d.* "

Also that each 100*l.* of tithe rent-charge for the year 1875 will amount to 112*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*, or nearly two-fifths per cent. more than last year.

The following table gives the worth of 100*l.* tithe rent-charge for the last seven years:—

For the year	1869	210 s.	5	8 d.
"	1870	104	1	0 d.
"	1871	104	15	1
"	1872	103	4	0 d.
"	1873	110	15	10 d.
"	1874	112	7	3
"	1875	112	15	6 d.

The average value of 100*l.* tithe rent-charge for the thirty-nine years since the passing of the Tithe Commutation Act is 102*l.* 2*s.* 0*d.*

I am, sir,

Your most obedient servant,

CHARLES McCABE,
University Life Assurance Society,
25, Pall Mall,

7th January, 1875.

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

METROPOLIS.

Tithe Rating of a Parsonage-house not occupied by the Incumbent.—The Court of Queen's Bench has confirmed the decision of Sir Thomas Chambers, M.P., the Deputy-Recorder, with regard to the liability to tithe of the rectory-house of St. Martin Outwich. The rectory, which is situate in Bishopsgate-street, next to the site of the lately removed church, is occupied by commercial firms, two rooms only at the top of the building being reserved for the use of the rector. The occupiers of the office were led to believe that as the house was an ecclesiastical building they were exempt from the payment of the tithe-rate, which the churchwardens, on behalf of the parish, disputed. The case was argued at Guildhall before the Deputy-Recorder, who decided in favour of the parish, on which the occupiers appealed to the Queen's Bench, the result being that the Deputy-Recorder's judgment was confirmed with costs against the appellants.—City Press.

The London Free and Open Church Association.—At the ordinary monthly meeting of the Executive Council, held at the office, 25, Norfolk-street, Strand, on 6th inst., the treasurer reported that the receipts during the past year had amounted to 919*l.* 10*s.* 11*d.*, and the expenditure to 882*l.* 15*s.* 2*d.*, as against an income of 734*l.* 5*s.* 7*d.*, and an expenditure of 695*l.* 10*s.* 8*d.* in 1873. It was reported that the legal committees had met on the 8th of December, and had considered and given advice on an important case.

SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL IN FOREIGN PARTS.

THE Monthly Meeting of the Society was held at 19, Delahay Street, on Friday, January 15, at 2 p.m., the Bishop of Lichfield in the Chair.

1. Read Minutes of the last Meeting.
2. The Secretary announced on the part of the Standing Committee that the Right Hon. G. Solater Booth, M.P., and Sir A. Bittlestone, had resigned their seats on the Standing Committee, and that the Rev. J. Cave Browne, M.A., and W. Trotter, Esq., of Epsom, would be proposed for election at the Meeting in March.
3. The Secretary proposed on behalf of the Standing Committee for election on that body, at the Meeting in February, the Rev. Canon Ashwell, A. Blomfield, C. H. Rice, R. T. West, C. Dale, Esq., and Lewis Majendie, Esq., M.P.
4. Resolved on the recommendation of the Standing Committee that the Rev. J. W. Coe be appointed Principal of Bishop's College, Calcutta, subject to any modifications which may hereafter be made with reference to the admission of European and Eurasian students.

5. The Secretary on the part of the Standing Committee reported:—

"(1) That it is desirable that a Bishop should be appointed for Heligoland, who should reside on the continent, and take the spiritual oversight of the English congregations in the North of Europe, and generally should represent the Church of England in those parts; also that with the consent of the Bishop of London, an appeal should be issued specially to members of the Church in, and to English Merchants connected with, those parts to contribute towards the establishment there of a Bishopric.

"(2) That the Colonial Bishoprics Council should be requested to assist in the object and to take charge of the Fund, and

"(3) That the Colonial and Continental Church Society should be informed of the steps which are being taken, and asked for any assistance which they may be disposed to render towards the Bishopric."

The Rev. B. Belcher moved, and Rev. T. Darling seconded, and it was resolved:—

"That the words 'Who should reside on the continent' be omitted."

The Report, thus amended, was carried unanimously.

6. The Rev. W. H. Blake, B.A., Curate of St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, was accepted for Missionary work in India.

7. The Secretary announced that the Rev. G. H. U. Fagan, M.A. Prebendary of Wells, formerly Assistant Secretary and for twenty-five years Organizing Secretary of the Society in the diocese of Bath and Wells, had died at Wells on Wednesday, the 13th inst., after a brief illness.

Resolved that the Secretary be requested to express to Mrs. Fagan the sympathy of the Society in her bereavement, and their sense of the loss which the Church at large has sustained by the removal of the Rev. G. H. U. Fagan.

8. The Secretary read letters from Bishop Kestell-Cornish, dated Antananarivo, Nov. 11; Bishop Callaway, dated Springvale, Oct. 30; Bishop of Capetown, Nov. 24; Rev. R. H. Cudington, Southern Cross, Oct. 20; Rev. J. E. Marks, Mandalay.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, Dec. 14th, 1874.—A letter was read from Lord Tenterden, dated Foreign Office, December 4, 1874, informing the Committee that her Majesty's Vice-Consul at Damascus had reported that he had been informed by Issad Pasha, the Governor-General of Syria, that he had noticed with regret the statement in the European press that orders had been issued by his Government for the suppression of all Protestant schools in Syria, and that there was no foundation for this statement, as schools might still be established on the observance of the same regulations as governed those already existing in Turkey. Lord Tenterden further stated that Lord Derby had received a despatch on this subject from H. M.'s Ambassador at Constantinople, reporting that the matter having been commented on in the press, the Porte had caused it to be intimated to the newspapers that no such instruction as that alleged had emanated from it, and that there was no intention of closing the schools.—The Secretaries reported that as this despatch did not particularize the Church Missionary school at Acca which had been closed, and there was nothing to show that the school had since been opened, the memorial adopted by the Committee had been signed by his Grace the Vice-Patron, the Rt. Hon. the President, the Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, and submitted by letter to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The Rev. W. H. Barlow was appointed Principal of the O. M. Institution, Islington.

The Report of the Sub-Committee for consideration of matters at Sierra Leone was adopted. In the report it was stated that at the Missionary Conference, held at Lagos in February last, the question of placing the Native Church at Lagos on an independent footing had been discussed. The Conference was unanimously of opinion that the time had fully come for taking this step, that regulations similar to those adopted in the Native Church at Sierra Leone would be most suitable for the purpose, and that as soon as Native Pastors in full orders were forthcoming the congregations of Breadfruit, Ebute Ero, Badagry, Aroloyo, and Ebute Meta might be embraced in the pastorate.

The Sub-Committee had, in concert with the Bishop of Sierra Leone, carefully considered the articles for the regulation of the Native Church at Sierra Leone, and such modifications had been introduced into them as the experience gained in Sierra Leone and the different condition of things in Lagos seemed to render desirable; and the Bishop was prepared to take measures at once for giving effect to the articles, and agreed that the districts around Breadfruit and Ebute Ero might at once be formed into parishes, with the Rev. J. Johnson and Rev. W. Morgan as Native Pastors; that to these Aroloyo and Badagry might be added as soon as the Rev. J. B. Wright and Rev. S. Pearce were admitted to priests' orders, and that Ebute Meta might probably follow as soon as a Native Pastor was found to whom it might be entrusted.

The proposal of the Lagos Conference for the formation of a School Board, for the regulation of educational matters, likewise recommended by the Sub-Committee, was sanctioned, and the Rev. J. B. Wood was appointed chairman.

The Sub-Committee had also considered the advisability of locating the Rev. A. Menzies in the Sherbro country, and had come to the conclusion that such an arrangement was most desirable, and that the present afforded a favourable opportunity for such a step.

The Committee desired to record their sense of the loss the Society had sustained by the removal by death of Mr. O'Malley, who had been ever ready to place his legal insight and experience at the service of the Society, which, associated with a hearty and uncompromising adherence to its spiritual principles, had proved of much value in the consideration and settlement of some of the more delicate and difficult questions that had come before them during the last twenty-five years. They further desired that the assurances of their sympathy be conveyed to the family of their departed friend, and requested the Lay Secretary to attend the funeral in their name.

Committee of Correspondence, Dec. 22nd, 1874.

—The Rev. T. Carss took leave of the Committee on returning to the Mission in Western India. The Instructions of the Committee having been delivered to Mr. Carss by the Rev. C. C. Fenn, he was addressed by the Rev. E. Auriol and commended in prayer to the favour and protection of Almighty God by the Rev. A. H. Frost.

Committee of Correspondence, Jan. 5th, 1875.

—The Secretaries announced the death on Christmas-day, 1874, of James Morgan Strachan, Esq., who for upwards of fifty years took an active and useful part in furthering the work of the Church Missionary Society, first as member and Treasurer of the Madras Corresponding Committee, and on his return to England as a member of the Parent Committee. He joined the Madras Corresponding Committee when it was first formed in 1814, and his connexion with the Society thus dates from the very commencement of the evangelistic labours of the C.M.S. in Tinnevely and Travancore, and with other honoured associates he was permitted to inaugurate a work upon which God's signal blessing has since rested. In recognition of the essential services rendered to the Society while he was at Madras, Mr. Strachan was appointed in 1824 an Honorary Life Governor; and not long after his return to England in 1825 he was invited to join the Parent Committee, as a member of which he continued to render excellent service to the cause he had so much at heart until 1857, when the state of his health obliged him to withdraw from active work. The Committee thank God for the grace vouchsafed to His servant, which enabled him during his lengthened Christian course to be "steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord," not only in connexion with the Church Missionary Society, but in the other agencies for the spread of the Gospel of Christ, and they would further express their sympathy with his widow in her bereavement.

The Secretaries reported the accidental death, in consequence of a fall, on the 4th of January, 1875, of the Rev. W. Smith, whose Missionary service dates from 1830, in June of which year he proceeded to North India. After two years spent at Goruckpur, he was transferred in 1832 to Benares, where, as long as health and strength were spared to him, he laboured most earnestly for the evangelization of the people in the city as well as in the surrounding districts. Although not permitted to see a large ingathering of souls, he was the honoured instrument for bringing to Christ several natives of mark, some of whom are still usefully employed as evangelists to their own countrymen, and one of whom was ordained Pastor to a small congregation in the city of Benares just before Mr. Smith returned to England in 1872. Mr. Smith did good service on the Committee for the translation of the Book of Common Prayer, as well as in the revision of Henry Martyn's New Testament. The Committee thank God for the faith and patient continuance in well-doing that marked his lengthened Missionary career, and in token of their sympathy for his widow and family they direct the Secretaries to attend his funeral.

Miss Williams was appointed to assist at the Female Institution, Sierra Leone.

Mr. G. H. Weber, formerly engaged in educational work at Benares, was introduced to the Committee, and gave interesting information as to the nature and prospects of the efforts made by the Society in the North-West Provinces of India for the training of Native Agents, and the difficulty arising from the objections entertained by Native Christians to receiving an exclusively vernacular education.

THE EXETER REREDOS CASE.

This was an appeal by the Ven. Archdeacon Phillpotts against the decision of the Judge of the Arches Court (see Ecclesiastical Gazette, August, 1874, pp. 21, 22), reversing a decree of the Bishop of Exeter in a Visitation held by his Lordship of the Cathedral Church of Exeter and of the Dean and Chapter.

The respondents were the Dean of Exeter, Dr. Boyd, and the Canons of the Cathedral, viz. Chancellor Harrington, Archdeacons Woolcombe and Freeman, and Canons Cooke and Lees.

Mr. Phillpotts and Mr. Benjamin Shaw were counsel for the appellants; Dr. Deane, Q.C., and Mr. Walter Phillimore for the respondents.

Mr. PHILLPOTTS, in opening the case for the appellant, said the main questions at issue were—first, the legality of the alteration made in the Cathedral by the Dean and Canons without the faculty or consent of the Bishop in removing the old reredos with the ten commandments, and erecting a new reredos; and, secondly, the loyalty and propriety in itself of the latter structure.

After a lengthened argument, which was continued during the following three days,

Lord HATHERLEY announced that their Lordships would consider their judgment and the recommendations they should make to her Majesty.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

WALSH v. THE BISHOP OF LINCOLN.

This case came before the Court on demurrers to the defendant's pleas in an action of the nature of a quare impedit. The arguments commenced on Monday and occupied the whole of the day.

Mr. W. Phillimore appeared for the defendant; Dr. Stephens, Q.C., and Mr. B. Shaw for the plaintiff.

The declaration stated that the plaintiff, a Clerk in Holy Orders, had purchased the advowson of the Living of Great Coates for the life of Sir John Sutton, and that on a vacancy occurring, he being entitled to present or otherwise legally require institution for a fit clerk, was not permitted to do so, but was unjustly hindered by the Bishop.

The first plea was that the plaintiff presented himself to the Bishop, and requested him to admit, institute, and induct him, and that the presentation was the next and only avoidance of the living during his tenure of the advowson, as Sir John Sutton, for whose life he held, died in 1873, and that the presentation was void in law by the Act 13 Anne, c. 11, as simoniacal. The second plea was that the plaintiff offered himself for admission and prayed to be admitted, and that the defendant refused, as he lawfully might, to admit him, but was willing to admit any fit clerk other than himself, upon his presentation.

The grounds of demurrer stated were that the statute of Anne did not apply to the purchase of a freehold interest in an advowson, and as to the second plea, that the defendant did not allege any reason for his refusal. The questions raised, therefore, were whether a patron holding an advowson pur autre vie had a right to present himself or otherwise require induction without the intervention of a trustee.

After an able argument on both sides, Lord COLERIDGE said he did not wish it to be supposed that the Court had any doubt; but, having regard to the importance of the case, they would take time in order to put their reasons in writing.

COURT OF ARCHES.

(Before Sir R. J. PHILLIMORE, Dean of Arches.)

SATURDAY, JANUARY 23.

JENKINS v. REV. FLAVEL S. COOK.

(See "Ecclesiastical Gazette," Jan., 1875, p. 97.)

In this case an application was made by Dr. TRISTRAM, on the part of Mr. Jenkins, a parishioner of Christ Church, Clifton, near Bristol, to Sir R. Phillimore, to accept letters of request from the Lord Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol, to institute a suit against the Rev. Flavel Smith Cook, the Vicar of Christ Church, Clifton, for refusing to administer to him (Mr. Jenkins) the Holy Communion.

The DEAN OF ARCHES said the Bishop might have heard the case, and he regretted that he had not his Lordship's opinion. He, however, accepted the letters of request.

Dr. TRISTRAM referred to the dates when the vicar refused to administer the Holy Communion to the promoter, and to the investigation ordered by the Bishop on the 8th of December.

His Lordship directed a citation to be issued against the clergyman for refusing the Sacrament, and the whole matter will now come before the Court.

COOMBE v. REV. JOHN EDWARDS.

(See "Ecclesiastical Gazette," Dec., 1874, p. 63.)

This case came before the Court on the admission of the responsive plea of the Incumbent of Prestbury, near Cheltenham, on charges of Ritualistic practices in his church.

Dr. Deane, Q.C., and Mr. B. Shaw were for the promoters; Dr. Stephen, Q.C., Mr. Jeune, and Mr. Walter Phillimore for the clergyman.

It was alleged in the responsive plea that Mr. Edwards had been diligent in his duties, that the communicants had increased in number, and that he had spent 4000*l.* on the church. It was also alleged that Mr. Coombe was an Independent, and that the prosecution was at the expense of Baron de Ferrieres and others, who resided at Cheltenham.

After a discussion on the several articles by the learned counsel, the DEAN OF ARCHES allowed the plea as to the diligence of the clergyman, but rejected the others as to Mr. Coombe being a Dissenter, and as to the expenses being provided.

After the amendments, the case will proceed to trial.

MARTIN v. MACKONOCHE.

(See "Ecclesiastical Gazette," Jan. 12, pp. 96, 97.)

Further proceedings have been taken in this case to prosecute the appeal of Mr. Mackonochie before the Judicial Committee to reverse the decision of the Dean of Arches on the questions raised, and to set aside the suspension of six weeks pronounced by Sir R. J. Phillimore. A petition to her Majesty has been lodged at the Appeals Court, and sent to the Privy Council office, to be laid before the Queen. Upon this an order of reference to the Judicial Committee will be made; and an inhibition will then be issued to restrain all further action until the appeal is heard.

PARLIAMENTARY INTELLIGENCE.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 5.

THE second Session of the Twenty-first Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, being the ninth Parliament of Queen Victoria, was opened this day by Commission—her Majesty's Commissioners being the Lord Chancellor, the Earl of Malmesbury, the Marquis of Hertford, Earl Beauchamp, and Lord Skelmersdale.

The message from the Queen was read by the Lord Chancellor; and the address in reply was moved and seconded in the House of Lords by the Earl of Donoughmore and Lord Rayleigh, and in the House of Commons by the Hon. Edward Stanhope, member for Mid-Lincolnshire, and Mr. Whitelaw, member for Glasgow.

Having noticed several of the subjects which would be brought under the consideration of Parliament during the Session, the message concluded thus :—

"I commend to your careful consideration these and other measures which may be submitted to you, and I pray that your deliberations may, under the Divine blessing, result in the happiness and contentment of my people."

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

THE following Notices were given of Bills to be introduced :—

MR. CROSS.—A Bill for facilitating the improvement of the dwelling-houses of the working classes in large towns.

THE CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER.—A Bill to amend the law relating to Friendly and other Societies.

MR. SCLATER-BOOTHE.—A Bill to consolidate and amend the Acts relating to Public Health in England.

Mr. SALT.—A Bill to provide facilities for Public Worship in accordance with the rites and ceremonies of the Church of England.

Dr. CAMERON (on behalf Mr. McLaren).—A Bill to abolish Church-rates in Scotland.

Mr. FAWCETT gave notice that he should call attention to the unsatisfactory condition of Elementary Education in the rural districts, and move that it is undesirable that a less amount of school attendance should be secured to children employed in agriculture than to children engaged in other work.

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS ACT, 1874.

The following important notice has been issued by the Registrar-General:—

BIRTHS.

When a Birth takes place, personal information of it must be given to the Registrar, and the register signed in his presence, by one of the following persons:

1. THE FATHER OR MOTHER OF THE CHILD. If they fail,
2. The Occupier of the house in which the Birth happened,
3. A person present at the Birth; or
4. The person having charge of the child.

The duty of attending to the registration therefore rests firstly on the parents. One of them must, within 42 days of the Birth, give to the Registrar, by word of mouth the information needed to enable him to register, and must sign the register in his presence. If they fail to do this without reasonable cause, they will become liable to a penalty of forty shillings. In case of their failure, one of the other persons above-named must give personal information and sign the register within the same period.

If at the end of 42 days no one has given information and signed the register, the Registrar may write to any one of the above-mentioned persons, requiring him or her to come to him for that purpose, at a stated time and place. Any person who fails to comply with this requisition will become liable to a penalty of forty shillings. Not only will liability to a penalty be avoided, but the registration of a Birth will be free of charge when it takes place within 42 days, unless either of the persons above-named sends to the Registrar a written request to come and register at his or her residence, or at the house where the child was born, when the Registrar on so attending to register may claim a fee of one shilling.

After three months a Birth cannot be registered except in the presence of the Superintendent Registrar, and on payment of fees to him and the Registrar. By neglecting, therefore, to attend to registration in proper time, the above-mentioned informants will not only incur penalties, but will put themselves to expense and trouble besides. After twelve months a Birth can be registered only on the Registrar-General's express authority, and on payment of further fees.

It is important to persons of all classes to be able to prove their age and the place of their Birth. The only legal proof of these is afforded by the civil registers, which the Law now requires to be made as above described. Parents owe to their children, therefore, a careful attention to the provisions herein set forth.

DEATHS.

When a Death takes place, personal information of it must be given to the Registrar, and the register signed in his presence, by one of the following persons:—

1. THE NEAREST RELATIVES OF THE DECEASED PRESENT AT THE DEATH, OR IN ATTENDANCE DURING THE LAST ILLNESS. If they fail,
2. Some other relative of the deceased in the same (Registrar's) Sub-district. In default of any relatives,

3. (a) A person present at the Death; or (b) the occupier of the house in which the Death happened. If all the above-named fail,
4. (a) An inmate of the house; or (b) the person causing the body to be buried.

Relatives present or in attendance are therefore firstly required to attend to the registration. One of them must, within 5 days of the Death, give to the Registrar by word of mouth the information needed, and must sign the register; or must within the same time send him written Notice of the Death, accompanied by a certificate of the cause of Death signed by a Registered Medical Practitioner if any such attended the deceased. The written Notice will be useless without a legal Medical Certificate. If notice is sent, information must nevertheless be given and the register signed within 14 days from the Death. If relatives present or in attendance fail without reasonable cause to carry out these provisions, they will become liable to a penalty of forty shillings. In case of their failure, one of the other persons above-named must give personal information and sign the register in their stead.

If at the end of 14 days, one of the persons above-mentioned has not attended to the registration, the Registrar may by written application require any one of them to come to him and do so, at a stated time and place. Any person failing to attend, on this application, will be liable to a penalty of forty shillings.

Whenever the deceased has been attended by a Registered Medical Practitioner, a certificate of the cause of Death, signed by him, must be delivered to the Registrar. Any person receiving such a certificate from the practitioner and not so delivering it, will incur a penalty of forty shillings.

Not only will liability to a penalty be avoided, but the registration of a Death will be free of charge when it takes place within the above-mentioned periods, unless on request it is effected at an informant's house, or at the house where the Death happened, when a fee of one shilling will be payable to the Registrar.

After twelve months a Death can be registered only on the Registrar-General's express authority, and on payment of fees.

A careful attention to these provisions is likely to be of the highest importance to the surviving relatives and friends of deceased persons.

General Register Office,
Somerset House, London,
1st January, 1875.

With reference to the above, a Clergyman who had written to the "General Register Office," inquiring whether, when required by the Act to give due notice of a burial without certificate at which he may have officiated, it would suffice for him to send a written notice to the Registrar by post in a letter not prepaid, received the following answer:—

"General Register Office,
"Somerset House, London, W.C.

"I am directed by the Registrar-General to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 27th ulto., and to inform you that you are at liberty to send the notice of a Burial without certificate of registration to the Registrar in an unpaid letter if you see fit.

"I am at the same time to suggest that a post-card might be conveniently used for the purpose.

"JAS. T. HAMMICK, Secretary."

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

A "Special Service of Intercession for those at Sea" has been approved by his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, for use in church as a separate Special Form of Service, in accordance with the Acts of Uniformity Amendment Act, 1872.

At the close of Evening Service, on Sundays or other days, the congregation may be invited to remain for this Special Service of Intercession, in stormy weather or at Sea-ports; but it is so arranged as to be fitted for use as a separate Special Service.

The ordinary or Proper Lessons may be used instead of the Special Lessons, and other Hymns may be selected.

London School Board, 20th January, 1875.—Free Schools versus Paying Schools.—The adjourned debate was brought to a close at the meeting of the Board this day. Mr. Francis Peek's motion was:—"That the school fees in all Board Schools be regulated according to the conditions of the neighbourhood, and the circumstances of the parents of the children attending such schools."—The Rev. Canon Gregory moved as an amendment the addition of the following words:—"But that in all circumstances it shall be recognized as the primary duty of the School Board to secure school provision for the poor children in every neighbourhood for which there is an insufficient supply of school accommodation."—As a further amendment, the Rev. D. J. H. Rigg moved, "That the fees in Board Schools shall be determined for every school according to circumstances, careful regard being had in each case to the conditions, both educational and social, of the neighbourhood in which the school is placed."—A division being taken the numbers were:—

Local Taxation, as it affects the Clergy on Clerical Tithe-owners.—The following Memorial has been addressed to the Rt. Honourable Benjamin Disraeli, M.P., First Lord of the Treasury by the Rural Dean and other Clergy of the Deanery of Powder, in the Diocese of Exeter:—

"Your Memorialists desire to call attention to what they cannot but think a peculiar hardship in the way of local taxation affecting them:—

"1. That their professional income derived from tithe rent-charge is assessed to all kinds of local ratings, while all other professional incomes are exempt. Thus appropriate rent-charge, in return for which residence in a parish and certain defined duties are required, is assessed to local rates in the same manner and to the same extent as inappropriate rent-charge in the hands probably of laymen, to which no duties are attached.

"2. That the amount of local taxation has increased of late years to an extent not contemplated by the Tithe Commutation Act, and has consequently become a burden which presses most unfairly on the Clergy. Thus, not to insist on the increased pressure on the Clergy by the provisions of the Education Act of 1870, your Memorialists desire to refer to the 'Highway Rate.' Under the Turnpike Trusts Acts, Clergymen and other Ministers, on duty, were exempt from the payment of toll, whereas now, as those Acts expire and the repairs of all roads fall on the Parish or Highway Board of the district, the Clergy will become the largest or among the largest contributors. The average amount of local rates in this district paid by the Clergy amounting already to about 4s. in the pound on their professional income.

"For these reasons your Memorialists respectfully and earnestly pray, that in any Bill for re-adjustment of local taxation that may be introduced into Parliament during the next Session, this grievance may not be overlooked, but that to the clerical tithe-owner an allowance may be made for his parochial and pastoral services, and also for a Curate's stipend, where the Bishop certifies that one is required."

The Bishopric of Sodor and Man.—At a Special Meeting of the Manx Legislature, held at Douglas, to consider the proposal to amalgamate the diocese of Sodor and Man into a bishopric of Liverpool and Man, it was resolved unanimously that amalgamation with or annexation to any English see was not advisable, and that a committee should be appointed to consider the position of the Church in the diocese with regard to the incomes of the clergy, with a view to their augmentation.

At a subsequent meeting of the Legislature of the Isle of Man, the Archdeacon read the report of the committee appointed to report upon the best way to increase the low stipends of the Manx clergy. The report went at length into the state of the Church in the Isle of Man, and recommended three means for increasing the stipends of the clergy in the island. The first, by extending the funds of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners to the island; the second, by endeavouring to get a grant of five hundred and twenty-five pounds, which the Imperial Govern-ent now receives from the Manx tithe fund; and the third, reducing the bishop's salary. A motion having been made that in any redistribution of the Manx Episcopal salary, a portion should be given for the poor of the island, for whom no legal provision is at present made, after discussion lasting nearly six hours, the motion was rejected, and a resolution came to receiving a committee's report, and requesting the Government to lay the same before the Imperial Government, and ascertain how far they would be inclined to permit the Manx Legislature to deal with the revenues of the episcopate in the matter of redistribution, such sanction being necessary as the Queen is patron of the bishopric. During the discussion, a letter from the Home Secretary was read, stating that the people of the island need have no fear of any attempt being made to interfere with the privileges possessed by the Isle of Man. The court passed a resolution expressing thanks to the Home Secretary for that statement. Thanks were also tendered to the Imperial Government for the liberal offer they made to the Church of the Isle of Man in case the amalgamation scheme with Liverpool should be adopted. This offer allowed the revenue of the Manx Bishopric to be retained for the purpose of increasing the livings of the insular clergy from 1844 to 300*l.* a year.

Nomination of a Clerical Patron of himself to a living.—With reference to the case "Walsh v. the Bishop of Lincoln," reported in p. 108 of the present Number of the Gazette, the following letter was addressed by the late Bishop of Exeter to the archdeacons and rural deans of his diocese:—

"Bishopstowe, Torquay, 26th March, 1867.

"DEAR MR. ARCHDEACON,—Questions having arisen respecting the operation of the Act 12th Anne, c. 12, I request you make known through the rural deans that I have thought it right to decline to accept any nomination of a clerical patron of himself to a living, unless the patronage has accrued to him by gift or succession. This resolution of mine has been taken as most conformable to the spirit of the statute.—I am, dear Mr. Archdeacon, your faithful friend and brother, EXETER."

National Association for Freedom of Worship.—The Annual Meeting of this Society was held in Manchester on Tuesday, 26th ult. The Very Rev. Dean Cowie presided, and in the course of his address stated that the offertory system had been introduced by the churchwardens into the Cathedral, where, by its means, 120*l.* was raised per month, working men and strangers at the evening services being apparently the most liberal in their contributions.

Money Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Auckland.—The Bishop, writing from Bishop's Court, Auckland, New Zealand, on the 26th November, 1874, made application for a grant towards a new church at Mahurangi. The church will be built of wood, or of wood and rubble, on an excellent site, the property of the Synod. The estimated cost is at least 200l. The church population of the district cannot, the Bishop says, be less than 300, and it is sure to increase. The people, who are for the most part immigrants maintained by daily wages, can see their way to begin building when they can raise a further sum of 50l.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 20l. for the completion of this church; the Society's grant to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from all liability for debt, and that it has been secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Diocese of British Columbia.—The Bishop, writing from Bishop's Close, Victoria, British Columbia, on the 22nd December, 1874, forwarded and strongly recommended the application made by the Rev. D. Holmes, of Cowichan, in the following letter addressed to the Secretary:—

"The Parsonage, Cowichan, Dec. 7th, 1874.

"REV. AND DEAR SIR,—An application was made in the year 1872 by Archdeacon Reece for aid towards building an Indian church at Quamichan, when the Society kindly made a grant of 30l. to that object.

"For want of a sufficient sum, however, the work was not commenced. It now falls to my lot to endeavour not only to carry out this measure, but to erect the first permanent building in this large and important district.

"I propose a scheme which has been already accepted by our people here, and which I now ask the Society to accept; that is, to erect a central permanent building, on a beautiful site, about 200 yards west of the parsonage, at Quamichan, and overlooking the Indian Reserve, as a parish church for Indians and settlers, chiefly English. The amount required to complete this work is estimated at $2200. Part of this sum has already been raised; but $1000, including the Society's grant, must be forthcoming.

"The Indians are poor, and the settlers are struggling to get along, and hence unable to render much pecuniary assistance. In consideration of this, I beg that the Society will not only allow the grant to be used for the purpose named, but as the outlay will now be thrice that originally intended, that it may be increased to help to meet our necessity.

"The difficulties in the way of raising funds are very great; and the Romanists have a stone church about two miles from us, to which they invite our adherents.

"This building will be the parish church of a district thirty miles by ten, and containing a population of 1000 Indians and 200 settlers, many of whom have families.

"A favourable consideration will greatly encourage and strengthen us, and the great object of the noble Society will be fully carried out.

"I remain, rev. and dear Sir,

"Yours very truly,

"D. HOLMES."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to allow the transference of the grant of 1872 as asked, and further to make an additional grant of 30l. on the usual conditions, for the completion of the enlarged scheme.

Norfolk Island.—The Standing Committee reported that they had received a letter from the Rev. George H. Nobbs, the venerable pastor of the community in Norfolk Island, who were removed some years ago from Pitcairn, dated 9th November, 1874. The following are extracts from his letter:—

"We are all at this time using every means in our power to render a large stone building, formerly the Commissariat, into a decent and commodious place of worship. The outside has an ecclesiastical appearance, but the interior is undergoing a thorough revision. We hope to have it in sufficient forwardness by Christmas for Divine Service; but it will progress towards completion as we can obtain means, and devote time, to so vitally important a consummation. The chief deterrent at present is the very limited success of our 'whaling season,' which is drawing to a close. Not half the oil has been obtained as compared with last year's catch. And we may not solicit aid from our friends in England, as their benevolence was so recently and so liberally accorded during the erection of our former church, five years since.

"I fear we were too vain of that labour of our hands. It was so completely prostrated last February that neither plank, beam, nor pillar were left standing. The interior fittings were all destroyed. Table-covers and books in tatters; the community always leaving their Bibles, Prayer Books, &c., on their seats. All the maps, ancient and modern, so kindly sent by the S.P.O.K. for the Sunday School and the Vestry, were destroyed, and these are a serious loss. But amidst the violence of the hurricane, the prostration of trees, and the fury of the waves, no personal injuries were sustained—blessed be God! A tidal wave swept away four of our boats from a shelter where the sea had never before reached, uprooting trees of great size and carrying them off. Some of the houses were partially unroofed and otherwise damaged; but we were on the opposite side of the island from whence the storm was raging, or there would not, humanly speaking, have been a dwelling left. So that we may gratefully and reverently sing of judgment and mercy.

"We are at this time in good health, and gradually increasing in numbers, counting some 360 persons; nearly equal as to sex, which has ever been the case. Children in the public school, 110; communicants, 100. Births this year, ten; marriages, three; deaths, six. Only two of the first descendants of the 'Bounty' are living, one here, and one at Pitcairn. Myself and two other Englishmen who went to Pitcairn to reside fifty years since are still in the flesh—and blessed be the Father of mercies and God of all grace! we can hopefully and cheerfully contemplate 'the land which is not very far off.'—John Buffet 77, myself 76, John Evans 70. We have large families, and many grandchildren, with some half-dozen great grandchildren."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50l. for the fittings, &c., of the new place of worship.

Diocese of Kingston, Jamaica.—The Standing Committee stated that they had received a written application from the Bishop of Kingston and had also had an interview with him on the subject of a scheme which he has for training natives of his diocese for Holy Orders and to serve as Catechists.

The Bishop had explained that Codrington College, Barbados, could not supply the want of his diocese, partly because of its distance from Jamaica and the expense of providing for the students during the vacation, partly for other reasons.

The Bishop stated that he could, in the first instance, apply a considerable portion of a grant of 450l. a year, which he received from the Christian Faith Society, to the expenses of the scheme; that there was a large government building, originally designed for a secular college, in which he hoped to get accommodated for the principal and students without charge; and that he believed that, when once the Training Institution was started and proved to be useful, his one diocese would mainly support it.

The estimated expense of the two first years were stated by the Bishop to be as follows:—

First Year.
Principal ...	£200	0 0
Eight Students at 30l. per annum ...	240	0 0
Furniture of Class-rooms and Class-books ...	60	0 0
Printing, &c. ...	25	0 0
Total ...	£525	0 0
Second Year and subsequently.
Principal ...	£200	0 0
Eight Students, at 25l. per annum ...	200	0 0
Unforeseen Expenses ...	30	0 0
Total ...	£450	0 0

The Standing Committee had agreed, in accordance with the request of the Bishop, to recommend a grant of half the expense of eight students for each year, at the rates stated above, i.e. at the rate of 30l. per annum for the first year, and at the rate of 25l. per annum for the second. Thus, for the first year, if there were eight students, the Society would pay 120l., viz. at the rate of 15l. per student; for the second year, if there were eight students, 100l., viz. at the rate of 12l. 10s. per student; in all, 220l. The recommendation of the Standing Committee was agreed to.

Diocese of Aberdeen and Orkney.—The Rev. James R. Leslie, Incumbent of Inchgower, Buckie, Banffshire, forwarded a petition from the Buckie Vestry, for aid to build a church. The Bishop of Aberdeen and Orkney appended his recommendation to the petition.

The petition and recommendation are as follows:—

“To the Venerable the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge.

“The Humble Petition of the Incumbent and Vestry of the Episcopal Church, at Buckie, in the diocese of Aberdeen.

“Showeth,—That at the Revolution of 1688, when Presbyterianism became the established religion in Scotland, a considerable number of the inhabitants of the parish of Rathven and district of Enzie, in the county of Banff, adhered to the communion and principles of the Episcopal Church.

“That the congregation of Churchmen in this parish and district survived the troubles in 1715, but, in common with many others of a similar description, had their place of worship burnt down by the Duke of Cumberland’s army in 1746, and were subjected to all the rigours of the penal statutes. Under these trying circumstances, they were reduced to the necessity of having their religious ministrations performed for some time in private houses, and latterly in a building which they erected at Arradoul, in 1782. In this building they continued to worship until 1844, when, for their faithful adherence to the Church of their fathers, they were shut out from it by the proprietor on whose estate it had been erected. Since then they have met in a small building in Buckie, which they purchased from the Wesleyans at a cost of 75l. This building, as may be supposed, was never appropriate, either in external appearance or internal arrangement, for the service of God and the offices of our holy religion. Besides, it is now so damp, uncomfortable, and dilapidated, as to render a new church absolutely necessary.

“That the existing congregation, of about 200 souls, composed exclusively of fishermen and individuals of the poor and labouring classes, are quite unable to build a church.

“Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray the Venerable the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, to take their case into consideration, and to grant them such aid towards building a church, as to the said Venerable Society shall seem fit.

“And Petitioners will ever pray.

“JAMES R. LESLIE, Incumbent.

“ALEXANDER GRANT, Sec. and Treas.

“JOHN FARQUHAR, Vestryman.

“JOSEPH COWIE, Vestryman.

“ALEX. DONALDSON, Vestryman.

“In recommending the Memorial of the poor

Buckie congregation to the Venerable Society, I would ask the members to take into their consideration the firm adherence of these simple fishermen to the Church of their fathers, ‘through evil report and good report;’ and I venture to hope that, amid the many claims upon the funds of the Society, some place may be found for this cry for aid, which, as their Bishop, I send in from these people who love their Prayer Book, and value the Apostolic order of the Church.

“THOMAS GEO. SUTHER, “Bishop of Aberdeen and Orkney.

“Aberdeen. Jan. 18th, 1875.”

The following additional particulars have been supplied subsequently by Mr. Leslie. The estimated cost of the church, which is to provide sittings for 200 people, is 1500l.

Towards this sum Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, of Cluny, Aberdeen, who are proprietors of part of Buckie, but have no residential house there, have promised 400l.

The funds at present in hand are 504l. In addition to this sum there is the promise, inclusive of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon’s subscription, of 450l. Thus the whole sum which can be depended upon is 954l., leaving a balance of about 550l. still to be raised. Mr. Leslie wrote: “Every exertion has been made on our part to raise funds, first in the congregation, then throughout Scotland, and latterly throughout England. From its extreme poverty, the congregation has been able to subscribe only 60l.—a small sum when looked at by itself, but large when compared with their means.”

Mr. Leslie fears that they cannot expect to raise much more, and earnestly begs, on behalf of his poor flock, for a liberal grant.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50l. for the completion of this church. The Society’s grant to be paid when the usual conditions shall have been fulfilled.

Mr. Stewart, having already been to New Zealand, in order to select a suitable position for a new settlement, and having fixed his choice upon a tract of land at Kati-Kati, on the east coast of the province of Auckland, is on the point of leaving Ireland with fifty Protestant families, for the purpose of founding the settlement.

The following is an extract from a printed paper forwarded by Mr. Stewart:—

“It is earnestly to be desired that a settlement of this character should not be deprived of the religious advantages enjoyed by Christians of all denominations in this country, and Mr. Stewart states that, in travelling in the Colony, nothing gave him greater pain than to find in the remote country districts a total absence of all religious observances. The result of such a deplorable state of things is only too obvious. The soul at first gets cold, then callous to all feelings in principles of religion. He, therefore, when in New Zealand, placed himself in communication with the Bishop of the diocese (Waiapu), and he has nominated the Hon. Secretaries of the Church Missionary Society, 15, Salisbury-square, London, to approve, on his behalf, in this country, of a pastor for the settlement.

“It would be extremely difficult, in fact almost impossible, to obtain the necessary funds for building a church, and providing suitable accommodation for a clergyman, from a small and struggling community, such as those comprising the present party, who will necessarily have to devote all their energies, and will spend their little capital in starting themselves and their families in their new home. Under these circumstances it is hoped that earnest Christians will come forward and liberally aid a cause in every way worthy of their support.

“The Rev. J. Crosley, of Belfast, has consented to accompany the party to New Zealand, and become their future pastor, having been approved of by the above Society.”

Mr. Stewart further wrote:—“If the S.P.O.K. would promise us a subscription, subject to the sanction of the Bishop of Waiapu, I would myself advance to the Building Fund the amount thus promised. The cost of building the church and school-houses will be about 800l., and the land attached will be vested in the Bishop and Synod. The grant for such will be perfectly free and held in fee.”

On the recommendation of the Standing Committee, it was agreed to grant one-tenth part of the expenditure on church and schools, provided such tenth part did not exceed 100l. The grant to be subject to the approval of the Bishop of Waiapu, and to be paid when he shall have certified as to the amount of the expenditure, and that the receipt of the Society’s grant will lead to the immediate completion of the works, to their being free from all liability for debt, and secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Book Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Book Grants, Special and Ordinary, were agreed to.

Diocese of Antigua.—The Bishop of Antigua, in a letter dated Antigua, 11th January, 1875, made application for a grant of three sets of service books. One set for use in the church on the Round Hill Estate, Nevis, towards the completion of which the Society voted 40l. in October last; the other two sets for use in All Saints’ Chapel and St. James’ Church respectively.

The books, formerly in use in these two last-named places of worship, were drenched and defaced by the hurricane which took place about two years ago.

The Society at the time granted four sets of service books for use in four churches, which were destroyed, but the Bishop was not then aware that the service books in All Saints’ Chapel and at St. James’s had been rendered useless through the unroofing of the chancels of those two buildings, which were otherwise spared. The Bishop adds, “a box sent to the R.M.S.P. office, with a note to William Dunlop, Esq., chief clerk, saying it contains gift books for my churches will, I am confident, be sent free.”

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant three sets of service books similar to those granted before, viz. 4to. books.

Diocese of Toronto.—The Bishop, dating from Toronto on the 20th January, 1875, applied for a grant of six sets of 4to. service books. The Bishop wrote as follows:—

“As I am frequently asked by the clergymen of newly organized or needy congregations to procure books for them, I venture to solicit from the Society another grant of the same size and quality as those previously sent. These I should be glad to distribute where the gift would, in my judgment, be a substantial help.”

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make this grant as applied for.

Madagascar.—Bishop Kestell Cornish, dating from Antananarivo on 5th December, 1874, gave an account of the progress of the Mission in Madagascar, of which he is the head. He stated that they had, after some delay, succeeded in purchasing a suitable site for their church and schools in the capital, and that they were about to build a new church at Tamatave at a cost of 500l., and also another new church at a like cost at Andevorante, which was till lately a station of the Church Missionary Society. As the Bishop wrote he heard that the old church at Tamatave with its fittings had been destroyed by fire; this would be a great loss, as it had been intended to use the old church as a school. Towards meeting the expense of these and other similar works the Bishop proposed to draw, as he is entitled to do, for the first sum of 1000*l.* placed at his disposal by the Society in May last.

There will then remain another sum of 1000*l.* at the Bishop's disposal for churches and schools, so soon as he has 4000*l.* for the same purposes from other sources, and in addition 1000*l.* for the endowment of the see when 9000*l.* have been raised to meet it.

The Bishop mentioned his great need of more pecuniary help, and of more books.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 20*l.*

Bishop Crowther.—E. Hutchinson, Esq., Secretary of the Church Missionary Society, applied for a grant of Arabic Prayer Books for use in the Niger Mission. Mr. Hutchinson forwarded extracts from a report recently received from Bishop Crowther, showing that Arabic Prayer Books will be useful in his mission.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant fifty copies. This grant will be charged to Crawford's Arabic Trust.

Jerusalem.—Mr. Hutchinson also applied for a grant of fifty copies of the Prayer Book in Arabic for the use of the Rev. J. Zeller, the C.M.S. Missionary at Nazareth. Mr. Zeller had written, "Our stock of Prayer Books in Arabic is again exhausted, and I should be very thankful for a grant of fifty copies, as I urgently want them for Accha."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant fifty copies as applied for. This grant also will be charged to Crawford's Arabic Trust.

Norfolk Island.—In connexion with the statement made by Mr. Nobbs respecting the destruction of books and maps by the late hurricane, it was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to send out books, &c., to Norfolk Island, to the value of 15*l.*

Portuguese Prayer Books.—On the application of Mr. John Stott Howorth, recommended by the Rev. Wm. Whitworth, Vicar of Rawtenstall, near Manchester, and a member of the Society, a grant of Portuguese Prayer Books was made for use and distribution in Lisbon. Mr. Whitworth wrote as follows:—

"Mr. John Stott Howorth has resided in Lisbon considerably more than thirty years. He has been deeply interested in the welfare not only of his own poor countrymen in that city, but also of the poorer natives. Having known Mr. J. S. Howorth from his childhood, I feel satisfied that this gentleman will take care that any grant of Common Prayers in the Portuguese language, which your Committee may have the goodness to make, shall be applied in a way which they will fully approve."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 200 copies of the Prayer Book in Portuguese.

Bishops in India.—It was agreed, on the suggestion of the Rev. W. T. Bullock, and on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to send to each of the Bishops in India 200 copies of "An Address to Englishmen and English Women in India," which had been recently published by the Tract Committee, and which bore the signatures of the three Indian Bishops.

Diocese of Canterbury.—The Standing Committee informed the meeting that there had been some mistake which led to their applying at the last meeting for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of only 15*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*, to meet an equal outlay on the part of the Canterbury Diocesan Education Society; the whole of the books to be given as prizes for religious knowledge to Pupil-teachers placed in the first class. The application should have been for a grant of nearly double the amount, since the examinations are divided into two distinct parts, and the 15*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.* would only furnish prizes enough for one of these parts.

The total sum wanted from the Society in books for the whole diocese is 29*l.* 3*s.*, to meet an equal outlay on the part of the Diocesan Education Society; thus an additional grant of 13*l.* 19*s.* 6*d.* is applied for.

The total number examined was 478, of whom 128 obtained first classes.

This additional grant was made upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee.

Diocese of London.—The Rev. G. P. Ottey, Inspector in Religious Knowledge for the diocese of London, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 30*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure in books on the part of the London Diocesan Board of Education. The whole of the books to be given as prizes for religious knowledge to such of the Pupil-teachers as were placed in the first classes (149 in all) of their respective divisions, after an examination in religious knowledge held on the 21st of November, 1874.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant S.P.C.K. books as requested, at a charge upon the charitable funds of 30*l.*

Diocese of Winchester (Archdeacons of Winchester and the Isle of Wight).—The Rev. J. E. Parsons applied, on behalf of the Hants Diocesan Board of Education, for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 20*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure in books on the part of the Local Board. The whole of the books are to be given as prizes to Pupil-teachers who have gained a first class in an examination in religious knowledge held in December last.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make this grant as applied for at a charge upon the charitable funds of 20*l.*

Archdeaconry of Surrey.—The Rev. J. W. Gedge, Diocesan Inspector, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 20*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure in books on the part of the Educational Committee of the Archdeaconry of Surrey; the whole of the books to be given as prizes for Pupil-teachers, after a collective examination in religious knowledge held on the 5th of last December.

Mr. Gedge wrote as follows:—

"Will you . . . convey to the Committee and to the Board my grateful thanks for their continued liberality in the matter of these prizes to Pupil-teachers. They are a great encouragement to them and their teachers, and of great assistance to us inspectors."

Mr. Gedge added that the work of inspection in the Archdeaconry of Surrey had been well supported during the past year. The grant was made as applied for, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, at a charge upon the funds of the Society of 20*l.*

Diocese of Bangor.—The Board of Education in this diocese applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books, for prizes for Pupil-teachers, &c. The Standing Committee said that the scheme of examination in this diocese was not quite such as was usual in other dioceses, and that prizes for the result of the examination were given not only to the Pupil-teachers and scholars, but also to the masters and mistresses. Under these circumstances, as the scheme was a large one, and the Society could only help a small part of it, the Committee recommended that books to the value of 3*l.* 15*s.*, the whole sum wanted for Pupil-teachers, should be granted.

The grant was made.

Diocese of Norwich.—The Rev. W. Cufaude

Davie, Principal of the Norwich Training Institution, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books, the value of 3*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure books on the part of the Committee of the Institution.

The whole of the books are to be given prizes to those of the students of the first year six in number, who gained a first class in a religious examination held in October last.

The Standing Committee recommended the grant as applied for, and the grant was made.

Missions to Seamen.—The Standing Committee informed the meeting that Commander Dawson, R.N., Secretary to this Institution, had applied to the Society for a grant of Prayer Books, &c. he had forwarded 5*l.*, which had been given him by a friend, for the purchase of Prayer Books of the smallest size.

A list of Prayer Books in various sizes, which the Society had in stock, with the old Table of Lessons, had been submitted to Commander Dawson, with specimens of each—he had stated that he could readily use all those, and that the larger ones would be specially useful to put into the hands of the captains as "service books."

The original value of these books (in all 338) at members' prices, was 61*l.* 11*s.* 1*d.*, but their commercial value had been greatly depreciated, by reason of their having the old Table of Lessons.

Commander Dawson also asked for 1000 copies of the Churchman's Almanack, and stated that he could profitably employ, amongst the 20,000 seamen afloat, at least 10,000 Prayer Books, and undertook that his Society would at once attack the great question of public worship at sea, systematically in thirty-one seaports, at home and abroad.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant the books with the old Table of Lessons, as mentioned above, and further to grant 1000 copies of the Churchman's Almanack, and small Prayer Books, to the value of 5*l.*, to meet Commander Dawson's purchase.

Grant recommended by the Standing Committee, of which notice was given at the last Meeting.

Diocese of Adelaide.—In accordance with notice given at the last meeting, and for reasons set forth at length in the last Monthly Report, the Standing Committee moved:—

"That a grant of 500*l.*, to meet an equal sum to be raised by the Bishop, be made for the permanent endowment of a Tutorship in Theology for the diocese of Adelaide, on condition of the whole sum of 1000*l.* being invested and secured for the purpose named, in a manner satisfactory to the Standing Committee of this Society."

Election of Vice-Presidents and of the Members of the several Committees, &c.

These elections then took place according to notice given in December last.

Reports and Notices from the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Antigua.—In reference to the grant of 30*l.* reported at the last meeting as having been made from Canning's Fund for the purchase of the Rev. S. Dutton Green to Antigua, on the application of the Rev. Thomas Owen, Commissary to the Bishop of Antigua, the Standing Committee reported that, though a cheque had been sent at Mr. Owen's request in payment of the grant, it had subsequently appeared that through altered circumstances Mr. Green was not about to go to Antigua. The cheque had therefore been returned and cancelled.

St. Saviour's, Hockley, Birmingham.—The Rev. Matthew Parker, vicar of this parish, applied for a grant to enable him to rent for Sunday School purposes a room in a block of School Board Schools erected for 1000 children, immediately opposite his church. For 30*l.* per annum he could rent a room which would accommodate 400 children.

In his present Sunday Schools Mr. Parker says there is space only for 200 children, and he believes that, if he could get the School Board Room in addition, he could speedily have 500 children in attendance. There were now about 900 children attending these Board Schools on week days, many of whom are not attached to any Sunday School. Mr. Parker says that he has been engaged in thorough Missionary work for five years, during which time a church, with all the sittings free, has been built at a cost of about £600. The building was consecrated on the 1st of May, 1874; and the district, which is poor, contains a population of over 5000, and has been constituted a parish, though there is no endowment.

The Committee reported that they had agreed to grant 15*l.* in this case, on the understanding that the grant was for one year only.

St. Luke's, Deptford.—The Rev. James Malcolmson, Vicar of this parish, applied for a grant to enable him to carry on a Sunday School in the new schools of the London School Board just opened in the Ecclesiastical District of St. Luke's.

The Committee had agreed to grant 23*l.* towards the rent for one year, on the understanding that there was no promise of renewal.

Army Scripture Readers' and Soldiers' Friend Society, 4, Trafalgar Square.—W. A. Blake, Esq., Secretary of this Society, with the recommendation of the Chaplain-General, applied for a large grant of books and tracts from the Fund "Clericus." The Standing Committee reported that they had agreed to grant books and tracts to the value of 250*l.*, with a view to their being distributed by the agents of this Society. The Society employs sixty-nine Readers, who act under the superintendence of her Majesty's Chaplains.

Central African Mission.—The Secretary stated that the Right Rev. Bishop Steere had made the following application, in a letter, dated 7*th*, Euston Square, 27*th* January, 1875, addressed to the Secretary:—

"DEAR SIR,—Allow me, through you, to apply to the Society for a grant in aid of the passages to Zanzibar of the Rev. E. S. L. Randolph, whose passage is taken by the mail steamer leaving Southampton on February 4*th*; the Rev. J. P. Fairler, whose passage is taken for a steamer leaving on February 25*th*; and the Rev. G. A. James, who is to sail in April or May. We are sending out at the same time seven laymen, most of them candidates for ordination after a longer or shorter probation, and we have no help from any other Society. Each man has an allowance for clothes, &c., of 20*l.* per annum. The first payment is made so soon as they have signed their agreement, by way of outfit. We are, therefore, at great expense, and should feel the greatest kindness and a most valuable help to our work if the Society should assist us in the matter of these passages. Mr. Randolph's passage will cost 64*l.*, and the other two 56*l.* each, besides extras. I had hoped to have waited to the Society at one of their Committees, but I have just heard of the death of Mr. West, who was in charge of the Mission, so that I shall have to sail myself within about ten days of this time. With many thanks for all past kindness,

"I am yours very sincerely,

"EDWARD STEERE, Missionary Bishop."

The Committee reported that they had agreed to grant out of Canning's Fund the three sums (all 176*l.*) mentioned by Bishop Steere as necessary for the passage-money of the three laymen mentioned by him as about to proceed to Missionary work in his diocese.

Archbishops' Examination of Candidates for Admission to Training Colleges, &c.—The Secretary stated that he had received a letter from Canon Norris, dated 8*th* January, 1875, from which the following are extracts:—

"I have this day completed my examination of the candidates for admission; there were (oddly enough) exactly 1874 candidates. You know how last year I reported a steady decline in Religious Attainment in the years 1871-72-73. But I added:—'I am full of hope that the worst is past; and that better things may be looked for.' And there is a slight improvement this year, showing that we have passed dead low water, and that the tide is rising. This you will see from the percentages opposite. (The standard was quite uniform.)

	1873.	1874.
First Class ..	3½	5
Second Class ..	21	23½
Third Class ..	58	54½
Failed ..	17½	16½
	100	100

"I do hope this incipient improvement may be maintained, for many of the answers sent in are simply shocking from fifth-year Pupil-teachers.

"There will be ninety-five candidates for your 3*l.* premiums. I hope it will not overtask your appropriation.

"I am full of hope that the Archbishop will now let me transfer the task to the Board of Three, only I trust they will not lower the standard of candidates as they did that of students.

"Believe me yours very faithfully,

"J. P. NORRIS."

The Secretary added that he had written to the Principals of the several Training Colleges, asking how many of their newly-admitted students had obtained first classes in Canon Norris's Examination, with the view of sending each of such students the Society's promised reward of 3*l.*

The Secretary further stated that, though in future this Examination would be conducted under the auspices and at the charge of the National Society, the S.P.C.K. had offered to give the money-prizes of 3*l.* each to those who should be placed in the first class at the end of 1875, on their admission to some Church of England Training College. This was done on the express undertaking, on the part of the National Society, that they would, after the current year, share the expenses of similar money prizes with S.P.C.K.

The Secretary added that Canon Norris had sent to the Society printed copies of his Report to the Archbishops of Canterbury and York on this subject.

The following are extracts from that report. After having stated that during 1874 he had visited all the training colleges except one, which declined to receive him, he says:—

"In almost all the colleges which I visited, I was asked to examine the students orally in their religious knowledge. I purposely avoided the subjects of the Syllabus; wishing to test their thoughtfulness, and knowledge of the rudiments of faith, rather than their acquaintance with set portions of Scripture. In almost every college I found a group, larger or smaller, five, ten, or twenty students, who responded readily to this kind of examination, and gave me thoughtful answers; but I found also in nearly all the colleges a large number who, by their silence, or still more clearly by some unfortunate answer which they gave when pressed, showed how loose and uncertain was their knowledge of the varied elements of religion. Such portions of the Bible or Prayer Book as had been taught them in the lecture-room of the college they knew; but of any previous grounding they showed little or no sign.

"We clergy must beware of assuming that, as a matter of course, our Pupil-teachers know even such elements of religion as are taught in a good Infant School. I have a pile of papers before me—the answers of some 300 Pupil-teachers who failed to pass the 'Entrance Examination' last month—displaying an amount of ignorance that is simply shocking, when we remember that they are young people of eighteen years of age, who for five years have been Pupil-teachers in Church Schools, brought immediately, therefore, under the eye of the clergy.

"Once again I would beseech the clergy, who have not yet adopted the practice, to examine their Pupil-teachers from time to time—once a month at any rate—in their religious knowledge, that they may ascertain how far it is keeping pace with their other studies. Some of the clergy do it systematically, having the Pupil-teachers once a week, or once a fortnight, at the Parsonage, for an hour's lesson or examination. Of 885 to whom I put the question last year, 257, that is rather more than 29 per cent., had received this kind of assistance from the clergy during their Pupil-teachership. Last year the proportion was 28½. When we remember how much may be done in this way to stamp a religious character on the teachers, and therefore on the schools of the future—far more, surely, than by any amount of controversy—we must earnestly hope that the proportion of Pupil-teachers who have this kind of help given them will go on increasing.

"I am persuaded that no pains are spared at the training colleges to make up for this earlier neglect, as the results of the Students' final Examination, compared with the results of their Entrance Examination, testify. But it is in vain to expect the two years at college to repair altogether the neglect of many previous years."

In reference to his examination of candidates for admission to training colleges, Canon Norris reports as follows:—

"On Thursday, 17*th* December, 1871, candidates for admission were examined in their Religious Knowledge. The questions sent by me previously to each of the thirty training colleges, will be found in the Appendix. In looking over and marking the answers, I was aided by the same Assistant Examiners as before, and to them my grateful thanks are due. By meeting and comparing notes repeatedly, we secured an uniform standard of marking.

"I looked anxiously to the results of this Examination. The results of 1871, 1872, and 1873, had shown, as your Graces may remember, a steady decline of attainment. But in commenting on this disappointing fact last year, I said:—'I am still very sure that the worst is passed, and that better things may be looked for.' Two circumstances encouraged me to hope that the decline would not continue further, and that a gradual improvement might be expected.

(1) Many of H.M. Inspectors had remarked that from 1862 (the date of the Revised Code) to 1869 the candidates for Pupil-teacherships had been deteriorating; and that the increased public interest in popular education, called forth by the Government Bill of 1870, had a very favourable effect in inducing a better sort of parents to seek Pupil-teacherships for their children. Those apprenticed in and after 1870 are now beginning to appear before me as candidates for admission into training colleges. This was one ground of hope. (2) A second more important reason for expecting improvement was the salutary action of the Diocesan Inspectors, who began to be generally appointed in 1871-72. This system of Diocesan Inspection has been the saving of our Church Schools: and perhaps the most valuable service they have rendered has been their annual collective examinations of Pupil-teachers. I thought the effects of this might perhaps begin to appear in the Christmas Examination of 1874.

"Nor have I been disappointed. It is true the improvement is but slight, but I believe it will be continued. That it may be measured accurately from year to year, I hope that if the Board of Three are so kind as to undertake this Examination, they will endeavour to maintain as evenly as possible the existing standard of questions and of marking.

"I give below the series of results in percentages for the four years, showing a gradual decline to 1873, and in 1874 the commencement of a rise:—

	1871	1873	1874
First Class	6½	4½	3½
Second Class	37½	28	21
Third Class	47	54½	58
Failed	9	13½	17½

"The National Society being now in a position to undertake the expense of the whole of the work connected with the examination and inspection of training colleges, the Christian Knowledge Society will henceforward cease to contribute to it. For four years the S.P.C.K. has borne the expense of that portion of the work which I have been responsible for, amounting to 400*l.* per annum, the details of which may be seen in the Appendix.

"To that venerable Society the thanks of the Church are due for the prompt aid given to the sister Society in reinforcing that part of the training colleges' work in which the Church is so deeply interested. Besides the annual grant of 400*l.* for inspection, the S.P.C.K. has given a 3*l.* premium to every candidate for admission placed in the first class; and has granted 5000*l.* to aid in providing accommodation for nearly 300 additional students.

"It may be hoped that the 3*l.* prizes to Pupil-teachers who win a first class on entering training colleges may be continued. It is a most effectual encouragement to their religious studies during their Pupil-teachership."

Principles, Proceedings, and Results of the Divorce Act.—In accordance with notice given at the last meeting, the Rev. Charles Miller, Vicar of Harlow, moved "That the Standing Committee be requested to call the attention of both Houses of Convocation to the Principles, Proceedings, and Results of the Divorce Act, with a view to procure its repeal by her Majesty and her Parliament."

This motion was not seconded, and therefore fell to the ground.

Notice of Motion for the next Meeting.

Mr. Jeffreys gave notice of motion "That in the summary of the Bibles, New Testaments, and Common Prayers made up to March 31st in each year, the books provided in plain strong bindings, for the use of schools and of the poor, be massed separately from the rest in two lots. One lot containing all Bibles, costing, without Apocrypha, 2*s.* each and upwards (members' prices); and the other lot containing all Testaments and Common Prayers, costing 1*s.* each and upwards, without Metrical Psalms or Hymns (members' prices)."

Grants of Books, &c., recommended by the Standing Committee, were then made.

For Schools, Lending Libraries, and Distribution, to the amount of 243*l.* 17*s.* 8*d.*

For Churches, Chapels, or Licensed Rooms, to the amount of 31*l.* 12*s.* 8*d.*

Trust Funds.

Grants of Books have been made from the various Trust Funds of the Society since the last Meeting.

Announcement of Donations, Legacies, &c.

Money Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Sydney.—The Bishop, in a letter dated Sydney, 9th December, 1874, forwarded and cordially recommended an application from the Rev. T. H. Rowsell for a new church in course of erection in the parish of Dapto, in the district of Illawarra.

Thus far Divine Service has been conducted in a weather-board school-house, quite unsuitable for a house of God. The inhabitants, who have been for some time anxious to build a church, have all contributed as much as they can. They are, almost without exception, hard-working dairy-farmers, holding their farms on lease, and paying large rents, the chief produce being butter, which yields them but little profit.

The population is likely to increase, and the church is being constructed so as to meet the future as well as the present wants for some time to come. It will be of freestone, and is estimated to cost, when completed, about 900*l.*; of this amount 500*l.* has been already contributed or promised.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50*l.* in this case, the Society's grant to be paid so soon as the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from all liability for debt, and secured as the property of the Church.

Diocese of British Guiana.—The Bishop of Guiana, dating Kingston House, George Town, Demerara, 23rd January, 1875, forwarded and very heartily commended the appeal made to the Society in the following letter, addressed to him by the Rev. David Smith, M.A., Rector of St. Matthew's, Demerara, and Secretary to the Chinese Church Committee:—

"St. Matthew's Rectory, 23rd January, 1875.

"My Lord,—I know the great interest you take in the work going on amongst the Chinese in this colony, and that I have but to make the request that you would plead their cause, to ensure your Lordship's cordial assent. Since, however, it is with those far away I am about to ask your Lordship to plead, it may be well for me to state shortly some circumstances in relation to that work which seem to me to constitute a strong claim for aid towards the completion of the church now in course of erection in our capital for the special use of the Chinese, that therein they may hear of "the wonderful works of God," and "the good tidings of great joy to all people," in their own tongue, and in their own tongue take their parts in the Offices of our own Book of Common Prayer.

"Your Lordship will remember that it is little more than twelve months (Dec. 4, 1873) since a Chinese Catechist, who has been labouring amongst his countrymen in this colony for some years past with self-denying zeal, laid before you the proposal to build the church to which I have referred, undertaking to raise from his countrymen—almost without exception of the labouring class, and the great majority still heathen—half the necessary funds.

"A Committee of Clergy was immediately formed to co-operate with the Chinese; and with such persevering energy did these latter apply themselves to their task, that in August last the Committee was enabled to commence the work. On the 14th of that month the chief corner-stone of the building was laid by his Excellency Governor Longden. Since then it has steadily progressed, and the frame of a building consisting of nave, 50 ft. by 20 ft., with N. and S. aisles, 50 ft. by 8 ft., has been erected and roofed in, and is now being boarded up. It is with great regret that the Committee has for the present felt compelled to postpone the erection of the chancel, unless help can be obtained from England. I have full confidence that the Chinese will raise the half of the total required. Their mode of procedure is a sure earnest of success, for they follow, as it is rarely followed now-a-days, the Apostolic model. The Catechist to whom I have already referred, Tsai-Kit—generally with a companion better acquainted with some of the dialects which he himself has not yet mastered—starts on his mission, first to one part of the colony, then to another, going from estate to estate preaching and holding services, entirely dependent the greater part of the time upon his countrymen for food and shelter. He has thus collected and paid in to the treasurer of the Committee upwards of 200*l.*

"Because, then, of their self-denying zeal, their comparative poverty and fewness in number—the number of Chinese adult Christians in the colony is not above 250—and the great impetus and encouragement the completion of their church will naturally give to the work of evangelization among them, I would earnestly ask your Lordship to plead for help with the Ven. Society for the Promotion of Christian Knowledge. Never, I feel sure, have they aided us who have more nobly striven to help themselves.

"I am, my Lord,

"Your Lordship's most obedient servant,

"DAVID SMITH, M.A.,

"Secretary to Chinese Church Committee."

The Bishop wrote as follows:—

"No work which has been taken up during Episcopate has gladdened my heart more than this; and I shall rejoice if the good old Society can lend assistance in promoting so promising an effort. The building is being so constructed that it can be enlarged from time to time. It is very substantial; indeed, we have none more so in the diocese; and it is comely in its proportions, and it should be a beacon for many years to come to Chinese and others in this land.

"After the Governor laid the corner-stone he sent home an account of what had been done to Lord Carnarvon, who was so much gratified that he placed the despatch before the Queen, and her Majesty was pleased to express her great satisfaction in the advance made by her Chinese subjects."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 100*l.* for the completion of this church, on the usual conditions.

Bishop Macrorie of Maritzburg.—Bishop Macrorie, writing from Maritzburg on the 23rd December last, forwarded and strongly recommended two applications from his diocese.

The first application was from the Ven. Thomas G. Fearn, Warden of St. Mary's College, Richmond, and Archdeacon of Maritzburg.

The Archdeacon stated, that out of a sum of 150*l.*, voted by the Society, in 1868, had sprung St. Mary's College, which now numbers in it about fifty souls.

The church of St. Mary, Richmond, which the students, &c., of the college attend, furnish accommodation for about 100 persons; the addition of fifty from the college renders the accommodation quite insufficient.

The parishioners have therefore determined enlarge their church at an estimated outlay more than 300*l.* They have raised about 150*l.* but Archdeacon Fearn says that it is useless expect them to raise the rest.

The Standing Committee, having carefully considered all the circumstances of the case recommended a grant of 50*l.*; to be paid when the bishop should have certified that sufficient with this sum had been raised to complete the church for the proposed enlargement.

This recommendation of the Standing Committee was adopted.

The second case recommended by Bishop Macrorie was an application from the Rev. Thomas Taylor, of Greytown, for aid towards building small school-chapel for the use of the natives at Greytown.

Mr. Taylor wrote as follows:—

"I am greatly in want of a native school-building. A small building about thirty by twenty feet would be sufficient for the present. Not a room is to be had in the village for the purpose of giving instruction to the natives. They have frequently asked me of late when I intend to give them lessons. The cost of such a building would be about 100*l.* at the least. I should have to do the work myself as best I could until I can afford to pay for a Native Teacher. I am now, however, receiving a small grant, just made, of 24*l.* from Government, but this will be withdrawn if I cannot soon begin with some satisfaction. Indeed my work generally suffers more for the want of buildings than from anything else."

Bishop Macrorie mentioned the circumstances under which Mr. Taylor had been ministering at Greytown for the last ten years.

The Standing Committee recommended a grant of 20*l.* for a school-chapel for the use of natives who seek instruction; the Society's grant to be paid when the usual conditions have been fulfilled. This grant was made.

Diocese of Melbourne.—On the 22nd of February, 1875, the Bishop, who is in this country, wrote as follows:—

"The Dean of Melbourne, now acting as my Vicar-General, writes that there is greatly needed a building for worship by Chinese at St. Arnaud. The present building is of bark, put together in the rudest, roughest manner possible, and now falling to ruins; makes no pretence of keeping out the wind, and would keep out a very small portion of rain. The floor is the pure earth; and in this place a number of Chinese, some baptised, some inquirers, and others, sit listening to the Gospel of Christ. They have themselves subscribed 16*l.* towards the new building, in sums of 2*s.* 6*d.*, 5*s.*, 10*s.*, and 1*l.* The church has an acre of ground conveniently situated for a site.

"For the proposed new building only the sum of about 35*l.* is required; but the Committee for Chinese Missions have at present great difficulty in paying the agents employed from month to month, and therefore cannot expend even this amount for so desirable an object.

"A grant from the S.P.C.K. would greatly encourage the supporters of these Missions in their very difficult work of raising contributions from members of the Church in the diocese on behalf of the heathen sojourners among them."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 10*l.* in this case, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Bombay.—The Rev. F. L. Sharpin, Honorary Secretary of the Bombay Diocesan Committee of the S.P.C.K., wrote as follows:—

"Bombay, January 25th, 1875.

"Dear Sir,—At the last monthly Meeting of the Bombay Diocesan Committee, S.P.C.K., it was resolved that encouragement should be given as far as possible to duly-qualified persons willing to undertake the translation into the vernacular of elementary religious books; and with his view a fixed scale of payment was drawn out in conformity with the rates sanctioned by the Religious Tract Society for the same purpose.

"To enable the Diocesan Committee to carry out their desire in this matter, I am requested to ask whether the Parent Society will be good enough to sanction a grant of 100*l.* towards the payments of translators, and 100*l.* towards defraying the expenses of printing vernacular translations of books on the Society's list.

"I am, dear Sir, yours very truly,

"F. L. SHARPIN,

"Hon. Sec. S.P.C.K."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 200*l.* for the carrying out of the work proposed.

Cree Catechism, Syllabic Character.—The Rev. C. C. Fenn, Secretary of the C.M.S., asked the Society to print and give for circulation amongst the North-American Cree Indians 1000 copies of a first Catechism, the Lord's Prayer, the Apostles' Creed, and the Ten Commandments in the Syllabic Character; the Catechism being the same as that already printed by the S.P.C.K. for the Bishop of Moosonee in Roman character.

The total estimated cost was 13*l.* 9*s.* 2*d.*

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make this grant as applied for.

Book Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Book Grants, Special and Ordinary, were agreed to.

Tracts for Ash-Wednesday, Lent, &c., &c.—The Standing Committee stated that they had sanctioned the giving away of Tracts for the seasons of Lent, Easter, &c., in accordance with the practice of several past years.

These grants were approved.

Missions to Seamen.—Commander Dawson, R.N., Secretary to the Society for Missions to Seamen, thankfully acknowledged the grant of Prayer Books, &c., which was made on his application at the last Meeting. He said that this grant, together with their purchase, had enabled them to supply ten Prayer Books to each of ten ships sailing from ten several seaports, or 100 Prayer Books each to such ports as London, Cardiff, Bristol, Swansea, &c., with their thousands of ships sailing annually.

"But," Captain Dawson added, "we have a number of other important seaports where the Chaplains or Honorary Chaplains are wishing to persuade captains to conduct Divine Service at sea, and it is desired in each such port to furnish enough for ten ships out of their several hundreds or thousands of vessels; to begin with and for this purpose we need 100 Prayer Books for each place.

"The following very important ports still need this tentative supply, viz:—

Plymouth Sound.	The Medway.
Falmouth Roads.	Great Yarmouth Roads.
Torbay Road.	Hull Docks.
Portland Harbour.	Sunderland.
The Solent.	Middlesboro'.
The Downs.	The Tyne.
Queenstown.	Dublin Harbour.
Cork River.	Kingstown Harbour.
Lisbon River.	Malta Harbour.
Gibraltar.

"I am happy to add that the public have sent me a large number of old Prayer Books, but these are all used up by one or two ports, not named above, in which the Chaplains have heartily entered into this endeavour to make a real start at persuading captains to conduct Divine Worship at sea."

Upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, Prayer Books to the value of 50*l.* were granted in reply to this application.

Diocese of Auckland, New Zealand.—The Standing Committee said that they had received a letter from the Rev. R. S. Hassard, Secretary for the Auckland Sunday School Association, setting forth the great need there was in Auckland for a better supply of religious books of a Church tone for the young. Several clergymen had guaranteed 5*l.* each towards paying for a supply, and Mr. Hassard was very anxious to commence with a stock of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 50*l.*, which would, he felt sure, meet with a ready sale.

The Standing Committee recommended a grant of books to the value of 25*l.* in this case, upon condition of the proceeds of sale, when realized, being returned to the General Funds of the Society as a donation, and on the understanding that Mr. Hassard would order 25*l.* worth of the Society's books on the usual terms.

This was agreed to.

Diocese of Montreal.—The Bishop, in a letter dated Montreal, February 5th, applied for a grant of twelve or fifteen sets of 8vo Service Books for new churches in poor districts. The Bishop said, "We need about six sets per annum."

The books, if granted, to be addressed to the Rev. J. Empson, Secretary to the Synod, Synod Office, Montreal.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant twelve sets of 8vo Service Books.

Diocese of Peterborough.—The Rev. Edmund Willes applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 5*l.*, to meet an equal outlay in books on the part of the Leicestershire Archidiaconal Board of Education, the whole of the books to be given as prizes to Pupil-teachers who shall obtain first classes in an examination about to be held in religious knowledge.

It is expected that about 170 Pupil-teachers will be examined. The number of probable first classes cannot be estimated, as in previous years no class-list has been made, the two best Pupil-teachers of each year having received prizes. This year the Pupil-teachers will be arranged in order of merit, and in three classes.

Mr. Willes hopes that, if necessary, he may be allowed to apply for a supplemental grant on similar conditions.

The books, to the value of 5*l.*, were granted as asked for, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Exeter.—Rural Deanery of Ipplepen.

—The Rev. Peter Lilly, Honorary Secretary of the Board of Religious Instruction in the Deanery of Ipplepen, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 5*l.*, to meet an equal outlay on books on the part of his Ruridecanal Board, the whole of the books to be given as prizes to Pupil-teachers placed in a first class at a simultaneous diocesan examination held last December. The total number examined was forty-seven. Of these:—

10	were placed in the 1st class.
16	" " 2nd "
14	" " 3rd "
7	failed to pass.
47

This grant was made as applied for, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee.

Diocese of London.—St. Mark's College, Chelsea. The Rev. Canon Cromwell, Principal of this College, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 10*l.*, to meet an equal purchase. The books are for the Students' Library of the College.

This grant was made as applied for, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee.

Reports and Notices from the Standing Committee.

Finance Committee.—The Standing Committee reported that, in conformity with Rule XXVII., they had, on Monday, the 22nd of February, the day of their first meeting after the February Monthly Meeting, appointed the five members of their body, whose names are subjoined, to form, with the Treasurers, the Finance Committee for the ensuing twelve months, viz. Rev. E. Capel Cure, Rev. H. I. Cummins, Rev. John Evans, Rev. Canon Miller, and R. B. Wade, Esq.

Appointment of Auditors.—The Standing Committee reminded the Meeting that by Rule XLIV. Auditors should be appointed at this Meeting, who should examine the Society's Accounts, with a view to reporting thereon at the General Meeting in June.

It was agreed to request Mr. Cameron, Mr.

Hilhouse, Mr. Jeffreys, Mr. Francis Russell, and Mr. Philip Vernon Smith, to act as Auditors.

Editorial Secretary.—The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that, in consequence of the resignation by Mr. Fuller of the office of Editorial Secretary, as announced to the General Meeting in December last, it had been their duty to take the steps necessary for finding a suitable successor to that gentleman, with a view to recommending him, in accordance with Rule LI., for election by the General Meeting.

The Standing Committee added, that they had, both by private inquiry and public advertisement, made every endeavour in their power to find a clergyman of sound theological views, with a knowledge of Foreign languages and some literary experience, whom they could recommend.

They begged now to recommend for election the Rev. Edmund M'Clure, B.A., Junior Moderator, and Silver Medalist of Trinity College, Dublin, M.A., and Honour-man of the Queen's University, Ireland.

The recommendation of the Standing Committee was adopted, and Mr. M'Clure elected to the post of Editorial Secretary.

Crawford's Irish Trust.—The Standing Committee reported that they had received assurance from the Rev. John Halahan, Incumbent of Berehaven, Ireland, and from the Bishop of Cork, to the effect that Mr. O'Toole, towards whose stipend the Committee had made a grant at the rate of 60*l.* a year out of Crawford's Irish Trust, had carried on his work of ministering to an Irish-speaking population in the Irish tongue most satisfactorily.

That they had further similar assurance that Mr. O'Toole had, during the past year, received, in addition to the 60*l.* above-named, at the rate of 70*l.* from the Irish Society, of 17, Upper Sackville-street, Dublin; and in addition 20*l.* a year, and the use of a house, rent free, from Mr. Halahan.

The Standing Committee added that they had, subject to the conditions mentioned above being still adhered to, agreed to renew the grant from Crawford's Irish Trust, at the rate of 60*l.*, for another year, to commence at the 24th of June next.

Diocese of Chester.—The Rev. George French, Incumbent of the new district of St. Ambrose, Everton, near Liverpool, applied for a grant towards supporting a Mission-room, in which an additional Sunday School, &c., is now held.

The room has for two years been occupied by a "working man," who, with a few friends, carried on very successfully a Sunday School and other Missionary work in connexion with the Church. This good man has recently been removed to other work, and the room, with all the work hitherto carried on in it, has consequently been thrown upon the clergyman's hands.

Mr. French is most unwilling that any of this work should be abandoned or suffered to fall into other hands. He cannot, however, find all the means for carrying it on.

The rent of the room, which is capable of holding 200 adults, is 20*l.*, and there are other necessary expenses, bringing up the total cost to 30*l.* a year.

In answer to inquiry, Mr. French has informed the Secretary that he has not any other source, except that of private subscriptions, whence he expects help. He has other rooms, towards which the Church of England School Society of Liverpool makes a grant of 10*l.* a year, but that Society can grant no further help. The population of the district consists almost exclusively of the operative classes and small shopkeepers.

The Standing Committee reported that they had in this case agreed to set apart 15*l.* out of the money at their disposal for aiding Sunday Schools, with a view to enable them to assist to that extent in paying the rent of the room named for one year; but Mr. French would be given to understand that he must not calculate upon a renewal of this grant, which was made for the purpose of enabling him at once to make arrangements for carrying on a work which had been suddenly thrown upon his hands.

Prizes for Religious Knowledge to Pupils in Elementary Church Schools.—The Standing Committee gave notice that at the next Monthly Meeting, to be held on Tuesday, the 6th of April, they would propose the following resolution:—

"That, as it appears desirable to promote the acquisition of religious knowledge by the Scholars of Elementary Schools, the resolution of June, 1873, be rescinded, in order that the Society may be enabled to assist Diocesan and other bodies in giving prizes to children after their examination in religious subjects."

The Committee added that the resolution passed by the General Meeting in June, 1873, to which reference is made, is as follows:—

"That prizes similar to the above" (i.e. grants of S.P.C.K. books for Pupil-teachers, to meet equal purchases by Diocesan Boards, &c.) "to children, who are neither Pupil-teachers nor Candidates, be discontinued after the current year; but that candidates for Pupil-teacherships be allowed to compete."

Motion of which Notice was given at the last Meeting.

Summary of Bibles and Prayer Books.—Mr. Jeffreys had given notice that to-day he would propose, "That in the summary of the Bibles, New Testaments, and Common Prayers made up to March 31st in each year, the books provided in plain strong bindings, for the use of schools and of the poor, be massed separately from the rest in two lots. One lot containing all Bibles, costing, without Apocrypha, 2*s.* each and upwards (Members' prices); and the other lot containing all Testaments and Common Prayers, costing 1*s.* each and upwards, without Metrical Psalms or Hymns (Members' prices)."

Mr. Jeffreys not being present, the Meeting agreed, upon the motion of Mr. Evans, that the foregoing proposal be referred to the Standing Committee, with a request that they would take such action upon it as they may think desirable.

Letter of Thanks.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, Jan. 11th.—A letter was read from the Right Rev. the Bishop of London, kindly consenting, should circumstances permit, to preach the Anniversary Sermon of the Society.

Committee of Correspondence, Jan. 26th.—The Rev. E. Roper, having come up to London to see the Medical Board, gave interesting information to the Committee in reference to his visit to Abeokuta and the country east of Lagos, in company with Mr. Maser. He states that he had visited every church, teacher, and pastor in connexion with the Abeokuta Mission, and that he came back with the deep conviction that the state of the Mission, after seven years' absence of European Missionaries, was almost too good to be true. He also stated his conviction that, in the future, only one European Missionary would be necessary for Abeokuta, to direct the development of the work. Referring to the district east of Lagos, he stated that every town and village visited by them had expressed their willingness to receive messengers of the Gospel, whether European, or Native, with the exception of Ibo Benin; the king of that place requiring as a condition, which Mr. Roper pointed out to be impossible, that any slaves who fled from them to Lagos should be given up by the British Government. At the same time, he showed himself very friendly to Messrs. Maser and Roper, and assisted them on their journey. Mr. Roper expressed his hope that the Ondo country would soon be well occupied with Mission agents, and called attention to the important help that would be rendered by a small steam launch at that Mission.

A letter was read from Rev. D. Olabi, Native Pastor at Ibadan, countersigned by the Rev. D.

Hinderer, alluding to the destruction by a tornado of two of the churches at Ibadan, and asking the aid of the Lagos Finance Committee towards their restoration, giving particulars of the repairs needed, and stating that there was still a sum of 47*l.* needed to complete the repairs. The Lagos Finance Committee having recommended the application to the favourable consideration of the Committee, and the Rev. E. Roper, being present, having given information respecting the rebuilding of these churches, and the efforts made by the Ibadan Christians for this purpose, the Committee made a grant of 25*l.* to each church as a mark of appreciation of the efforts of the Native Christians at Ibadan in the rebuilding of their churches.

On the recommendation of the Madras Corresponding Committee and the Rev. Dr. Fenn, a grant of 50*l.* was made to assist the Rev. W. T. Sathianadhan in the erection of an Evangelistic Lecture Hall in Madras.

Special General Committee, Jan. 26th.—The Secretaries reported the receipt of a letter from the Rev. J. Zeller, dated December 26, 1874, with the copy of a despatch from the Governor-General of Syria, authorizing the re-opening of the school at Acca, which had been closed by the Turkish authorities on the 7th September last. The following extract from Mr. Zeller's letter was read:—"I have much pleasure in informing you that H.M.'s Consul in Beyrout sent me an order from His Highness the Governor-General of Syria, permitting the reopening of our school at Acca and Tendore, and a copy of the letter which he addressed on this occasion to the Consul-General. The letter of the Governor-General contains a censure on the Missionaries for having omitted to conform themselves to the regulations of the Porte with regard to schools. I requested H.M.'s Consul-General to represent to the Governor-General that these regulations had never been put in force in Palestine. I therefore considered the sudden closing of our school at Acca for four months as an arbitrary act of the Turkish Government. At the same time, I informed the Consul-General at Beyrout that the Native Missionary Agent at Salt had been ordered to close his school at El Fuhrers, and that he had been troubled by the Turkish soldiers, and I requested the Consul-General to obtain redress in this case also from the Governor-General."

THE INCORPORATED SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE ENLARGEMENT, BUILDING, AND REPAIRING OF CHURCHES AND CHAPELS.

This Society held its usual monthly meeting on Monday, February 15th, at the Society's house, 7, Whitehall, the Bishop of Chichester in the chair. There were also present the Revs. John Evans, A. J. Ingram, and H. M. Ingram; Messrs. John Boodle, J. F. France, A. J. C. Lawrie, E. Pepys, A. Powell, W. Rivington, E. Thornton, and Rev. G. Ainslie, M.A., Secretary. Grants of money were made in aid of the following objects, viz.:—

Building a new church at Coldham, in the parish of Fridaybridge, near Wisbeach; rebuilding the churches at Ferry-side, St. Thomas, in the parish of St. Ishmael, Carmarthen, and Greenham, near Newbury, Berks; enlarging or otherwise increasing the accommodation in the churches at Canvey Island, near Rochford, Essex; Graveley, near Huntingdon; Steeple Langford, near Bath; Stratton-on-Fosse, near Bath; Upper Ottery, near Honiton, Devon; and Walton-le-Wolds, near Leicester.

Under urgent circumstances the grants formerly made towards reseating and restoring the church at Rushden, near Higham Ferrers, Northampton; and towards enlarging the church at Farncombe, Surrey, were each increased.

The Society likewise accepted the trust of a sum of money as a repair-fund for All Saints' Church, West Derby, Liverpool.

LAW.

JUDICIAL COMMITTEE OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25.

(Present—Lord HATHERLEY, Lord SELBORNE, Lord PENZANCE, Lord Chief Baron KELLY, Sir M. SMITH, and Sir R. COLLIER.)

THE EXETER REREDOS CASE.

(See "Ecclesiastical Gazette," August, 1874, pp. 21, 22.)

MR. W. F. PHILLIPPS and Mr. B. Shand appeared as counsel for Chancellor Phillipps, a prebendary of the Cathedral Church; Dr. Deane, Q.C., and Mr. Walter Phillimore were for Dr. Boyd and the other Canons forming the chapter.

The present appeal was from a decision of the Court of Arches, before which court the case went on appeal from an order of the Bishop of Exeter, who was assisted by Sir H. Keating (ex-judge of the Court of Common Pleas), who acted as assessor. In July, 1873, the Venerable Archdeacon Phillipps (the appellant) presented a petition to the Bishop of Exeter, complaining that the reredos and images thereon were contrary to the ecclesiastical laws, and from their position and character were in a peculiar degree calculated to produce the evils and superstitious practices of the Church of Rome. On the 10th December the Bishop caused a citation to be served on the Dean and Canons to appear before him on January 7, 1874, as visitor of the cathedral. The visitation occupied three days, and the question of jurisdiction of the Bishop to visit the Dean and Chapter, and also as to the legality of the reredos and images thereon, were fully discussed. The three historical scenes in bas-relief on the reredos were—the Ascension of Our Lord, the Transfiguration, and the Descent of the Holy Ghost on the Day of Pentecost. The old reredos, with the Ten Commandments, thereon, had been removed and the other placed in the choir without a faculty or the consent of the Bishop. On the 15th April last the opinion of Sir Henry Keating, which was adopted by the Bishop, was read, and judgment given to the effect that the removal of the old reredos was illegal, and the substitution of the new one also illegal, and the same with the images thereon was ordered to be removed. The Dean and Chapter appealed to the Arches Court, where the question of jurisdiction and the question of the legality of the reredos were argued. Sir R. Phillimore set aside the decision of the Bishop of Exeter; Chancellor Phillipps appealed to the Judicial Committee, and the matter was again fully discussed, and the argument occupied several days, on which their Lordships took time to consider their judgment, which was now given.

Lord HATHERLEY, after dwelling on the facts of the case, and the ecclesiastical law, proceeded to consider the subject of the jurisdiction of the Bishop as ordinary with a visitatorial power in reference to the present case. Their Lordships could not agree with the views put forth by the Dean of Arches as to the jurisdiction, and they held that the Bishop had jurisdiction. The case was then to be determined on the legality or illegality of the reredos, with the figures thereon. He discussed the law on images from Edward VI. to the Commonwealth. The subjects on the reredos were familiar to every one, and it was plain to their Lordships that the erection had been set up for the purpose of decoration, and it was not suggested that any superstitious ideas were likely to be formed from the figures carved on it. Their Lordships were unable to distinguish it from numerous sculptured representations in cathedrals and parish churches, which long experience had proved were capable of remaining there without being the occasion of any superstition. Their Lordships desired it to be clearly understood that nothing decided in this case affected the superstitious observances referred to in the 22nd Article of Religion. The law would at all times be sufficiently strong to correct and control any such abuse. The sculpture in question was not liable to be impugned in that respect. Their Lordships would therefore recommend her Majesty to reverse the decree pronounced by the Dean of Arches so far as it reversed the judgment of the Bishop of Exeter, which pronounced for his jurisdiction as ordinary, and to affirm the decree of the Dean of Arches in all other respects. Their Lordships gave no costs to either party.

The effect of the judgment is to allow the reredos to remain in the cathedral.

VICE-CHANCELLORS' COURTS.

SATURDAY, MARCH 6.

(Before Sir J. BACON.)

EDWARDS v. HALL.

This was an application by the incumbent of the parish of Rhoslanerchrugog, Denbighshire, that the sum of 1000*l.*, left under the will of Miss Jane Cook, of Cheltenham, who died in 1851, which had been paid into court, might be appropriated towards the building of a parsonage-house, there being no such building in the parish, and the house which the incumbent was obliged to occupy being in a most dilapidated state, so much so that the rain came in through the roof in every bedroom. It was stated that the ecclesiastical commissioners had promised 30*l.* a year as soon as capital representing that sum had been collected, and the sum of 550*l.* had been contributed by the parishioners for the building of the house, which sum was now placed in the hands of Messrs. Evans and Fitch, two of the leading parishioners.

Mr. O. Morgan, Q.C., and Mr. Russell Roberts appeared for the incumbent.

The VICE-CHANCELLOR said he would make the order if Messrs. Evans and Fitch would consent to act as trustees of the fund, and in that case the petition must be amended by adding their names as petitioners.

CONSISTORY COURT.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 15.

(Before Dr. TRISTRAM, Chancellor of the Diocese of London.)

SERGEANT v. DALE.

Dr. Middleton was counsel for the promoters; Mr. Walter Phillimore for the defendant.

The CHANCELLOR said the petitioners were the churchwardens, and the defendant, the Rev. Thomas Pelham Dale, was the Rector of the united parishes of St. Vedast, Foster-lane, and St. Michael-le-Querne, in the City. The complaint was that the Rector, in November, 1873, without a faculty, or even the sanction of the vestries and churchwardens, made certain alterations in their parish church, which were subsequently, both in December, 1873, and April last, condemned by the parishioners in vestry assembled. The alterations in question were the removal of the reading-desk and clerk's desk, minor changes in certain pews, and the placing of rows of benches on platforms for choristers in the east end of the church.

The CHANCELLOR, having reviewed the circumstances of the case and the arguments of the counsel on both sides, said the opposition to the alterations was grounded on an objection the parishioners had to the introduction of a choral service and to certain observances which had recently been introduced into the services, and in consequence of which, according to Mr. Serjeant, many of the parishioners were deterred from resorting to the church. There was, no doubt, a discretion vested in the Court in granting or refusing a faculty for alterations in a church, but it had been the practice to give great weight to the wishes of the vestry. In considering the propriety of sanctioning the removal of the reading-desk, the clerk's desk, and the alterations in the pews, it was not unimportant to observe that they were the property of the parishioners, the reading-desk being directed to be provided by the 82nd Canon at the charge of the parish, and the pews were the common property of the parish for the use in common of the parishioners. Under the circumstances he did not think it would be a proper exercise of the discretion of the Court to accede to that part of the application of the Rector against the strongly-expressed opinion of the two parishes. With regard to the seats for the choir, he thought they should not have been introduced by the Rector without the sanction of the vestry, and if there was a difference of opinion as to their introduction, the matter might very properly have been referred to the Archdeacon for his decision, so as to avoid the expense of litigation in that Court. They did not appear to him to be an ornament to the church, and as the vestry desired them to be removed, he thought that an order should go for their removal, but not until the churchwardens should have provided convenient seats for the choir elsewhere in the church. It was customary and convenient for the choir to sit together, and the Rector might reasonably ask for seats to be furnished for them with that object. The Court therefore ordered a faculty to issue to the churchwardens, authorizing them to replace the reading and clerk's desks, to restore the pews to their former condition, and to remove the seats for choristers on providing convenient sittings for the choir elsewhere in the church.

An application on the part of the churchwardens for costs having been pressed, the CHANCELLOR said that in that case he must grant it.

Mr. Brooks, the proctor for the Rector, gave notice of appeal.

PARLIAMENTARY INTELLIGENCE.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8.

INCREASE OF THE EPISCOPATE.

LORD LYTTELTON laid on the table a Bill to enable the Crown, on certain conditions, to make new bishoprics in England and Wales.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9.

THE LAW OF SIMONY.

The Bishop of PETERBOROUGH introduced a Bill to prevent Simoniacal practices in the Church of England, which was read a first time.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23.

INCREASE OF THE EPISCOPATE BILL.

LORD LYTTELTON moved the second reading of this Bill. He argued that as the population of the country was increasing, and new churches were continually being built, there ought to be a proportionate increase of the episcopate; and, after disposing of some objections which had been taken to the Bill, went on to say that new bishoprics which might be created under his measure would be endowed by voluntary aid. A resolution in favour of the principle of the Bill had been agreed to by the Upper House of the Convocation of Canterbury, as well as by all but two of the bishops, and he was glad to say that Mr. Disraeli had promised that the support of himself and his colleagues would be given to it. The Bill would enable those who believed that their own district needed a new bishopric to subscribe for its endowment, and provided that the Ecclesiastical Commissioners should then prepare a scheme for the creation of the see; but the scheme would not take effect without the assent of her Majesty, nor if either House of Parliament should object. The number of bishops sitting in Parliament would not be increased, as the new bishops would take their seats in the House of Lords by rotation.

The Earl of SHAFTESBURY observed with satisfaction that nothing in the Bill would authorize the application of any portion of the Common Fund for the purposes of the Bill. He did not consider the Bill adequate to the necessity, but he would not oppose it in any of its stages.

The Bishop of WINCHESTER spoke in favour of the Bill, believing that much benefit would result from conferring on the Crown the power proposed to be granted by the Bill.

The Bishop of EXETER also supported the Bill, and observed that the work of the bishops being very heavy, the unavoidable result was that sometimes it was performed hastily.

The Archbishop of CANTERBURY gave his hearty support to the measure, which he regarded as an important practical reform, free from many of the objections which created opposition to former proposals of the kind. There existed a feeling in the country that some such proposal as the present should be adopted, as the great number of new churches in most districts was really equivalent to the creation of new dioceses, and, therefore, there must exist a necessity for multiplying the governing power.

The Bill was then read a second time.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25.

CHURCH PATRONAGE BILL.

The Bishop of PETERBOROUGH moved the second reading of this Bill, which, he stated, simply embodied the opinions of the Select Committee of the House of Lords on the subject. He proposed to give additional power to the Bishops who were the proper guardians and trustees in respect both to purity in the exercise of patronage and to fitness in the presentee. In the event of the Bishop's decision not being acquiesced in, then the Bill would empower the Judge appointed under the Public Worship Act of last session to pronounce judgment upon the controverted points; but where the Bishop objected to a presentee as being unfit on account of being either too young or too old, the Bill allowed no appeal. One clause of the Bill gave permission to the parishioners to object to the appointment of an unfit presentee, and required that the patron should make a declaration that he had not been guilty of any simoniacal transaction. It was provided also that the sales of advowsons and next presentations should be duly registered. He had refrained from inserting in the Bill a provision for the prohibition of the sales of next presentations because he did not get the consent of the Select Committee to a proposal of the kind. He did not desire to abolish private patronage, and it was because he wished to preserve it from unjust assaults that he desired to see it purified when necessary.

The Duke of RICHMOND pointed out objections to some of the clauses of the Bill, and suggested that, after the second reading, it should be referred to a Select Committee.

The Marquis of LANSDOWNE said the Bill placed in the hands of the Bishop considerable power to put an end to the iniquitous exercise of patronage, and in case it should not be found effective for its purpose, he would willingly join in promoting a Bill of a more stringent character.

The Bishop of EXETER thought that the real source of all the evils complained of was the fact that a number of livings were always in the market, and being perpetually bought and sold.

The Earl of HARROWBY would regard the abolition of the sale of advowsons or next presentations as a great evil.

LORD STANLEY of ALDERLEY called attention to what he considered as defects in some of the clauses of the Bill.

The Archbishop of CANTERBURY observed that the subject of bonds of resignation was not brought under the notice of the Select Committee, and it appeared to him that they recognized the principle of property rather than that of trust. He thought it to be the duty of Parliament to remove from the Statute Book everything which encouraged an imperfect view of the duties which devolved on patrons in the exercise of their rights. The sale of next presentations undoubtedly produced a great deal of scandal, and if Parliament were to take steps with respect to them the evil might be diminished.

With reference to the appointment of the Committee, the LORD CHANCELLOR said he had received a communication from Lord Coleridge, expressing his anxiety that the Committee should not sit during his absence on circuit till after Easter. As head of the court where proceedings by Quare impedit would take place, he was naturally anxious to have the opportunity of carefully looking into the frame of the Bill before it passed through Committee.

The Bill was then read a second time, and ordered to be referred to a Select Committee.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8.

Leave was given to introduce the following Bills upon motion:—

Mr. OSBORNE MORGAN.—Bill to amend the Burial Laws.

Mr. DIXON.—Bill to amend the Education Act, 1870, by making obligatory in England and Wales the attendance of children at School, and the formation of School Boards.

Mr. SALT.—Bill to provide facilities for the performance of public worship according to the rites and ceremonies of the Church of England.

The various Bills ordered to be introduced were then read a first time.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9.

MARRIAGE WITH A DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER.

Sir T. CHAMBERS brought in a Bill, which was read for the first time, to legalize marriage with a deceased wife's sister.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16.

PUBLIC WORSHIP FACILITIES BILL.

Mr. SALT moved the second reading of this Bill, which, with certain omissions, corresponds with the Bill introduced last year and in 1873. It first provides for the cases in which an Incumbent desires to provide for services in outlying districts; and where the Incumbent is not a consenting party to the opening of another place of worship in his own parish, it enacts that the Bishop, on application from twenty-five parishioners, may appoint a Commission and upon their report may grant a licence. Mr. SALT replied to various objections which he apprehended, and recommended the Bill as intended to give the Church the freedom possessed by all other denominations.

Sir H. WOOLFF supported the Bill; and Mr. BERESFORD HOPE said he should not oppose the second reading in the amended shape of the measure, but there were various alterations and additions required to make it entirely unobjectionable.

The Bill was then read a second time.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17.

MARRIAGE WITH A DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER.

Sir THOMAS CHAMBERS, in moving the second reading of this Bill, insisted that all the objections to it were reduced now to sentimental grounds. He urged that the moral sense of the community was not outraged by the Bill, and that the great preponderance of public opinion was in favour of it.

Mr. H. MILLS opposed the Bill, and maintained that no one really desired a change in the law but those who had broken it. He exemplified from the Almanac de Gotha and the alliances there chronicled the length to which marriages in our prohibited degrees would be carried if this relaxation were once permitted. He laid more stress on the social than the religious objections, and argued that it would be unjust to sanction a Bill so distasteful to women until they were represented in Parliament.

Mr. BERESFORD HOPE, Lord H. SCOTT, and Sir H. SELWIN-IBBETSON, opposed the Bill; and Mr. RONAYNE expressed the strong feeling of dislike with which it was regarded by the Irish people.

The Bill was supported by Mr. Serjeant SIMON, Mr. Alderman COTTON, Mr. MUNTZ, and Mr. MACDONALD.

Upon a division, the numbers were—

For the second reading ..	142
Against it .. .. .	171
Majority .. .. .	—29

The Bill was therefore lost.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 26.

OFFENCES BY CLERKS IN HOLY ORDERS.

Mr. R. GURNEY, in reply to Sir W. LAWSON, said his hon. friend was probably aware that at the time the intimation was given of introducing a Bill dealing with all offences by clerks in holy orders against the law ecclesiastical an intimation was given, and universally believed in, and there was every reason to believe, that in November last the judge appointed under the Public Worship Act of last session would also be appointed Dean of Arches, and that he would have jurisdiction over all ecclesiastical cases. In consequence of the postponement of the Judicature Act that had not been the case, and the present judge appointed under the Public Worship Act had jurisdiction over those cases only that were provided for by that Act. He had received a communication from the noble lord who had been appointed judge under the Act, and he thought it exceedingly desirable that he should have some experience of the working of the present system before any further change was made in extending the Act. It was therefore not his intention to propose this session any Bill like that referred to by his hon. friend.

TUESDAY, MARCH 2.

EDUCATION IN THE RURAL DISTRICTS.

Mr. FAWCETT called attention to the present unsatisfactory condition of Education in the rural districts, and moved a resolution declaring that the same amount of school attendance ought to be secured to children employed in agricultural as in other branches of industry. He disclaimed the advocacy of universal School Boards, but he contended that some kind of compulsion was needful to get the agricultural children to school.

Lord F. CAVENDISH seconded the motion, arguing that the Agricultural Children's Act was a failure.

Mr. PELL moved, as an amendment, that it is undesirable to withhold from children employed in agriculture the advantages secured to children employed in other branches of industry by the services of her Majesty's Inspector of Factories.

Mr. CROSS commented on the vague and indefinite character of Mr. Fawcett's abstract resolution, which made no kind of suggestion how what he urged was to be accomplished. He feared if fresh legislation were attempted before the Agricultural Children's Act had been three months in operation, there would be a risk of creating a condition of public opinion unfavourable to the general adoption of the Education Act. There was the danger too of reviving female labour which might result from the too sudden interference with boy labour. As to Mr. Pell's amendment, he objected to the appointment of a new army of inspectors, but he had recently issued instructions to the inspectors to report especially on the working of this Act. He reminded the House that a Royal Commission on the Workshop Acts was about to be appointed, and, on the whole, before taking any further steps, he thought it better to wait for further information.

Mr. DIXON maintained that by compulsion alone could the defective school attendance be remedied.

Mr. FLOYER thought that to secure universal education Parliament must carry public opinion with it. The Home Secretary's speech he considered to be conclusive both against the motion and the amendment.

Mr. PHIPPS vindicated the character of rural education, but desired that there should be some official to enforce the working of the Agricultural Children's Act.

Mr. MCLAGAN recommended the adoption of the Scotch Compulsory Clause.

Colonel BRISE said the farmers were fully alive to the advantages of education, and exhorted the House not to harass them into opposition.

Mr. DODSON argued that the sole remedy was compulsion, and he was ready to support both the motion and the amendment either fused or separately.

Mr. E. STANHOPE opposed the motion, which would alienate employers without conciliating parents, and would interfere to an injudicious extent with boy labour. The difficulty lay, not in payment of fees, but in the parents' loss of the boy's earnings.

Mr. FORSTER contrasted the stringency of the law protecting the factory child with the neglect of the agricultural boy's education. He believed that opinion was more ripe in the country districts than had been represented. He insisted earnestly on the value of compulsion, and contended that the problem of school accommodation and attendances had been solved only in the great towns where direct compulsion had been adopted.

Lord SANDON enforced the argument of the Home Secretary, that while the Agricultural Children's Act had only been eight weeks in operation, it would be unwise to take another forward step, and pointed out that the factory legislation had been gradual and tentative. It was evident that the opinion of the labourers was just on the turn in favour of education, and the mind of the country was on the poise in regard to universal compulsion. The Government would carefully watch the operation of the Agricultural Children's Act, but they ought not to be hampered by an abstract resolution.

The Marquis of HARTINGTON was dissatisfied with the vague declaration of the Government, and urged Mr. Fawcett to take the opinion of the House upon it.

Mr. FAWCETT having replied, the House divided; the numbers were—

For the Motion .. .. .	149
Against it .. .. .	229
Majority .. .. .	—80

Another division was afterwards taken on Mr. Pell's amendment, which was negatived by 226 to 150.

A motion for the adjournment of the debate having been negatived by 227 to 144—a motion for the adjournment of the House was carried by 224 to 41.

CONVOCATION OF THE PROVINCE OF YORK.

THE chief subject of discussion at the session held from February 23 to February 26 was the revision of the rubrics which concern the ornaments and position of the minister at the time of the celebration of the Holy Communion.

Tuesday and Wednesday, February 23, 24, were occupied in the consideration of the following resolution, moved by the Dean of Chester:—

"That this synod (or house), having, in accordance with her Majesty's Letters of Business, considered the rubrics which determine the ornaments of the minister, and his position during the Consecration Prayer at the Holy Communion, considers it at present unnecessary and inexpedient to recommend any alteration of the said rubrics."

On this the Archdeacon of LANDISFARNE (Mr. Hamilton) had moved the following amendment:—

"(a) That it is not expedient that any alteration be made in the 'Ornaments Rubric,' but that it is desirable, with a view to comprehension and conciliation, that an explanatory note be added thereto; and that the following form of such note be taken into consideration by the synod, viz:—

"And whereas doubts have arisen in the interpretation of this rubric, it is hereby further noted that, in accordance with long usage, the minister at all times of his ministrations may wear a surplice, with a scarf or stole, and the hood, agreeable to his degree, or, not being a graduate, a decent tippet of black; and if any question arise touching the matter, decency, or comeliness of these or any ornaments of the minister, it shall be decided by the discretion of the Ordinary.

"(b) That the following addition be made to the rubric before the Prayer of Consecration, so that this rubric read thus:—

"When the priest, standing before the table, hath so ordered the bread and wine, that he may with more readiness and decency break the bread before the people, and take the cup into his hands, he shall say the [following] Prayer of Consecration [either at the north side of the table or on the west side thereof. And here it is to be noted, that neither position hath any symbolical import]."

"The words in brackets are those proposed to be added to the present rubric.

"(c) That the following rubric be added to those after the Communion Service:—

"Before sermons, lectures, or homilies, the preachers and ministers may use a collect from the Book of Common Prayer, with or without the Lord's Prayer, at their discretion, or may move the people to join with him in prayer in the form commonly called the Bidding Prayer."

The first paragraph of the amendment was rejected in the Upper House by 4 to 0, and in the Lower by 28 to 22.

The second part of the amendment was negatived without a division.

The Dean of MANCHESTER, seconded by the Hon. F. R. GREY, then moved the following amendment:—

"That it is not advisable to alter any words in the Ornaments Rubric.

"That it is desirable to add thereto a note which shall define the vestments required by the Prayer Book of 1549, and at the same time declare the cassock, surplice, stole, and hood to be lawful ornaments of the minister in the administration of Holy Communion.

"Form of Note proposed to be appended to the Ornaments Rubric:—

"Note, that at Morning and Evening Prayer and Litany, and in other Offices of the Church, the minister shall wear a cassock of black silk or serge, and over it a surplice with stole, and academical hood of degree (if any).

"In the office of administration of the Holy Communion he shall wear either the vestments enumerated above, or the vestments which are ordered in the Prayer Book of 1549—viz. a white alb, plain, with a vestment or cope for the chief minister, and albs with tunics for any assistant ministers.

"In preaching at any other time than in the Office of Holy Communion he shall wear either the vestments first enumerated, or a cassock of black silk or serge, and the academical gown and hood according to the degree.

"Alterations from present usage in any church should not be made without the consent of the Ordinary."

This amendment was rejected without a division.

Dean COWIE (again seconded by Mr. GREY) next moved the following:—

"That it is not desirable to alter any words in the rubric before the Prayer of Consecration.

"That it is advisable to add thereto a note which shall declare that any position of the priest standing before the holy table may be lawfully adopted; and shall also declare that the Church recognizes no doctrinal significance in the position of the priest.

"Form of Note to be appended to the Rubric before the Prayer of Consecration:—

"It is to be noted that this Church receives no doctrine of the Holy Communion but such as is contained in the Book of Common Prayer and the Articles of Religion, nor can any ceremony or rite teach any other doctrine; yet as customs with respect to the position of the chief minister have arisen which are diverse, it is hereby declared that the priest may stand before the table on the west side, or east side, or at the north end thereof."

The Dean of CHESTER asked what the Dean of Manchester meant by "standing in any position," because it seemed to be just contrary to what the Dean of York had said about "standing before the table."

The PRESIDENT said the amendment spoke for itself.

This amendment was also negatived without a division.

The original motion of the Dean of Chester was then agreed to.

On Thursday, February 25, the following resolution was moved by the Bishop of CARLISLE:—

"That the following addition be made to what is commonly called the 'Black Rubric':—

"And whereas undue importance has been by some attributed to the position of the priest in saying the Prayer of Consecration, as though that position had some peculiar doctrinal significance, it is hereby declared that no peculiar doctrinal significance ought to be, or is intended by the Church of England to be, attributed to such position."

On a division this motion was rejected by 8 to 1 in the Upper House, and adopted by 80 to 18 in the Lower.

Convocation was prorogued until April 12.

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The following PASTORAL LETTER has been addressed by the ARCHBISHOPS and BISHOPS to the Clergy and Laity of their Dioceses:—

Lambeth Palace, March 1, 1875.

We, the undersigned Archbishops and Bishops of the Church of England, under a deep sense of the duty that rests upon us of endeavouring to guide those committed to our pastoral charge, desire to address some words of counsel and exhortation to the clergy and laity of our flocks in the grave circumstances of the present time.

We acknowledge, humbly and thankfully, the mercies on behalf of Almighty God to the Church of England, by His blessing on the labours of the clergy and laity, in which Church has of late been enabled in a marvellous manner to promote His glory and to advance His kingdom, both at home and abroad. If we judge by external signs—the churches built, restored, and endowed during the last forty years; the new parishes formed in that time, especially in our great towns and cities; the vast sums of money voluntarily contributed for the promotion of religious education; the extension of the Church in the Colonies and in foreign countries, including the foundation of more than fifty new sees; the vast increase in the number of persons of all classes who by prayers and labour assist in the work of converting souls to Christ—all bear witness to the zeal and earnestness of the clergy and laity of the English Church, an earnestness and zeal which we rejoice to say is by no means confined to any section or party. We may humbly trust that the inward work of the Holy Spirit of God in the hearts of men, a work which alone can measure, has been great in proportion to these outward efforts.

While, however, we thankfully recognize these abundant mercies and blessings, we cannot but acknowledge with sorrow that serious evils disturb the peace of the Church, and hinder its work.

One of these evils is the interruption of the sympathy and mutual confidence which ought to exist between the clergy and laity. Changes in the mode of performing Divine service, in themselves sometimes of small importance, introduced without authority, and often without due regard to the feelings of parishioners, have excited apprehensions that greater changes are to follow; distrust has been engendered, and the edification which ought to result from united worship has been impeded. The suspicions thus aroused, often no doubt unreasonable, have in some cases produced serious alienation.

The refusal to obey legitimate authority is another evil in the Church at the present time. Not only has it frequently occurred that clergymen fail to render to episcopal authority that submission which is involved in the idea of episcopacy, but obedience has been avowedly refused to the highest judicial interpretations of the law of this Church and realm. Even the authority which our Church claims, as inherent in every particular or national Church, to ordain and change rites and ceremonies, has been questioned and denied.

We also observe with increasing anxiety and alarm the dissemination of doctrines and encouragement of practices repugnant to the teaching of Holy Scripture and to the principles of the Church, as derived from Apostolic times and as authoritatively set forth at the Reformation. More especially we call serious attention to the multiplication, and the assiduous circulation among the young and susceptible, of manuals of doctrine and private devotion, of which it is not too much to say, that many of the doctrines and practices they inculcate are wholly incompatible with the teaching and principles of our Reformed Church.

Further, we feel it our duty to call attention to the growing tendency to associate doctrinal significance with rites and ceremonies which do not necessarily involve it. For example, the position to be occupied by the minister during the Prayer of Consecration in the Holy Communion, though it has varied in different ages and different countries, and has never been formally declared by the Church to have any doctrinal significance, is now regarded by many persons of very opposite opinions as a symbol of distinctive doctrine, and, as such, has become the subject of embittered controversy.

We would seriously remind our brethren of the clergy of the solemn obligation that binds us all to be ready to yield a willing obedience to the law of the Church of England, of which we are ordained ministers, and to recognise the necessity of submitting our own interpretations of any points in that law which may be considered doubtful to the judicial decisions of lawfully-constituted courts. We, the clergy, are bound by every consideration to obey the law when thus clearly interpreted; and to decline to obey, when called upon by lawful authority, is to set an example that cannot fail to be most injurious in its influence and effects. We are convinced that the number of those who would refuse such reasonable obedience is small, and that the vast majority of the clergy and laity of the Church of England are thoroughly loyal to its doctrine and discipline. We fully recognize the difference between unity and an overstrained uniformity, and are well aware that our Church is rightly tolerant of diversity, within certain limits, both in opinions and practices. We would not narrow in the least this wise comprehensiveness; but liberty must not degenerate into license and self-will; as fundamental truths must not be explained away, so neither must those clear lines be obliterated which separate the doctrines and practices of our Reformed Church from the novelties and corruptions of the Church of Rome.

We live in an age which prides itself on freedom of thought and emancipation from the control of authority. In every portion of Christendom men are more disposed than ever to run into extremes of opinion and practice. While, on the one hand, fundamental truths are increasingly neglected or denied, vain attempts, on the other, are made in many quarters to meet this infidelity by the revival of superstition.

Under these grave circumstances, we solemnly charge you all, brethren beloved in the Lord, to cultivate a spirit of charity and mutual forbearance, laying aside dissension and disputes which must issue not in the victory of one party over another, but in the triumph of the enemies of the Church, and, indeed, of those who are enemies to the faith of Christ. We exhort the clergy not to disquiet their congregations by novel practices and unauthorized ceremonies, and to discontinue those who seek to introduce them. We entreat the laity not to give way to suspicions in regard of honest efforts to promote the more reverent worship of Almighty God in loyal conformity to the rules of the Book of Common Prayer. Surely this is not a time for estrangement, but rather for drawing closer the bonds between the clergy and their parishioners, when vice, ignorance, infidelity, and intemperance are calling for united prayer and united effort on the part of all who hold the faith of Christ crucified, and love and serve Him as their common Lord.

Let us all, then, both clergy and laity, be faithful to the doctrine and discipline of our Church, founded as they are on Holy Scripture, and in accordance with the teaching and practice of the Primitive Church. We entreat all whom our words may reach to strive together with us in prayer to Almighty God, that as there is but one Body, and one Spirit, and one hope of our calling, one Lord, one Faith, one Baptism, one God and Father of us all, so we may henceforth be all of one heart and of one soul, united in one holy bond of truth and peace, of faith and charity, and may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, through Jesus Christ our Lord. AMEN.

GALVANIC ELECTRICITY.*

THIS little book supplies a real want. For generations—even before the wonderfully prescient genius of Wesley pointed it out as the most efficient remedial agent in Nature's laboratory—there had been a growing, though vague impression that Electricity, directed with skill, possessed extraordinary curative properties. Since Galvani's experiments, and all through the present century, this impression has taken the shape of practical knowledge, attaining more and more definiteness with the progress of time and research; until within the last quarter of a century undigested, but constantly accumulated facts, have, through Mr. Pulvermacher's discoveries, been moulded into a therapeutic theory which, on testimony and proof given by some of the most eminent medical men at home and abroad, is more effectual and certain than any ever before devised for the relief and cure of agonizing, obstinate, and prostrating forms of disease.

To pronounce any human work perfect and infallible, would be a saying marked more by boldness than by conscientious veracity; but if absolute infallibility be not claimed for the appliances under notice, the unparalleled array of evidence from physicians, surgeons, philosophers, clergymen, and from an innumerable host of former patients of all ranks and classes who have been raised up from pain and infirmity, can leave no doubt upon any well-ordered and reasoning mind that we have at command a medium of cure infinitely transcending any thing known in preceding ages, and which justifies reliance on prolongation of life and restoration to its chief blessing in all but most exceptional cases, so exceedingly rare as to be phenomenal. Practically restoration is certain in ninety-nine cases out of one hundred which formerly would have been hopeless.

Amongst the more intelligent sections of the general public a sense of the importance of these matters is extending, but perplexity and confusion are frequently caused by the conflicting and fictitious pretensions of persons who possess no claim to the title of medical electricians, are ignorant almost of marvellous rudiments, and derive unhalloved gains by practices of which the words piracy, forgery, and plunder, would scarcely be exaggerated descriptions.

Under such circumstances it is an appropriate task for one who is admittedly facile princeps of medico-galvanic science to furnish the uninitiated with a truthful sketch of general principles and practice, and at the same time guard them against cruel and sordid deceptions. In the preface to a volume couched in the characteristic modesty of genuine merit, the author explains that his object is:—

"To meet a long felt want for a concise treatise, accessible to every understanding, on Electricity as a Curative. He hopes thereby to furnish to those who have but little leisure for profound study to initiate themselves in some of the rationale of the powers and effects of electricity in a manner as simple as are the experiments afforded by his Chain-Bands and Batteries. The reader will then be enabled to judge for himself, and become familiar with the 'Why and Wherefore' of the curative effects of Galvanic Electricity in general, and of Pulvermacher's Medico-Galvanic system in particular, and understand why the latter has acquired the honourable position it holds in standard medical works, and the encomiums bestowed on it by the scientific press in general.

"To achieve this object is a desideratum—the more so as frequent attempts have been made by speculators to trade upon the pre-eminent reputation of Electricity as a Curative, thus imposing upon the credulity of those who have but little acquaintance with physical science."

Dealing as little as may be with mere theory, but chiefly with the established facts on which his system is based, the author fully realizes the expectation held out in these passages, and supplies us with a brief and lucid exposition of his great theme, and it is simple truth to say that more information can be gleaned from his few sheets than from some very corpulent productions. Not the least interesting portions are the narrative sections, personal as well as professional. It is a book bespeaking deep attention from those who appreciate the value of long life in good health. On this ground we commend it. Meanwhile we look with interest for the more elaborate treatise announced by Mr. Pulvermacher, though the present Essay is an instructive and satisfying one on probably the most momentous of earthly topics.

Money Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Ontario.—The Bishop of this diocese forwarded an application on one of the Society's forms, duly signed by himself and the Rev. William Roberts, Missionary in charge, for a grant towards building a new church in the village of Yarker, in the parish of Camden.

It is proposed to build a wooden church for 100 people at an estimated outlay of £700, of which $330 have been promised, and 100 more may be expected; only $80 have been actually paid; $260 have been promised on the spot. The site and building will be invested in the Bishop.

There are only three members of the congregation who can contribute—a farmer, a shop-keeper, and the proprietor of a woollen factory.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 15l. for the completion of this church; the Society's grant to be paid on the usual conditions, viz. so soon as the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, to its being free from all liability for debt, and secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Diocese of Capetown.—The Bishop, writing from Bishopscourt, Capetown, on the 9th of February, forwarded and very strongly recommended an application from the Rev. James F. Curlew, for a grant towards the erection of a new church at his Mission Station of Lower Paarl.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 100*l.* towards this church; the Society's grant to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free of debt, and secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Bishop Macrorie of Maritzburg.—Bishop Macrorie, writing from Maritzburg on the 28th of January, 1875, forwarded a formal letter which had been addressed to him by Dean Green and the churchwardens of St. Saviour's, Maritzburg, begging him to apply to the Society for a grant for the enlargement of their church, which serves the purposes of a Cathedral.

The letter stated that the church, erected in the early part of 1869, is too small to satisfy any one of the purposes for which it is used.

The nave requires to be greatly enlarged in order to seat the congregation worshipping in it. The chancel, which is devoted to the choir and the boys of the college, is quite too small and inconvenient; the vestry, which is used as a cathedral library, and which should admit of the choir practising in it rather than in the church, is altogether too small.

St. Saviour's appears to be by far the largest church in the town of Maritzburg, and also to be the one which most readily admits of enlargement.

It is proposed to lengthen the church westwards by forty-eight feet, and to throw out at the same time western transepts, one of which will serve as a baptistery. It is also proposed to lengthen the church eastward by fifteen feet, adding also eastern transepts, one for the use of the college, the other to accommodate the organ, and lastly, to build an entirely new vestry.

It is estimated that these additions can be carried out, principally in brick, but in a fairly substantial manner, for about 2000*l.*

It is hoped that such an outlay will result in a church, sufficient for the needs of the place, and likely to last for seventy or a hundred years.

It is proposed to divide the work into two portions, and to begin with the western additions, which without internal fittings will cost about 900*l.* Toward this 750*l.* have been raised, and efforts are still being made to raise more. The Society is asked for a liberal grant, and to divide it into two portions, so that one portion may be paid upon the completion of the western alterations, and the other upon the completion of those at the east end, including the vestry.

Bishop Macrorie entirely approves of the plan, and fears that the colony will not be able to do much more during the present year, as the Maritzburg Church people are not only engaged in a simultaneous effort to provide an organ for the enlarged church, but have to make up a deficiency in the clergy stipends, caused by the withdrawal of aid by the S.P.G.; and throughout the colony generally each parish has had a hard task to provide for its own needs.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make a grant of 100*l.* towards the completion of the proposed enlargement of the church westwards: it being distinctly understood that this grant was made in order to provide additional accommodation for the members of the congregation who used the church as their parish church; the Society's grant to be paid when Bishop Macrorie shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the proposed addition of forty-eight feet to the nave and western transepts.

Diocese of Auckland, New Zealand.—The Bishop of Auckland, in the following very interesting letter, applied for a grant in aid of building four churches for Maories of his diocese:—

"New Zealand, January 22, 1875.
"My dear Sir,—Will you kindly lay before the Committee of the S.P.C.K. this application for help to the Maories of this diocese, towards building four new churches; namely, at Parengarenga, near the North Cape of this island, Waiparera, near Hokianga, on the N.W. coast, Waimamaku, near Hokianga, on the N.W. coast, Parirau, on the Kaipara, in the north of the island. In each case the site is to be given by the Maories, and made over to the Church.

"At Parengarenga the people are very poor and isolated. They have recently built a parsonage, contributed the greater part of the cost of a school-chapel, and have raised 200*l.* towards an endowment-fund for the maintenance of a Maori minister. The population is about 200. Estimated cost of church 200*l.* At Waiparera the people are poor, but they have raised 100*l.* towards the cost of a church, for which the estimate is also 200*l.* The population is about 150. At Waimamaku the people have raised 200*l.*, and the estimated cost of their building is 250*l.*, population about 300. At Parirau the population number about 100; the estimated cost of their church is 150*l.*, and the people have raised 50*l.*

"For each of these churches I beg to ask the Committee for 20*l.*

"The Society will be glad to learn that in every district of the north of this island there is a great revival of Church life, accompanied by a corresponding improvement in the morals of the native race. My Maori clergy are now ten in number, all good men and true; confirmations are being held in all the Maori churches; and every larger settlement will soon have its parsonage and endowment fund, raised chiefly by the people of the district.

"The grant of Maori Prayer Books recently sent to me by the Society has been a very great help to me.

"I am, dear Mr. Swabey, yours faithfully,
"W. G. AUCKLAND."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 20*l.* for each of these four churches, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Quebec.—The Bishop, writing from Quebec on the 15th of February, 1875, forwarded and recommended an application from the Rev. Richard Mather for a grant towards the completion of a church at Little Gaspé, of which Mission Mr. Mather is the Missionary in charge.

There has been for many years at this place an unconsecrated building, which is now unfit for use, in which Divine Service has been held, and the building, for the completion of which a grant is asked, has been many years in course of erection. The site is vested in the Bishop.

The new building, which is of wood and plaster on a stone foundation, is roofed in, but is unfit for use in its present state. It has cost thus far $1000, and will accommodate 250 persons; at least $400 more will be required to finish it.

The present population is only 160, but is increasing, and the Bishop states that ships frequently lie at Little Gaspé, so that accommodation is needed for their crews.

The people are nearly all very poor fishermen. Formerly they, without almost an exception, belonged to the Church of England; but they have been left long without regular services, and need to be reclaimed.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 25*l.* for the completion of this church, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Nova Scotia.—The Bishop, writing from Halifax on the 10th February, 1875, forwarded and very strongly recommended an application for a grant in aid of building a new church at New Ross, in his diocese. The church is to take the place of an old unconsecrated building, which it is quite impossible to repair.

The new church will cost $2200 = 450*l.*; of this $931 have been raised, or rather less than 200*l.* The new church, which will be of wood, will stand on the site of the old building, and be vested in the Bishop and churchwardens as trustees; it will furnish accommodation for 350 worshippers. The population is over 1000, two-thirds of whom are Church people; most of them are very poor, and have to depend entirely upon farming and lumbering for their maintenance. Their clergyman's salary has to be provided by themselves.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50*l.* for the completion of this church, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Kingston, Jamaica.—The Bishop, writing from Bury-street, St. James's, forwarded and very strongly recommended an application made by the Rev. H. Wase Whitfield, for a grant towards rebuilding St. Mark's Church, Scott's Hall, which has been very nearly destroyed by a late hurricane.

The Bishop urged this as a very strong case. Mr. Whitfield has another church which has also suffered severely by the recent hurricane, and which is being enlarged. His people, who are almost entirely blacks, are, in both his cases, doing a great deal, raising money for building a repairing schools and a parsonage, and for the maintenance of their clergyman. The contributions of the people in one of his cures have risen from 80*l.* in 1870 to 250*l.* in 1874.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make a grant of 40*l.* in this case, on the usual conditions.

St. Joseph's, Grove, Kingston, Jamaica.—The Bishop of Kingston also forwarded and recommended the following application, addressed to the Society by one of his clergy, the Rev. H. H. Isaacs, and dated Woodford Parsonage, Kingston, Jamaica, 6th February, 1875:—

"The late hurricane, which visited this island, did considerable damage to St. Joseph's Church, Grove, which is under my charge, more than to any other church in the diocese. A great part of the iron tiling was blown off, the ceiling was destroyed, and the walls shaken. The congregation is a purely native one. We raised 15*l.* in the past year for all purposes, but the estimated cost of the necessary repairs and improvements is 150*l.* extra; of this amount the people stand pledged to raise 80*l.* this year. Will the venerable Society assist us in this our necessity with a grant?"

The Bishop, in reference to Mr. Isaacs' appeal, says:—

"I can certify to the correctness of his statement that the congregation is a purely native one, except that I myself reside not far off and occasionally attend it, and shall give what my reduced means allow."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 25*l.* for the completion of the repairs of this church, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Chichester.—The Bishop of Chichester, writing from Chichester on the 13th of March, 1875, forwarded and recommended an application by the Rev. R. Espinasse for a grant towards the completion and enlargement of Bishop Otter's Memorial College, now used as a Training College for Gentlemen intending to act as Mistresses of Elementary Church Schools.

Mr. Espinasse wrote as follows:—
"The proposed works will supply us with permanent accommodation for at least twelve additional students, a new lecture-room, which much needed in place of one now in use, which is too small, and also with a practising kitchen, which cooking can be taught to and practised by the students. The architect thinks the works will require 2000*l.* at least. Of this sum nearly 1000*l.* are at present promised, and we are about to issue an appeal for funds."

The Bishop wrote:—

The success of the College for the purpose which it is dedicated seems to be beyond question. The applications for admission are numerous. The present building is full, and at Christmas the Lady Principal received nearly 100 applications for schoolmistresses, while she had only four to send out. I may add that in Canon Norris's Examination in religious subjects, the College took the first place."

Mr. Espinasse further wrote:—

"The College will at present provide for sixty-six students (besides the staff of teachers, &c.), and this accommodation is now bespoke; and applications for admission to a preparatory class, preparing for Queen's Scholarship examination, have had to be refused for want of room. The applications for admission are on the increase."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant at the rate of 10*l.* for every additional student up to the number of twelve (i.e. not more than 120*l.* in all), for whom permanent accommodation should be provided; the Society's grant to be paid when the Standing Committee shall be satisfied that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the work, and to its being free from all liability for debt.

Diocese of Exeter.—Truro Training College.—C. Barham, Esq., M.D., Treasurer of this college, wrote as follows:—

"It is in the contemplation of our Committee to build a class-room for the Practising School for Infants, and to erect over it a dormitory for the reception of the same number of students as we now provide accommodation for in a hired house outside the precincts of the college. Such a class-room has been for some years strongly suggested as a desideratum by H. M. I. Canon Tilling."

In a subsequent letter Mr. Barham said that besides the ordinary number of thirty-four students, they proposed to have always in residence six additional students. The estimated cost of the whole scheme is not less than 600*l.*; 250*l.* of this is available from a fund at Exeter, provided the rest can be raised. The National Society will also help.

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant at the rate of 10*l.* for each additional student up to the number of six (i.e. not more than 60*l.*), for whom permanent accommodation should be provided; the Society's grant to be paid on conditions similar to those named in the last case.

Visitation of Emigrants, Plymouth.—The Rev. C. E. Turner, Secretary of the Plymouth District Committee, applied, on behalf of his Committee, for a renewal of the Society's grant, at the rate of 25*l.* per annum, to the Rev. F. Barnes, for visitation of emigrants leaving the port of Plymouth. The present grant will expire on the 20th of August next, but Mr. Barnes had been requested to give sufficient notice of his intention to apply for a renewal.

Mr. Barnes furnished a list of thirty-six ships supplied with tracts from Easter, 1874, to Easter, 1875; he added that "the attendance and attention shown at the services held in the depot prove how much they are valued."

Mr. Turner said that the number of emigrants leaving Plymouth was likely, so far as he could judge, to keep up.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to renew the grant of 25*l.* for one year, dating from the 20th of August, 1875, and to request Mr. Barnes and Mr. Turner, in case they apply for a further grant, to do so fully three months before the expiration of the present one.

Training Ship, "Wellesley," South Shields.—The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that in January last the Rev. Cyril G. Hutchinson, Hon. Canon of Gloucester, and a Member of the Society, had drawn their attention to the fact that there was in the Tyne a training-ship, on board of which there were about 300 boys, under the command of Commander Pocock, R.N., and without any sufficient provision for their religious teaching. The boys are those who, through poverty, parental neglect, or through being orphans, or from other causes, are in danger of contamination from association with vice and crime. They are admitted, both under powers of the Industrial School Act of 1866, and otherwise as the General Committee may determine.

In consequence of this information, the Secretary was desired to put himself into communication with the Rev. T. H. Chester, the Vicar of South Shields, with a view to ascertain whether any assistance from the Society would be properly bestowed, and accepted, for the purpose of supplying regular religious instruction to those of the boys who belonged to the Church of England.

The result of a somewhat long correspondence has been that Commander Pocock, with the consent of Mr. Chester, and also with the consent of the Rev. P. H. Phelps, Vicar of Holy Trinity, Western Town, Tynemouth, has made a suggestion to the following effect:—

Namely, that the Rev. J. Sunter, curate to Mr. Phelps, who has already arranged that the boys should go to a special service and school on shore on Sunday afternoons, should make it part of his duty to go on board the "Wellesley," and should receive some remuneration from S.P.C.K. in addition to his present stipend, for the discharge of this work.

That the Rev. P. H. Moore (Deacon), and Mr. Barker, Scripture Reader, both of whom are in the employ of the Missions to Seamen Society, and both of whom already visit the "Wellesley," occasionally, should in like manner receive some addition to their present stipends, on the understanding that they will give regular and systematic assistance in the religious instruction and training of the boys.

Captain Pocock has informed the Committee that he has ascertained that the Society for Missions to Seamen will make no objection to his plan.

Captain Pocock is most thankful for the prospect of securing these ministrations, and ends one of his letters with these words, "May God bless the man, whoever he is, who brought our case before the Society! It seems as if the prayers of seven years are at last granted."

The Standing Committee, having satisfied themselves that no one is responsible for the discharge of the duties proposed, and that it is not likely that they would be performed satisfactorily without some such help as Captain Pocock suggested were forthcoming, recommended that a grant of 75*l.* be made for one year, for the purpose of providing more efficient religious ministrations and instruction for the Church of England boys on board the training-ship "Wellesley." And further, that 35*l.* of this should be paid (in addition to his stipulated salary from Mr. Phelps, his Vicar) to the Rev. J. Sunter; that 25*l.* be paid to the Rev. P. H. Moore, and 15*l.* to Mr. Barker (Scripture Reader).

The Committee further recommended that these grants should be payable upon Captain Pocock, or officer in command for the time being, certifying that the arrangements made by him for effecting the objects proposed have been carried out to his satisfaction.

The recommendation of the Standing Committee was agreed to.

Bishop Callaway, of Independent Kaffraria.—The Standing Committee stated that Bishop Callaway (who, at the request of his Synod has adopted the name of St. John for his Diocese, and who signs himself Henry St. John), who for many years had been engaged upon the work of translating the Bible and Prayer Book into Zulu, and who, since the year 1867 had received as much as 920*l.*, put at his disposal by the Society, for printing those books, had, through some misunderstanding, overdrawn his grant by 60*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*

The Standing Committee said that they had sanctioned the acceptance of Bills in excess of the grant to this extent; but had begged the Bishop not to draw upon the Society again without further authority.

The Standing Committee requested the Meeting to sanction this over-payment. This was done.

Book Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Book Grants, Special and Ordinary, were agreed to.

Diocese of Ripon. Training College.—The Rev. E. Baynes Badcock, Principal of this college for Schoolmistresses, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 3*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure in books on the part of the Committee of the college; the whole of the books to be given as prizes for religious knowledge to those of the students who gained first-classes at an examination held in October last.

The following Table shows the result of the examination:—

	No. examined.	Class I.	Class II.	Class III.
Students of the First Year...	32	8	23	1
Students of the Second Year	26	2	15	9

This grant was made on the recommendation of the Standing Committee.

Diocese of St. David's. Training College, Carmarthen.—The Rev. Rupert H. Morris, Principal of this college for training schoolmasters, applied for a grant of books, many of them of the Christian Evidence Series, to the value of 3*l.* 1*s.* 2*d.*, to be placed in the library of the college, for use on Sundays. Mr. Morris states that the funds of the college would not admit of any purchase being made, and urged that it was of the greatest importance that schoolmasters should be trained, so as to aid the Church in the contest with Scepticism and Infidelity.

This grant was made as applied for.

Diocese of Ely.—The Rev. Canon Haddock, one of the Hon. Secretaries of the Bedfordshire Board of Education, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 4*l.* 5*s.*, to meet an equal expenditure on the part of his Board; the whole of the books to be given as prizes to Pupil-teachers within the Archdeaconry of Bedford, who have passed with credit the last examination of the Diocesan Inspector in religious knowledge.

The number of Pupil-teachers and Monitors examined in the whole Diocese of Ely is given in the following summary. The number from the Archdeaconry of Bedford who gained first-classes was eight.

Diocese of Worcester.—The Rev. E. J. Houghton, Diocesan Inspector, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 20*l.*, to meet an equal outlay in books by the Worcester and Coventry Boards of Education; the whole of the books to be given as prizes for religious knowledge to those Pupil-teachers who obtained a First Class at a recent simultaneous examination in religious knowledge.

The following is a summary:—

This grant was made as applied for.

Diocese of Gloucester and Bristol.—The Rev. T. G. Golightly, Honorary Secretary of the Diocesan Association, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 20*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure in books on the part of the Diocesan Association; the whole of the books to be given to Pupil-teachers who obtain a First Class in an examination in religious knowledge which is to be held in June next.

The total number of Pupil-teachers examined last year was 465, of whom forty-two obtained First Classes.

The numbers are expected to be larger this year.

The grant was made.

Diocese of Capetown.—The Rev. James F. Curlew, of Lower Paarl, with the recommendation of the Bishop of Capetown, applied for a grant of books—for Sunday Schools, a Lending Library, and other parochial purposes, specially for a Lending Library for some English workmen, Navvies and others, employed at Wellington, an outlying village under his charge.

A grant of books, as selected by Mr. Curlew, the value of 22*l.* 13*s.* 11*d.*, was made.

Diocese of Athabasca.—The Bishop of Athabasca, writing from Fort Simpson, Mackenzie River, on the 19th of November, 1874, gave an account of the progress of Church work in his far-distant Northern diocese. The Bishop asked for six sets of Service Books for use in the six School-chapels to be erected by aid of the Society's grant of 500*l.* He also applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 10*l.*, on condition of the proceeds of sale being either reinvested in the purchase of a fresh stock of S.P.C.K. books, or else returned as a donation to the Society. The Bishop also asked for fifty copies of each of certain books in the Cree language.

Six sets of 8vo Services and the other books, as applied for by the Bishop, were granted.

Diocese of Calcutta.—Mussouri, N.W.P., India. —The Rev. Lionel F. Phillips, himself a two guinea subscriber, who has been interesting himself with success to get new members of the Society, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 30*l.*, to enable him to start a depot at Mussouri.

It was agreed to make a grant of books to the value applied for, on condition of the proceeds of sales being either, from time to time, reinvested in the purchase of a new stock of S.P.C.K. books, or else returned to the Society as a donation.

Visitation of Emigrants at Plymouth.—The Rev. F. Barnes, the Society's Visitor of Emigrants leaving Plymouth, recommended by Rev.

C. E. Turner, applied for a grant of tracts, &c., for distribution.

A grant of these, to the value of 5*l.*, was made, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee.

Reports and Notices from the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Nassau.—The Bishop, writing from Nassau, Bahamas, on the 22nd January, 1875, submitted a scheme which had been set on foot in his diocese, for training native young men for Holy Orders and as Catechists.

Three of the clergy of the diocese, the Rev. R. Swann, Rev. C. Wakefield, and Rev. H. Crispin, undertake to direct the studies of such students as have been accepted by the Bishop as candidates. The Bishop himself will examine the students periodically.

The period of training should not be less than three years, and the estimated annual cost of supporting a missionary student is 30*l.*

The Bishop says that three excellent young black men have come forward as candidates, and towards the support of one of these, Mr. Marshall Cooper, the Bishop asks for a grant out of the sum which has been set apart for training Native Students abroad for Holy Orders.

The Bishop says that, in the impoverished state of his diocese, he shall greatly value as large a grant towards making up the required 30*l.* a year for three years as the Society can fairly give.

The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that they had reserved 60*l.* out of the money at their disposal for assisting to train native candidates for Holy Orders abroad, with a view to giving at the rate of 20*l.* a year for three years in this case.

Diocese of London, St. Philip's, Stepney.—The Rev. A. J. Ross, Vicar of this parish, applied for a grant in aid of the rent of a Board School in his parish for Sunday School purposes.

The Rev. Main S. A. Walrond, Vicar of St. Lawrence Jewry, has undertaken the management of these Sunday Schools, and will supply the necessary staff of teachers, &c. The rent, not including the charge for cleaning, will be 38*l.*; the rooms will accommodate 380 children. Mr. Walrond has made himself responsible for rent and all other expenses; he hopes to make these schools the centre point of other missionary work, district visiting, night schools, &c., all of which will cost money. There will be the cost of conveyance to and from the schools, which for the twelve or fourteen teachers which Mr. Walrond hopes to supply, will be serious.

Mr. Walrond expects to be able to meet all expenses after the first year, but hopes this year to be relieved of the rent by the joint help of the S.P.C.K. and the Bishop of London's Fund, to which Fund both he and Mr. Ross think it right to inform the Committee application has been made.

The Committee informed the Meeting that they have, in this case, agreed to grant 19*l.* out of the money at their disposal for this purpose, on the understanding that the grant was made for one year only, and was not likely to be renewed.

Diocese of Carlisle.—Parish of Dearham, Maryport.—The Rev. W. S. Calverley, the Curate of this parish, applied for a grant of money to enable him to secure at a rent of 6*l.* 6*s.* per annum, a room in a School Board school near the church.

Owing to the very advanced age of the Vicar, the rapid increase of the population, and the extreme poverty of the living, Mr. Calverley, who is the first curate there has been in the parish, finds great need of help.

Formerly a Sunday School was held in the body of the church, which is totally unfit for the purpose, but this was closed some years ago during a small-pox epidemic, and has not been re-opened.

The total population is over 4000; of this number about 2000, miners, without any resident wealthy proprietor in the township, reside in the township immediately about the church. A second township, two or three miles from the church, has neither church, chapel, Sunday nor day school; for religious ministrations in this district Mr. Calverley is also hoping to make some provision by means of a temporary iron church, and by the use of School Board schools which must soon be built.

The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that they had agreed to give 6*l.* 6*s.* in this case, as they regarded it as an exceptional one, but that they would beg Mr. Calverley not to depend upon a renewal of this grant.

Diocese of Winchester.—St. Anne's, Bermondsey.—The Rev. J. Thornton Wilkinson applied for a renewal of the grant of 30*l.* made to him, on 29th of June last year, for one year toward the rent of School Board rooms for Sunday School purposes. The total rent was 40*l.*

Mr. Wilkinson gave a favourable account of the success of the school during the time it had been carried on. There are nearly 400 children in attendance, and Bible Classes held elsewhere have also been formed in connexion with the school.

The Standing Committee informed the Meeting that they had agreed to give 20*l.* towards the rent for a second year, but to inform Mr. Wilkinson that there was no probability of their making any further grant.

Summary of Bibles and Prayers.—The Standing Committee reported, in reference to the motion on this subject of which Mr. Jeffreys had given notice at the last Meeting, when he was not present, that they had endeavoured to ascertain what Mr. Jeffreys wished, and hoped to be able to carry out his wishes.

Motion of which Notice was given at the last Meeting.

Prizes for Religious Knowledge to Pupils in Elementary Church Schools.—In accordance with notice given at the last Meeting, the Rev. G. H. Hodson, on behalf of the Standing Committee, proposed the following resolution:—

"That, as it appears desirable to promote the acquisition of religious knowledge by the scholars of elementary schools, the resolution: June, 1873, be rescinded, in order that the Society may be enabled to assist Diocesan and other bodies in giving prizes to children at their examination in religious subjects."

The resolution passed by the General Meeting in June, 1873, to which reference was made, was as follows:—

"That prizes similar to the above" (i.e. grants of S.P.C.K. books for Pupil-teachers, to meet equal purchases by Diocesan Boards, &c.) "to children, who are neither Pupil-teachers nor Candidates, be discontinued after the current year; but that candidates for Pupil-teachership be allowed to compete."

This motion, after some discussion, was carried.

Notices of Motion for the next Monthly General Meeting.

Sunday Schools.—The Standing Committee reported that they had recently received several applications for grants for building rooms, which might be used for Sunday Schools, and other parochial purposes, such as Bible classes, Missionary meetings, mothers' meetings, lectures on secular subjects, &c., &c. The Committee gave notice that at the next Monthly General Meeting, to be held on Tuesday, 4th of May, they would propose that the Standing Committee be allowed to make grants out of the balance of 2000*l.*, set apart in 1860 for Sunday School purposes, in aid of building Sunday Schools, which may also be used as Mission rooms, as well as towards paying the rent of premises to be used for Sunday School purposes.

General Secretary.—The Standing Committee also gave notice that at the next Monthly General Meeting, to be held on Tuesday, 4th of May, they would propose the following resolution:—

"That, in consideration of the work and responsibility which devolve on the Rev. H. Swabey, the Secretary, in connexion with the Business Department of the Society, he shall in future continue to receive the salary of 400*l.* per annum as General Secretary of the Society, and that the 200*l.* per annum which he now receives from the Bookselling and Publishing Department be increased to 400*l.*"

Letters of Thanks, &c.

Grants of Tracts for Good Friday, Easter, &c.—The Secretary reported that the offer of Tracts for these seasons had led to the gratuitous distribution of the publications to the number of 411,100, at a charge upon the charitable funds of 163*l.* 19*s.*; and that 25*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.* had been received for the expense of postage and carriage.

The following are two out of many similar letters of acknowledgment which have been addressed to the Secretary:—

"Syston Vicarage, Leicester, April 2nd, 1875.

"DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge, with many thanks, the Society's grant of 400 tracts for distribution on Good Friday. The papers were left at every house in the parish on the previous Sunday afternoon by my choir-boys, and I am gratified to report that the day was much better observed. We had large congregations at three of our services. Three employers of labour sent their men to church and paid their wages; farm household-work, usually done on Friday, was done on the Thursday previous; and those who hitherto had observed Good Friday were more devout and constant in their observance this year.

"With much thankfulness to the Giver of all good for this blessing, I have to thank the Society, as an instrument in His hands, for the furtherance of this good work.

"I remain, dear sir,

"Very faithfully yours,

"HENRY S. STEES.

"The Rev. the Secretary, S.P.C.K."

"Slaithwaite Parsonage, Huddersfield,
April 1st, 1875.

"REV. AND DEAR SIR,—I have waited till now, not from any lack of gratitude, before acknowledging the generous gift of the Committee of Tracts, &c., for Good Friday and Easter.

"I feel most thankful for the response to my application. Nearly all the tracts have been distributed, and the result has been a decidedly improved attendance at our Services on Good Friday and throughout Passion Week. We had a larger attendance of communicants on Easter Day than we have ever had before.

"I feel, however, that it is not thus only that we can estimate the good done. The tracts appeal so forcibly and tenderly to heart and conscience that they must be seed sown which must bear fruit. With many thanks,

"I remain, yours very sincerely,

"C. A. HULBERT."

"The Clerical Secretary."

Prizes to Pupil Teachers for Religious Knowledge.—The following letter respecting the usefulness of these prizes was submitted:—

"Chichester Diocesan Association. Inspection of Schools.

"1, St. Ann's Crescent, Lewes, April 3rd 1875.

"Dear Sir,—Although I have formally acknowledged the grant of books which the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge was kind enough to make for the purpose of a prize scheme for Pupil-teachers, in the subjects of religious instruction, in this diocese, I would add my own personal thanks for the same, and express my gratitude for aid which assisted me in stimulating the study of religious subjects among the Pupil-teachers under my care. I earnestly hope that such grants may be continued in future, in order that a thorough system of religious education may be maintained among those who are to be the future School teachers of England.

"I remain yours obediently,

"ROBERT BLIGHT,

"Diocesan Inspector of Diocese of Chichester."

Diocese of Bloemfontein.—The following satisfactory letter had been received from the Rev. William Crisp in reference to a grant of 250*l.* made in March, 1874, in aid of producing the Bible and Prayer Book in the Sechuana language.

"Thaba Nohu, Bloemfontein, 10th February, 1875.

"Rev. and dear Sir,—I write at the Bishop's request, to advise you that he has drawn upon the Society a bill for forty pounds (40*l.*) dated March 1st. The sum we have hitherto drawn (including this last draft) amounts to 190*l.* This sum will, I trust, cover the cost of the first volume of the Prayer Book, which will contain Morning and Evening Prayers, Creed of St. Athanasius, Litany, Occasional Prayers and Thanksgiving, Psalms, Collects, Epistles and Gospels, Communion Service and Catechism.

"The volume will contain about 300 pages, cr. 8vo. It is to be bound in cloth boards. 1000 copies have been printed. We hope to send you a complete copy early in April.

"As soon as a sufficient number of copies are bound for present use, we propose to go on with the second volume, which is to contain the services for Holy Communion (already in print), Baptism, Confirmation, Matrimony, Churching, Visitation of the Sick, and Burial, and also the services for the Admission of Catechumens, ordered by the Provincial Synod. We hope to print 300 copies of this volume, and think it will make about 100 pages, demy 8vo.

"I hope to send you fuller particulars of the two books, when we see how long a time and how much material they have taken. We look forward very eagerly to the help the books will be to us.

"I am, Rev. and dear Sir,

"Yours respectfully,

"WM. CRISP."

Diocese of Capetown.—The Venerable P. P. Fogg, Archdeacon of George, made an interesting statement in a letter of acknowledgement for a grant of 100*l.* made on 1st December, 1874, in aid of building a small church in an out-lying district between George and Kuysma, where Mr. Dumbleton, an English layman who has been in the habit of lending his dining-room for Divine Service, is most anxious to have a church for his poor neighbours who are for the most part coloured people.

The Archdeacon, in a letter dated George, Cape of Good Hope, 23rd of February, 1875, wrote as follows:—

"It is a great encouragement to us who occupy outstations of the Church to receive such hearty support, as we do, from headquarters; for in the far-reaching sympathy and bountiful help of a great Church Society like yours, we recognize the loving disposition of the Mother Church to take thought for her remotest children. We are made to feel the reality of our union with her. Speaking from my own experience, I may venture to say, that by no human instrumentality has the connexion between the Home and Colonial Churches been more effectually sustained than by the English Church Societies.

"To revert to the grant of the S.P.C.K. On receipt of your letter, I communicated its contents to Mr. Dumbleton, who was so much gratified, that he at once set about the work of preparation by fixing site and securing a plan for the building. Stones for the foundation have also been carted to the spot from the mountain, and 60,000 bricks are about to be burnt. Stimulated by the liberality of your grant, Mr. Dumbleton is making efforts to obtain 100*l.* more for the outlay, so that the accommodation originally contemplated may be increased. Our chief difficulty is want of skilled labour. We may have to procure a builder from Capetown.

We expect the Bishop here in April, and I hope that the foundation-stone will then be laid.

Grants of Books, &c., recommended by the Standing Committee.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, Feb. 8th.—The Report of the Henry Venn Fund Sub-Committee having been presented and read, the following grants were adopted by the Committee on the recommendation of the Sub-Committee:—To the Native Church of Sierra Leone, to enable it to undertake the charge of two stations within the colony, Charlotte and Bananas, the sum of 100*l*. To the Native Church in the Niger territory, superintended by Bishop Crowther, to aid in the development and extension of that Church, a grant of 100*l*.

Under the head of Applications from Native Missionary Societies employing Evangelists of their own, the Committee made the following grants on the recommendation of the Sub-Committee:—To the Native Missionary Association at Gorrukpur, on the condition that at least one additional agent is employed, a grant of 20*l*. To the Native Missionary Society at Lahore, on condition of one additional agent being employed, a grant of 20*l*. To the Cotta Native Church Missionary Association, for the salary of a second itinerant Catechist, a grant of 60*l*. To the Tamil Cooiy Native Church Missionary Association, for the employment of one additional Evangelist, the sum of 25*l*.

The Secretaries reported that the usual Annual Meeting of the Association Secretaries was held on the 20th January, and two following days, and that their Reports of the Associations were on the whole encouraging, showing an increase in the number of sermons preached and of meetings held during the past year. They also submitted the names of thirty-nine friends of the Society willing to assist as Honorary District Secretaries, all of whom were approved and appointed. The Secretaries were requested to convey the thanks of the Committee to those friends named in the Reports of the Association Secretaries who had assisted as Honorary District Secretaries, or otherwise, during the past year.

Special General Committee, Feb. 16th.—The Secretaries reported the death of the Rev. J. H. Gedge, for some time Association Secretary of the Society in Yorkshire; and testimony having been borne by members of the Committee to his zeal and devotedness in the service of his Saviour in connexion with the work of the Society, the Committee directed the Secretaries to convey to the Rev. Sydney Gedge their sense of his son's services, and their deep sympathy with him and the other members of his family in their loss.

The Secretaries referred to the proposal that the Church Missionary Auxiliary at Sierra Leone should be developed into a Sierra Leone Church Missionary Society, taking the direct oversight and responsibility of the Bullom and Quiah Missions in the immediate neighbourhood of the colony. They stated that the subject had been considered by the Sierra Leone Sub-Committee; that it had been a subject of correspondence with the Bishop of Sierra Leone and the friends of the Society at that place, and that there was a general agreement as to the advisability of the step.

The following Memorandum was read and adopted by the Committee:—

The Sierra Leone Auxiliary of the Church Missionary Society has existed almost from the commencement of the Sierra Leone Mission; and up to the year 1863, the money it raised being inconsiderable in amount, was annually disposed of by the Missionaries of the Society to meet local contingencies beyond the Society's grant to the Mission. It was thus up to this time a local auxiliary. In 1864, the contributions having reached the sum of 200*l*, it was resolved by the Committee that the funds of the Sierra Leone Association should be divided between the general operations of the Society and the Missions adjoining the Colony, such as the Sherbro, Bullom, and Quiah, which had been commenced in 1862, and were regarded as being under the eye of the Native Church.

In the address made by the Parent Committee to the Sierra Leone Auxiliary, in the jubilee of that Association, the Committee expressed their satisfaction in being the channel for the contributions of the Sierra Leone Auxiliary for the spread of the Gospel throughout the world, and from that time to the present they have received the sum of 2053*l*. 11*s*. 6*d*. in this manner.

In the same address the Committee direct the attention of the Auxiliary to the undertaking of Mission work among the tribes bordering on the colony, mentioning more especially missions to the Bullom, Timne or Quiah, and Sherbro tribes.

The remaining half of the contributions have accordingly been sent by the Finance Committee, in various ways, upon these Missions: sometimes in making grants for the erection of buildings, but generally for the additional support of Catechists and Schoolmasters. Feeling it desirable that the Native community should take a more direct interest in the operations connected with the Auxiliary, the Parent Committee, in 1871, constituted the Rev. J. Quaker a member of the Finance Committee, whenever it met for the purpose of appropriating the moiety of the contributions to be expended in the adjacent Missions.

The Sub-Committee, which was appointed to confer with the Bishop of Sierra Leone, in their report presented in September, 1873, stated that it appeared to them that the time had come when an inquiry might be made whether the Sierra Leone Auxiliary might not be so constituted as to become an independent Missionary Society, and suggesting that it should be under the management of a Committee containing a sufficient European element.

This subject has been considered by the Bishop, by the Sierra Leone Conference, and by the Sierra Leone Auxiliary, and the general impression was that the experiment might fairly be made of constituting the C.M.S. Auxiliary a working body, and transferring to their control so much of the contributions of the Auxiliary as are not specifically designed for the general operations of the Parent Society, and also transferring to their control the adjacent Missions most easily reached and worked from the Colony.

The details of the formation and management of the new Missionary Society must be left to the judgment of the friends on the spot, but from the existing machinery of the Auxiliary it appears that a working organization might easily be formed.

The three Missions already adverted to are the Mendi or Sherbro, the Quiah or Timne, and the Bullom Shore. All these Missions received subventions from the Sierra Leone Auxiliary, and the Rev. A. Menzies acted as European superintendent, visiting the Missions as he was able. The Timneh Mission also had the benefit of the late Mr. Knodler's presence.

Mr. Knodler has been removed by death, and to Mr. Menzies has been assigned the special charge of the Sherbro Mission, so that the way seems open for transfer of the Bullom and Quiah Missions.

These two Missions lie close to the Colony, the Bullom Shore is but eight miles from Freetown across the estuary of the Sierra Leone River, while the Quiah Mission borders on the east of the Peninsula, and close to the Waterloo Pastorate Station.

The Bullom Mission was revived in 1862, with station at Yomro under the care of the Native Catechist Mr. Boston, subsequently ordained.

In 1863, three additional stations had been occupied and two of these have been maintained up to the present time; one, a small out-station, has been given up.

A very interesting account of the Bullom Mission contained in Mr. Boston's Annual Letter of the 29th December, 1873, which appears in the "C.M. Record" for April, 1874. An encouraging feature connected with the Mission is the assistance given by unpaid lay helpers, and the amount raised for various religious purposes. Mr. Boston having died in July, 1874, the Rev. J. Hazley was transferred from the Sherbro to the Bullom Mission.

The cost to the Society of this Mission, exclusive of the services of Mr. Menzies, is for last year 115*l*.

The Quiah Mission was commenced about the same time as the Bullom; three stations were occupied, and an effort was made at Waterloo to assist the Mission in the way of educating the poor children of the Quiahs in that vicinity. Subsequently Benkia in North Quiah was occupied, and Mr. Knodler superintended the Mission from that place. The South Quiah Mission was in 1862 placed under the charge of the Rev. J. Beale, who, having returned to England, it was placed under a schoolmaster, and superintended by the Native Pastor at Waterloo. Subsequently Mr. Taylor, of the Niger Mission, was appointed to it, residing at Prince Alfred's Town.

The average cost of this Mission to the Society has been about the same as the Bullom Mission.

It would therefore seem that the funds of the Sierra Leone Auxiliary may easily meet the expenditure needed, not only to maintain these Missions in efficient order, but also to extend them. The Committee would transfer all buildings to the Sierra Leone Society, as well as surrender all control over the affairs of these Missions.

They hope, however, still to be able to render assistance in these Missions by maintaining Fourah Bay College in efficiency for the training of agents, at the same time watching the proceedings of the Sierra Leone Missionary Society with the deepest and most prayerful interest.

The Committee then directed that action be taken in accordance with the recommendation of the Memorandum for the transfer of the Quiah and Bullom Missions to a local Church Missionary Society at Sierra Leone to be developed out of the present Auxiliary.

Committee of Correspondence, March 2nd.—The Secretaries reported the death at Biarritz of J. Gurney Hoare, Esq., on the 17th February. He first joined the Committee in the year 1847, and had frequently manifested his deep interest in the work of the Society, which by his removal had lost a warm-hearted and liberal friend. True to his hereditary instincts, he had ever evinced a special sympathy with the woes of the people of Africa, and a genuine concern for their well-being; so that not a few in that country will feel, when they hear of his death, that they have lost a true friend in Mr. Gurney Hoare, and not least Bishop Crowther, to whom his hospitable roof at Hampstead was well known. He was President of the Hampstead Church Missionary Association, where his frank and genial presence will be greatly missed at the anniversaries of this and kindred Societies. His health began to fail in the autumn of 1874; but it was hoped that the change to the South of France might for a while be the means of restoring him to a measure of strength. Such, however, was not the will of the Master he had loved to serve. He fell asleep, without apparent suffering, resting on the finished work of his Redeemer, and was buried, according to his express wish, at the place where he died.

The Committee desired to record their sense of the loss the Society had sustained by the removal of Mr. Gurney Hoare, and requested the Secretaries to convey to Mrs. Hoare the assurance of their heartfelt sympathy.

THE INCORPORATED SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE ENLARGEMENT, BUILDING, AND REPAIRING OF CHURCHES AND CHAPELS.

The usual monthly meeting of this Society was held on Monday, March 16th, at the Society's house, 7, Whitehall, S.W., the Rev. John Evans in the chair; there were also present the Revs.

A. Cazenove, and George Miller, Baron Dimsdale; Messrs. John Boodle, George Cowburn, J. F. France, A. J. C. Lawrie, E. Pepps, William Rivington, W. E. M. Tomlinson, and the Rev. George Ainslie, M.A., Secretary.

Grants of money were made in aid of building two new churches, rebuilding three churches, and enlarging or otherwise increasing the accommodation in nine churches.

Under urgent circumstances, the grants formerly made towards building the church at Brandon, in the parish of Brancepeth, Durham, and towards restoring the church at Clymping, Sussex, were each increased. Grants were also made from the special School-church and Mission-house Fund, towards building school or mission churches. This meeting was the last in the Society's financial year, and grants amounting to 11,435*l.* have been made in it towards the erection of 31 new churches (24 of which are entirely free and unappropriated), the rebuilding of 15, and the enlarging or otherwise increasing the accommodation of 101 existing churches. The carrying out of the above works called forth from the promoters of them the sum of 383,606*l.* The committee have also granted 680*l.* towards building 24 school or mission churches, but in every case there has been much regret felt at the smallness of the sum voted through the inadequacy of the funds at the Society's disposal.

QUEEN ANNE'S BOUNTY.

THE Governors of this Corporation held their Annual Meeting on the 17th ult., to appropriate the surplus income of 1874, to meet benefactions for the augmentation of poor Benefices.

The circumstances of the various benefices were greatly diversified. One feature was, however, common to all—that of all the cases considered no benefice possessed an income above 200*l.*, and the poorest had but 46*l.* a year.

With two or three exceptions, the grants were uniformly 200*l.* to each benefice. As to population, the most numerous was one with 9000, down to an agricultural parish of 35 inhabitants. The patronage of 73 benefices was in public gift, and the remaining 31 in lay hands. The most generous benefaction, given by a layman, was worth 2200*l.*, but no benefaction was less than 200*l.* With the exception of Durham, grants were bestowed upon one or more benefices in every diocese of England and Wales.

Altogether there were 104 benefices approved. The aggregate value of the benefactions exceeded 31,200*l.*, and the grants amounted to 21,800*l.*; the Church of England thus secures an additional capital sum of 53,000*l.*

PARLIAMENTARY INTELLIGENCE.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

TUESDAY, MARCH 9.

INCREASE OF THE EPISCOPATE BILL.

On the motion for going into Committee on this Bill,

Lord HOUGHTON objected to the great power the Bill would give to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, and proposed that it should be referred to a Select Committee.

Lord LYTTELTON opposed the motion for a Select Committee, contending that the Ecclesiastical Commissioners might safely be trusted with the powers proposed to be given to them.

Lord Houghton's motion having been negatived, a discussion arose on three new clauses proposed by the Bishop of Exeter. The first of the new clauses only was agreed to, in the following form:—"It shall be lawful for the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, if they think fit, in any scheme for the foundation of a new Bishopric, to attach to the Bishopric thus formed a portion of the income of any Bishopric diminished by the formation of the said new Bishopric."

The Bill, thus amended, passed through Committee.

TUESDAY, MARCH 16.

CHURCH PATRONAGE BILL.

On the motion of the Bishop of ELY, for the Bishop of PETERBOROUGH, the following Lords were nominated on the Select Committee to consider this Bill:—

The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Chancellor, the Archbishop of York, the Duke of Richmond, the Marquis of Lansdowne, the Marquis of Salisbury, Earl Nelson, Viscount Cardwell, the Bishop of Peterborough, Lord Rayleigh, Lord Rosebery, Lord Selborne, and Lord Coleridge.

INCREASE OF THE EPISCOPATE BILL.

Lord STRATHEDEN, on the motion for the third reading of this Bill, said the passing of it ought either to be resisted, or the measure should undergo essential transformation in the House of Commons. He regarded it as making an unwise concession to the voluntary principle.

Lord LYTTELTON denied that the new Bishoprics formed under the Bill would be dependent upon the voluntary principle. It was the object of the Bill to provide a permanent endowment for them.

Lord COTESLOE moved a clause, as a rider to the Bill, for the purpose of limiting the operation of the measure to the erection of new Bishoprics. He objected to the Bill because it proposed to create an indefinite extension of the Episcopate, and therefore went beyond the necessity of the case.

Lord LYTTELTON said the amendment appeared to him to be founded on an entire misapprehension of the principle of the Bill. Having alluded to a conversation which had taken place between himself and the Prime Minister,

The Duke of RICHMOND said the Government were not prepared, as a Government, to support the measure, though they would not oppose it; and he advised Lord Cotesloe not to press his clause.

A discussion then ensued, in which EARL GRANVILLE, the LORD CHANCELLOR, VISCOUNT CARDWELL, the EARL of KIMBERLEY, the ARCHBISHOP of CANTERBURY, LORD REDESDALE, and the EARL of MALMESBURY took part; and in the course of which the MARQUIS of SALISBURY said the Government were not prepared to accept the responsibility of the measure, because they were not confident as to the practical working of it.

Ultimately the clause proposed by Lord Cotesloe was negatived, and the Bill was passed.

THURSDAY, APRIL 8.

CHURCH PATRONAGE BILL.

On the motion of Lord REDESDALE, the names of the Earl of HARROWBY and Viscount EVERSLEY were added to the Select Committee on this Bill.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

TUESDAY, MARCH 9.

EDUCATION (NEW CODE, 1875.)

Mr. DIXON moved to omit from the New Code issued by the Education Department, Article 19 D, which he thought would bear hard financially on the Board Schools in large towns, and would unfairly benefit small village schools.

Mr. FORSTER, on the contrary, thought that a very strong claim might be made out for these schools. At the utmost, the best of them would scarcely earn 30*l.* Upon the whole, he approved the mode in which the New Code aimed at raising the general standard of Education.

Mr. TALBOT, Mr. STORER, Mr. STEVENSON, Dr. PLAYFAIR, Mr. KAY-SHUTTLEWORTH, and Sir F. ACLAND commented on various points of the Code, and

Lord SANDON, in reply, said that the general effect of the New Code would be that ordinary schools would get much the same as at present, good schools would get more, and very good schools a great deal more. As to the Article 19 D, he contended that it would be impossible to get good teachers for small village schools without some such encouragement. He claimed for the Code that it would carry out the pledge given last year, to place a good school within the reach of every labouring man.

The motion was then withdrawn.

PUBLIC WORSHIP FACILITIES BILL.

The adjourned debate on this Bill was resumed, and

Mr. TALBOT suggested that the Bill should be referred to a Select Committee, with power to report upon the present facilities for providing additional means of worship in parishes with or without the consent of the Incumbent, and also upon the desirability of extending such facilities.

Mr. RAIKES, who spoke strongly against the principle of the Bill, Mr. ASSHETON, Sir H. WOOLFF, Mr. WHITWELL, and Mr. CROSS joined in urging this course upon Mr. SALT.

Mr. MONK, who had a motion to commit the Bill this day three months, offered to withdraw it, and ultimately Mr. SALT accepted Mr. TALBOT's suggestion, and the Bill was referred to a Select Committee.

FRIDAY, MARCH 12.

BISHOPRIC OF ST. ALBAN'S.

Mr. CROSS brought in a Bill, which was read a first time, to erect a new Bishopric at St. Alban's, and to enable the Ecclesiastical Commissioners to re-arrange the dioceses of London, Winchester, and Rochester. The Bill, he explained, had its origin in a generous offer of the Bishop of Winchester to give up his own house—Winchester House—in St. James's-square, on condition that the funds it produced should be devoted to the creation of a new See. In the rearrangement of the dioceses, St. Alban's will take Essex and Hertfordshire from Rochester, Rochester will take from Winchester East and Mid-Surrey, and the parish of St. Mary, Newington, from London. As to the funds, after the next avoidance of the See of Winchester, the income of the Bishop will be 6500*l.* instead of 7000*l.*; and the income of the next Bishop of Rochester will be 4500*l.* instead of 5000*l.* This 1000*l.* a year, with the sum raised from the sale of Winchester House, and certain other funds supposed to be available, would form the income of the new See of St. Alban's. It was a gift offered to the Church by the Bishops, and not a shilling of public money would be asked. Danbury, the Bishop of Rochester's palace, would be sold to provide residences for the Bishops of Rochester and St. Alban's; and as to the seat in the House of Lords, the precedent of the Bishop of Manchester would be followed.

TUESDAY, MARCH 23.

THE NEW EDUCATION CODE.

Sir J. KENNAWAY asked whether, after consideration of the representations made in the debate upon the New Education Code (1875), any alterations would be made in the New Education Code?

Lord SANDON said that owing to the adjournment of the other branch of the legislature, he was not able to lay on the table the alterations finally adopted by the Lord President and himself in the new code. He thought, therefore, it might be for the convenience of members to state shortly what were the changes determined on. They had been made after much consultation with gentlemen acquainted with the subject in all parts of the country, and the Lord President and himself were astonished and gratified to find that the objections to the new code resolved themselves into a very small number of points. That represented the feeling both in town and country with respect both to voluntary and board schools. The alterations were:—1. With regard to the addition of a shilling to the average attendant grant being dependent on the discipline being satisfactory, the department guarded itself carefully against being supposed to interfere with the organization of any school, provided it was thoroughly good; but they also took precautions rendered necessary by the increased want of disciplined and moral supervision under the new Act, that morals and discipline should be carefully looked to before the shilling was granted. 2. On another point on which great stress had been laid, as to the reduction of payment unless 40 per cent. of the scholars passed in the higher standards, they had thought it their duty, after the general expression of feeling on the subject in the House and out of doors, confirmed as that was by the views of the right hon. gentleman (Mr. Forster), to make some changes in the original proposition. It would not come into operation until April instead of October, so as to give the schools ample time to adapt themselves to the change; and at that date the reduction would not be made unless 20 per cent. failed to be presented in the upper standards; but it was necessary to affirm the principle laid down in the code that there should be a constant move up; and it was therefore proposed in 1877 to raise the proportion from 20 to 25 per cent. and in 1878 to 30 per cent. and there, for the present, to stop. 3. With regard to the next point, the payment of 10*l.* and 15*l.* for very small rural schools would be made if within two miles instead of three of a larger school. 4. As to evening schools, instead of requiring an attendance of not less than 40 of two hours, the requirement would simply be not less than 40 at an evening meeting, so as to give greater elasticity to the system. 5. With regard to the standards, 4, 5, 6, they had made a very important change to adapt them as to history and geography to the working of the schools in classes, in accordance with the universal wishes of the teachers both in town and country. The lessons in history would embrace that of England before the Norman conquest. With regard to certificates under the labour acts the government had gladly met the wishes of various gentlemen by providing that scholars must pass in all the three subjects. 6. There was also a slight diminution in the 4th schedule of requirements from pupil-teachers as to language subjects. These were the changes proposed, and he hoped that they would receive the approval of the House.

MONDAY, APRIL 5.

THE CHAPLAIN GENERAL—CHAPLAINS TO THE FORCES.

On the vote of 51,100*l.* in the Army Estimates, for the expenses of Divine Service, being moved—

Colonel ALEXANDER expressed his regret that in the appointment of the Chaplain General to the army the claims of those on the list who had served their country in all quarters of the globe, and in various engagements, had been overlooked for a gentleman who had had no previous connexion with the army.

Colonel NORTH expressed the same regret, and said he had always regretted that when the army returned from Ashantee, when others were receiving rewards, nothing was done for the chaplains who accompanied the troops. He hoped the subject would yet be considered by those who had the means of rewarding merit by promotion in the Church.

Mr. HARDY said there was not the slightest intention to throw any discredit or slur upon the army chaplains by the appointment that had been made, but he had been actuated solely from a desire to do that which would best promote the interests of the chaplains. The Chaplain General had to exercise to a certain extent episcopal functions, and he was advised that it was desirable in consequence, that a person possessing the requisite authority in that respect should be selected for the office. It was on that ground that he took upon himself to offer the appointment to the gentleman who had accepted the office of Chaplain General to the army. The appointment had been made not from personal feelings of his own, but simply to make the service more efficient.

3. The object of the grant is to aid local exertion, under certain conditions, to maintain—

- (a.) Elementary schools for children (Article 4); and
- (b.) Training colleges for teachers (Article 83).

4. An elementary school is a school, or department of a school, at which elementary education is the principal part of the education there given, and does not include any school or department of a school at which the ordinary payments, in respect of the instruction, from each scholar, exceed ninepence a week (Elementary Education Act, 1870, sec. 3).

5. Aid to maintain schools is given by annual grants to the managers conditional upon the attendance and proficiency of the scholars, the qualifications of the teachers, and the state of the schools.

6. No grants are made to elementary schools which are not public elementary schools within the meaning of the Elementary Education Act, 1870.<sup>2</sup>

7. No grant is made in respect of any instruction in religious subjects (Elementary Education Act, 1870, sec. 97).

8. Officers are employed to verify the fulfilment of the conditions on which grants are made, to collect information, and to report the results to the Department.

"Every elementary school which is conducted in accordance with the following regulations shall be a public elementary school within the meaning of this Act; and every public elementary school shall be conducted in accordance with the following regulations (a copy of which regulations shall be conspicuously put up in every such school): namely,

"(1.) It shall not be required, as a condition of any child being admitted into or continuing in the school, that he shall attend or abstain from attending any Sunday School or any place of religious worship, or that he shall attend any religious observance or any instruction in religious subjects in the school or elsewhere, from which observance or instruction he may be withdrawn by his parent, or that he shall, if withdrawn by his parent, attend the school on any day exclusively set apart for religious observance by the religious body to which his parent belongs:

"(2) The time or times during which any religious observance is practised, or instruction in religious subjects is given at any meeting of the school, shall be either at the beginning or at the end, or at the beginning and the end of such meeting, and shall be inserted in a time table to be approved by the Education Department, and to be kept permanently and conspicuously affixed in every school-room; and any scholar may be withdrawn by his parent from such observance or instruction without forfeiting any of the other benefits of the school:

"(3) The school shall be open at all times to the inspection of any of her Majesty's inspectors, so, however, that it shall be no part of the duties of such inspector to inquire into any instruction in religious subjects given at such school, or to examine any scholar therein in religious knowledge, or in any religious subject or book:

"(4) The school shall be conducted in accordance with the conditions required to be fulfilled by an elementary school in order to obtain an annual Parliamentary grant."

9. These officers are inspectors appointed by her Majesty, on the recommendation of the Department, and persons employed by the Department, as occasion requires, in the capacity of acting inspectors, inspectors' assistants, or auditors of accounts.

10. No grant is paid except on a report from an inspector, showing that the conditions of the grant have been fulfilled. The inspector may delegate to an assistant the duty of examining into the attendance and proficiency of the scholars.

11. The Department, at the time of agreeing to place a school on the list of those to which grants may be made, informs the managers in what month to look for the inspector's annual visit. This month remains the same from year to year, unless the Department informs the managers of a change. Notice of the day of the inspector's annual visit is given beforehand to the managers.

12. An inspector may visit any public elementary school at any other time without notice.

13. Grants are issued to each elementary school only once per annum. The year for this purpose is reckoned as ending with the last day (inclusive) of the month preceding that fixed for the inspector's annual visit.

14. No school is placed on the list for inspection (Article 11) till an application has been addressed to the Secretary, Education Department, Whitehall, London, S.W.

Full instructions are thereupon issued according to the particulars of the case.

15. a. The managers of a school must appoint a correspondent with the Department, and give notice of any change of correspondent.

b. Teachers cannot act as managers of, or correspondents for, the schools in which they are employed; nor can they be recognized by the Department (Article 17 d.) as members or officers of school boards.

c. The term "managers" includes—

- (1.) The school board of any district.
- (2.) The managers of a school appointed by a school board under section 15 of the Education Act, 1870.
- (3.) The managers of any other public elementary school.

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

DEDUCTIONS TO BE MADE FROM RENT-CHARGES, ETC. A CLERICAL CORRESPONDENT forwards to us the following communication:—

"Will you kindly state, for the benefit of those who, like myself, desire authoritative information on the point, what are the deductions which Incumbents who derive their income from tithes, vicarial or rectorial, and glebe, let or unlet, are legally entitled to. I should like to add, that there is a point of no small importance at the present time, on which also authoritative information is peculiarly desirable. It appears from the expressions of an eminent lawyer in a certain case commonly known as 'the Hackney Case' (if I have been rightly informed of what he said), to be doubtful—to say no more—whether Clerical incomes under the Tithe Commutation Act, and it is to such incomes in the first place that my former queries refer, can be legally chargeable with any local rates except such as were in existence at the time that Act was passed. If this be so, it will clearly follow that they must be exempt from the charge known as the 'School-Rate.' It is hardly necessary to say what a very serious diminution in the contributions to this rate would follow if it were found that such incomes are not chargeable with them, besides which, all payments made already there-to from such incomes would be recoverable, it should seem. Of course there might be many cases in which Clergymen would not choose to recover past payments, and many in which they might voluntarily contribute an equal amount to that at which they would be rated, or some substantial amount at any rate: but it would be well, under any circumstances, to know what the law really is; and the fact (if it prove so) that a Clergyman might tell the School Board, 'If you do so and so, I will contribute; if not, I will not, and you will therefore have to make your rate so much the heavier on those whom you can compel to pay,' might often exercise a healthy influence over these bodies."

PROVINCIAL.

Manchester Diocesan Board of Education.—The Bishop of Manchester presided at the second meeting of this Society. The object of the Society is the promotion of religious education in schools in the diocese by providing a system of inspection in religious knowledge in place of that which existed previous to the passing of Mr. Forster's Education Act. The Society during the year paid 740*l.* for the inspection of schools, 400*l.* towards the support of training colleges, and made grants of 642*l.* out of its general fund for the improvement and enlargement of 11 schools in the diocese. The income of the Association was composed of 676*l.* from collections and 856*l.* by subscriptions. The balance in the bank had been reduced from 946*l.* to 456*l.* from the special fund for building grants; 15 grants amounting to 1165*l.* had been given. The only item of income was a donation of 100*l.*, and a balance in the bank had been reduced from 2171*l.* to 1149*l.* The chairman pointed out that if the Society had to meet the claim upon it from the income of the year, it would have been bankrupt, and complained that only 138 parishes out of 437 in the diocese had given collections for the Society. He said that he had a little difficulty in reconciling this fact with the somewhat loud cries in the interest of religious education which he heard on every side. The Bishop, the Dean of Manchester, and subsequent speakers expressed their approval of the step in advance made under the Revised Code, which will come into operation next year.

Diocese of St. David's.—The Bishop of St. David's, as Visitor of St. David's College, Lampeter, has appointed Mr. John Henry Scourfield, M.P., to be one of the Sub-Visitors of that college, in the place of the late Mr. J. Battersly Harford. The other Sub-Visitors are the Bishops of Winchester, Llandaff, and Bangor.

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.

67, Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Tuesday, May 4, 1875.

The Rev. Dr. CUREY in the Chair.

After Prayers the Minutes of the last Meeting were read.

Money Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Montreal.—The Rev. K. L. Jones, missionary priest at South Mountain, made an application on one of the Society's forms, duly countersigned by the Bishop, for a grant towards building a new church at South Mountain. Mr. Jones has under his charge, which extends over 200 square miles, three stations, South Mountain, Inkerman, and New Ross. At the first of these there is no church.

The population is large. The members of the Church have been much neglected, and many of them have fallen away either to dissent or great carelessness of living. Still there remain a number of heads of families warmly attached to the Church, and a large number of young people who may be gathered in.

Mr. Jones has only had charge of the Mission since last November. It will be a great effort to get a church built, and Mr. Jones begs for a liberal grant,

It is proposed to build a wooden and brick church to accommodate 150 or 200 people.

The site will be vested in the Synod or Bishop of the diocese. The estimated cost is $2000 or 400*l*. Of this the parish will raise at least $600, or 120*l*.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make a grant of 25*l*. for the completion of this church, subject to the fulfilment of the usual conditions, viz. that, before the Society's grant be paid, the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, free of debt, and, further, that it has been secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Diocese of Moosee.—The Bishop of this diocese, writing on the 22nd January, 1875, from Moose Factory, via Temiscamingue, Ottawa River, Canada, applied for two grants of money for church building.

First, he applied for a grant to assist in building a chancel to the church at Moose Factory. This church, though a wooden structure, is on a stone foundation, and of a most substantial character, the walls being composed of solid logs nine or ten inches thick, strongly spiked together, all the interstices being caulked with oakum; the interior is ceiled and painted, the exterior is covered with weather-boards, while the spire is covered with tin. The church is sixty feet long and twenty-four feet wide. One 2 ft. 6 in. Canadian stove heats it sufficiently, even when the thermometer outside stands at 40° or 50° below zero. The total estimated cost is between 200*l*. and 300*l*. The Bishop has a plan by an English architect, and a stained glass window in accordance with the plan.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 25*l*. for the addition of a chancel to this church; the Society's grant to be paid when the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from any liability for debt, and secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Secondly, the Bishop applied for a grant towards the re-erection of the church at Albany, a station 100 miles north of Moose Factory. This church, built many years ago, is to be removed from its present site and built in a much more solid manner than that in which it was first put up, and in a much more convenient spot. Much of the work will be done by the Rev. T. Vincent himself, the clergyman stationed at Albany.

Two other churches are being built in the diocese, but for these the Bishop does not ask help.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make a grant of 25*l*. in this case, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Jamaica.—The Venerable Archdeacon Campbell, Commissary to the Bishop of Kingston, countersigned two applications from the Rev. William Clarke MacCalla, Curate in charge of St. James's church, Birnam Wood.

First, Mr. MacCalla applied for a grant for the enlargement of St. James's Church by the addition of a chancel (walls of stone), 30 feet long by 26, which, with certain alterations in the present building, would furnish additional accommodation for 250 persons.

Secondly, Mr. MacCalla applied for a new school-room of wood to accommodate 150 children. The site is vested in the Lay Corporate Body of the Church of England in Jamaica.

The total estimated cost of the whole undertaking is 300*l*.; of this 40*l*. have been raised, and 60*l*. more promised. There is no immediate prospect of raising more.

The entire population is made up of black people, who are in the condition of labourers, chiefly engaged in agricultural pursuits. They have had since the Disendowment of the Church in Jamaica to provide the stipend of a clergyman as well as to keep the church building in repair.

Archdeacon Campbell wrote as follows:—

"The claims of the district can hardly be overstated. The people are showing a real desire to help themselves; they are poor, and need help, and the station is one of great importance to the Church."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50*l*. for the completion of the two schemes, the enlargement of the church and the erection of the school.

Chinese Sermons, Ningpo Dialect.—The Standing Committee stated that as long ago as last December, the Rev. Henry Wright, Hon. Secretary of the Church Missionary Society, had applied to the Society to print a volume of twelve sermons by Bishop Russell, of North China, in this dialect. A copy of these sermons, an edition of which had already been produced in China in the Roman character, had been brought to England by the Rev. James Bates, a Church Missionary Society Missionary from China.

The Tract Committee had been quite willing to entertain the request, and, in order that they might judge of the sermons before making the Society in any way responsible for them, had asked whether Mr. Bates could supply a version of them in English. This Mr. Bates was unable to do.

Under these circumstances the Standing Committee recommended a grant of the estimated cost of producing 500 copies of these sermons, viz. from 70*l*. to 80*l*., with a view to enable Mr. Bates to get the work done for Bishop Russell without rendering the Society responsible for it.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to place at their disposal a sum of not more than 80*l*. for the production of this work for Bishop Russell.

Book Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Book Grants, Special and Ordinary, were agreed to.

Sion College.—The Standing Committee stated that the Fellows of Sion College had set on foot a comprehensive scheme, for the promotion of the cause of religious education within the College Area, and had set apart 100*l*., renewable from year to year, at the discretion of the Governors.

The following resolutions have been adopted by the College:—

"That a portion of it (i.e. the 100*l*. above referred to) should be devoted to providing Rewards for the successful candidates at Special Examinations in Religious Knowledge, to be held yearly as the College shall appoint, of selected children from (a) Schools in the College Area which shall have been passed by the Diocesan Inspector; (b) from Sunday Schools under the management of Fellows of the College; the children in each case to be selected by the Managers or the Superintendents of such Schools.

"That a further portion of such sum be devoted to the purpose of offering Bounties to the Masters and Mistresses of Schools, the Pupils of which shall have competed most successfully in the Annual Examination.

"That the residue be appropriated to providing Rewards to be offered to Pupil Teachers in Schools under Government Inspection within the College Area, for proficiency in Scripture, the Prayer Book, and the Catechism; and that their proficiency be tested in such a manner as the Committee to be appointed shall determine.

"That application should be made to the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge for grants of books in aid of the prizes to be offered to children under the second recommendation of the Committee.

"That a Committee of ten be appointed to co-operate with the Court in carrying out the above Scheme."

The Standing Committee recommended that two grants of S.P.C.K. books, to the value of 10*l*. each, be placed at the disposal of the President and Fellows of Sion College, for the purpose of rewarding the children referred to the first of the foregoing resolutions.

These grants were made.

Diocese of Oxford.—The Rev. E. Barber, Diocesan Inspector, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. books to the value of 15*l*., to meet an equivalent amount to be expended in a similar manner the whole of the books to be given as prizes children in elementary schools, after a central examination in religious knowledge.

The Prize Association, which furnishes the 15*l*., is a branch of the educational work of the diocese, supported by voluntary contributions and entrance-fees of children: it is looked upon as connected with the Board of Education, and is under Mr. Barber's management.

The examination is to take place on the 7th of May, when from 1000 to 1500 children will probably be examined.

Upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, S.P.C.K. books to the value of 15*l*. were granted in this case.

Diocese of Kingston, Jamaica.—The Secretary stated that a letter had been addressed to the Society by the Secretaries of the Jamaica Chamber of Commerce.

The letter stated that an "Industrial Exhibition and Sample Sales Rooms" have been established in Jamaica, and that a glass case on the ground-floor has been especially set apart for such samples of the different publications of the S.P.C.K. as the Society may think suited for use in Jamaica.

Pictorial Illustrations; Natural History, &c. Cheap School Maps. Educational appliances. General Literature.

These are the heads by which the applicants would indicate the kind of publications they think likely to be of use.

Samples only are asked for. If sales from the specimens are effected, orders will be sent, and remittance of money made.

No sample cases to exceed 20*l*. in value.

Upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, specimens of the Society's publications, to the value of 10*l*., were granted.

Reports and Notices from the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Winchester.—St. Alphege, Southwark.—The Standing Committee reported that the Rev. A. B. Goulden, Incumbent of this parish, had applied for a grant to enable him to rent for Sunday School purposes a portion of a School Board School in his parish, situated in Belvedere-place, Borough-road. The room which it is proposed to rent at 25*l*. will hold 200 children.

Mr. Goulden wrote as follows:—

"My parish consists of the back streets of Southwark, between Blackfriars-road and the High-street, Borough, population 7000, chiefly costermongers. The parish of St. Alphege, Southwark, is a new district, without permanent church or school; endowment 156*l*., without residence for Incumbent. We could, with funds and proper accommodation, have 1000 children under Christian instruction."

Mr. Goulden said, in answer to inquiry, that he had not applied to the Bishop of Winchester's Fund, and that he had no hope of getting help from that or any other public charity.

The Standing Committee had made a grant of 18*l*. 10*s*. in this case toward meeting the rent for one year. Mr. Goulden had been told that he must not in any way depend upon a renewal of this grant.

Diocese of Rochester.—All Saints', Hatcham, Deptford.—The Rev. Edward Wynne, Vicar of this parish, which is a new one and very poor, pending the building of a room which may be used for a Sunday School and other parochial purposes, had applied for a grant to enable him rent a part of the Rander-street School Board rooms for use on Sundays.

There will be accommodation in the Infant school, which Mr. Wynne proposes to rent, for children. The rent, exclusive of 3l. 7s. 9d. cleaning, will be 27l. 2s. The population is only 7000, and an iron building, which has hitherto been used as a Sunday School, has been purchased by the Wilberforce Memorial Fund, and is about to be removed.

Mr. Wynne feels that he cannot apply to the Bishop of Rochester's Fund for assistance. He has already received from that Fund help for a rate, Parochial Mission Woman, and Scripture reader, and he hopes to get a grant from the same for a permanent building to be used as a Sunday School, &c.

The Committee reported that in this case they had made a grant of 21l. in aid of the first year's rent, Mr. Wynne having been told that it must not depend upon a renewal of this grant.

Diocese of Montreal.—The Standing Committee reported that the Rev. A. J. Woodhouse, Vicar of the Hill, Sevenoaks, and Commissary to the Bishop of Montreal, had applied, together with the Warden of St. Augustine's, for a grant in aid of the passage to Montreal of Mr. Charles Gibbon Kilmer.

Mr. Kilmer had been approved by the Bishop of Montreal for work in his diocese, and was anxious to sail immediately.

Mr. Woodhouse engaged to return the grant made by the Society in aid of passage-money, in case Mr. Kilmer should not be ordained on Trinity Sunday next. The passage-money is 80l., and must have been provided by the Bishop himself if the Society did not assist.

The Warden certified that Mr. Kilmer is an approved student, his college course having expired at Easter last.

The Standing Committee reported that they had in this case made a grant out of Canning's Fund of 20l. for the passage of Mr. Kilmer, subject to the undertaking of Mr. Woodhouse to return the grant in case of Mr. Kilmer's not being ordained for Missionary work in the diocese of Montreal on Trinity Sunday next.

Diocese of Kingston, Jamaica.—The Bishop of Kingston, writing from the Athenæum Club, on the 20th instant, made application for a grant in aid of the passage to his diocese of Mr. Ralph O'Neil Taylor, with a view to his being ordained.

Mr. Taylor is the son of the Rev. W. F. Taylor, a Native Clergyman at Sierra Leone, and has been a Student at St. Augustine's College, Canterbury. The Warden certifies that Mr. Taylor has finished his course to his entire satisfaction.

The Bishop has accepted Mr. Taylor as a candidate for Holy Orders, and engages, if he should not be ordained within three months of his arrival in Jamaica, to return any grant which may be made by the Society towards his passage-money. The Bishop has no fund properly applicable to the payment of the passage-money, the cost of which will be about 30l.

The Standing Committee reported that they had granted 25l. in this case from Canning's Trust Fund.

Diocese of Colombo.—The Bishop of this diocese, writing from London, to which place he has been obliged to return, in order to resign his see in consequence of very severe illness, forwarded and strongly recommended an application from the Rev. James Bacon, Warden of St. Thomas's College, Colombo, for grants in aid of the maintenance of theological students of two Eurasian young men.

Mr. Bacon wrote as follows:—

"We have six Divinity Studentships of the annual value of 30l., but this is not sufficient to enable a student to reside in the college.

"I have now four divinity students residing in the college. Of these, two of the Singhalese race are aided by Bishop Chapman, the founder of the college. I greatly need 15l. for each of the other students. They are Eurasian youths, who have been taught in our schools and known to us from early boyhood. They are both anxious to be educated for the ministry of Christ, and both by character and intelligence give great promise of future usefulness as Missionary clergymen. They are both of very respectable family, but their parents are not able to pay anything for their support. Their names are George Arndt and Cyril Jansz."

The Bishop, in answer to inquiry, said that he was not sure of the ages of these two men, but added that they should each be trained for four years; and that he had every reason to hope that at the end of that time they would be qualified to become efficient clergymen.

The Standing Committee reported that they had reserved 80l. out of the 2500l. placed at their disposal in April, 1873, for the purpose of assisting to train native candidates for Holy Orders in the Colonies and elsewhere abroad. It is proposed to pay at the rate of 10l. a year for each of the students named for a period of four years, subject to the Bishop of the diocese certifying each year that the Students are going on entirely to his satisfaction, and that they still give good promise of becoming efficient clergymen at the end of their course.

Crawford's Irish Trust.—The Standing Committee reported that they had, since the last Meeting, heard with very sincere regret, from the Rev. John Halahan, the Vicar of Berehaven, of the sudden death of Mr. O'Tool.

It was only in March last that the Committee were able to report that they had received a most satisfactory account of Mr. O'Tool's ministrations in the Irish tongue, during the first year that he had received part of his stipend from Crawford's Irish Trust Fund: at the same time the Committee reported that they had renewed the grant at the rate of 60l. a year for a second year.

The circumstances of Mr. O'Tool's death were peculiarly sad: they are thus described by Mr. Halahan:—"On Sunday, the 4th of April, when returning from the mines where he had gone to hold afternoon service, he was found about nine o'clock p.m., lying on the road about a mile from his own house, quite cold and insensible. He was brought home, and all that medical skill could devise was done for him; but he never spoke afterwards, and on Tuesday morning at about three o'clock the poor fellow breathed his last. It is conjectured that his horse must have suddenly shied."

Mr. O'Tool has left a widow and eight or nine children, the eldest a girl of sixteen, to deplore his loss. A subscription has been set on foot—the Bishop of Cork has kindly consented to receive subscriptions: these, when Mr. Halahan wrote, on the 29th of April, amounted to 600l.

The Standing Committee had felt justified, as Mr. O'Tool had entered upon the second quarter of his second year's work, in sending a cheque for 30l., the full half year's salary.

Queen's Printers and Imperfect Prayer Books, &c.—The Standing Committee reported to the Meeting, in reference to the question of the action of the Queen's printers, referred to them by the following resolution of May 6, 1873—"The General Meeting are of opinion that it (i.e. the incomplete book, with the altered title and contents pages lettered outside 'Common Prayer') is far from satisfactory, and hereby request the Standing Committee to continue their expostulation with the Queen's Printers on the subject,"—and other questions connected with the subject, as follows:—

They have to state that they have been unable (as they reported to the General Meeting on 10th June, 1873) to induce the Queen's printer to make any further concession in the matter of the lettering of certain incomplete editions of the Book of Common Prayer.

But, since the date above given, the relations of the Society with all the three privileged bodies have become somewhat complicated, and this circumstance caused the Standing Committee in July, 1873, to request Mr. Darling to postpone the motion of which he had given notice in the previous June.

In June, 1873, a simultaneous rise in the price of certain sizes of the Bible and Prayer Book was announced to the Standing Committee, and remonstrances addressed by them to the three printers seemed to have no effect. Finding this to be the case, the Standing Committee took into consideration the propriety of moving the question whether the monopoly of printing the Bible and the Book of Common Prayer possessed by the three printers was desirable or no, and, if not, what steps could be taken to put an end to it.

Under the advice of Counsel, they found that legal proceedings to vindicate the integrity of the Prayer Book would probably be of no avail, and it appeared that, in 1860, a Committee of the House of Commons had reported in favour of abolishing the monopoly of printing the Bible possessed by the Queen's Printer, and that the Queen's Printers' Patent had only been renewed during pleasure, and might at any time be withdrawn if an address were favourably received by the Queen in Council.

The Standing Committee had serious thoughts of taking this step, but, before doing so, they considered it to be desirable to ascertain whether the British and Foreign Bible Society, being interested, like the S.P.C.K., in obtaining cheap Bibles, would co-operate with them. These negotiations took some time. Meanwhile the three printers reduced their prices considerably, and removed, almost, if not entirely, any grievance of which the British and Foreign Bible Society could complain. The result was that co-operation was for the present declined by that Society; though they expressed "their strong disapproval of the manifest combination of the privileged printers to raise their prices in June, 1873—a course which, if pursued further, would materially modify the views now entertained."

With respect to the inadequate lettering of the Book of Common Prayer, the Standing Committee consider that it is not advisable to take further steps.

Motion of which Notice was given at the last Meeting.

General Secretary.—In accordance with notice given at the last Meeting, Mr. Humphry, on behalf of the Standing Committee, moved the following resolution:—

"That, in consideration of the work and responsibility which devolve on the Rev. H. Swabey, the Secretary, in connexion with the Business Department of the Society, he shall in future continue to receive the salary of 400l. per annum as General Secretary of the Society, and that the 200l. per annum which he now receives from the Bookselling and Publishing Department be increased to 400l.

The motion was carried.

Sunday Schools.—Also, in accordance with notice given at the last Meeting, the following motion was moved:—

"That the Standing Committee be allowed to make grants out of the balance of 2000l., set apart in 1860 for Sunday School purposes, in aid of building Sunday Schools which may also be used as Mission Rooms, as well as towards paying the rent of premises to be used for Sunday School purposes."

The motion was carried.

Objection to Certain Publications of the Tract Committee.—In accordance with Rule XXXIV., an objection was made by three members of the Society to two publications recently issued by the Tract Committee, a written statement of the objections was handed to the Chairman F. G. J. Smith, Esq., to be referred to the Episcopal Referees.

Letters of Thanks, &c.

Diocese of Moosonee.—The Bishop wrote as follows from Moose Factory, on 22nd January, 1875 :—

"I have first to thank the Committee for their kindness in printing the new Moosonee Hymn-book" (250 copies of this book were produced by the Society, and granted December, 1873); "it is a beautifully-executed little volume, and I trust its benefit to my people will be very great."

The Bishop, after having made an application for a grant for the production of a large portion of the Bible in the same language, added,—

"I know that this will entail great expense upon the Society, but I hope to refund a large portion of it, for it is a principle with me never to give a book to any one who can afford to buy it, and at least nine-tenths of the Indian books and all the English ones used in the Mission are purchased either by our Indians or half-castes: the sums realized I can send to you. Where the case of books sent me more than two years ago is I do not know: eighteen months ago I heard of its being at Duluk, last summer it was at the Red River Settlement, then it was to have been sent to York Factory, thence to be shipped to Moose in a vessel coming here; the vessel came, but no case; and as another vessel left York for England, perhaps the unfortunate wanderer was put on board and is now lying in one of the stores of the H. B. C., to be sent to me next summer by our annual ship. This, of course, is only conjecture."

"During last summer I took a missionary tour of 700 miles, visiting Rupert's House, East Main, and Fort George, all on the eastern shore of James's Bay. Seven hundred miles is a short journey where steam can be employed, but it is a very different thing in a birch-bark canoe on a stormy and much ice-bound sea.

"At Rupert's House I confirmed 71 persons, baptized 26, administered the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper to 57.

"At East Main baptized 13, confirmed 16, and administered the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper to 3.

"At Fort George baptized 20, confirmed 29, administered the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper to 4.

"We are progressing favourably considering the small number of workers in the diocese, and for some time to come my cry must be for more help: in the long missionary journey of last summer I saw not one clergyman. We are doing what we can to supply ourselves. My half-caste schoolmaster is now at Red River training for the ministry, and I have one Indian, a pure Ojibbeway, in training here, but we still want a few European labourers to occupy the principal posts in the diocese, to act as superintendents over the native ministry which I am endeavouring to raise.

Diocese of Algoma.—The following extract from a letter recently received from the Bishop of Algoma, dated 53, Beverley-street, Toronto, 19th of March, will be read with interest :—

"I have lately been making a tour through the Muskoka District, which forms the south-eastern portion of my extensive diocese; and whilst I have had not a little to cheer me in the heartiness of the welcome manifested by our scattered members, whom neither deep snow nor intense cold could deter from attending the services, many of them walking miles to do so, still my heart was grieved within me as I found or heard of places, not a few, where fifteen or twenty, or more, members of our communion could be gathered together for public worship, and who are praying that a clergyman may be sent to minister to their spiritual necessities; but I have not the men to send, nor the means to support them if I had the men.

"If some of the Lord's rich stewards, who enjoy such high privileges (both temporal and spiritual), could only be brought more fully to realize their responsibilities, and to give out of their abundance only towards the support of Missionaries in these spiritually-destitute portions of their Master's vineyard, how much good might be done, how many hearts gladdened, how many young souls, now perishing for lack of instruction, saved!

"I took a fair proportion of the Bibles, &c., granted by your Society, with me for distribution; and, although all too few, I trust that much good will result from the same.

"I feel that I have indeed great grounds for thankfulness to your Society for the kind aid and liberal support given to my poor diocese, as also to yourself for your kind expression of sympathy."

Diocese of Melbourne.—The Bishop of Melbourne, in acknowledging the payment of the Society's grant of 2000*l.* for the endowment of the See of Ballarat, wrote to the Secretary as follows, on the 24th of April :—

"In consequence of my absence from London, I shall be unable to attend on Monday, and thank the S.P.C.K. Committee in person, as I should be glad to do, for their grant of 2000*l.* towards the endowment of the Bishopric of Ballarat. I must therefore ask you to do so on my behalf, and say that, but for that grant so opportunely promised, the object, humanly speaking, could not have been accomplished."

Grants of Books, &c., recommended by the Standing Committee.

Grants were then made to the amount of 182*l.* 8*s.* 1*d.*

For Schools, Lending Libraries, and Distribution, to the amount of 123*l.* 10*s.*

For Churches, or Licensed Rooms, to the amount of 18*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*

Trust Funds.

Grants of Books from the various Trust Funds of the Society have been made since the last Meeting.

Announcement of Donations, &c.

Donations were announced to the amount of 361*l.* 2*s.* 7*d.*

Eleven Ladies have been admitted as Annual Subscribers.

SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL IN FOREIGN PARTS.

The Monthly Meeting of the Society was held at 19, Delahay Street, on Friday, April 16, the Bishop of Winchester in the chair.

1. Read minutes of the last meeting.
2. The treasurer presented a statement of the Society's income to March 31.

3. The Secretary reported that the Special Committee on the need of Missionaries in India, appointed in October, had not memorialized the Convocations of Canterbury and York on the subject, but had addressed themselves to the Indian Bishops.

4. On the recommendation of the Standing Committee, the grants were proposed for the year 1876.

An amendment proposed by Mr. Pulman, and seconded by Rev. J. W. Horsley :—

"That the sum proposed to be given to the Assyrian Christians be given to the Diocese of Goulburn—" was lost on a division.

The Rev. S. Arnott moved another amendment, and Rev. J. Wallace seconded, and it was resolved—

"That it be referred back to the Standing Committee, to reconsider the Grant to the Diocese of Goulburn, in order, if possible, to the increase of the Grant."

The grants for the year 1876 were voted as recommended by the Standing Committee.

Single payments, amounting to 21,450*l.*, were made for 1876.

Resolved also to apply certain Appropriated Funds.

The Standing Committee recorded their conviction that the case of the Fiji Islands is one in which a special grant should be made whenever the Society is in possession of such information as would enable it to send out a clergyman.

5. The Secretary stated that, by the decease of Wm. Gibbs, Esq., of Tyntesfield, the Society had lost a munificent supporter and cordial friend, and it was resolved—

"That the Secretary express to Mrs. Gibbs the sympathy of the Society with her in her bereavement."

6. The Secretary stated that there were now fifty-seven native students in Bishop's College, Calcutta.

7. The Rev. W. Y. Daykin and Rev. Arthur Gwyther were accepted for Missionary work in Maritzburg and Guiana respectively.

8. The Rev. S. Arnott moved, and it was resolved—

"That the Standing Committee be requested to report to the Board whether any steps should be taken by the Society with reference to the persecutions to which Christians are reported to be exposed in the dominions of the Sultan of Turkey."

9. The Rev. J. Palmer, who has laboured for twelve years in the Melanesian Mission, gave a statement of the condition and progress of the Mission.

10. The Rev. Walter Blunt gave notice of his intention to move the following resolution at the next meeting :

"That Bye-law 9a be altered to stand thus :—

"That with a view to give to the Members of the Society dispersed throughout the country a more distinct voice in the management of the Society's affairs and to encourage their interest in Missionary work, the members resident in each Diocese be at liberty to select, before the February Meeting of the Corporation in each year, two of their own body, not being Vice-Presidents or paid officers of the Society, to represent them on the Standing Committee, such election being subject to confirmation by the Society at its Annual Meeting."

11. The Rev. J. W. Horsley gave notice of his intention to move at the next meeting—

"(1) That one person should not combine the offices of Archidiaconal and Rurideaconal Secretary.

"(2) That a rural dean should not be also a Rurideaconal Secretary.

"(3) That no rural deanery should be without a Rurideaconal Secretary.

"(4) That no person should be Secretary to two rural deaneries.

"(5) That parochial Secretaries should not be advised to communicate with the Archidiaconal Secretary, but rather with the Secretary for their rural deanery.

"(6) That a copy of this resolution be sent to each Archidiaconal Organising Secretary."

12. The Rev. C. Bull gave notice of his intention to move at the next meeting—

"That the Standing Committee be requested to take the necessary steps to render the publications of the Society more popular."

13. The Secretary gave notice that at the next meeting the Standing Committee would propose for election as Vice-Presidents, the Earl of Chichester and Archdeacon Huxtable.

14. All the members proposed in February were elected.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, March 8th.—An extract was read from Bishop Crowther's Report for the ending October, 1874, referring especially, in connexion with the establishment of a new town at Kippo Hill Slope, to the great need of a work as Mr. Schon's Hausa Vocabulary, urging the desirableness of printing that at once, and offering a grant of 100*l.* from the West African Native Bishopric Fund towards the expenses of its publication. A letter was read from Mr. T. F. Buxton, dated Cromer, May 6th, stating that he had seen a letter from the Bishop Crowther, respecting the publication of Mr. Schon's Hausa Vocabulary, and that by Buxton and himself, with some other members of his family, feeling the importance of having the work while Mr. Schon was able to print it, were willing to contribute 100*l.* for that purpose. Mr. Schon being present, and having given further explanation as to the importance of the Hausa language, and the progress of the Vocabulary, the Committee resolved, in addition to the grant from the West African Native Bishopric Fund, and the sum offered by Mr. T. F. Buxton, a sum be granted from the funds of the Society to complete the publication of Mr. Schon's Hausa Vocabulary, not exceeding 100*l.*

On the application of the Secretary to the East Syrian Schools Society, the Committee granted a grant of 50*l.* in aid of the funds of that Society.

A letter having been read from the Rev. W. S. H. dated Mombas, March 3, 1875, appealing for an efficient schoolmaster, in addition to the Medical Missionary and Lay Superintendent mentioned by the Committee, they directed the Secretaries to search for an efficient schoolmaster for the East Africa Mission, at a block salary of 250*l.* per annum, with house, and allowance for outfit and passage.

THE INCORPORATED SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE ENLARGEMENT, BUILDING, AND REPAIRING OF CHURCHES AND CHAPELS.

The Society held its usual monthly meeting on Monday, April 19th, at the Society's house, 7, Whitehall, S.W., Archdeacon Harrison in the chair; there were also present the Revs. A. Casmore, John Evans, A. J. Ingram, Hon. A. Legge, and S. W. Lloyd; Messrs. John Boodie, George Cowburn, E. Hussey, E. Pepps, A. Powell, E. Thornton, and W. E. M. Tomlinson, and the Rev. George Ainalie, M.A., Secretary.

Grants of money were made in aid of building new churches; rebuilding three churches; and enlarging or otherwise increasing the accommodation in fourteen churches.

Under urgent circumstances, the grants formerly made towards building the church at Stoke Newington, All Saints, Middlesex; rebuilding the church at Llanlleonvil, near Knighton, Brecon; and towards improving St. Peter's Bethnal Green, Middlesex, were each increased. A grant was also made from the special "School Church and Mission-house" Fund towards building a school-church at Cross-heath, in the parish of Wolstanton, Stafford. The Archbishop of Canterbury, President, has appointed Thursday, the 27th of May, for the annual general court of the Society, to be held at the Society's house, 7, Whitehall, S.W. His Grace will take the chair at three p.m. precisely.

LAW.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

THURSDAY, APRIL 15.

(Sittings in Banco before Lord Chief Justice COLERIDGE and Justices BRETT, ARCHIBALD, and HIDDLESTON.)

WALSH v. THE BISHOP OF LINCOLN.

This was a special case in an action in the nature of a quære impedit brought by the plaintiff, a clergyman, against the Bishop of Lincoln (see Ecclesiastical Gazette, February 9, p. 108).

Lord COLERIDGE, in delivering the judgment of the Court in this case, recapitulated the facts as far as they appeared material. Sir John Sutton became under certain family settlements seised for an estate for his own life in the advowson of the rectory of Great Coates, in the county of Lincoln. This estate in the advowson Sir John conveyed by deed for the sum of 3000*l.* to the plaintiff, who thereby became seised in it for the life of his grantee. The incumbent died, and the living became vacant during the life of Sir John Sutton, whereupon the plaintiff became entitled to the presentation, and presented himself to the Bishop, who refused to institute him, for which refusal the proceedings were brought. The defendant in his plea set out the proceedings as to the purchase of the advowson, and stated that the vacancy, caused by the death of the incumbent, was the first and only vacancy after the plaintiff's purchase of the advowson, and that his presentation of himself was therefore void under the Statute of Anne against simony. The second plea was intended to raise the question whether any patron could lawfully present himself. These pleadings raised two points—(1) Whether the purchase was a purchase of a next presentation, so as to render the contract simoniacal; (2) whether what had been done by the plaintiff was a presentation of himself to the Bishop and a bad and void presentation. The first point seemed to the Court untenable. The statute was intended to prevent the purchase by an ecclesiastical person of a next avoidance, and was a penal statute which must be construed strictly in all cases, especially in one where the law was not in a state satisfactory to common sense and right feeling, as there had been cases of technical simony, where the transgressors were of the highest character and actuated by the purest motives. In this case the purchase was of an estate for life in an advowson and not a next presentation, and was, therefore, not within the statute. It was not denied that the general practice and understanding was against the defendant's contentions. As to the second point, it was true there were certain authorities which said no person could present himself, and that this was in accordance with the rule of the Canon Law; but a patron could offer himself for admission, and it would be good. The sole Common Law authority for this was, however, the "Year Book of Henry VII.," and in this, when examined, the decision turned on a technical point. The technical rule in this case did not prevail, and there was no substantial ground whatever for the Bishop's contention. There was no shadow of authority for saying that a Bishop had a discretion to admit or reject a clerk without reason assigned. The Court always had upheld, and would uphold, the rights of patrons. It was admitted the objection of the Bishop was one of the merest form, as if the patron had assigned the advowson to a trustee, he could have obtained his institution as of right without any difficulty. The Court, however, were of opinion that, even technically, the second plea was untenable; and that judgment must be for the plaintiff.

Mr. PHILLIMORE asked that the Bishop might not be condemned in costs. The statute provided the Bishop should not be condemned in costs, if the Court should certify he had reasonable ground for his contention.

The Court took time to consider.

At the sitting of the Court on April 19, Lord COLERIDGE said that he had consulted the other members of the Court before whom the question was argued, and that they agreed with him that there was no reason why the ordinary rule should not be followed of making the Bishop, the defeated party, bear his adversary's costs.

The Bishop of Lincoln has published a clear and interesting statement of the facts of the above case, and the reasons which induced him to incur the serious responsibility of becoming a defendant in it. In conclusion his Lordship says:—

"I had hoped to receive the support of the law in my recent endeavour, and I was assured on competent authority that this would be the case, but in this we have been disappointed. However, while sorry for the result, I do not regret the attempt. It seemed to me that I had a sacred duty to perform to the parish, to the Church, to the diocese, to my own conscience, and to God; and I should have condemned myself if I had shrunk from its discharge. And if I am not mistaken, the public discussion to which the present case has already led, and which may be expected to extend still further, will have given a powerful impulse to the growing demand for the amendment of our laws concerning Church patronage and simony; and there is good reason to hope that Parliament will be willing to encourage the wise and energetic attempt now made by the Bishop of Peterborough, to amend those laws without further delay, and to defend and strengthen the Church by seasonable and salutary reform. This would be a great gain, and be cheaply purchased by a heavy sacrifice.

COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, APRIL 16 AND 17.

(Before the LORD CHIEF JUSTICE, and Justices BLACKBURN, MELLOR, and FIELD.)

HIGGAR v. THE VICAR, ETC., OF HOLY TRINITY IN OVER DARWEN.

Mr. B. Cooper applied for a rule calling upon the vicar and churchwardens of Holy Trinity in Over Darwen to show cause why a mandamus should not issue commanding them to convene a vestry meeting to elect churchwardens and sidesmen, on the ground that the election that had just taken place was void on two grounds—first that proper notice of the meeting was not given, and secondly, refusing to grant a poll. The notice of the meeting should be posted on the church door on the Sunday three days before the meeting, but the notice was posted on Good Friday, for the following Tuesday. The churchwardens having been elected by show of hands, the election of sidesmen then took place, after which a poll was demanded for the election of churchwardens, and refused. The question was whether it was too late to demand the poll. The sidesmen being deputies of the churchwardens, the business of the meeting had not concluded.

A rule was granted on the point of notice, but refused on the demand for a poll.

MONDAY, APRIL 19.

(Sittings in Banco before the LORD CHIEF JUSTICE and Justices BLACKBURN, MELLOR, and FIELD.)

IN RE THE EDUCATION ACT AND THE GUARDIANS OF THE POOR OF DARLINGTON UNION.

PAYMENTS OF SCHOOL FEES FOR PAUPER CHILDREN.

Mr. MANISTY, Q.C., applied, on behalf of Mr. Woollar, one of the guardians of the Darlington Union, and a ratepayer, for a rule nisi calling upon the auditor of the union to show cause why a certiorari should not issue to bring up the school fees' account contained in the accounts of the union for the last half year, together with the allowance of the auditor, and his reasons for making the order. The Elementary Education Act of 1873, by section 3, provides for the payment of school fees for pauper children. It had been the practice for the guardians to give to the parents the money with which to pay the schoolmaster and schoolmistress, but they had since altered the practice, and they now paid the amount at stated times direct to the schoolmaster and schoolmistress. The question for the opinion of the Court was, whether it was obligatory on the part of the guardians to pay the money to the pauper as additional assistance.

Mr. Justice BLACKBURN: I suppose they found that in giving the money to the parents, instead of its being handed over to the schoolmaster, it finds its way to the alehouse.

Mr. MANISTY said that was not the reason. All the other children go with the money in their hands and pay the amount, and those who do not so were looked upon as degraded children. There were other reasons, good or bad, entertained by those who thought the Act required that the money should be given to the parent to pay over to the schoolmaster.

The LORD CHIEF JUSTICE said there should be no rule. All the Act intended to secure was to provide education for the children of those who were unable to pay for it. It was a matter in the discretion of the guardians whether they would hand the money to the parents or pay it direct to the schoolmaster in the first instance. The grievance was only a sensational one.

Rule refused.

BAIL COURT.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28.

(Sittings in Banco, before Justices BLACKBURN and MILLOR.)

RATING OF INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

THE QUEEN v. THE OVERSEERS OF WEST DERBY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

This case raised an important question under the Industrial Schools Act, the 29th and 30th Vict., c. 118, which was an extension of the reformatory school principle. The Home Secretary had certified these premises as such, and children from all parts of the country belonging to the Roman Catholic Church were received, and were lodged, clothed, taught, and trained. There were at present 140 female children in the house. The Government contributed 1200*l.* a year to the school, and the rest of the expenses were provided by private subscription and any small profit made from the labour of the children.

Mr. RUSSELL, Q.C., with whom was Mr. Williams, appeared against the rate. He contended that the premises were free from rateability on the ground that it was as much a public building for public purposes as a gaol or house of correction. These schools were adjuncts of the prison discipline of the country.

Mr. HERSHELL, Q.C., said these buildings could not in any sense be said to be schools for public purposes to relieve them from paying local rates any more than the ordinary school board schools. This was not a Government institution in any sense.

The Court held that the appellant was rateable. Originally this was a private charity, and as such rateable, and the fact of its being now a receptacle for what were called street arabs—a very laudable object—did not release it from rating.

ARCHES COURT.

FRIDAY, APRIL 16.

(Before the DEAN of ARCHES.)

THE BISHOP OF LLANDAFF v. JOHNS.

This was a suit against the Rev. Ebenezer Johns, Vicar of Caeraw, near Glamorgan, charging him with being an habitual drunkard. The defendant did not appear.

After hearing the evidence, Sir R. PHILLIMORE said he was of opinion that several instances of drunkenness had been proved, but it was not shown that the defendant was an habitual drunkard. He ordered the defendant to be suspended for two years, and then to produce a certificate of good behaviour.

REV. EDMUND WYNDHAM v. HENRY COLE.

THE RIGHT TO THE USE AND MANAGEMENT OF THE ORGAN.

In this case an application was made to accept letters of request from the Bishop of Bath and Wells to institute proceedings against Henry Cole, a parishioner, for "playing on the organ" of the parish church of St. John, Yeovil, Somerset, both before and after the services. It was alleged that Mr. Cole, by such performances, had offended against the laws ecclesiastical, and unlawfully obstructed the vicar in his office, and therefore he applied to the Court.

The DEAN of ARCHES said he would accept the letters of request, but he hoped the matter would be settled out of court. It was a trifling matter, and he trusted it would not be necessary to proceed further. The clergyman of a church had a right to the use and management of the organ.

A citation was ordered to be issued.

MARTIN v. MACKONCHIE.

(Ecclesiastical Gazette, February, 1875, p. 108.)

The appeal in this case, from the Court of Arches to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, against the decision of Sir R. Phillimore, Dean of Arches, for alleged ritualistic practices, is proceeding. The joint Appendix has been filed at the Appeal Registry. The "cases" on both sides must be lodged within a month, after which the cause will be set down.

PARLIAMENTARY INTELLIGENCE.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

TUESDAY, APRIL 20.

CHAPLAINS FOR THE ARCTIC EXPEDITION.

In answer to a question of Earl DE LA WARR,

The Earl of MALMESBURY said there had been great difficulty in accomplishing the object of sending out chaplains with the Arctic Expedition owing to the limited accommodation; but it had been accomplished by cancelling the appointment of two Assistant-Paymasters, and a chaplain would be appointed to each of the ships.

MONDAY, APRIL 26.

RESTORATION OF CHURCHES.

Lord HAMPTON asked the Lord Steward whether the return ordered by the House last session of the number of churches built or restored at a cost exceeding 500*l.* since 1840 was likely soon to be presented; and asked further, whether there was in the Home Office or other Government offices any system by which reasonable assistance might be afforded to those persons whose duty it might be to furnish such returns as were from time to time ordered by either House of Parliament; if not, whether it was not desirable that arrangements should be made for affording such facilities.

Earl BEAUCHAMP said that returns had been received from thirteen dioceses of the province of Canterbury, but that the returns for the province of York were not completed, though they were in a forward state. As the return was purely voluntary, the Government could not exercise much pressure in getting it.

The Archbishop of York said he and his clergy were doing the best they could to obtain the returns, and that he hoped they would soon be complete.

THURSDAY, APRIL 23.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL (MINOR CANONRIES) BILL.

On the motion of the Bishop of London, this Bill was read a second time; the object of it being to reduce the number of the Minor Canons of St. Paul's to six, and to equalize their incomes which are now derived in part from separate estates of unequal value. These separate estates are to be vested in the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, and each Minor Canon is to have a suitable residence—with an income of not less than 400*l.* per annum, and a retiring pension. The regulations as to the duties of the office and the obligation as to residence, &c., are to be settled by a scheme to be submitted to her Majesty in Council. The Minor Canons are not to hold any benefice; and the present Minor Canons are to retain their rights and emoluments as if the Bill had not passed.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

EIGHT OF BURIAL.

TUESDAY, APRIL 20.

Mr. Serjeant SIMON (in the absence of Mr. Waddy) asked the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether it was true that the vicar of Beckley had refused to allow the performance of any religious ceremonial at the burial of a child in the Beckley churchyard, on the ground that the child had been baptized in a Wesleyan Methodist chapel only; whether it was true that when the father of the child reminded him that his wife (the child's mother) had recently been buried there, and the burial service had then been read by the vicar himself, although she had been baptized in the same chapel, the vicar still refused to allow the child to be buried in the same grave with its mother with the ordinary rites of Christian burial, and that the child was accordingly buried there by the sexton without any religious service whatever.

Mr. HEYGATE asked the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether a clergyman, refusing to read the Burial Service "on the ground that the deceased had been baptized in a Wesleyan chapel only" (as alleged by the hon. member for Barnstaple in the case of the vicar of Beckley) would not be acting in contravention of the existing law.

Mr. CROSS.—It may be convenient that I should answer both these questions at once. I have held communications on this question, and from the statements I have received it seems that the circumstances are substantially as they have been stated, except as to the part of the statement respecting the burial of the child. It appears also that the incumbent did not know that he was bound by law to read the burial service. The burial service was read by him over the mother, he not knowing at the time she had been baptized at a Wesleyan chapel. I have no doubt this clergyman acted through an entirely mistaken sense of duty, and he was admonished by the bishop of the diocese. The course of conduct adopted was not in accordance either with humanity or Christianity.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21.

BURIALS BILL.

Mr. O. MORGAN moved the second reading of the Bill to legalize the burial of Dissenters in churchyards with other funeral rites than those of the Established Church.

Colonel EGERTON LEIGH pronounced the grievance the Bill was designed to remove a purely sentimental one, which, however, had been made a kind of cheral de bataille between Church and Dissent. The measure encouraged feelings which he should like to see hushed, and dug up a hatchet which he would rather have buried. Under these circumstances he moved that the second reading be deferred for 4 months.

Mr. GLADSTONE stated that he should vote for the second reading. The simple question was whether there was a grievance, and, thinking that there was, he considered that his hon. friend was entitled to ask the House to read the Bill. The grievance was that persons who did not belong to the Church of England were debarred from the privilege of accompanying a burial in a churchyard with a religious service of their own at the grave. In his opinion there was a grievance in that prohibition, and because the Bill would remove it, he should vote for the second reading. At the same time he observed that if the measure reached committee it would require careful consideration in this respect. At present the clergyman was vested by law with the freehold, and was the guardian of peace and order in the churchyard; and in committee it would be advisable to introduce a precautionary provision against disorder and damage arising from the assembling of large crowds, in cases where the clergyman did not conduct the service.

Mr. HEYGATE admitted the existence of a certain amount of grievance, but did not think it way to correct it was by throwing open the churchyards to all religious denominations, all of whom had no ministers. Another Bill relating to interments in churchyards, which also the the paper for second reading that day, would satisfactorily deal with the case; the proposal of additional cemeteries, too, would tend to the same object.

Mr. LEFFEVRE supported the Bill.

Solicitor-General urged various objections to it, the chief of which was that, in regard to what he did not dispute was a grievance, and could create another of a much more serious character, and offend the religious sentiments of a large portion of the community.

Mr. ROEBUCK rested his support of the Bill on broad ground of Christian charity as opposed to narrow-minded prejudice, and saw no harm in the Church in granting such a relaxation.

Mr. FORSYTH, having examined the official returns of petitions, had found that there were four petitions with 511 signatures presented against the Bill, and only three bearing signatures in its favour. From this he concluded that even among Dissenters there was no demand for such legislation. Moreover, the Bill was to be respected on one side, it was to be equally respected on the other.

Mr. RICHARD and Mr. DAVIES supported the Bill, and Mr. SCOURFIELD opposed it, as did Mr. NEWDEGATE, who contended that the claim by the Bill was unjust to Churchmen, and that the Nonconformists had, ever since the abolition of church-rates, been relieved from the maintenance of the churchyard.

Mr. LEFFEVRE objected that once the Bill became law, the next claim would be to celebrate dissenters' marriages in the church itself.

Mr. FORSTER urged that the former objection might be easily provided for by law. Arrangements for the preservation of order in the churchyard might also be adopted without difficulty. The real objection to the Bill was that the Church was in danger, and that the exclusive use of the churchyard was an outlook which it was necessary to maintain; but in his view of the matter there could not be a greater mistake than that, for every attempt to improve the position of the Church by exclusiveness did it injury, and was contrary to the civilization of the age.

Mr. CROSS pointed out that the Bill asked for those who differed from the doctrines of the Church of England a special privilege which members of the Church themselves did not possess. He had never denied that there were persons who conscientiously believed that they had a grievance, and that grievance he was desirous of meeting, provided he did not create what would practically be a greater. But what the Bill did was to remedy a minimum amount of grievance that was year by year diminishing by the creation of a maximum grievance. Surely it would be a better remedy to increase the number of cemeteries. As a matter of sentiment he appealed to Dissenters themselves whether they would like the ceremonies of the Church of England or of the Church of Rome to be performed in their burial-grounds. If not, then surely a kindred feeling was natural on the part of members of the Established Church against browbeating open the churchyards to ceremonies not accordant with the rites of their own Church. His last objection to the Bill was, that it would not only relieve the Dissenters, but would disturb the whole ecclesiastical arrangements of the Church.

Mr. BAISER urged that, having abolished all religious tests for public offices, Parliament ought to get rid of the one which the Bill was designed to remove. Why, he asked, could they not do in the Established Church what was done in Scotland, where at this moment members of the Episcopal Church were allowed to be buried in Presbyterian graveyards with the Episcopal Church Service. If they dealt with more Christian kindness and liberality towards Nonconformists, he believed they would find that the strength of the Church would not be lessened but increased, that hostility would diminish, and that there would be a general subsidence of that animosity which must ever prevail where a State Church existed.

After a few words in reply from Mr. O. MORGAN, the House divided, and the numbers were—

The Bill was consequently rejected.

VOTING FOR PARISH CHURCHWARDEN.

To the Editor of the "Ecclesiastical Gazette."

Will any of your readers kindly tell me what is the law in respect of the election of a parish churchwarden—who can vote, and who not, at the vestry? Under the existing law of church-rates, and where a rate has been legally granted, can any vote in the election of parish churchwarden who have not paid their church-rate?

In my parish this year there were two gentlemen nominated as parish churchwardens and a poll demanded. The question arose, who had power to vote? There had been a church-rate which some paid in full, and others only partly, and some refused. At the poll some claimed the right to vote because they had paid the poor's rate. Two of our local lawyers were of opinion they had a right on that ground, whereas the law says, all rates. Is not, therefore, the church-rate, where legally granted, one of them?

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

DEDUCTIONS FROM RENT-CHARGES, ETC.

To the Editor of the Ecclesiastical Gazette.

IN answer to the questions of your clerical correspondent in the last number of the Ecclesiastical Gazette, the deductions now allowed from the rate on tithe rent-charge are poor's rates, highway rates, Ecclesiastical dues, repair of chancel, &c. Five per cent. for collecting. No deduction is allowed for the clergyman's labour. The Poor Law Act says:—"All hereditaments shall be rated at what they will let for, i.e. at what they will yield to the sleeping landowner. The farmer's labour is not rated. If a landowner from his own estate, that estate is not rated at what he could make of it, but at what he could let it. Tithe rent-charge being classed with land for rating purposes, ought, in law and justice, to be rated likewise. It should be rated at what a renter could make of it, after paying the curate's salary and all other outgoings. It was so rated forty years ago. This rating was first disturbed in the Rex v. Joddrell case, when the judge ruled that, as every incumbent was obliged to perform the duties on his living, and as the rent-charge could not be let nor the rating rule applied, therefore no deduction could be allowed for labour. Surely this ruling was contrary to the law? How, then, is this clerical grievance to be redressed? Let there be a simultaneous movement in every diocese throughout England, and a collection of 1s. to 2s. 6d. be made from every incumbent in every archdeaconry and deanery. This would render an ample sum for ventilation, re-trying the case of deduction for labour, and also the legality of saddling the rent-charge with the imperial taxes which have been laid exclusively on hereditaments since the Commutation Act. The rent of land is not known, and is hardly ever rated to its full rental, and then a deduction of 10 or 15 per cent. is made to form the rateable value. Tithe rent-charge is known, and is rated to the utmost penny. The rate on my rent-charge is now 2s. 9d. in the pound, and the School Board will add 1s. to it.

RURAL RECTOR.

Church Pastoral Aid Society.—The annual meeting of the Church Pastoral Aid Society was held on the 6th inst., in St. James's Hall, the Earl of Shaftesbury, President of the Society, in the chair. The financial statement showed that the ordinary receipts for the past year amounted to 51,546l., which, as compared with those of the preceding year, was a decrease of 7409l.; but if the 5000l. received from Mrs. Disney Robinson, in memory of her late husband, were included, the whole deficiency would have been attributable to legacies. The expenditure had been 53,358l., being an increase over that of last year of 3701l. The total receipts since the commencement of the Society were 1,416,828l. The existing grants in each class were 604 to clergymen, and 222 to lay assistants. This Society provides 825 additional public services on Sunday, 584 on week-days, 884 school-room and cottage lectures, and 942 Bible classes. Its grants have led to the erection, opening, or keeping open of 323 chapels or churches, and by its aid additional and more systematic pastoral visitation is provided for a population amounting to nearly five millions. Within the metropolitan circle there were 76 grants for curates, and 40 for lay agents, benefiting a population of 849,589, at a cost of 9657l.

Curates' Augmentation Fund.—A public meeting in aid of the Curates' Augmentation Fund, for the providing of increased rates of remuneration for curates in full work, and of not less than fifteen years' standing in the ministry, was held on Tuesday, 20th ult., at Willis's Rooms, under the presidency of the Bishop of Winchester, who was supported by the Earl of Harrowby, the Bishop of Peterborough, the Earl of Devon, the Marquis of Hertford, &c., &c.

From a statement of the Society's operations it appeared that the council had voted grants for the current year (ending July 15, 1875) to the amount of 15,303l., viz. 263 grants of 50l. each, and 108 of the old 20l. grants renewed. But there were still seventy-six applications which had to stand over for want of funds, whilst the amount already voted this year was so large that unless the income of the Society was materially increased, it would be as much as the council would be able to do to meet next year the liabilities thus created. The applicants were men of about forty years of age, their average length of service being nineteen years, and though still engaged in active work for the Church, they were receiving a professional income little in excess of that of the youngest curate, namely from 100l. to 150l. a year.

Consecration of the Bishop of Ballarat.—On Saturday, 1st of May (St. Philip and St. James's Day) the Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by the Bishops of London, Melbourne, and Goulburn, consecrated, in Westminster Abbey, the Rev. Samuel Thornton, D.D., rector of St. George's, Birmingham, as Bishop of the newly-created Australian see of Ballarat. The sermon was preached by the Bishop's elder brother, the Rev. Robinson Thornton, D.D., formerly Head Master of the Medical College at Epsom, and subsequently Warden of Trinity College, Glenalmond, from Psalm lxxx. 17. The offertory was given to the Ballarat Diocesan Fund.

METROPOLIS.

Sion College.—At a general meeting, held in the college hall, according to the requirements of the charter, on Tuesday, 20th ult., being the third Tuesday after Easter Tuesday, the following Fellows were chosen to form the court of governors for the ensuing year:—The Rev. W. H. Milman, rector of St. Augustine and St. Faith, was elected president for the second time; the Rev. W. H. Lyall, rector of St. Dionis Backchurch, was re-elected dean; the Rev. C. C. Collins, vicar of St. Mary Aldermanbury, was elected to fill the place of junior dean of the former court; the Rev. Dr. Simpson, of St. Matthew, Friday-street, the Rev. L. B. White, of St. Mary Aldermary, and the Rev. Mr. Reynolds, vicar of St. Stephen's, Spitalfields, were unanimously re-elected assistants. For the place of fourth assistant, the Rev. J. R. Stock, of Allhallows the Great and Less, and the Rev. A. Povah, rector of St. Olave, Hart-street, were proposed, and the latter was elected. A vote of thanks for the services he has rendered to the college was passed to the Rev. T. P. Dale, rector of St. Vedast, Foster-lane, upon his retirement from the court and office of treasurer.

PROVINCIAL.

FACULTY FOR THE ERECTION OF A TOMBSTONE.

In the Consistory Court of Lichfield, application was made and a citation decreed, on behalf of the Rev. T. Massey, Rector of Hatcliffe, against the Vicar and Churchwardens of Market Drayton, to show cause why a faculty should not be issued for the erection of a tombstone. It appeared that Mr. Massey's aunt died at Market Drayton and was buried in the churchyard there; and her relatives were desirous of setting up a memorial headstone to mark the place of her burial. The headstone being completed, application was made to the vicar of the parish, Rev. G. Chute, for his consent to its erection. This was refused excepting upon the conditions—that the ornamental part of it should be taken away, and the words "Jesu, mercy" erased. Application having been made to the Bishop of Lichfield, his Lordship replied that he could see no objection to the memorial or the emblems sculptured upon it, but in order to satisfy the scruples of the vicar of Market Drayton, he advised that the words objected to in the inscription should be erased. Acting upon this advice, Mr. Massey intimated to the vicar that he would consent to the erasure of the words "Jesu, mercy," although they had been put upon the stone at the particular request of a near relative who had since died. The vicar, however, was not satisfied, and refused his consent to the erection of the headstone till the emblems on it had been erased. These conditions could not be complied with, inasmuch as by so doing the headstone would be mutilated and defaced.

Judgment.

Bishop Hobhouse, as principal surrogate, gave judgment in the written words of the Chancellor, the Hon. R. C. Herbert, who was unable to be present. Having stated the case at length, and examined the grounds of objection, the judgment proceeded:—

It is difficult to understand what is intended by the phrase "symbol or emblem of popery." The use or even the abuse of the figure of the cross or crown of thorns by members of the Roman Catholic Church cannot abridge the liberty of members of the Church of England. The fleur-de-lis have not of necessity any reference to the Blessed Virgin Mary, and if they have any such reference, it is not shown that such reference is of a nature forbidden by the law of the Church. The inscription "Jesu, mercy," objected to as containing a prayer for the dead, is simply a pious ejaculation. If it may be considered as equivalent to a prayer, there is nothing to show that it is prayer on behalf of a dead person. In the view I take of the words of the inscription it is unnecessary to consider whether any and what prayers for the dead are in accordance or not with the doctrines and law of the Church.

The faculty will be granted as prayed.

Illegally demanding Toll of a Clergyman.—At the Crewkerne Petty Sessions, 13th March, 1875, the keeper of the Roundham turnpike-gate was summoned by the Rev. Dr. Penny, of Crewkerne, for illegally demanding toll on three separate occasions, namely, on Sunday, the 7th, 21st, and 28th of February. On those dates the Rev. gentleman, who is rector of Chaffcombe, was driving to the parish church for the purpose of conducting the services. John Sibley, of Crewkerne, who plays the harmonium at the church, was riding with complainant on each day, and defendant demanded toll, which was paid under protest in each case, complainant claiming exemption as rector of Chaffcombe. Defendant said that he did not consider that a clergyman could claim exemption from the toll if any one was riding in the trap besides his servant. The Bench inflicted a fine of 1s. in each case and costs, and also ordered the defendant to pay 1l. 1s., the fee of the advocate who appeared for complainant.

FACTORIES (HEALTH OF WOMEN, &amp;c.) ACT.

37 & 38 VICT. c. 44.

7. Hours of meals to be simultaneous.—In a factory to which this Act applies, all children, young persons, and women in the factory shall have the time allowed them for meals at the same time of the day, unless some alteration for special cause be allowed in writing by an inspector.

8. Employment during meal times forbidden.—In a factory to which this Act applies, a child, young person, or woman shall not during any part of the time allowed for any meal be employed in the factory, or allowed to remain in any room in which any manufacturing process is being carried on, and any child, young person, or woman so employed or allowed so to remain

The period of employment in the factory shall be deemed to be between the hours specified in such notice, and all the children in the factory shall be employed either in sets or on alternate days as may be specified in such notice.

A change in such hours, or in the mode of employment of the children, shall not be made until after the occupier of the factory has sent written notice of his intention to make such change to the inspector or sub-inspector of the district in which the factory is situate, and shall not be made oftener than once a quarter, unless for special cause, allowed in writing by an inspector.

10. Abolition of recovery of lost time under 7 & 8 Vict. c. 15, ss. 33 and 34.—Until the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, children, young persons, and women may be employed in a factory to which this Act applies in the recovery of lost time in pursuance of the Factory Acts, 1833 to 1856, but after the said first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, in a factory to which this Act applies, a child, young person, or woman shall not be employed in the recovery of lost time in pursuance of the Factory Acts, 1833 to 1856, or any of them, during any hours during which they cannot be employed in pursuance of the other provisions of this Act.

AGE OF CHILDREN.

12. Extension of age of child to 14, unless educational certificate obtained.—After the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, for the purpose of this Act and of the Factory Acts, 1833 to 1856, in the case of a factory to which this Act applies, a person of the age of thirteen years and under the age of fourteen years shall be deemed to be a child, and not a young person, unless he has obtained from a person authorized by the authority hereinafter mentioned a certificate of having attained such standard of proficiency in reading, writing, and arithmetic as may be from time to time prescribed for the purposes of this Act by that authority: Provided that any such person who previously to the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, is lawfully employed in any such factory as a young person, may continue to be so employed in like manner as if this section had not been enacted.

14. Employment of children in silk works.—The enactments of the Factory Act, 1850, or any previous Act, which authorize the employment of any child in the silk manufacture during longer hours than those authorized in the case of a child in any other factory to which this Act applies, shall be repealed as from the commencement of this Act:

SUPPLEMENTAL.

15. Education of children to be in efficient school.—After the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, attendance at a school in England which is not for the time being recognized by the Education Department as giving efficient elementary education, shall not in the case of a child employed in a factory to which this Act applies be deemed to be attendance at a school within the meaning of this Act or the Factory Act, 1844: Provided that,

- (2.) This section shall not apply where there is not a school so recognized within the distance of two miles from the factory in which the child is employed.

The Education Department shall make such declaration as above mentioned with respect to every school district which they are satisfied is supplied with sufficient public school accommodation, and shall from time to time publish, in such manner as they think sufficient to give information to all persons interested, lists of the schools for the time being recognized by them as giving efficient elementary education.

This section shall apply to Scotland in like manner as if it were enacted with the substitution of "Scotch Education Department" for "Education Department," of "parish or burgh" for "school district," and of "such school accommodation as is mentioned in sections twenty-seven and twenty-eight of the Education (Scotland) Act, 1872," for "public school accommodation."

19. Definitions: "Factory Acts, 1833–1856."—In this Act—

PUBLIC EDUCATION IN ENGLAND AND WALES.

CHAPTER I. GRANTS TO ESTABLISH ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

BUILDING GRANTS.

16. It is provided by section 96 of the "Elementary Education Act, 1870," that "After the thirty-first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, no parliamentary grant shall be made to any elementary school which is not a public elementary school within the meaning of this Act;" and that

"No parliamentary grant shall be made in aid of building, enlarging, improving, or fitting up any elementary school, except in pursuance of a memorial duly signed, and containing the information required by the Education Department for enabling them to decide on the application, and sent to the Education Department on or before the 31st day of December, 1870."

Subject to these conditions, building grants are made upon the terms of Articles 22—37 of the Code of 1870.

CHAPTER II.

ANNUAL GRANTS.

PART I.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

SECTION I.

Preliminary Conditions.

17. Before any grant is made to a school

(Article 4), the Department must be satisfied that—

- The school is conducted as a public elementary school (Article 6); and no child is refused admission to the school on other than reasonable grounds.
- The school is not carried on under the management of any person or persons who derive emolument from it.
- The school premises are healthy, well lighted, warmed, drained, and ventilated, properly furnished, supplied with suitable offices, and contain in the principal school-room and class-rooms at least eighty cubical feet of internal space, and eight square feet of area, for each child in average attendance.
- The principal teacher is certificated (Article 43), and is not allowed to undertake duties, not connected with the school, which occupy any part whatever of the school hours, or of the time appointed for the special instruction of pupil-teachers (Schedule II., 4).

Exception:—

The teachers of evening schools need not be certificated, if they are—

- Notice is immediately given to the Department of any changes in the school staff (Article 39) which occur in the course of the year. The first grant to a school is computed from the date at which (1) the appointment of a certificated teacher is notified to, and recognized by, the Department; or (2) the acting teacher passes the examination for a certificate (Article 44).
  - The girls in a day school are taught plain needlework and cutting out as part of the ordinary course of instruction.
  - All returns called for by the Department are duly made; the admission and daily attendance of the scholars carefully registered by the teacher (Article 67); accounts of income and expenditure accurately kept by the managers, and duly audited; and all statistical returns and certificates of character (Articles 67, 77, and 80) may be accepted as trustworthy.
  - Three persons have designated one of their number to sign the receipt for the grant on behalf of the school.

Exception:—

The treasurer of a school board signs the receipt for grants to schools provided by the board.

18. The grant may be withheld, if, on the inspector's report, there appears to be any serious prima facie objection. A second inspection, by another inspector, is made in every such instance; and if the grant be finally withheld, a special minute of the case is made and recorded.

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.

67, Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Tuesday, June 1, 1875.

The Rev. Dr. CURREY in the Chair.

After Prayers the Minutes of the last Meeting were read.

Deaths of Archdeacon Sinclair and of the Rev. Charlton Lane.—Before the commencement of the ordinary business the Secretary stated that he was desired by the Standing Committee to report that, since the last Monthly Meeting, the Society had lost through death two of its Vice-Presidents, the Venerable Archdeacon Sinclair, who died on Saturday, the 22nd of May, and the Rev. Charlton Lane, who died on the 29th of the same month.

The Standing Committee further reported that they had, on Monday last, the 31st of May, passed the two following resolutions in reference to these events and placed them on their Minutes, with a direction that they should be communicated to the nearest surviving relative in each case.

In reference to Archdeacon Sinclair their resolution was as follows:—

"The Standing Committee desire to record their sense of the great loss which they have sustained in the decease of the Venerable John Sinclair, Archdeacon of Middlesex and Vicar of Kensington, one of the Vice-Presidents of the Society, which took place on the 22nd instant. Now that he has been taken to his rest in the fulness of age and honour, they recur with affectionate regret to the active and useful part which for the long period of twenty-five years he took in their deliberations, to the courtesy and kindness with which he presided at their Meetings, and to the warm interest which he took in all the work of the Society."

Canon Harvey (who mentioned that Lord Lyttelton had hoped to have been able to attend and pay a tribute of respect to the Archdeacon) proposed, and Mr. Humphry seconded the proposal, that the resolution of the Standing Committee should, mutatis mutandis, be adopted by the General Meeting and communicated to Archdeacon Sinclair's nearest relative.

In reference to the Rev. Charlton Lane's death, the resolution of the Standing Committee was as follows:—

"The Committee have also to lament the death of another of the Vice-Presidents of the Society, the Rev. Charlton Lane, till recently Vicar of Hampstead, which took place at an advanced age on the 29th day of this month. During the nineteen years that he has been a member of the Standing Committee, he has ever taken a lively interest in the affairs of the Society, and has been distinguished for the clearness, good judgment, and ability with which he expressed his views on questions of difficulty."

Canon Harvey moved, and Mr. Evans seconded the proposal, that the resolution of the Standing Committee should, mutatis mutandis, be adopted by the General Meeting, and communicated to the nearest relative of the late Mr. Charlton Lane.

Money Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Dunedin.—Mr. George Frederick Rowland, Honorary Secretary of the Naseby Church Committee, applied on one of the Society's forms duly countersigned by the Bishop, for a grant towards the completion of St. George's Church, in the parish of Naseby.

The population of Naseby, which consists chiefly of goldminers, whose work is not at the present time prosperous owing to want of water, is about 600 and much scattered.

The proposed church is to accommodate 200 persons, and is to be built of concrete, with wood and iron roof.

The site, which has been already purchased, is at present invested in local trustees; "but," the Bishop wrote, "a pledge is given to transfer it to Diocesan Trustees so soon as it is free from debt."

In January, 1874, the Committee purchased a parsonage-house and grounds (including the church site) at a cost of 580*l.*—this was all raised in the parish. The Committee have borrowed 350*l.* on the security of the parsonage (excluding the church site), repayable in five years. This sum is to be expended on the building of the church, together with the contributions in hand and promised.

The estimated cost is 1000*l.*: 250*l.* are in hand. The Committee expect to raise 250*l.* more; of this 100*l.* have been promised.

Building is very expensive, all materials having to be carried a distance of nearly 100 miles. The church when erected will be the only English church within a radius of fifty miles. Places of worship for the Roman Catholics and Presbyterians already exist.

The Bishop added,—

"The residents at Naseby tax themselves heavily to provide 300*l.* per annum for their resident clergyman, and are deserving of assistance from the great exertions they are making themselves in this cause. I desire to enlist the most favourable consideration of the Society in this case."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50*l.* for the completion of St. George's Church—the Society's grant to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that the receipt of it will lead to the immediate completion of the building, and to its being free from all liability for debt, and secured as the property of the Church for ever—these being the usual conditions on which the Society's grants are made.

Diocese of Quebec.—The Rev. Edward Cullin Parkin, Missionary of S.P.G., applied on one of the Society's forms, which was duly countersigned by the Bishop, for a grant for the completion of the church of St. Peter, Cookshire.

The total cost when completed and ready for consecration will be 1000*l.* Of this sum 700*l.* has been already expended—the people having contributed 500*l.* in money and labour—the remaining 200*l.* having been made up by the Diocesan Church Society and other subscriptions ab extra. 150*l.* more have been promised. Convenient accommodation has been provided for 150 persons, though as many as 200 can be got in.

The building is of stone, and invested in the Bishop. The people are agriculturists, tradesmen, English and Irish emigrants, and labourers.

"Few people in the diocese," Mr. Parkin wrote, "have used more exertion, or have contributed more liberally than the people of this Mission."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 30*l.* in this case. The grant to be paid when the usual conditions have been fulfilled.

Diocese of Grahamstown.—Application was made on one of the Society's forms, signed by the Ven. H. Master White, Archdeacon of Grahamstown, lately resident at Port Elizabeth, and countersigned by the bishop, for a grant in aid of building the Kaffir Mission Chapel of St. Stephen, in the parish of St. Paul, Port Elizabeth.

The cost, independently of the site and of internal fittings, will be 580*l.* There is in hand or promised upwards of 250*l.*, and a fair prospect of raising some more in Port Elizabeth.

Accommodation is to be provided for 130 persons. The walls will be of stone and brick, the roof of iron. The population is probably about 2000.

The site is vested in the Bishop. Kaffirs come down to Port Elizabeth to work on the beach, in landing goods from surf-boats, to serve in stores or in domestic service. Some are heathen—many are connected with the Congregational and Wesleyan bodies; several come from the Church Missions in Kaffir Land.

The native collections in the last year have amounted to more than 50*l.* for the building. The Kaffir population in Port Elizabeth is altogether of the labouring class: none at present rise to be shopkeepers, &c. It is most important that Christians should not be turned adrift when they come to the centre of trade, also that the Church should take her share in the conversion of the heathen.

The room at present used for Divine Service is quite too small for the increasing number of attendants.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50*l.* in this case: the Society's grant to be paid when the usual conditions shall have been fulfilled.

Diocese of Ballarat.—The Rev. John B. Stair, of St. Arnaud, Victoria, on whose application in November, 1872, a grant of 100*l.* was made for the completion of St. Peter's Church, Mooler, an outlying district of St. Arnaud, wrote as follows:—

"Rev. and dear Sir,—Before his Lordship the Bishop of Melbourne finally severs his connexion with this diocese, I would beg respectfully to solicit from your venerable Society help to the extent of four grants of 25*l.* each, towards the erection of four small wooden churches in certain centres of settlement in the district around St. Arnaud, viz.:—At Swan Water, on the main North-western mail route, ten miles from St. Arnaud; at Cope Cope, seventeen miles on the same line; Concoover and Sutherlands Plains, on the Avoca River; and at Trainer's Lagoon, or Greengree; all coming within a radius of seventeen miles from St. Arnaud, and in each case forming important centres of population, as well as desirable spots at which to erect churches, around which many members of our Church have settled, who would gladly assist in establishing and maintaining the services of our Church."

"I may instance Cope Cope as a sample of the rest, and as forming the centre of important settlements some six or seven miles every way, where the Services of our Church would be cordially welcomed by the members of our Church and even by others, many of them having expressed their warm wishes to have the Services of our Church established among them, and promised to aid them by every means in their power. In one instance this promise was accompanied with many expressions of regret at the utter failure of all attempts hitherto made at my instance to form a Sunday School and gather the neighbours together for worship. My friend is an earnest and good man, anxious to do good and fitted for the work. He tried first to establish a Sunday School for mixed ages in his own house, but failed. He then attempted, without success, to gather a class of young men on the Sunday, as, although there are many around him—some fifteen or sixteen, and from seventeen to eighteen years of age—he sadly told me, they preferred hunting kangaroos on the Sunday and visiting their friends to joining with him in reading the Scriptures. He says the aversion to meet at a private house is very great; but he feels assured that if a church were built they would attend. As it is, the harassing toil of the week and long neglect of religious worship makes the temptation to desecrate the Lord's Day too strong for them."

"Many settlers to whom I have mentioned my intention of applying for these grants have warmly approved of it, and promised to assist in every way possible if granted, assured that the stimulus thus given would lead to prompt help in supplementing the grants and well-sustained effort in after support."

"An innkeeper at Cope Cope has frequently expressed himself anxious to see a church erected, and promised to assist, and it is the same in many other places; but where the difficulties of new settlements are so great and the pressure of work so strong, it needs the stimulant I ask to effect a commencement of the work. Under these circumstances, I venture to again solicit aid from your venerable Society, assured that the urgency of the case will be accepted as a sufficient excuse for my so soon renewing an application in view of your recent manifest grant."

"I had thought of asking for unfettered grants, but am satisfied that grants given conditionally upon raising equal sums, or even more, will be gratefully accepted."

"Although I mention but four districts, there are altogether some thirteen or fourteen places where it is most desirable that the services of our Church should be supplied."

"These are Cope Cope, Donald, Mount Jeffcott, Corack, and Morton Plains, all situated on the north-western mail route, with settlements around each centre."

"Concoover, East Charlton, Dimboote, and Mount Whyghiffa, on the River Avoca; Banyena, on the Richardson; Greengree and Waterloo Plains, on the Avon; Trainer's Lagoon and Swan Water, at or near McMcogg's."

"Each of these thirteen places mentioned are important centres of settlement, and should be considered in any scheme for supplying spiritual aid to the district if we are to retain our hold upon the members of our Church."

"It may be said that the people should help themselves. They will do so, but in all of these cases a little outside help at the outset is most valuable, especially as in all cases of new settlement the difficulties are so great, that for a year or two all other thoughts seem banished, and a grievous feeling of uneasiness and worldliness seems to sear the mind to all good influences."

"Commending this appeal to your kind consideration,

"I remain, &c.,

"JOHN B. STAIR."

The Bishop of Melbourne wrote as follows:—

"The parochial district of the Rev. J. B. Stair is in the Diocese of Ballarat. It is of great extent, being the farthest on the N.W., and has only recently begun to be occupied by 'selectors,' persons who take up small portions of Government land for cultivation. They are a class for which it is most difficult to provide the ministrations of the Church, and Mr. Stair is a clergyman who needs and deserves all the encouragement that can be afforded him. I do not know any of the places that he mentions; They have all sprung up since I visited his district in 1872, but I can form a clear idea of their character, and I very strongly recommend them for assistance by the Society."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to make four grants of 25*l.* each in this case; each grant to be paid when the Bishop shall have certified that, upon the receipt of it, a school-chapel will be immediately erected, free from all liability for debt, and duly secured as the property of the Church for ever.

Diocese of St. John's, South Africa.—The Bishop of this Diocese, Bishop Callaway, wrote a letter, dated Springvale, on the 1st of April, at which time he was on the point of leaving for his diocese.

He made several applications for help, and sent a copy of the Minutes of a Synod held at Hydesdale, Upper Umzimkulu, from the 18th to the 23rd of December, 1874, inclusive; to these Minutes was appended a printed statement of the wants of the clergy in his diocese.

At St. Mark's and Fingoland, Archdeacon Waters, under whose charge are these two extensive stations, is engaged in rebuilding the Church at St. Mark's, which is dilapidated and incapable of repair. He has raised 300*l.* towards a new one, which, it is estimated, will cost 700*l.* "This would," the Bishop said, "be a very small sum to build such a church as the place requires. Mr. Waters is a hardworking, painstaking Missionary, and raises a considerable sum from the people. He deserves every encouragement, and I trust the Society will help him in this his central church."

In this case a grant of 100*l.* was made, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, subject to the fulfilment of the usual conditions.

The following is an extract from the Bishop's letter:—

"The work to be done in Kaffraria is enormous; enormous when looked at from a distance, but vastly increasing in magnitude, when we begin to enter into the details. There is, it appears to me, just now a very remarkable advance prepared for the Church, and we are in the greatest need of good schoolmasters and missionaries, and school material of all kinds, from reading-book upwards.

"I am in capital health. Since my return I have been travelling more than three months out of the six, sleeping in native huts, in the tent, or in a waggon. I returned home on Saturday 8th, and intend, if possible, to set out for a three months' journey in the south of the diocese on Monday.

"We are, I may say, now actually beginning our central station. It is situated on a river called the Umsikisiki, about twenty miles north of the St. John's, and about an equal distance from the sea. And I trust with God's blessing we shall before long see spring up there several institutions I spoke of when in England, which shall prove the source of light and blessing to the future generations of Kaffraria."

Niger Territory.—The Rev. V. Faulkner, in charge of St. Jude's Mission, Ebute Metta, near Lagos, West Africa, wrote as follows on the 1st March:—

"Sir,—By this mail I send you a report of a church now in course of erection in this station. I should not think of trespassing upon you were not that I find it impossible to complete the work without seeking help from friends at home. The members of the congregation are very poor, and the necessity of providing for them a substantial church. The congregation is also desiring of a better church, for although this is a new mission station, many of the Church members were amongst the first baptized in the Yoraba Mission, some of whom suffered much in the cause of Christ during the persecution in Abeokuta between 1847-49. It has been my privilege to minister to their spiritual wants for the last twelve or fourteen years, except during my two visits home on account of ill-health, and I am therefore in a position to testify to the consistency of their lives as Christians. You will see from the report that the congregation, though poor, are exerting themselves to contribute towards the funds as much as possible, one member vying with another who can do the most. On account of my wife's health, it will be necessary for us to have a change to England, but I am most anxious to complete the church before going. May I beg of you, therefore, to lay our report before your Committee, with a view to their sending us help? The whole cost we estimate to be between 500*l.* and 600*l.*

"Trusting soon to hear from you, with kind regards,

"I remain, &c."

The report referred to in the foregoing letter showed that upwards of 200*l.* had been collected, mostly in very small sums, oftentimes only a few pence each, by the inhabitants of the Mission Station and at Lagos.

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 100*l.* in this case, to be paid when Bishop Crowther shall have certified that the usual conditions have been fulfilled.

Diocese of Sierra Leone.—The Rev. P. H. Douglas, West Indian Missionary to the Rio Pongas, wrote from the Mission House, Dominica, on the 15th April, as follows:—

"REV. AND DEAR SIRS,—The time having come for us to have a permanent building for a church at Domingia in place of the one with thatched roof, mud walls, and earthen floors, I set about raising subscriptions for the purpose, and was so far successful, and so sanguine, that I began, and have got the building up, and the roof nearly covered in. I have used tiles, as supplying at once a cheap and lasting covering.

"The high price of materials, and the difficulty of getting them to the spot, combined with the scarcity and consequent high price of rice, have raised the cost of the building to much above what we had estimated (250*l.*), so that although the paving (which is preferable to a wooden flooring), and seating, and plastering, and painting, and inner fittings still remain, I shall be compelled at the end of the month to stop the work from want of funds.

"The same pulpit, and lectern, and reading-desk will be kept. The wood from which they were made was taken from the four block-houses placed at the four entrances to the town. Large cannons were placed there to guard the town against the Susus, Mulattoes, Foulahs, and white people. The present chief, on his conversion, threw them down, and gave the wood for the purpose I mentioned, saying, 'Let the Cheroh and the Gospel defend the town.'

"I have placed two large piazzas for the reception of the Mohammedans and heathens, who come to Domingia in large caravans for trading purposes. They generally flock to the church to look on and to listen. As they understand the Susu language, they acquire in this way much knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus.

"His Lordship, Bishop Cheetham, paid us a visit last year, and was much pleased with the working of the station, and both he and the Rev. Alfred Menzies, of the C.M.S., declared that Domingia was more important as a Mission station than any other place they knew on the coast, on account of the great number of strangers who visit it, amounting to about 3000 or 4000 every week; and that as regards progress it could vie with any of the C.M.S. stations on the coast.

"Besides the native Christians, there are eighty Sierra Leone and four English persons who attend the church, and five Roman Catholics whom I persuaded to join with us in prayer. Occasionally, too, we have sailors from on board the ships which may happen to be lying at anchor at the factory.

"Knowing the noble efforts made by the Christian Knowledge Society, I write to beg that you will assist me to complete the building by granting me a sum of money towards it. The grant could be made either directly to myself, or to the Bishop of Sierra Leone, or the Rev. J. T. Tarpin, the Senior Missionary, or it might be sent through the S.P.G.

"Believe me, &c."

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to grant 50*l.* in this case, on the usual conditions.

Diocese of Madras.—The Standing Committee submitted the following statement, which had been made to them by Rev. Dr. Caldwell, S.P.G. Missionary in Tinnevely:—

"On returning to Tinnevely, as I hope to do in the autumn, I am desirous of devoting myself, as long as it may please God to spare me, to a special endeavour to spread Christianity amongst people belonging to the higher castes, who have as yet been scarcely at all reached by Christian influences, and have indeed, in some degree at least, been set against Christianity by the conversion to it of considerable numbers of persons belonging to castes which they have been accustomed to regard with contempt.

"The plan I have in view is that of going from town to town and from village to village, with an organized band of helpers seeking out people of this class, and remaining for several days in each place, in the hope of seeing some useful results before passing on to another place.

"I have no doubt that the Society with which I am connected will be prepared to meet all the ordinary expenses of such a campaign; but there is one portion of my plan which I think, fairly be regarded by the S.P.C.K. as coming within the range of its purposes, and meriting its special encouragement. It is this. I wish to obtain the assistance of Tamil Christian men of letters, and of a small choir of Tamil Christian singers, to help me to attract and impress Indian audiences in the old Indian manner. Such assistance is procurable in Tinnevely more readily—and at present at least of a higher quality—than in any other district I am acquainted with, and the expenses incident to this style of agency would not, I think, exceed 100*l.* a year. If the Society were to be so kind as to make me a grant to this amount—say for five years—and if God were pleased to spare me for those five years to work out the experiment, I trust that interesting and important results would be brought about.

"I should explain that I hope to do all I can at the same time for the extension amongst the lower classes of the work that has commenced amongst them; but it is only for the special department of the work described above that I should ask the Christian Knowledge Society's help."

The Standing Committee added, that they had had the advantage of Dr. Caldwell's presence at one of their meetings, and of his personal explanation on matters of detail connected with his plan.

It was then agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to place 100*l.* at the disposal of Dr. Caldwell for carrying out the scheme described in his statement. The Standing Committee intimated that at the end of a year they should ask the General Meeting to renew this grant, provided Dr. Caldwell should at that time consider the experiment satisfactory.

Diocese of Madras.—The Standing Committee submitted the following letter from the Rev. O.

Egbert Kennet, Secretary of the Madras District Committee of S.P.C.K., and now in this country.

"I take the opportunity of being in England to submit certain proposals for the favourable consideration of the Parent Society's Board, calculated, as I think, to advance the cause of Native Christian literature in Southern India. I have the advantage of possessing the Rev. Dr. Caldwell's approval of these proposals.

"1. The educated and English-reading Hindus of the Madras Presidency, as elsewhere throughout India, can be reached only through English books, and for this purpose English evidential works, adapted to the Hindu mind and tastes, may be found useful. It is worthy of consideration if such works can be prepared in England by scholars who have studied Hindu philosophy and religion. I am of opinion that a reprint of the late Archdeacon Hardwick's 'Hinduism,' in his work 'Christ and other Masters,' in a separate form and by itself, will gain attention from Hindus from its conciliatory tone, and be useful to candidates for ordination as being a scholarly introduction to the more enlarged study of the whole subject.

"2. As regards the Native Christian Church in general, religious books in Tamil are still greatly needed. We have several works of value and importance already in existence and use in the form of translations and adaptations, such as 'Paley's Evidences,' 'Bishop Pearson on the Creed,' Archbishop Trench's 'Notes on the Parables and Miracles,' and Professor Blunt's 'Undesigned Coincidences.' These, as will be observed, though suited for the reading of thoughtful Native Christians generally, are intended more for the study of Native Teachers, Catechists, and Ministers. Books of this kind may be advantageously increased in view of the increasing number of our Native Christian agents of every description, and I think that the encouragement which the Society may hold out for the preparation or reproduction of good translations will prove largely beneficial to the Native Church.

"I venture, therefore, to propose that the Society offer certain premiums for good translations, or rather adaptations, of the following books:—

"(a) The new C.K.S.'s 'Commentary on the New Testament,' in 2 vols.

"(b) A work on the Common Prayer Book, explanatory of its structure and contents. I hardly know of any one English book which can be recommended as the basis of the work, but what I mean is that the rationale of the Prayer Book, and not its history, is what should be kept most in view in the preparation of such a work for India. Bishop Beveridge's Explanation of our Communion Office, which Dr. Caldwell long ago embodied in his Tamil 'Communicant's Companion,' is a specimen of the kind of thing which the work on the Prayer Book as a whole ought to be.

"(c) Bishop Butler's 'Analogy.' There can be no translation of such a work; it must be transfused into the Tamil, and brought up to date as regards the bearing of its arguments on the scientific questions of the day. Huxkin's 'Dialogues on the Analogy' illustrate my meaning.

"3. I propose that 50*l.* be offered as remuneration for each of these works now enumerated to the translator who may be employed to produce it, and we have many men in South India competent to undertake such works.

"But Butler's 'Analogy' can be put into a Tamil dress by only one man, the Rev. Dr. Bower, who is already advanced in life. Both Dr. Caldwell and I are of opinion that a sum of not less than 100*l.* should be offered to Dr. Bower for giving Butler to the Tamil Church."

The Standing Committee stated they had referred some of the points mentioned in this letter to the Tract Committee, but that they had agreed to recommend a money grant of 200*l.* to be placed at the disposal of the Bishop of Madras and the Madras District Committee of this Society, for the translation into Tamil of the two vols. of the Society's New Testament Commentary (50*l.* for each volume), and for the adaptation and translation of Bishop Butler's 'Analogy' (100*l.*).

The recommendation of the Standing Committee was adopted.

Book Grants recommended by the Standing Committee.

Book Grants, Special and Ordinary, were agreed to.

St. Andrew's Waterside Church Mission, Gravesend.—The Rev. John Scarth, Vicar of Holy Trinity, Milton-next-Gravesend, one of the Trustees of this Association, of which the Patrons are the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of Rochester, forwarded a sum of 26*l.* 5*s.* for the purchase of Bibles and Prayer Books; and applied for a grant of similar Books to an equal value; the whole of the Books being for distribution among sailors and emigrants, at the Gravesend and other Stations of the Mission.

Mr. Scarth wrote:—

"We are gradually opening up work at many more ports, and find it does more good the more we can touch sailors everywhere. They see the Church is in earnest, and I find the clergy very ready to take up the work of visiting on board ship when they find that it is becoming general.

"I have just returned from Rotterdam, Hamburg, Copenhagen, and Gothenburg, and paved the way for work among our sailors.

"Your last grant of foreign books is proving very useful, and when in Sweden I got a quantity of Swedish books that will be useful here."

Books to the value of 26*l.* 5*s.* were, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, granted to meet Mr. Scarth's equal purchase.

Syria.—Mrs. Henry Smith, 9, Lawn Terrace, Blackheath, sister of the late Mrs. Bowen Thompson, applied for Books and Maps, in English and Arabic, to the value of 21*l.*, for use in the British Syrian Schools, which were founded by her late sister. Mrs. Smith forwarded a satisfactory Report of the Schools made by Canon Ridgway, of Christ Church, Oxford, who has been travelling in the East, and who has recently examined the Schools.

The Standing Committee recommended a grant of the books as asked for.

The grant was made.

"On the urgent application of friends of the late Bishop Patteson, the general Government in New Zealand has agreed to rent the land and buildings at Kohimarama, near Auckland, formerly occupied by the Melanesian Mission, and the old mission-vessel, 'Southern Cross,' in order to establish a school for the training of destitute boys for the navy. The Colonial Government does not supply any religious teaching, but at the same time it puts no difficulty in the way of such teaching being given. Captain Breton, the manager of the school, holds services every Sunday in one end of the larger school-room, and the Rev. Dr. Kinder, the Principal of St. John's College, takes an occasional afternoon service, and is forming a Sunday School for the boys. There are thirty lads at present, but it is hoped ere long to have sixty under training.

"The excellent agent for the Melanesian Mission takes a great interest in this naval school. He (Captain Tilly) has written to me to ask for Bibles, New Testaments, Prayer Books, Church Services of a larger size for the use of the reader during Divine Service both on shore and on board, for instructive and amusing books of travels, biographies, &c. We are hoping soon to send out a box, and it will be a great boon to many interested in the institution at Kohimarama if the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge shall deem the case worthy of aid."

It was agreed, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to place books to the value of 10*l.* at the disposal of Lady Martin, for the purpose indicated in her letter.

Coast Guard and Admiral Tarleton.—The Standing Committee reported that Admiral Sir Walter Tarleton, K.C.B., had applied for grant of books to enable him to leave some useful and religious literature at some of the more remote of the coast-guard stations. There are about 700 stations in all, many of which are in remote and isolated positions. Admiral Tarleton is about starting on a voyage of inspection of all the stations.

The Standing Committee recommended that grant of books to the value of 20*l.* should be placed at the disposal of Admiral Tarleton for the purpose named.

This grant was made.

Arctic Expedition.—The Standing Committee reported that they had great pleasure in offering books to the chaplains on board the "Alert" and the "Discovery," the two ships which sailed on the 29th ult. to explore the Arctic Seas. Unfortunately there was not room to stow away any large number of books in addition to those with which the ships were already provided.

The chaplains, however, had gladly accepted ninety copies of the Society's Manual for Seamen.

This was approved.

Diocese of St. John's, South Africa.—Bishop Callaway of this See applied for several sets of Service Books for new churches and Mission stations; also for Scripture Prints, &c., for use by the Rev. John Gordon at All Saints' Mission Station; and for a large supply of School Books for the Mission generally.

The Standing Committee recommended a grant of five 8vo Service Books, to be placed at the Bishop's disposal.

Also that Miscellaneous Books, &c., to the value of 5*l.* be granted for the Station specified, and School Books to the value of 10*l.*

These grants were made.

Diocese of Moosonee.—The Bishop of this diocese applied for a grant of 1000 copies of the Psalter in the Cree language, syllabic character. The M.S. of this the Bishop had sent home in summer. The cost of these will be about 8*l.*

It was agreed, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, to supply the Bishop with what he asked for.

Diocese of Norwich.—The Ven. H. R. Newell, Archdeacon of Norfolk, applied, on behalf of the Central Diocesan Board of Education, for a grant of S.P.C.K. Books, to the value of 8*l.*, to meet an equal expenditure on books by the Board: the whole of the books to be given to Pupil-teachers in National Schools of the fifth year, who were placed in December last in the First Class at the Diocesan Examination of Pupil-teachers in Religious Knowledge.

This grant was made on the recommendation of the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Bath and Wells.—The Rev. W. Michell, Diocesan Inspector in Religious Knowledge, applied for a grant of S.P.C.K. Books to the value of 4*l.*, to meet an equal outlay in books on the part of the Diocesan Education Society: the whole of the books to be given as prizes in Religious Knowledge to Pupil-teachers who obtain First Classes in a Central Examination which 200 Pupil-teachers are competing.

This grant was made, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, as applied for.

parts of S.P.C.K. Books, one of 10l., the other 1l. in value, to meet an equal outlay in Books on the part of the Boards of Education in the Archdeaconries of Salop and Hereford respectively; the whole of the Books to be given to Pupil-teachers as prizes for proficiency in Religious knowledge, after Central Examinations.

"These grants were made on the recommendation of the Standing Committee.

Diocese of Adelaide.—The Standing Committee reported that the Rev. John Bach, late Minister of Holy Trinity, St. Lucia, in the diocese of Baradoes, had made application for a grant in aid of his passage-money to the diocese of Adelaide.

The Rev. H. W. Tucker, of S.P.G., acting on the Bishop's behalf, had stated that the S.P.G. had sought for a "Missionary Chaplain" and found Mr. Bach, but that the S.P.G. had nothing to do with providing Mr. Bach's salary or passage-money. Mr. Bach stated that his own means were not sufficient to bear the cost of his own passage together with that of his wife and three children, the passage of an individual without outfit being 45l.

Mr. Bach arrived from the West Indies last November, being unable to stay there because of his wife's health; he hopes to remain permanently in Australia if he can accept the appointment now offered to him.

The Standing Committee had granted 45l. from Canning's Fund for Mr. Bach's passage to Adelaide.

Diocese of Madras.—The Standing Committee had received the following letter from the Bishop of Madras:—

"Ootacamund, 22nd April, 1875.

"MY DEAR MR. SWABEY,—A letter from your office addressed to me, and dated 8th December, 1869, by Mr. Evans, informed me that "the Standing Committee have agreed to give the sum of 250l. towards the erection of the Bishop Cotton School Buildings at Bangalore, the amount to be drawn for when 1750l. shall have been collected from other sources."

"I am able to certify that the stipulated amount has been raised with the help of Government, but the stipulated period of five years laid down in the printed form of application) as expired.

"I write now to ask if you will kindly obtain the consent of the Standing Committee to my drawing the 250l. on behalf of the Bishop Cotton School buildings, notwithstanding the lapse of more than five years.

"The Government of India have shown great liberality towards the Institution. They have given Rs. 12,000 for the cost of the site, and have promised the equivalent of all subscriptions from private sources towards the cost of the buildings (Rs. 40,250), besides lending all the money to pay for the buildings at 5 per cent.

"The subscriptions amount to Rs. 3751. This, added to the Government equivalent and to the gift for the site, becomes Rs. 19,502.

"The last Report of the School is dated June, 1874. The number of boys at that time was 127; of girls, 69.—I am, &c.

"F. MADRAS."

The Committee added that the whole of the sum, 3000l., out of which the grant of 250l. referred to by the Bishop of Madras was to have come, had been appropriated to works in the diocese of Calcutta; but that as they had sufficient money to the credit of the Indian Fund to enable them to revive this lapsed grant, they had done so, and had agreed to tell the Bishop that he might draw for the sum of 250l.

Notices of Motion for the next Meeting.

Increase of the Episcopate in India.—The Standing Committee gave notice that at the next Monthly General Meeting, to be held on Tuesday, the 6th of July, they would propose the following resolution:—

"That, considering the present state and progress of the Church in India, and the importance of increasing the Episcopal superintendence of the Missionaries in that country, the Board do set aside a sum of 15,000l. to assist any well-matured scheme in India, for the endowment of additional bishops in India to promote and superintend the Missionary work in that country; it being understood that at the end of five years so much of the proposed grant shall lapse as shall not have been met by subscriptions of treble the amount from other sources."

Prizes for Religious Knowledge to Students on Admission to Church Training Colleges.—The Standing Committee reminded the Meeting that in June, 1874, they had passed the following resolution:—

"That the Society should offer Prizes in money to the value of 3l. each, to all those candidates for admission to Training Colleges who shall be placed in the first class by the Archbishop's Examiner in Religious Knowledge, and who shall be admitted to some Church Training College."

The Committee informed the Meeting that eighty-six young men and women who had gained first classes, and had entered some Church of England Training College, had received 3l. each (in all 258l.) at the commencement of the present year.

The Committee added that in future the Examination of Candidates for admission to Training Colleges would be conducted, not by an Examiner appointed by the two Archbishops and paid by S.P.C.K. as heretofore, but by Examiners appointed by the National Society. They gave notice, however, that, acting in accordance with the wishes of the National Society, they would, at the next Monthly General Meeting, propose that a sum of 300l. be reserved to enable the Society to grant prizes of 3l. each to those candidates for admission to Church of England Training Colleges who shall gain first classes in an Examination in Religious Knowledge, to be conducted under the auspices of the National Society, and who shall be admitted to some Church Training College. The Committee added that they should make this proposal on the distinct understanding that the National Society would in future bear half the cost of similar money prizes.

Social Science Committee.—The Rev. Charles Miller, Vicar of Harlow, gave notice that at the next Monthly Meeting of the Society, he would call attention to the proceedings of the above Committee, established December, 1872.

Letter of Thanks, &c.

"Bombay, May 10th, 1875.

"DEAR SIR,—I am desired by the Bombay Diocesan Committee, S.P.C.K., to convey through you to the Standing Committee their best thanks for the readiness with which the Parent Society has complied with their request to grant 200l. for the translation and publication in the Vernacular of Books on the Society's list.

"The Diocesan Committee are at present engaged in preparing for the press the S.P.C.K. Commentary on the New Testament, by the Rev. Walsam How, and various authors, a work which it is thought will take a considerable portion of the sum specified. They are also anxious to prepare a small selection of Hymns for public worship, consisting of such hymns only as may be found in the new S.P.C.K. Hymn Book. Also the sum of 5l. has been already paid to a Native Catechist for his share in the work of translating 'Maclear's Catechism,' which has been already published at the expense of the Society. Other elementary books will be put in hand as opportunity offers; and I shall be obliged by your furnishing me with a form of bill on which to draw for the Society's grant.

"I am, dear Sir, yours very truly,

"F. L. SHARPIN, Hon. Sec. S.P.C.K.

SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL IN FOREIGN PARTS.

The Monthly Meeting of the Society was held at 19, Delahay Street, on Friday, May 21, the Bishop of Rochester in the chair.

1. Read minutes of last meeting.

2. The Treasurers presented a statement of the Society's income to the end of April.

3. The Rev. Dr. Stevens Parry, Secretary and Historiographer of the General Convention of the American Church, was introduced to the Board by the Chairman, and addressed the Meeting.

4. The Secretary reported that in obedience to the Resolution of the last Meeting of the Society, the Standing Committee had reconsidered the question of the Grant to Goulburn and reported,—

"That the whole of the calculated income of the Society for the next year being already appropriated, the Committee regret that they cannot at present propose any addition to the grant for Goulburn, but they have reason to expect that in 1876 the Society will again be in a condition to grant single sums; and they are prepared to propose that the first single grant of 1000l. shall be made for Church Endowment in Goulburn Diocese, to be payable in the course of six years, on the condition of four times the amount being raised to meet it, and the whole invested as a permanent fund, the interest of which shall be applicable to the stipends of clergy only."

The Bishop of Goulburn addressed the Meeting on this question.

5. The Secretary read a letter from the Bishop of Melbourne on the question of the grant to Melbourne.

6. The Rev. W. H. White, Vicar of Kenton, Suffolk, was accepted as an Honorary Missionary in Zululand, Rev. T. W. Windley, B.A., for Calcutta, Rev. J. Bach, formerly Rector of Castries, S. Lucia, for Adelaide, and Mr. W. H. Höppler for Calcutta.

7. Resolved that twenty-five copies of Professor Monier Williams' Book on "Indian Wisdom" be purchased for use in the Society's Missions in the East.

8. The Secretary reported that the Standing Committee, having considered the subject of the persecutions to which Christians are exposed in the East, referred to them by the last Meeting on the suggestion of the Rev. S. Arnott, had not been able to obtain as yet sufficient evidence to enable them to recommend the Society to take any formal action, but they will avail themselves of any opportunity that may arise of procuring further information on the subject.

9. Resolved that the Earl of Chichester and the Venerable Archdeacon Huxtable be elected Vice-Presidents of the Society.

10. The Rev. W. Blunt proposed the resolution of which he had given notice; which was seconded by Rev. E. J. Selwyn:

"That Bye-law IXa stand thus:—

"That with a view to give the Members of the Society dispersed throughout the country a more distinct voice in the management of the Society's affairs and to encourage their interest in Missionary work, the members resident in each Diocese be at liberty to select, before the February Meeting of the Corporation in each year, two of their own body, not being Vice-Presidents or paid officers of the Society, to represent them on the Standing Committee, such election being subject to confirmation by the Society at its Annual Meeting; and that each such diocesan election shall continue in force for a period of three years, unless a new election shall within that time take place. The election in each diocese shall be conducted by the Diocesan Secretary or Secretaries, in such manner as the incorporated members in that diocese shall determine."

On a division the proposal was carried.

11. The Rev. W. Blunt gave notice of his intention to move at the next Meeting that it be referred to the Standing Committee to consider and report to the Board on the following proposed alterations in Bye-laws V. and VI:—

"V. That other members of the Standing Committee, not exceeding twenty-four in number, shall be elected by the Society out of its incorporated members. It shall be the duty of the Standing Committee, when recommending the names of persons for such election, to frame their recommendations, so far as they shall find practicable, with a view to one-half such non-official members being qualified, by personal acquaintance with some colony or dependency (or by residence in foreign parts) to aid the Society with counsel and information concerning its foreign work.

"VI. For the third word 'the' substitute 'such.'"

The Rev. J. W. Horsley proposed, and Rev. E. H. MacLachlan seconded the resolution of which he had given notice, but after a discussion he withdrew his proposal.

13. The Rev. C. Bull obtained permission to postpone to the next Meeting the consideration of the motion of which he had given notice.

14. Resolved that, subject to the approbation of the Standing Committee and the Society's Solicitors, the Seal of the Society be affixed to a Power of Attorney for the purchase of a site for the erection of the English Church at Rome.

15. The Bishop of Melbourne gave notice of his intention to move at the next meeting—

"That in the expenditure of any additional moneys which may hereafter be at the disposal of the Society, the Society ought to have regard first of all to the special object for which the Society was originally founded, viz. to assist the members our Church in the various colonies in providing for themselves the ministry of the Word and Sacraments."

16. All the members proposed in March were elected.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

General Committee, April 12th.—A letter was read from the Secretary of the United Methodist Free Churches, dated Sheffield, April 7, informing the Committee of the death of the Rev. Charles New, Missionary of that Society in East Africa, and acknowledging in grateful terms the kindness shown by the Church Missionary Society's Missionaries at Kisulidini and Mombas under the circumstances.

A letter having been read from the Rev. T. Vores, dated Hastings, April 8, forwarding a remittance from the Hastings Association, and stating that it would be the last time he would have the pleasure of forwarding the contributions of the Hastings Association, the following Resolution was passed:—"That the Committee cannot receive this intimation of the retirement of the Rev. T. Vores from active connexion with the Society without an expression of their affectionate regard and esteem for one who for the space of so many years laboured earnestly and zealously in its cause, both as one of the Secretaries of the Society, and subsequently as a parochial clergyman."

Special Committee, April 20th.—The Rev. H. Maundrell being about to proceed to the Japan Mission, and the Rev. E. Young to the North-West America Mission, the Instructions of the Committee were delivered to them by the Hon. Clerical Secretary; and they were then addressed by the Bishop of Melbourne, and commended in prayer to the protection of Almighty God by the Rev. E. H. Carr.

General Committee, Special, April 20th.—A letter was read from the Rev. B. J. Wheeler, Vicar of Whitley, Newcastle-on-Tyne, dated April 7, recommending to the Committee for the post of Medical Missionary for the East Africa Mission, Mr. Edward Wood Forster, a medical man residing in his neighbourhood, who desired to devote himself to Missionary work in Africa. A letter having been read from Mr. Forster, offering himself for the post of Medical Missionary, and also from friends of the Society, bearing testimony to the Christian character and qualifications of Mr. Forster, the Committee thankfully accepted the offer of Mr. Forster to join the East Africa Mission as a Medical Missionary.

The Committee also considered the offer of Mr. W. Harris for the post of Lay Superintendent for the East Africa Mission, who had been trained as a naval engineer for five years at Woolwich, and had seen eleven years' service on the West Coast of Africa and elsewhere, and during the last two years had been engaged at Twickenham in connexion with the London City Mission. Letters from friends of the Society having been read, bearing favourable testimony to Mr. Harris's Christian character and special qualifications, the Committee resolved that Mr. Harris be offered the post of Lay Missionary in the East Africa Mission with the allowances of an Ordained Missionary.

Committee of Correspondence, April 27th.—The location of Mr. W. Brereton, a student at the Institution, having been considered by the Committee, he was appointed to the Pekin Mission, in the event of such location receiving medical sanction.

A letter was read from the Rev. H. T. Bend, dated Abeokuta, March 14, stating the road to Lagos was in the hands of Dahomeans that he had heard that the Dahomian army encamped near Ishagga, and from thence pillaging and destroying all the farms villages on the Lagos road, and that the people of Abeokuta were expecting the Dahomians attack them. The Committee having conferred with Sir John Glover, who was present, as to the possibility of inducing the King of Dahomey to abandon his constant incursions into the country, the Secretaries were requested to confer with the Society's friends in Parliament as to the propriety of urging the Government to their influence for the preservation of peace in the countries lying to the rear of the British territories at Lagos.

General Committee, Special, April 27th.—Secretaries referred to a Missionary Conference of members of the Church of England, which proposed to be held in London on June 23, the purpose of discussing Missionary plans stimulating Missionary zeal and exertion. It stated that, although no official communication had been received on the subject, inquiry had been made at the House whether the Society would be willing to take any part in it; and they also reminded the Committee that Conferences of the friends and supporters of the Society were frequently held in various places for the purpose indicated. It was resolved, after careful consideration, that it is not advisable for the Society to take any part in the proposed Missionary Conference.

THE INCORPORATED SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE ENLARGEMENT, BUILDING, AND REPAIRING OF CHURCHES AND CHAPELS.

The Annual General Court of this Society was held on Thursday, 27th ult., at 7, Whitehall, under the presidency of the Archbishop of Canterbury, who was supported by the Bishops of Bangor and St. Asaph, the Deans of York and Lichfield, the Archdeacons of Maidstone and Westminster, the Revs. John Evans, A. Cassel, A. J. Ingram, A. Fitaroy; Messrs. John Boodle, George Cowburn, A. B. Bryer, J. H. Mathews, William Rivington, Richard Foster, J. F. France, C. W. C. Otway, &c., &c.

The Rev. John Evans acted as Secretary.

The following resolution of the Committee, passed at their Meeting on Monday, 24th May, was read by the Primate:—

"Before proceeding to the business of the day, the Committee desire to express their sense of the great loss sustained by this Society, and by the Church, in the death of the Rev. George Ainslie, who for the last eighteen years has faithfully and judiciously discharged the duties of his office as Secretary, with such zealous devotion to the interests of the Society, and such uniform kindness and courtesy to all with whom he had relation in the conduct of its business."

"The Committee desire to record the deep feeling of respect and affection with which they regard his memory, and to offer to his bereaved relatives the cordial expression of their sympathy and condolence."

The Archbishop of CANTERBURY said that he concurred in every word of the above resolution. Mr. Ainslie had been Secretary of the Society for eighteen important years, and it would indeed be a weighty document which should bring before us a record of the churches which had been built and restored during that period, and this Society and its Secretary was entitled certainly to a full share of credit for all that had been done. During Mr. Ainslie's tenure of office the various Diocesan Societies had entered largely into the work of church-building, but he considered that the work of that Society was far from over, for a central institution was indispensable.

This resolution having been approved and cordially adopted by the meeting, the Rev. John Evans read the Fifty-seventh Annual Report of the Society. It appeared from this Report that the total receipts of the Society for the last year amounted to 12,628l. 6s. 9d., and that the total amount granted was 11,410l.

The legacies included bequests from the late Bishop of Gibraltar (Bishop Harris), 3150l.; Rev. Martin Wright, 1557l. 12s. 6d.; Lady St. John, 1007l. 18s. 9d., specially for a church at St. Leonard's.

Attention was specially drawn to the trust funds vested in the Society for the repairs of churches and other like purposes, and to the very useful and beneficial exercise of the powers vested in the Society, as an incorporated body, to hold property of this kind; the guardianship of these funds involving no expense to the incumbents or churchwardens of the parishes or districts concerned, and requiring no trust deeds or renewal trusts.

The several resolutions were moved and seconded by the Bishop of Bangor, R. Foster, Esq., the Hon. the Dean of York, William Rivington, Esq., the Dean of Lichfield, J. F. France, Esq., the Bishop of St. Asaph, and Archdeacon Harrison.

Mr. BRYER bore testimony to the character of Mr. Ansie, as one of his oldest and dearest friends; and the Rev. E. A. Fitzroy referred to the loss the Society had sustained by the death of the Archdeacon of Middlesex, and urged the necessity of the Clergy more freely giving offertories to the Society.

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE EMPLOYMENT OF ADDITIONAL CURATES.

THE anniversary meeting of this Society was held on Tuesday, June 1. The chair was taken by the Archbishop of York, and among those present on the platform were the Bishops of Gloucester and Bristol, Hereford, Ripon, and Rochester; the Dean of Lichfield, Archdeacon Mildmay, Canon Gregory, and others. The report stated that the first year after the inauguration of the day of intercession additional contributions amounting to 6177l. 15s. 7d. were, through the Society's agency, secured to the service of the Church, while in 1873 the increase on the income of the preceding year was 5079l. 17s. 10d., and in the past year there had been a further increase of no less than 5690l. 17s. 4d. The great increase in the contributions entrusted to the Society was in what might be called its permanent sources of income—in donations, subscriptions, and parochial contributions. In ten years this one item of income had risen from 25,805l. 16s. 6d. to 32,184l. 8s. 4d. The total income received by the treasurers for the year 1874 was 60,921l. 2s.; as against 55,270l. 4s. 8d. in the preceding year.

COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH.

THURSDAY, MAY 27.

(Sittings in Banco, before the LORD CHIEF JUSTICE, Mr. Justice LUSH, and Mr. Justice FIELD.)

RIGHT TO DEMAND A POLL.

DONOVAN v. THE VESTRY OF THE PARISH OF ST. MATTHEW, BETHNAL GREEN.

THIS case raised the question as to the mode of ascertaining the sense of a parish or other popular body on any subject of public interest.

A mandamus had been applied for on the ground that the resolution of the meeting was invalid by reason of the refusal of a Poll.

The LORD CHIEF JUSTICE, in delivering judgment against the application, said that, generally speaking, wherever a decision was come to by a public body on a matter affecting the public interest, and a right of voting was subject to some qualification which might have to be required into, a poll was demandable by those who were dissatisfied with the decision of the meeting. Thus a poll was necessarily incident to an election by a show of hands, and, indeed, it was the only mode in which large bodies of people could express their opinions in peace and order. Thus it had been held, both in the Common Law and Ecclesiastical Courts, that a poll was demandable at a vestry or parochial meeting. That the decision was prima facie vested in those who were at the meeting did not preclude the right to demand a poll, which was a common law right. This had been established by several decisions in modern times in this Court. Looking to the general law, there was nothing in the Act (The Public Libraries and Museums Act, 1855—also the Public Libraries Act, 1866) to exclude the right of dissentients to demand a poll. As to the argument founded on the Scotch Act to assimilate the law of the two countries on this subject repealing that provision, it only showed the opinion of the Legislature that the Scotch Act alone authorized a poll. But this was the mere opinion of the members of the Legislature, and a legislative exposition of the law did not bind the courts of law except in a Declaration Act, an Act passed expressly to enact and declare the law. The resolution, therefore, of the meeting in this case, when a majority present agreed to adopt the Libraries Act, was not binding upon the vestry, a poll having been refused, and the Court could not by mandamus enforce it.

The application, therefore, for a mandamus was refused, but not with costs.

The appeal in this case has been withdrawn. Mr. Brooks, Proctor of Rev. J. A. H. Mackonchie, lodged a "proxy of withdrawal," and undertook to pay the costs of Mr. Martin, the Respondent in the appeal.

In a letter to the Archbishop, giving at some length, his reasons for withdrawing the appeal, Mr. Mackonchie says, "I entered the appeal expecting it to be heard by the New Court of Judicature, and should not otherwise have appealed at all."

CHURCH PATRONAGE BILL.

ON the motion for going into Committee on this Bill, which had been considered and amended by a Select Committee,

LORD HOUGHTON urged several objections to the measure, and observed that, according to his experience, there was no ground for the charge implied in the Bill, that there had been great abuse in the administration of lay patronage. A discussion arose on the 5th clause, converting donatives into presentative benefices, and VISCOUNT PORTMAN opposed it on the ground that it would take away from individuals their property without any notice of compensation.

The Bishop of Peterborough mentioned several instances of abuse which occurred in connexion with the existence of donatives. He admitted that in taking away property the Legislature was bound to give compensation, but such was not the case when the Legislature took away privileges.

The clause which was opposed by Lord ARUNDELL of WARDOUR, and supported by the Marquis of SALISBURY, was agreed to, and the Bill passed through Committee, clauses 12 and 14 being omitted, and clause 18, abolishing bonds of resignation, being carried, on a division, by 30 to 16.

A new clause proposed by the Archbishop of CANTERBURY, prohibiting after a lapse of ten years the sale of next presentations, was rejected by 25 to 20.

CHURCH PATRONAGE BILL.

ON the order for considering the report of amendments in this Bill,

LORD HOUGHTON declared that, in his opinion, the Bill was not called for by the permanent interests of the Church, and he put it to the Bishop of Peterborough whether it would not be advisable to proceed no farther with it.

The Bishop of Peterborough said he could not comply with such a singular and unprecedented request, and the report of amendments was then received and considered.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

TUESDAY, MAY 11.

BISHOPRIC OF ST. ALBAN'S BILL.

ON the question of the second reading of this Bill,

MR. RICHARD moved its rejection, on the ground that it perpetuated and extended a class of political-ecclesiastical State officials who were not needed, and also because it proceeded on the assumption that the bulk of the population belonged to the Church of England. He read a long string of extracts from Church newspapers, in which the bishops were abused from every ecclesiastical point of view.

MR. B. HOPE repudiated the "ridiculous rubbish" which Mr. Richard had read from the Church newspapers, which, he said, might be more than lapped from the prints representing the various Dissenting sects. The Bill did not clash with Lord Lyttelton's Bill; but it met a practical want, and he hoped it would become law at once.

SIR WILLIAM HARCOURT supported the Bill as a friend of the principle of establishment, because it asserted the authority of the State, and proceeded on the principle that Parliament would regulate the Church's affairs without consulting Convocation.

The Bill was also supported by Colonel MAKINS and Mr. GRANTHAM, representatives of Essex and Surrey, districts affected by it; by Mr. MONK, who said he should move the abolition of the Congé d'élire, and by Sir T. CHAMBERS, who regarded it merely as a practical rearrangement of ecclesiastical districts.

MR. CROSS having spoken chiefly in defence of the bishops, the House divided, when there appeared—

The Bill was accordingly read a second time; and on

BISHOPS IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

ON the motion of going into Committee of Supply,

MR. CHARLEY called attention to the reduction of the number of Spiritual Peers caused by the joint operation of the Irish Church Act and the Bishopric of Manchester Act, which reduction, he argued, was prejudicial on political and constitutional grounds. Now that the Irish Bishops had been taken from the House of Lords, the limitation imposed by the Manchester Act might be dispensed with.

MR. BRERFORD HOPE said the postponement of Senatorial duties secured to the Junior Bishop by the Manchester Bishopric Act was of great value to him in enabling him to make acquaintance with his diocese, &c.

SIR H. WOLFF took the same view, and Sir H. SELWIN IBBETSON, on the part of the Government, pointed out that the whole question had been considered and settled in 1847, and there was no ground now for reopening it.

BISHOPRIC OF ST. ALBAN'S BILL.

On the consideration of the Amendments to this Bill,

Mr. MONK moved an amendment of clause 8, for the purpose of preventing the new Dean and Chapter of St. Alban's from being called upon to elect a person as Bishop of that See of whom they might not approve.

Mr. FORSYTH seconded the amendment, urging that it would serve no good purpose to keep up the present fiction of the Congé d'élire addressed to a Dean and Chapter, who must elect a particular person under the terrors of a premunire.

Mr. CROSS opposed the motion, on the ground that there were at present no Dean and Chapter of St. Alban's, nor did the Bill make provision for creating them. The general question—how bishops ought to be appointed—was a very proper one to raise, but this was not the occasion for raising it.

INCREASE OF THE EPISCOPATE BILL.

Mr. BERESFORD-HOPE moved the second reading of this Bill which had come down from the Lords, and by which it was proposed where the governing power of the Church was weak, by reason of the increase of population, or the area of the diocese, and where proper means were obtainable from a reliable source, that the State, acting with the Church, might divide the existing dioceses, and found a new bishopric.

Sir W. HARCOURT moved the rejection of the Bill on the ground that it was a sort of Episcopal Provisional Order Bill, to advocate an indefinite number of new bishops. Besides, such a proposal, if entertained at all, ought to come from the Government. He considered the measure both unnecessary and unwise, and as undermining the principle on which the relations of Church and State were founded.

Mr. HARDY supported the Bill. The truth had been established that there was a need of bishops in many places, and that there were persons in this country who, if they saw there was a prospect of having a diocese established which would relieve the diocese in which they lived, would be willing to enter into negotiations for the endowment of a new bishopric.

Mr. DILLWYN opposed the Bill on the ground that there were already too many bishops.

The adjournment of the debate having been moved by Mr. WADDY, a division took place, when there appeared—

Other motions for the adjournment of the House and the adjournment of the debate were then put and negatived; but ultimately the debate was adjourned.

MONDAY, MAY 31.

THE VICAR OF HALIFAX.

Lord F. CAVENDISH asked the First Lord of the Treasury whether, under the provisions of the Act 10th George IV. cap. 14—Local and Personal Acts—a rate termed the Vicar's rate was levied in lieu of Easter offerings on all houses in twenty out of the 23 townships of the parish of Halifax; and whether he could now state if any appointment to the Crown Living of Halifax, now vacant, would be made subject to the amendment of the said Act.

Mr. DISRAELI said the stipend which the Vicar of Halifax now receives is not a stipend, to use the language of the noble lord, which "is levied in lieu of Easter offerings" only. It is a stipend levied in lieu, first of all, of tithes, of mortuaries, and of more than one other rate. The annual income derived or derivable from these sources would be very large indeed. I have here an estimate on which I place some confidence, amounting to 12,000*l.* a year. The House may be astonished at that, but it will be still more astonished when I say that other accounts have reached me in which the sum derived from the sources I have mentioned amounts to 40,000*l.* a year. The House will therefore see that this was a very large business, and when the Act of 1849 was passed, by which the patron and vicar accepted, in lieu of it, the sum of 1409*l.*, that cannot be described as "unfavourable to the public interest." On the contrary, he thought some dissatisfaction was experienced at it by those connected with the Vicar. But by the Act of 1829 of course all parties are bound. One of the districts concerned has already redeemed its portion of the payment, and it is open to all the others to do the same. He was not at all, as at present advised, prepared, in submitting any name to her Majesty, to make any condition that the Act of Parliament should be tampered with. He thought the arrangement which had been made was on the whole in favour of the public interest; but he reserved to himself the right, in recommending a new Incumbent to the Crown, to make any other condition he might deem necessary, such as a condition relating to the important leases falling-in in the course of twelve or fourteen years. Beyond that, he did not think it necessary to say anything in reply to the noble Lord's question.

INCREASE OF THE EPISCOPATE BILL.

In reply to Mr. HEYGATE, Mr. BERESFORD HOPE said that, after the strong expression of the House in favour of this Bill, he had some right to look to the Treasury Bench for assistance; and he intended to put it on the votes at short intervals, and so keep it alive until a day could be fixed on which the debate could be resumed.

CONVOCAION OF THE PROVINCE OF CANTERBURY.

THE following able summary of the proceedings of the important Session of Convocation, which took place on April 13—16, appeared in the Guardian of April 21.

The proceedings in the Upper House have not on this occasion occupied much time.

On Wednesday the Bishop of LINCOLN presented a number of petitions, one being against the use of the Westminster Abbey pulpit by Presbyterian ministers, and another from 10,000 men communicants in favour of the vestments. A new rubric, recommended by a committee of their Lordships to be inserted in the Confirmation Service in order to meet the case of persons baptized without sponsors, was unanimously adopted; as was also one empowering the Archbishop or principal consecrator to omit the demand for the Queen's mandate in cases where such a document was not by law required. A committee was appointed to consider an application from the Indian prelates for the authorization of a prayer for Missions.

On Thursday their Lordships adopted a report on additional services, but the Bishop of NORWICH demurred to a form for the admission of readers.

On Friday the ARCHBISHOP announced that the Scott Robinson petition, which had been signed by 5376 clergymen, and the Church Association petition signed by 146,650 persons, against permission to use the vestments or the eastward position, being addressed to the prelates generally, would be considered at the next meeting at Lambeth. It was agreed that a second Pan-Anglican Synod should meet in 19 which will be in the tenth year from that which took place under Archbishop Longley.

The Bishop of LINCOLN gave notice that would call attention to the alterations which the Irish Synod was proposing to make in its Prayer Book as likely to affect the friendly relations existing between the two Churches.

The ARCHBISHOP, however, deprecated such step as likely to cause irritation, and Bishop Wordsworth consented to withdraw his proposal.

The House was then prorogued to 29th June.

In the Lower House the debate on the eastward position was begun on Wednesday, April 14, by Canon GREGORY, who moved the resolution suggested by the Committee on Rubrics, namely, that "diversity of usage should not be interfered with." The rev. gentleman, in a long and able speech, observed that though the numerous denunciations had with a great appearance of unanimity voted against any interference with the rubrics, they were no nearer a peaceful termination of the controversy. They had only agreed to a truce which would last until the next judgment of the Court of Appeal. Nothing, therefore, could be more opportune than a resolution which might contribute to a real settlement of the dispute. At the present moment at least a sixth of the London clergy celebrated eastwards, and probably it would be found that the communicants at the churches which they served equalled in number those at all the rest. There could thus be no question as to the wide prevalence of the usage at the present time. Mr. Gregory produced a great body of evidence, some of it very interesting, to prove that it had also prevailed more or less from the Reformation, and that the contrary practice at the commencement of the current century was the exception rather than the rule. He contended that the doctrine which the eastward position symbolized had been formally sanctioned by the Judicial Committee in Mr. Bennett's case; and that in the only instance where the liberty of the clergy in the matter had been interfered with it had been done by those who had brought their King and their Archbishop to the block, and, so far as men could do it, had destroyed the Church of England. To insist on absolute uniformity was sheer Popery, for the policy of the Vatican since the Reformation had been to put down local uses, and to enforce a rigid uniformity throughout the Latin communion; whereas the English plan had ever been to allow as much diversity as could properly be done. That what was now asked for would not satisfy extreme Low Churchmen was shown by a pamphlet of Mr. Wolfe, which demanded the excision of the Prayer of Consecration in the one sacrament, and the prayer for the mystical sanctification of the water in the other. If Puritanism prevailed, those on whom the blow would fall would be, "not the extreme," but the moderate High Churchmen. The former could and would find other means of teaching their doctrines. They would, for instance, tell their people to prostrate themselves at the consecration in such a mode that there might be no doubt that they were offering adoration; but moderate men could not resort to such an expedient. The extreme party had through their organs declared that they would remain at their posts, but that they would support disestablishment. Moderate men, again, could not take that course. Those who would really be assailed were, however, the bones and sinew of the national communion. Look, for instance, what had been done in the way of church building since they had given the impulse. The Evangelical revival had monopolized pretty nearly all the life and energy there was in the first five-and-thirty years of the century; but in that period, with Parliamentary grants amounting to a million and three quarters, only 783 churches were consecrated; whereas in the next thirty-five years, the period of the High Church revival, 3213 churches were built without a single shilling of public money. In conclusion, Mr. Gregory dwelt with much earnestness upon the disastrous effects of a policy which had deprived the Church of England of the services of Dr. Newman, and warned the House against a repetition of that mistake. After all, Ritualism had flourished on persecution, and it might fairly be said that its greatest promoter had been the Church Association.

Archdeacon Sir GEORGE PREVOST seconded the motion.

Canon JEBB protested against the notion that the Catholic revival was the fruit of the Oxford movement, and contended that amongst much that was good in the "Tracts for the Times" there was also a great deal that was mischievous. Still, he held that all the evidence was in favour of the eastward position, and that it would be a very great hardship to be compelled to abandon it.

Archdeacon KAYE (Lincoln) moved an amendment refusing the sanction of the House to a diversity of usage pending the decision of the courts of law. The ven. gentleman pointed out that if it were ultimately ruled that the Church did not allow such diversity, the House would find itself placed in an exceedingly embarrassing position. Let them leave matters exactly where they were, and abstain from what might lead the Church in a retrograde direction.

The Bishop of DOVER, (Dr. Parry) felt as the Archdeacon of Canterbury, that he was the representative of the minority of 107 who had just voted against the election of Canon Jeffreys. He objected to optional uses, and feared that great mischief would be done by the sudden changes to which such uses exposed congregations.

The Dean of WINCHESTER (Mr. Bramston), though he had signed Mr. Scott Robinson's memorial, felt that the circumstances had greatly changed since he had done so; and he thought that the committee had very successfully solved a great problem—namely, how to combine liberty with order. At the same time, he did not see that there was any more reason for calling the Church Association a "persecuting society" than there was for applying the term to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He should at the proper time propose as an amendment to add to Mr. Gregory's resolution the words "unless it be declared by due authority to be contrary to the law of the Church of England."

Archdeacon Lord Alwyne COMPTON urged that it was necessary that Convocation should decide upon the question before the Final Court was appealed to. That court was, he thought, sure to decide that one position was illegal and the other compulsory. Such a decision would disturb the earnest piety and devotion of either the Evangelical party or the High Church party. He did not see how the court was to decide against a position complained of as symbolizing a doctrine the court had allowed in the case of Mr. Bennett. He therefore urged the House to declare in favour of a diversity of position being made legal, and secure the liberty, comprehension, and permanence of the two great parties in the Church of England.

The Dean of WESTMINSTER lamented that the opportunity had not been taken to give the principle recommended by the committee a much wilder application. As to the "Catholic party," he could never hear without indignation it credited with so many virtues; for if it had increased the energy of the Church, it had also infused the gall of bitterness into ecclesiastical matters to a most deplorable extent; and against the acts of the Church Association might be set the Gorham case, the prosecution of the "Essays and Reviews," the fierce attack upon the Bishop of Natal, and the refusal to make concessions to scruples concerning the Athanasian Creed, and other matters. As to the position of the celebrant in the early Western Church it was certainly westward; and he hoped the courts of law would ultimately rule that the rubrics were ambiguous.

Archdeacon HARRISON having for the last thirty years studied the history of the rubrics with the view of finding material for the Archbishop of Canterbury, to whom reference was to be made on doubtful points, he was of opinion that there had been no carelessness in drawing them up. Archbishop Laud and Bishop Wren were not men to compromise truth. He thought it perfectly impossible to regard "standing before" to mean anything else than standing at the west end of the altar.

Chancellor HARRINGTON had never officiated turning towards the east, but as he had never been able to ascertain which was the legal position, declared in favour of liberty being allowed.

Canon WALSHAM HOW, who reminded the House that Convocation had been challenged to pronounce its opinion on these points, proceeded to dissect the reasons given by the seven dissentients, which (he said) did not seem to be of the weight which had been attributed to them.

Canon JEFFREYS, the newly-elected Proctor for the diocese of Canterbury, defended the original motion, and said that, so far from consecration at the north end being "before the people," it was often more like consecrating in a hole and corner. As for the Church Association, it ought to be handed over to the Society for Preventing Cruelty to Animals.

The Dean of LINCOLN (Mr. Blakesley), as one of the dissentients, would have been perfectly willing to allow an option, provided that the allowance could have been made in terms which did not denote the two positions in specific terms, and so give them a symbolical importance. Certainly he had no leanings in the direction of narrowness; still less did he desire to turn any one out of the Church.

On Thursday, April 15, the debate was resumed by Archdeacon DENISON, who protested against the idea of putting courts of law in the place of the Church's synods—in fact, he did not know which was the worse, the infallibility of the Papacy or the infallibility of the Privy Council.

Canon MILLER had dissented from the report, because it was wholly wanting in that boldness of tone which might have been expected from a committee sensible of the gravity of the crisis; because, in short, it was characterized by nothing better than a "decent debility." If the report were adopted the result would be services which, if not the Mass, would be extremely offensive to the people and distasteful to many of the clergy. The committee's concessions had been all one way, for he did not consider the black gown, or liberty to administer the Communion to groups, a concession at all—whereas liberty to omit the Damnable Clauses of the Athanasian Creed would have been really one. It did not seem to him that Canon Gregory's evidence covered much ground; and he much regretted that the rev. gentleman should have drawn a comparison between the labours of the two great parties in the Church. What the Evangelicals had done in the way of church building might be seen at Islington or at Birmingham; and certainly a party which could boast of a missionary society with an income of 250,000*l.* a year must be admitted to be a strong one. As for secessions, he could not say before God and that House that there were not men in the Church whom he did not wish to go; and he deeply regretted that the High Churchmen should throw their shield around persons whose teaching and practice were not those of the Church of England.

Canon RAWLINSON maintained that the Church of England had deliberately sanctioned a diversity of usage in far more important things than the position of the celebrant. If, for instance, they took a Chinese to a service at Westminster Abbey or at St. Paul's, and then took him to a small parish church in Wales, he would say that the diversity which was allowed was extraordinarily great.

Bishop PIERS CLAUGHTON, though a dissident, might have voted for Canon Gregory's motion but for the danger which he saw behind it. Supposing that they accepted the recommendations of the committee, would Parliament agree to them? And if it did, would they not give it an opportunity of revising the whole Prayer Book, including the question of the Athanasian Creed? Till quite lately he believed that very few of the clergy adopted the eastward position—indeed, Dr. Newman himself used to celebrate on the north side at St. Mary's, Oxford. For his own part, he strongly objected to brand men who adopted either of the two positions now in question as belonging to the one party or the other. If he had a leaning at all, it was to High Church; but he thought that half of what was called "Catholic truth" was made up of miserable mediævalisms. He had been told the other day that certain clergymen had been in Belgium learning their drill. If the resolution were carried, he should follow up his opposition to the other resolutions.

Archdeacon MOORE strongly objected to go to Parliament; but, unless the motion were followed up by legislation, it would be a mere brutum fulmen.

Canon RANDALL protested against the unfairness of applying the term "lawless" to those who declined to accept the judgments of the Privy Council, there having as yet been nothing that could be called a binding decision. He believed that the vestments were perfectly legal; but as regarded the position of the celebrant, it was impossible to say what the law was. At all events, the question was an open one, and one upon which the House might properly express its opinion.

The Dean of WORCESTER (the Hon. Grantham Yorke) strongly objected to the report of the committee, because, whilst it manifested great consideration for the feelings of a minority, it showed none for those who stood to the principles of the Reformation.

Archdeacon GRANT said that what Canon Miller meant when he complained of the report lacking boldness was that it was not one-sided enough. The Prayer Book distinctly recognized two ideas, and the report did no more. Besides, the great development of architectural adornment had rendered appropriate a sort of service that fifty years ago would have been thought extravagant.

Archdeacon GROOME (Norfolk) suggested that it would tend greatly to peace if men who held different views came more together.

Canon BUTLER (Wantage) thought that, considering the practical heathenism which filled our great towns, we should not be justified in neglecting any means of attracting the masses. What was now proposed was not a whip with six, but one with a thousand, thongs. A sense of injustice ate like iron into the soul, and if it were decided that a clergyman must not celebrate eastward, he feared the consequences would be most serious.

Canon HOPKINS (a dissident) was glad to find that the question was simply one of proceeding at once or using a wise delay. The resolution must be regarded either as a piece of advice, or as material for legislation. If it were only the former, he should not think it necessary to say a word; if the latter, the House ought to pause. Certainly, he was not prepared to place what was distinctive in our Service in the hands of each individual clergyman.

Prebendary KEMPE said his own bias was in favour of the eastward position, but it would be extremely unjust to adopt any course that would embarrass the party who were dissatisfied with that position. The justice of the case called for the north side, that being neutral ground.

Canon HARVEY had been in Holy Orders fifty-four years, and had never seen the eastward position adopted till quite lately.

On Friday Canon SWAINSON resumed the debate in a long speech, in which he argued the case for the north side with great elaboration.

Archdeacon CHAPMAN and Archdeacon ALLEN having briefly addressed the House,

Canon GREGORY announced that he would accept a resolution of which Canon Jeffreys (the newly elected member for Canterbury) had given notice.

The amendment of Archdeacon KAYE was then rejected by 61 to 22; after which the House unanimously adopted, with a few verbal alterations, the motion of Mr. JEFFREYS, which was seconded by the Dean of ST. PAUL'S; adding to it a rider proposed by the Dean of WINCHESTER. The result was then as follows:—

"That this House, having regard to the fact of the existing widespread diversity of practice with regard to the position of the celebrant in the administration of the Holy Communion, is convinced that it will be most for the welfare of the Church that such diversity be not disturbed, provided that in cases where changes are made and diversities arise it be left to the Ordinary to determine which practice shall be adopted. And further, that by this resolution no sanction is intended to be given to any doctrine other than what is set forth in the Prayer Book and the Articles of the Church of England."

The recommendation of the Committee as to the vestments was postponed; and the House proceeded to discuss a proposal of the Upper House to revive the note of the Ritual Commissioners on the rubric concerning the obligation of the clergy to recite the daily Office. Their Lordships proposed that it should stand thus:—

"The directions concerning the daily use of the Church Services are retained not as an indispensable rule, but as a witness to the value put by the Church on daily prayers and intercessions, and on the daily reading of the Holy Scriptures."

The Committee of the Lower House had advised the retention of the rubric, altering, however, the word "urgent" into "reasonable."

Probandary JOYCE proposed to give the clergy, when saying the Service privately, leave to begin at the Lord's Prayer and to end at the Third Collect; but he was defeated by 29 to 7; and the motion to adopt the recommendation of the Committee was carried by 26 to 6. The House then resolved on an answer:—

"Respectfully to represent to his Grace the President and their lordships the Bishops of the Upper House that the existing words of the rule for daily use of the Matins and Evensong—viz., generally 'not being let by sickness or some other urgent cause,' with the substitution of the word 'reasonable' for 'urgent,' and in the case of public use, 'being at home,' and not 'being otherwise reasonably hindered,' provide fully for all cases where the omission of the daily use is desirable; and that the Lower House cannot concur with the Upper House in accepting the proposed additional paragraph in this part of the Book of Common Prayer, but suggests that the word 'reasonable' be substituted for 'urgent.' The Lower House ventures at the same time to remind their Lordships of the Upper House that this synod has recommended that in all churches excepting cathedral and collegiate churches, and upon all days except Sundays and some holy-days, the Service may be shortened; and that this recommendation has received the sanction of the Legislature of the realm."

Convocation has adjourned till the 20th of June, when it will, if necessary, sit a fortnight to dispose of the question of the revision of the rubrics, though the Archbishop of Canterbury intimated that he thought a week should be enough.

METROPOLIS.

The Mission Movement of Messrs. Moody and Sankey.—The Archbishop of Canterbury has addressed to a Lay Friend the following letter:—

"My dear Lord,—Very soon after the conversation we had last week on the Missionary movement which Mr. Moody is conducting in London, I found an opportunity of consulting most of my Episcopal brethren on the subject. I would not be understood as speaking in their name; but my own view is very much strengthened by what I heard from them.

"It is impossible for me, in the position which I occupy in the National Church, not to take the deepest interest in a movement which, seeking the spiritual welfare of our people, has been so wonderfully successful in drawing together great masses to hear simple addresses on the great Gospel doctrines.

"I have communicated with parochial clergymen of various opinions on the subject, and I am sure the movement is regarded by all of us with deep interest, and we pray that it may bring a blessing to many souls. Many of our parochial clergy, as you are aware, have been present at the meetings in question, and those who have stood aloof have done so, not from any want of interest, but because they have felt that, greatly as they rejoiced that simple Gospel truths were urged on their people's consciences, there were circumstances attending the movement to which they could not consistently give their approval.

"The missionaries have been at work in different parts of the country for many months, and for several weeks in the metropolis; and their system is now generally understood. If there is a difficulty in the clergy generally giving any official sanction to the details of the work, you will at once see, that, in the case of the Bishops, there are greater difficulties in the way of any direct sanction which, coming from them, could not be regarded as other than official and authoritative; and I confess that the objections I originally felt, still remain in full force, now that we have had time to examine and to learn from various quarters the exact nature of the movement.

"That addresses urging, in whatever homely language, the great truths of the Gospel on our people's consciences should be delivered by laymen, is no innovation amongst us; and I heartily rejoice that the present movement is conducted on so great a scale, and with such apparent success.

"It is chiefly from the 'after meetings' for confession of sin, and for guidance of the conscience, as they have been described to me, that I am apprehensive lest evil may arise. I cannot think that the delicate and difficult duty of thus ministering to anxious souls ought to be entrusted to any who have neither been set apart by the Church for this special office, nor have given proof of such a spiritual insight as may in certain cases be held to take the place, in this particular, of the regular call to the cure of souls. I cannot but fear, from what I have heard, that the counsel given at these meetings must often be crude and founded upon no knowledge of the real circumstances and state of mind of those to whom it is addressed; while there is danger also lest some self-constituted advisers of others may do harm to themselves, seeking to be leaders when in truth they have much need to be led.

"I learn also, that in the organization for addressing God publicly in prayer, a great deal too much is trusted to the readiness of any one who may be present to accept without due preparation the grave responsibility of guiding the devotions of the multitude assembled.

"These objections are quite independent of others, which I have heard urged upon good authority, against particular statements as to doctrine said to be made without sufficient guard or explanation. I am not alluding so much to any depreciation of the ordinances which Christ has established for the edification of His Church, but rather to the allegation that in the discourses of the missionaries there are unwise and untrue representations of the almost universal necessity of instantaneous conversion, and of an ignoring of the full Scriptural teaching as to the nature of repentance.

"I cannot but trust that, if these allegations be true, friendly remonstrances may induce those who direct such missionary efforts, hereafter to avoid these obstacles to their real spiritual success.

"It has been said also, probably with truth, that the great majority of those who have frequented these services hitherto, have been the ordinary worshippers in churches and chapels, and that comparatively few from the neglected masses of society have been reached. No doubt there is among the respectable classes much selfish and self-satisfied indifference, out of which it is well that the preacher's voice should startle them. But I confess I rejoice to hear that the missionaries have now moved to that part of London which is especially inhabited by the neglected poor, and I trust that it will be found that their congregations are gathered from such as have been hitherto strangers to the sound of the Gospel.

"I am aware that many of the most quietly religious people amongst us regard, not unnaturally, with alarm these irregular efforts; such persons have scarcely been able to approve even of the Home Missions which have of late years been conducted by our own clergy, in a way to which our fathers were not accustomed. But, looking to the vastness of the field that lies before us, and the overwhelming difficulty of contending with the mass of positive sin and careless indifference which resists on all sides the progress of the Gospel, I for my part rejoice that, whether regularly or irregularly, whether according to the Divine, Scriptural, and perfect way, or imperfectly, with certain admixtures of human error, Christ is preached, and sleeping consciences are aroused.

"In the Old Testament Lesson for yesterday evening (Numbers xi.) our Church has brought before us, how the great Prophet of the Old Covenant, when he heard that others beside those whom he had regularly commissioned were addressing the people in the Lord's name, exclaimed, 'Enviest thou for my sake? Would God that all the Lord's people were prophets, and that the Lord would put His Spirit upon them.' This is the very lesson which the Lord Jesus Himself taught, when (Luke ix. 50) He told St. John not to forbid one who was casting out devils in His name, though he followed not with the regularly appointed company of the Apostles, saying, 'He that is not against us is for us.' It is, according to my judgment, in this spirit that we ministers of the Church of England are right to regard this missionary work. It is our part to trust and fervently to pray that God may guide all who speak in His name, that many hitherto careless or directly opposing, may have their hearts opened to the influence of the Gospel of Christ, and their lives regulated by His law; and I feel confident that our parochial clergy will not fail anxiously to assist all of their people who seem to be awakened by this preaching to a consciousness of sin, endeavouring to deepen all salutary impressions, and so to guide the course of each one's spiritual life that these impressions may not be passing.

"Believe me to be, my dear Lord,

"Yours faithfully,

"A. C. CANTUAR.

The next Monthly General Meeting will be held on Tuesday, 5th October, 1875, at two p.m.

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.

67, Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Tuesday, July 6, 1875.

Archdeacon Hesser in the Chair.

After Prayers the Minutes of the last Meeting were read.

Secretary's Detailed Explanation of Year Account.

The Secretary stated that Rule L. directed that he should at this Meeting give a detailed explanation of the yearly Accounts, and invite observations thereon.

He then submitted the following statement, based upon the Audit Account for the year ending 31st of March, 1875, as submitted to the last Monthly General Meeting, and printed in the Monthly Report for June.

First respecting Trusts Accounts:—

	£	s.	d.
The total receipts for Trusts during the year were	1502	0	8
The total payments	1687	5	7

Excess of payments over receipts ... 185 4 1

Thus the balance in favour of Trusts, which last year amounted to 2130*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.* has been reduced by 165*l.* 4*s.* 11*d.*, leaving a present balance of 1965*l.* 9*s.* 7*d.*

It is well that most of the Trust Funds now admit of being distributed, and that the accumulation which still exists upon some of them is likely still further to be reduced by the application of it to the promotion of Christian knowledge according to the purposes of the several Trusts.

Secondly, respecting the Bookselling Account:—

RECEIPTS.

	£	s.	d.
For Books sold in the ordinary way of Business	75,551	13	9
For Books granted by General Meetings and paid for out of the General Funds, for Books supplied to Trusts, and for Books supplied to Members below cost, &c.	16,471	10	2

The Balance Sheet of the Bookselling Account shows that the favourable balance on the yearly business was 4404*l.* 8*s.* Of this sum, since the Audit, 4000*l.* have been paid over to the General Funds to aid the charitable operations of the Society.

It is satisfactory to find that the cash receipts for books sold in the ordinary way of business have been somewhat larger than they were in the previous year, viz. 71,551*l.* 13*s.* 9*d.*, as against 75,373*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.*; and this, notwithstanding the discontinuance of the "People's Magazine," which circulated for nine months of the year ending 31st March, 1874, and brought in upwards of 2000*l.*, but which has not been in circulation at all during the year ending 31st March, 1875.

Fewer books have been granted or supplied below cost during the last year than during the preceding year. The amount received under these heads has been less during the latter of the two years than during the former by 1373*l.* 5*s.* 9*d.*

The profits in the former of the two years were 6135*l.* 6*s.* 3*d.*, as against 4404*l.* 8*s.* 10*d.* in the latter; a diminution of 1730*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.* This is very nearly to be accounted for by the one fact that "Church Hymns," which have been sold at half price during the year on first introduction, have realized at that price 3363*l.*; whereas, at ordinary prices, they would have realized 1681*l.* in addition.

The year has been one of great activity on the part of the Publishing Committees; and the issue of a large number of new books, which are depreciated below cost price at stock-taking, has always an injurious effect upon the balance sheet.

It is satisfactory that out of the reduced profits it has been possible to transfer the same sum as was transferred in the previous year, viz. 4000*l.* to the General or Charitable Fund.

Thirdly, respecting the General Account.

The foregoing figures compare favourably with the corresponding figures of the previous year. The Cash receipts of the Society have increased considerably, viz., by 7262*l.* 18*s.* By far the larger portion of this increase is due to an increase of Legacies which were exceptionally low in the former of the two years, and which have been slightly above the average in the latter of the two.

There has, however, also been an appreciable and very satisfactory increase under the head of Benefactions. Altogether, notwithstanding the activity of the Society in voting Money Grants, which have amounted during the year (less 165*l.* lapsed) to 20,002*l.*, the value of the Society's property increased during the year by 2084*l.* 7*s.* 5*d.*

It is well that this should be the case; and this, not because it is desirable that the Society should accumulate money which is entrusted to it for the purpose of promoting Christian knowledge, but because the Society has since the 31st of March, 1875, already voted away 1735*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*, and is on the point<sup>1</sup> of voting away a further sum of 15,000*l.* for the increase of the Episcopate for Missionary purposes in India, besides many smaller sums.

[The remaining portion of the Society's Report will be given in our next number.]

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SELECTIONS FROM

PROCEEDINGS OF COMMITTEE.

Committee of Correspondence, May 18th.—The location of Mr. T. B. Hodgson, a student at the Institution, was considered by the Committee; and the Secretaries having pointed out the demand for labourers in the North India Mission-field, the Committee appointed Mr. Hodgson to that Mission.

The Instructions of the Committee were delivered by the Hon. Clerical Secretary to Mr. W. E. Forster and Mr. W. Harris, proceeding to join the East Africa Mission, as Medical Missionary and Lay Agent, which, having been acknowledged by them, they were addressed by the Rev. E. Auriol and the Chairman, and then commended in prayer to the favour and protection of Almighty God by the Rev. W. H. Barlow, Principal of the Institution.

Committee of Correspondence, June 1st.—A letter was read from Mrs. Caiger, expressing her willingness to return to the Female Institution at Sierra Leone, as a temporary arrangement. The Committee thankfully accepted Mrs. Caiger's offer.

The Rev. R. Bruce, on his return from Persia, attended the Committee, and mentioned the circumstances which had led him while stationed at Dhera Ismael Khan, on the Punjab frontier, to take a special interest in the population of Central Asia. During the earlier years of his residence at Julfa (the Armenian suburb of Ispahan) he had confined his attention almost exclusively to the Mohammedans, but the conviction was growing upon him that the Armenians ought not to be neglected. To render a Mission in Ispahan effective, he considered that there should be one Missionary for the Armenians, another for the Mohammedans; but to enable this second Missionary to devote a good deal of his time to translational work there should be a third Missionary, and if he had medical knowledge he would find a very important and useful sphere of labour.

Committee of Correspondence, June 8th.—Reference was made to the death of a valued member of the Committee, Major-Gen. Rowlandson. Several friends who were present having borne affectionate testimony to General Rowlandson's simple and fervent piety, his uncompromising adherence to Evangelical principles, and the valuable services which for a long time past he had rendered to the Society's cause in Madras and at home, the Committee desired affectionately to record their sense of the great loss which they had sustained in the removal from among them of their esteemed friend, General Rowlandson. They recognized in the suddenness of it a renewed solemn call to themselves to work whilst it is day, and they desired to convey the assurance of their sincere sympathy to the bereaved members of their departed friend's family.

The Rev. T. P. Hughes was introduced to the Committee on his return from Peshawur, the frontier station of the Punjab, where he had laboured since 1864, and gave interesting information regarding the work he had been permitted to carry on at this advanced post on the borders of Central Asia. Mr. Hughes noticed briefly the schools at Peshawur, in which 400 boys and 100 girls were receiving Christian instruction; and dwelling upon the importance of maintaining a thoroughly Christian tone in all Mission schools, he related how, in one over which he had recently appointed a Christian head-master, dispensing with the services of the Mohammedan, who was formerly at the head of the school, this change had not diminished the attendance of Mohammedan pupils. Mr. Hughes next touched upon itinerating work, to which he felt specially called; and, as a mark of the change for the better in their feelings towards Christianity, he mentioned how one of the chiefs in the district of Peshawur had appointed him guardian of his son, to be educated and brought up by him until he came of age. Mr. Hughes referred to the Pushtoo translations, which he had brought home, of Genesis and Exodus; and concluded by giving information as to the present aspect of Mohammedanism, and to the importance of its careful study by those who laboured to bring Mohammedans to Christ.

The Rev. Rowland Bateman, returned on sick leave, was introduced to the Committee, and gave information regarding his different spheres of labour in the Punjab since 1868. At Dhera Ismael Khan, where most important work had been done in the large Mission School, formerly superintended by Mr. Townsend Storrs, and now by Mr. Baring; at Lahore, where he had been associated with Mr. French in the Divinity School, and finally in charge of the Itinerating Mission, on the banks of the Ravee. Mr. Bateman then gave some details of the spiritual work which had been recently carried on at Narowal, an important centre in his itinerating district, which was due, he believed, in a large measure, to the influence of a Native Christian, Nusrat Mah, the son of Paulus, the first convert of Narowal, whose family had also given the site of a new church there.

The Instructions of the Committee were delivered by the Rev. C. C. Fenn to the Rev. D. Wood, returning to the Ceylon Mission; and also, by the Hon. Clerical Secretary, to the Rev. J. H. Keen, proceeding to join the North-West American Mission, which having been acknowledged by them, they were addressed by the Rev. W. H. Barlow, the Principal of the Institution, and by the Chairman; and then commended in prayer to the favour and protection of Almighty God, by the Rev. R. C. Billing, Vicar of Holy Trinity, Islington.

THE INCORPORATED SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE ENLARGEMENT, BUILDING, AND REPAIRING OF CHURCHES AND CHAPELS.

This Society held its usual monthly meeting on Monday, June 21st, at the Society's house, 7, Whitehall, the Bishop of Winchester in the chair. There were also present the Earl of Powis, the Dean of York, Archdeacons Harrison and Jennings, H. Gerard Hoare, Esq., (Treasurer), Mr. A. J. B. Beresford Hope, M.P., &c.

The Rev. John Evans acted as Secretary.

Grants were made in aid of building eight new churches, of rebuilding six churches, and of enlarging, re-arranging, and repairing twelve churches.

Under urgent circumstances, the grants formerly made towards restoring the churches at Glen Magna, near Leicester, and Poling, near Arundel, Sussex, were each increased. Grants were also made from the Special School-church and Mission-house Fund towards building six school or mission churches.

The Rev. Ralph Milburn Blakiston, Assistant Organizing Secretary of the Additional Curates' Society for the Metropolitan District, was elected Secretary in the place of the late Rev. George Ainslie.

LAW.

JUDICIAL COMMITTEE OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

FRIDAY, JUNE 25.

(Present—Sir JAMES COLVILLE, Sir BARNES PEACOCK, Sir MONTAGUE SMITH, Sir ROBERT COLLIER, and Sir HENRY KEATING.)

ISLE OF MAN—RATING OF CLERGY.

INGRAM V. DRINKWATER.

This was an appeal from the decision of the Court of the Staff of Government, in the Isle of Man.

The appellant, the Rev. W. C. Ingram, is Vicar of St. Michael, Isle of Man; and the respondent was the Chairman of the Lunatic Asylum Committee of the island.

The question at issue was whether the appellant was liable to pay the sum demanded of him in the name of an alleged Asylum Rate for 1867, in respect of the payment made to him as Vicar of St. Michael, out of the fund derived from the tithe rent-charge of the island. The Bishop of Sodor and Man and his clergy denied their liability to pay such rates. The case was decided in the vicar's favour by the Deemster's Court sitting at Ramsay, but that judgment was subsequently reversed by the Court of the Staff of Government. Hence the present appeal.

Their Lordships ruled that the vicar was not liable, and accordingly allowed the appeal.

SATURDAY, JULY 10.

(Present—Sir J. COLVILLE, Sir B. PEACOCK, Sir M. SMITH, and Sir R. COLLIER.)

DISPOSITION OF MONEY DEDICATED TO THE WORSHIP OF IDOLS.

DUTT V. DASSYA.

Judgment was given to day at the rising of the Court in this case, which had occupied two days, and in which the question was as to the disposition of a large sum dedicated to the "worship of idols" in a Hindoo family. Two Courts in India had decided against the appellants. The property in Company's paper amounted to a lakh of rupees (10,000l.), and of that sum 20,200 rupees were dedicated to the worship of idols, and the grandsons of the Hindoo who had left the money wanted to remove the "shekut," or manager of the idols, and to have an account of the fund.

Mr. Leith, Q.C., and Mr. J. D. Bell were for the appellants; Mr. Cowie, Q.C., and Mr. Doyne for the respondent (a female).

Sir R. Collier gave judgment, dismissing the appeal with costs.

COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH.

THURSDAY, JUNE 10.

(Sittings in Banco, before the LORD CHIEF JUSTICE, and JUSTICES QUAIN and FIELD.)

EX-PARTE THE REV. W. P. TANNER, VICAR OF NETHER WITTON.

Mr. Lush applied, on behalf of the Vicar of Nether Witton, Morpeth, for a rule nisi calling upon Mr. Robert Cox to show cause why a mandamus should not issue, compelling him to take the office and discharge the duties of churchwarden. It appeared that on the day appointed for the election of churchwardens the only persons present were the vicar, in the chair, and the two late churchwardens. One of the latter proposed, and the other seconded Mr. Cox as churchwarden for the ensuing year, and they accordingly declared him duly elected. Mr. Cox, however, declined to undertake the office.

The Court said the learned counsel could take a rule, but at his client's peril.

Rule granted.

ARCHES COURT.

(Before the Right Hon. Sir R. J. PHILLIMORE, Dean of Arches.)

TUESDAY, JUNE 8.

MARTIN V. MACKONOCHE.

(See Ecclesiastical Gazette, June 8, p. 165.)

Mr. B. Shaw, as Counsel for the promoter of the office of the judge in the case of "Martin v. Mackonochie," applied to the Dean of Arches to enforce the order of suspension made some months ago, whereby Mr. Mackonochie was to be suspended for a period of six weeks for ritualistic practices at St. Albans, Holborn. He had given notice of appeal to the Judicial Committee, and had withdrawn the same.

The Dean of Arches directed Mr. Mackonochie to be served with the monition forthwith, and the sentence to be published on the church doors on Sunday, June 13, from which day the suspension will take place.

With reference to a statement which had appeared in the papers, that the sentence in this case had been published, and appeared on the church doors of St. Albans, Holborn, the Bishop of London, writing on the 19th of June, says,—
"I have received no intimation from the Court of Arches either of the publication or of the sentence itself, and am, consequently, without any authority to enable me to act officially."

SERJEANT V. DALE.

(See Ecclesiastical Gazette, March 9, p. 126.)

In this case an application was made to the Dean of Arches for an order to dismiss the appeal for the want of prosecution. The suit began in the Consistory Court of London as to alterations in the Church of St. Vedast, Foster-lane, Cheapside, in the removal of certain things, and also as to the manner in which the services had been conducted. The Chancellor (Dr. Tristram) ordered the removal of what was objected to, and directed the churchwardens to find a place in the church for the choir seats.

The defendant's proctor said there had been no delay, as a correspondence had taken place between the proctors. His Lordship granted a fortnight's further time to effect a compromise between the parties.

Order accordingly.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16.

CROSSES IN CHURCHES.—THE REV. J. DURST V. MASTERS.

This was an application to the Dean of Arches, on the part of the Rev. John Durst, Vicar of St. Margaret, King's Lynn, Norfolk, to accept letters of request from the Bishop of Norwich against Mr. Saddleton Masters, a merchant, and one of the churchwardens of the parish of St. Margaret, for having offended against the laws ecclesiastical in removing a wooden cross from the church near the retable, and "farther out of the church;" and for a further offence by having used a private key of the church without lawful authority and against the will of the vicar, and by having effected an entrance into the church on the occasion when he removed the cross.

Mr. Charles Stubbs, as counsel for the promoter of the office, Mr. Brooks, acting as proctor, moved the Court to accept the letters of request from the Bishop, and to decree a citation against Mr. Masters to answer the charges now made against him.

His Lordship said he would grant the application, and hoped the matters would be settled out of Court. It was a case he should regret to see further brought into Court, and he trusted an adjustment would take place. Order accordingly for a decree.

TUESDAY, JUNE 22.

JENKINS V. COOK.
